21 YEAR OLD VIRGIN WANTS IT IN TECHNICOLOR

I've always felt an attraction to hairy men with beards. I'm 21 and still a virgin (believe it or not), and my first experience has to be with a bear.

Last week I saw an issue (#11) of BEAR for the first time and bought it to see what it was like. It's fantastic! I've seen other magazines, and never got a hard-on as fast as looking at your men. Your men are gorgeous! And very sexy!

I really liked your magazine, and I want to give a suggestion: Why don't you publish photos in color? I'm willing to pay a little more, as I'm sure other BEAR fans will.

Anyway, if that's not possible at this time, your magazine will still be #1 for me. From now on, I'll be a BEAR fan forever.

J.T., Miami, FL

Thank you for the nice words. Now about the state of your sex life...don't be like my mother's friend Elodia. She went to her deathbed, hymen intact at age 70, believing God had a special place for her kind. Get a piece of tail or two into your system. It'll grow hair on your chest.

I am a fan of black and white photography. Granted, black and white is cheaper to reproduce (although our cover could be printed in color for the same cost), but I'm of the opinion that there's a more artistic yet smutty feel to black and white imagery if you're dealing with quality photography.

And I've also observed that the quality of color printing affordable to us and similar publications usually sucks.

Readers: what's your opinion: more pages, glossy paper, or color pages.

GOING TO THE CHAPEL OF LOVE

Today is my birthday - 52 years old. BEAR Magazine #11 just arrived, nice birthday present. Across the table from me is the man I love. I met him seven months ago through an ad of his in BEAR Magazine. We literally have been lovers from the first day we met. He says, "Write to BEAR Magazine. Tell 'em our story. They say they like to hear BEAR success stories." So I'm writing.

I have been interested in men most of my life. I've had "intimate relationships" with a good number, most close friends - a few quickies. None you could call lovers. I don't "do the bar scene," and I don't place or answer ads in magazines. I guess I'm what you call a "low-profile gay." I like big, beautiful, hairy men like the ones in BEAR.

Of course, like all BEAR readers, I always check my state in "Bears in Heat." What a shock: I not only found a bear from my state, but one from my hometown. Now, I had never answered a sex-buddy ad in my life. But this one was right here at home - why not? So I write a simple note to the effect that we live in the same town and we obviously have the same taste in men. That we probably even know each other or think we know each other and think each other to be a shithead. We can at least meet. Two days later I get a phone call. He lives on the other side of town. I go to his place. No intentions in my mind other than to meet the guy - honest! Well, within thirty minutes we were in the sack and have been there ever since.

We now live together. We are the two most compatible human beings I have ever met - in everything. Our taste in virtually everything is identical. His house looked like a smaller version of mine, down to the same silverware, the same collections and the same sofa. We work for the same company, and we have both been there for the same amount of time - 25 years! We had never met. I knew his name and what he did, but the secretary dealt with him, not me.

He, on the other hand, had a more ironic situation. He knew of me and what I do but had no need of my area. However, his best female friend since high school had encountered me when I first came to the company and hated me. She kept that hate for 25 years to the point of making them change tables at a restaurant when I came in and sat at a nearby table. We've gotten together since, laughed at the irony and have become friends. Yuck! It almost sounds like a romantic novel. The only thing missing is "...and they lived happily ever after."

THE BRUIN REPORT Gwen DeBose

I recently bought a copy of 100% American, by Daniel Evan Weiss, a collection of useful, useless and sometimes silly percentages. Things like "4% of American women do not own a bra" and "15% of America's 17-year-olds believe the Spanish knight who attacked windmills was Zorro." I bought the book hoping it would tell me the percentage of bearded men, you know, something useful like "15% of American men have beards." Well, no such luck.

I did, however, find three interesting stats: "3% of American garbage is rubber and leather", "10% of American hairdressers and cosmetologists are men", and "10% of American truck drivers are women." The first simply made me wonder who the hell is throwing out leather? There's gotta be some needy leatherman who could benefit from a roundup of whatever's being tossed out with last week's TV Guide and last night's Trojans. The second two started me wondering about the Kinsey Report's 10% statistic: the one where his research found that 10% of the population is queer as a nine dollar bill. Well, if the stereotypes hold up (and we all know they don't), then Kinsey is supported by these two statistics (which he isn't). In this year of the official U. S. Census, maybe we oughta have a Queer Census (once every nine years, natch).

Which takes us back to the listing. Not having found the elusive "beard stat," the bear watch goes on. Somehow I'm not upset by this. I wonder why...

1. Chuck Norris. Yeah, yeah, yeah, everybody knows about ol' Chuck. Sure, his films are basically mind lint, and he couldn't act his way out of a paper bag with a map and a flashlight, but who goes to one of his films to get intellectually stimulated?

2. Christopher Hyde. A Canadian-born writer whose works include The Wave and Maxwell's Train. I bought the latter because the author photo made me juice. As it turns out he spins a pretty good story, too.

3. Max Gail. Remember the show "Barney Miller"? Max Gail played Detective Wojchowitz (and don't skin me on the spelling

(And right now, it looks like it isn't missing.)

W.V., Mt. Pleasant, MI

I must say that, upon reading your letter, I felt exceptionally good about the world. Through BEAR, huh? Jeez....

THE SALT LAKE THROAT SALIVATES

OVER THE EDGE!!! BEAR Magazine has pushed me there! First, with all the wonderful replies to my ad from all those hot, horny, deliciously depraved, humpy and hungry males seeking satisfaction...the response has been truly remarkable!

Second, your magnificent models, most recently, that mouth-watering male manmeat of MONUMENTAL measure, that juicy jugular-buster of gypsy blood, "Big Meat Bela"!

While I do, in fact, have a huge, huge throat (I've swallowed a full 11" x 7-1/2" to the balls - with no gag reflex - an incidental fact you may edit if you wish), I consider Bela's equipment a real challenge - one I would be delighted to attempt to "meat" anytime he's willing, whenever, wherever we meet. He has an open, standing invitation from this Salt Lake City throat anytime he's in this surprisingly gay, spectacularly scenic city of salt...as does the wonderfully talented BEAR staff, which has made such vast, noticeable improvements in its recent issues. I'm delighted to be pushed "over the edge" into giving you all the compliments you so richly deserve. Bravo, BEAR!!!

S.O., Salt Lake City, UT

Your thanks is appreciated and your oral proclivity is admired. Yup, Bela is a big boy in the boner department-a challenge to say the least. But from what you've said, your hospitality hole might be the ticket needed for Bela to finally unload his gypsy jism via glottal massage.

A COLT EMPLOYEE PAYS US COMPLIMENTS

As an employee of Colt, I've had the opportunity to amass a photo collection of some major beef over the years, but I must say I've always had a taste for bear: Colt Daddies with body hair are always my favorites. Your magazine, and Chris Nelson's photos, are welcome additions to my private stock.

And there's always the BEAR attitude - relaxed potent macho with all the trimmings. I'm particularly turned on by the good sense (and sensitivity) of writers like John Dibelka and Mel Dahl. A bear with a brain (and lots of heart) is the only bear for me.

Speaking of Mel Dahl, what a man! It was swell of Mel to be so out front with his rear end in Issue 11. I'm sure I'm not alone in wanting to see (and read) much more from Mel. (He's a living Dahl!)

I'd also appreciate more Chris Nelson (Brahma Studio) compilation photo-mags. Just send me the info; I'm buying.

Thanks a lot BEAR. And bears everywhere - keep it coming!

IS IT TIME FOR A BEAR RETREAT?

I love to watch pappa bears in the woods, lakes, rivers and mountains. I enjoy seeing them in action, all sorts of action. Hot and steamy in jungles or steam-baths, and groups of big, burly men fucking and sucking, J/O and even warm, cuddly teddy bears.

I'm curious about bear "types" of clubs or lodges and camps for holiday and vacations. I live in Alaska, where I'm surrounded by bears - brown, black, grizzly and polar. I'm especially fond of the white, bearded, hairy, burly, hunky bears. I'm definitely out of the mainstream here, and have only recently run across your name, and the possibilities have got my blood movin' again. Looking forward to hearing from you Daddy Bears.

C.S., Anchorage, AK

You know, C.S., what you're asking for makes a lot of sense: a bear jamboree. I certainly wouldn't mind spending a vacation with similarly-minded men-particularly if they were tichy for me. To my knowledge, bear retreats do not exist. The closest thing to them are runs sponsored by cycle clubs in several cities. Check out The Leather Journal for their listing -most have associate memberships available.

The Advocate sponsors this retreat called The Advocate Experience which is supposed to be very touchy, feely, and Werner Erhard-y. Maybe it's time BEAR sponsored its own 'Experience' that's more smelly, poky, and just plain fun. We're tossing about the idea and will let you know if something can be worked out.

WE RECEIVED A CALL FROM A FELLA IN SOUTHERN CAL

My visit to your office in San Francisco: AWESOME! Although somewhat trite at this date, I'm sure that I was overwhelmed - with everything and everybody. It doesn't matter why. I probably couldn't put my finger on any one thing anyway. I feel that it was the total combination: COA, BEAR, Brahma Studios, of that one), and since then he's all but vanished. Well, Max is back on a new CBS show called "Normal Life," about some ex-hippies and their very '90s kids. Sure, it sounds as appealing as having one's pecker slammed in a sliding glass door, but check it out. Ol' Wojc has become one helluva bear.

4. Norman Myers. This is the obscure one this time around. He's an environment and development expert and a senior fellow for the World Wildlife Fund. Check out the picture accompanying his essay in the May, 1989 issue of Omnis.

5. Marty Stouffer. And speaking of wildlife, this one's enough to make you want to hang out in national parks. Marty hosts a PBS show called "Wild America." Catch it when you can, and keep a towel by the sofa.

6. George Lucas. The creator of the Star Wars saga showed his affinity for fur with Chewbacca the Wookiee and the cuter-than-thou Ewoks, but Lucas himself is the most appealingly furry Imperial Citizen. May the fur be with you.

7. Doug Young. The book I have (Inside Powerlifting, by Terry Todd) is about 12 years old, but this stunning powerlifter is described in it as being 5'11", weighing 225, and able to bench 600+ pounds. His brother, Bob Young, was (at the time) a starting offensive guard for the St. Louis Cardinals. Nothing offensive about this bear. Nothing at all.

8. Tony Gleeson. Tony is an artist whose work has appeared as book covers for science fiction authors like Hal Clement (Mission of Gravity) and Theodore Sturgeon (The Golden Helix). There's a self-portrait in a book on science fiction art called The New Visions.

9. Daniel Lanois. Winner of the Cute Cub award this time around. He's a musician and a record producer who's worked with U2 and Robbie Robertson. His music's not bad, either.

10. Lee Horsley. He stars in the CBS western, "Paradise." It's a pretty good show and Lee's presence makes it even more watchable. As with most westerns, this show offers lots of bears to gander at in the background.

YOU, Karl, Lyn, Mike and René. Relaxed, spontaneous, new, intriguing and exciting! Yet very comfortable.

For weeks I was eagerly anticipating my sojourn north to Reno, Sacramento and San Francisco. Two items in my itinerary seemed to flash brilliantly in my mind's eye every time I found myself thinking and/or daydreaming about the trip. Uppermost, and I truthfully cannot explain why, was my interest in visiting where BEAR is published. The other item was to personally meet a particular fellow bear who responded to my ad.

The entire day was a first, so to speak. I look forward to doing it again. But what I'll really be looking forward to is being in the company of a staff of some FINE people, some new friends who spend a great deal of their time, energy and talent devoted to promoting that particular lifestyle and sexuality in MEN who I am attracted to in my everyday life.

My very, very warmest heartfelt regards to all.

C.M., Sherman Oaks, CA

A word of explanation to readers. This kind gentleman came by the office and spent a good portion of the day showing off his handsome nude body to staff and friends here. We finally ended up on the roof of the firehouse (our office is located in a 1907 fire station) doing a video with C.M. Needless to say, a good time was had by all.

WANTS 'EM BIG

I subscribed to your magazine and I like it. I like men very masculine, hairy, chubby and large-framed. I love the layout of Jack Radcliffe in Bear #11. Also I like Karl, Rafael, Gordon and Congo. Most magazines photograph the thin boy-looking types. I'm sorry, thin, un-masculine bodies don't do anything for me. We would like to see maybe a few big bears built like Dom DeLuise. I liked the models in Big Guys. I wish you could get some photo sets of them. I like to see chubby bears posing in the nude with fat jowls hanging out from under their beards (like Rafael - he's got a hot body). I find it very difficult to obtain good photos of heavy, overweight, fat and big guys.

Keep up the good work. You have the best magazine I've ever come across so far. Thank you.

C.B., Fort Wayne, IN

Glad you like what you've seen. All men in BEAR have something in common; unfortunately, the closest I can get to that thing in common is that I think they're hot. We'll put men with some weight on them in the rag, but I'm also a sucker for the slender cowboy and the hard-bodied construction worker. You might want to get in touch with the nearest Girth & Mirth club for your specific interests.

J.G. LIKES IT

How y'all doing? I am doing fine. I am a 40-year-old gay man. I am glad I found y'all's address in the magazine book. That's the best thing y'all ever did!

I love real men! I love hairy-chested men! I love bearded men! I love moustached men! I love hairy legs and hairy arms! I love when they open their legs wide open! I love to look at it! I love it! I love it!

I love when they raise their arms up high! I love to look at it under their hairy arms. I love hairy underarms too! Especially when they open their legs wide open! I want it so bad! I feel like tasting of it! I love it! I love it!

That's the best taste in this world! I miss it very bad! I can't find no gay men around here where I live. I am still look ing for gay men. I miss it very bad! I'd love to meet y'all someday! That's my future and my big dreams! I'd love to work over there too! Y'all are my best family in this world! I love y'all. I appreciate y'all very much! It is boring around here where I live.

I've put the money order and entry form with this letter. I've put it in the envelope. I thought I would let y'all know about it. Please please rush it! I appreciate it! Thanks!

WE GET THE GOOD WITH THE BAD

I recently wrote to [a Bear in Heat]. The letter was returned so I called BEAR, and the person I talked with stated it was a "live" address. I subsequently mailed the letter again (see enclosed return envelope). This is the first time I have gotten a letter back that was not forwarded. Is it your policy to keep publishing wrong addresses?

I continue to gain tremendous pleasure from reading the pages of BEAR and looking at the wonderful men you showcase. Please be assured we have had enough of BELA...not only is his dick deformed, but it looked like the shithead had put a couple rubber bands around the damned thing for a couple days to get the son of a bitch to swell! Of course, if Bela is the only faux pas, I'm in no position to bitch!!

Jack Radcliffe has to be the hottest man you have run in your mag. WOW! Hairy, uncut, bearded, nice BUTTHOLE. He is a 10+. Let's have more of Jack. His video will have to be the best yet.

Let's have a spread of photos of Mr. Ed from Miami. I was fortunate to have had the chance to be on his nookie list and he is Vintage Bear. It would be great to see that hairy stud in a BEAR video. You could title it "Mr. Ed Does the Woods." Not only does Ed have a body as nice as Jack Radcliffe, but he has a hell of a personality to go with it. Although I have seen Mr. Ed up close and personal, let's have more of him in BEAR. His orifices are ripe for hot action!!

I look forward to Issue 12 with baited breath.

G.J., Altamonte Springs, FL

No, we don't have a policy of publishing wrong addresses. At a recent staff meeting this particular point was brought up and, although winning only by a close margin, we voted to publish the right versus the wrong addresses in all ads. Let me tell you a little something G.J. We are not gods. Although we try to keep a handle on as much movement among our subscribers as possible, our assumption is that you guys are where you say you are unless you tell us otherwise. Please don't get on our case for something which we can't be responsible.

Secondly, Bela is not a shithead. He is a fine human being; some one you would probably enjoy sitting down with and shooting the breeze. He's got a big dick on him, which has not been artificially pumped or banded, although he did have a cock ring on for the shoot. You have negatively prejudged this man because his dick didn't appeal to you. Listen, buddy, if you feel a faux pas was made, look first at your self.

Mr. Ed is a correspondent of mine and he regularly sends me dirty Polaroids of himself and his fuck buddies which brighten my day. We will be doing a reader's issue and many of these 'roids will be featured.

IN THE CLEARING STANDS A BOXER

Enclosed is my mean photo for your use. I would enjoy any stories on hustler boxing and wouldn't mind boxing a hustler for a hot action photo session in your magazine.

I snapped my own picture. I'm just about ready to mix it up with a hustler I paid to box me. Winner gets his cock sucked!

IMPERCEPTIONS - OR HOW TO TALK BUTCH

I am not a religious man. I do think that everyone ought to have his own personal definition of hell, though, just so he'll know where he is when he gets there. Maybe I watched The Twilight Zone too much when I was a kid.

For me, hell is being 6-foot-3, two hundred pounds, broad-shouldered, blue-eyed, bearded - and a bottom. I am all of those things, and when it comes to cruising someone I want but don't yet know, believe you me, it's hell. Men take one look at me and expect me to tell them I'm waiting for their services. Everybody's looking for Daddy, I guess. Everyone, including me.

Seems like this is especially true of the shorter, thick-bodied hunks I call "fireplugs" and dream about when it's just me and my hand. Most of them figure I'm ready to jump and pump. Wrong. Whatever it is in most men's minds that makes sex mean they need to put part of their body inside someone else's seems to be missing from mine. I'm happy this way. It's just that I tend to stay horny.

I am also a writer, which means I talk funny. I think too much about words and how to use them. This works fine when I'm typing and have time, but it makes my come-ons sound like business proposals. My list of potential fuck buddies shrinks up pretty fast when they find out my vocabulary is a hell of a lot bigger than my dick. This is not good.

I have been thinking about this a lot lately, especially since I spend most of my time with my best buddy, John. John is a prison guard. He is also a very good professional photographer, a real artist who never lets his art get in his way. He is naturally butch in the only way that counts: he makes everything look easy.

John knows how to talk. I tried, one time, to get him to teach it to me. He told me I was crazy.

"But you don't understand," I said. "I am tired of having involved, intellectual conversations with potted plants and snobs. I need to learn how to talk men into fucks."

"Just be who you are and say what you say," he said. It was good advice, of course. John never thinks too much about his words. He lets them out and they almost always hit home. It's just that this was not what I wanted to hear. "If they don't like it, fuck 'em," he finished. Case closed.

I let it drop. I know better than to argue with this man. I also know that I'm not done yet trying to fix something the people who love me don't think is broke.

In this, at least, I'm not alone. There's a letter today in "Dear Abby" today that made me howl. It's signed, "Bear-Chested," and it starts out like this: "Dear Abby: I am a fairly husky and hairy man, and I am sick of people who stare at . . . my hairy chest or back when I am at the beach." Now - how many men do you and I know who would kill to be in that man's place? Or take the article on the next page, about a surgical cure for baldness that really seems to work. The man being treated has his scalp pumped up with something that makes his head fatter and the skin with hair left on it stretch. In a couple of weeks he goes back to the doctor to have all the skin without hair cut away. The doctor sews his scalp together in a line from front to back. The patient winds up with a full head of much thinner hair. He probably also winds up with ears like a Vulcan's, but hey - I'm sure that's a small price to pay if you're a man who cannot understand that bald men are especially hot.

It's true. A lot of people think so. Including me.

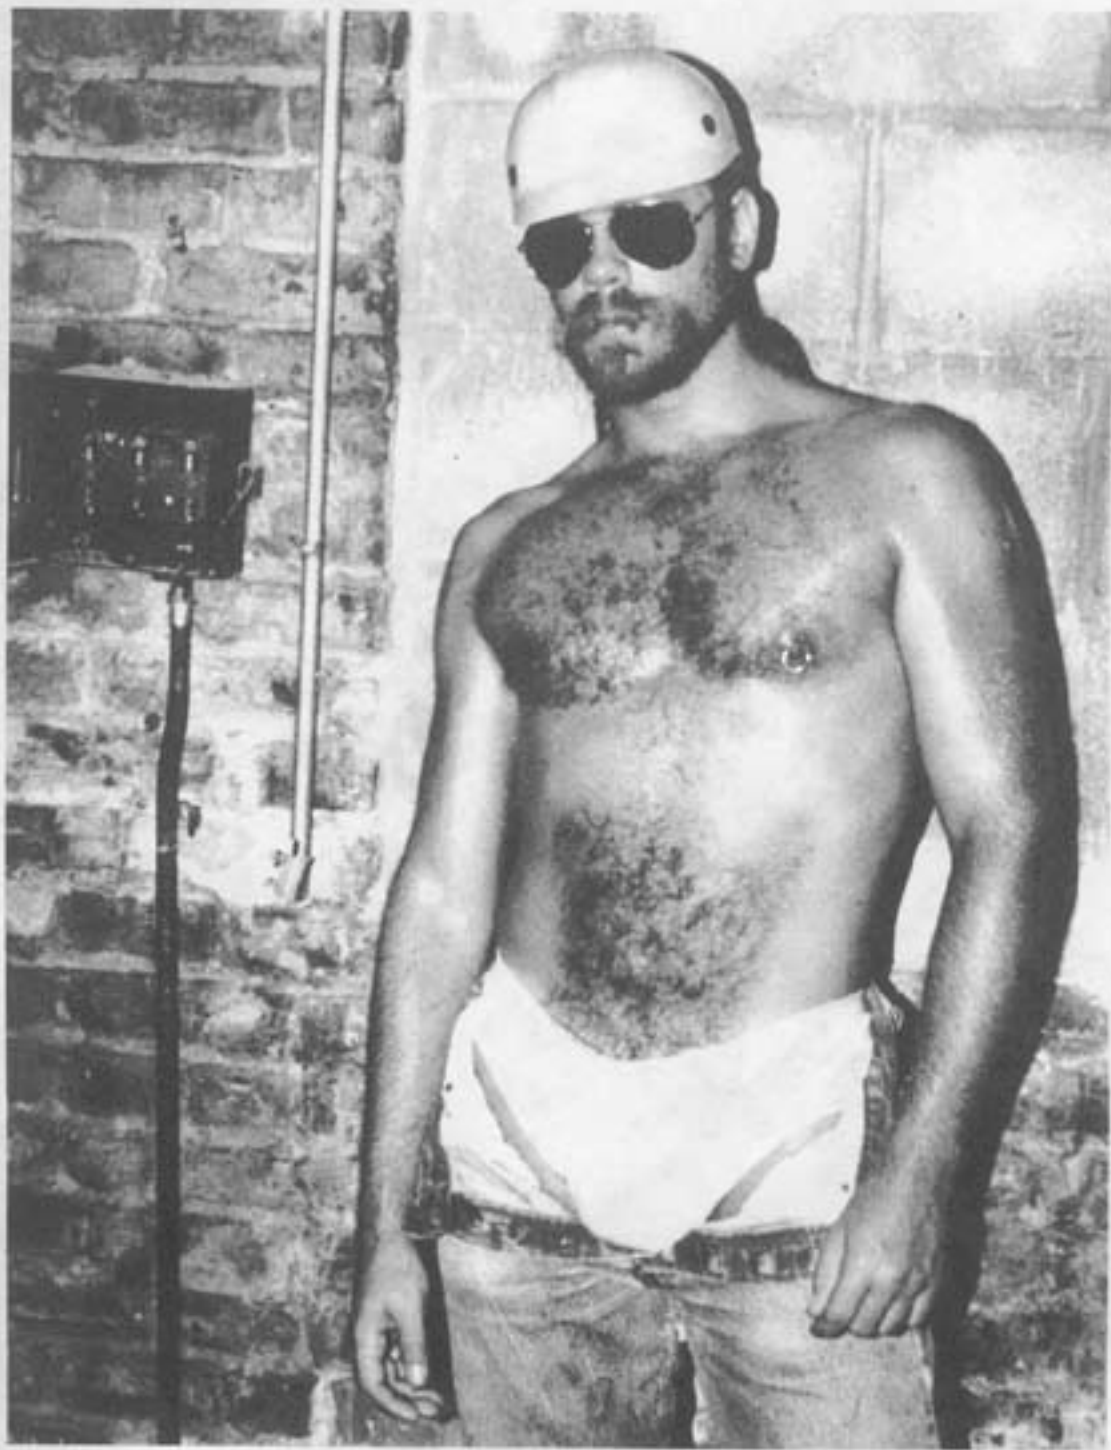

That's part of why I write this column. It helps me sort things out and look at them in different ways. One reader writes that I seem to have what he calls a "there's-a-real-world-out-there-guys" angle. Maybe so. Damned if I know. I'm not always sure what the real world's about, or even where to find it. If it looks like I've got a handle on it, and that helps, I'm glad. If you have a good time reading what I write, I've done my job. If you tell me I make it look easy, I will take the compliment, and thank you.

I also write this stuff so I can shoot my mouth off in print. When I think I've got something important to say, I put it down here and we send it to you guys. One fireplug bartender buddy of mine says he doesn't like those columns much. He says they're a tease, because I start off to write about sex and wind up out in space somewhere, working up to something else and leaving him home with his dick in his hand. I tell him he's missed the point: If I wanted to shoot my cock off in print, I'd write porn. He likes that answer, which is part of why I like him.

But sometimes I write these to teach myself how to let words out and let them hit home on their own. Sort of like learn-at-home lessons in how to talk butch. And I think it's working. What do you think?

Wanna fuck?

PHOTOGRAPHY BY PHOTO OPPORTUNITIES

Jeremy showed up in the Norfolk, Virginia studio of one of BEAR's freelance photographers and said, "Shoot naked pictures of me." And that's exactly what was done. I haven't met this Southern laborer, but after previewing the 200 or so slides from this shoot, I do know if he's got the inclination, I've got the time.

ART

BY BRUCE LEE

Most people choose animal imagery as their first tattoo. Wolves, bears, tigers, walrus—even mating orcas (killer whales). At one point, every third tattoo I did was a unicorn. I think people choose animals with characteristics they see in themselves or in men they like. Some have chosen animals which are endangered species. Some chose an animal out of whimsy such as Mickey Mouse.

Animals can also complement the various body they are near. For example, I've tattooed a bull on a man's chest with the ring through his nipple being the ring through the bull's nose.

One of my favorite animal tattoos was a centaur (horse/man) wrapped around the man's waist with the man-part of the tattoo sporting a dripping hard-on. That turned out real well.

Hello. It's me again. Richard called me into his office one day and said, "Killer, you play some interesting stuff on the stereo here. What do you know about music?"

I proceeded to tell him about texture, color, timbre, harmony, counterpoint, and he said, "No, no, no. Where do you find these tunes?"

I replied, "Record stores."

He said, "Write me a music column," and there you are.

I got two rules: Listen with an open mind and no disco.

Onward: This issue's good news is that Commander Cody and His Lost Planet Airmen have been reissued on CD. The excitement I felt at this news was akin to the feeling you get when you've had six too many beers, you see the blue lights flash in your rearview mirror and think, "What the hell—I can outrun 'em." On MCA the titles available are County Casanova, Lost in the Ozone, Hot Licks, Cold Steel and Trucker's Favorites, and another one whose title escapes me at this time.

For those of you who have had no exposure to Commander Cody, you're in for a treat. Cody took the quirky country song and developed it into an artform so pure and subtle you spend much of your time wondering if the guy is serious. But who cares? This is damn good music just aching for a good time.

The only fault I can pick at is that MCA, while doing a great service re-issuing these tunes, did not digitally re-master the old analog tapes. Consequently, the sonics aren't the best. Usually this can be remedied by fucking with your equalizer if you got one, your tone knob if you don't.

A quick trip to a local rare record emporium produced another find: the very first k.d. lang album, entitled A Truly Western Experience. This was recorded prior to Angel with a Lariat, her first American release and is k.d. way before she knew how to go commercial. The music is pure and simple. I get the impression the arrangements were worked out in a club rather than a studio. Two tracks in particular stand out: "Pine and Stew" for its sheer and quirky creativity as a piece of songwriting craftsmanship and "Busy Being Blue" which was re-recorded for Shadowland, her (official) second album. The latter record was produced by Owen Bradley (producer for Patsy Cline, Brenda Lee and Kitty Wells) which probably accounts for much of its 'Hollywood' feel. The version on this album (for which lang shares credit with Jamie Kidd and Gay Delorme for producing) is much leaner, tighter and doesn't hit you over the head. It's the difference between getting drunk on martinis at a country club and getting drunk in a tavern on whiskey where the barmaid is named Lurline. I prefer getting drunk on whiskey.

In case you haven't figured it out yet, most of the music covered is stuff I play for the boys here at the shop. Good patron of the arts that I am, I will occasionally play something the boys wouldn't ordinarily think of listening to. They refer to it lovingly as "art music."

I'll be forward: I like dissonance. Any man can make a pretty tune, but it takes balls to compose something challenging to the senses. The problem is, the music don't get the attention it deserves. In concert halls, it's a matter of economics: contemporary works don't bring in the money.

Well, one day I put on some Stravinsky (The Rite of Spring, specifically. Dissonant, yes, but intensely lyrical. Besides, this is great music to fuck to; one thing Stravinsky could do well was keep the beat and keep it strong.) The boys could handle it. Next, I put on some Messiaen (the composer once referred to as the "atomic bomb of French music." He writes incredible stuff; if you're good I'll talk about him some more in another column.) I saw a few furtive glances. I followed this with some Varese (truly awe-inspiring music, but not for the uninitiated), at which point one of my jolly co-workers came after me with half a scissors, threatening to circumcise me so tight my ears would be around my nipples. I appeased him with Tehillim, by Steve Reich. "Is this Phillip Glass?" he asked. "I like it." He put down his scissors and went back to his desk. Saved by minimalism.

Reich, like Glass, is essentially a tonal composer and utilizes minimalist techniques; that is, short melodic fragments woven in a complex and subtle tapestry. Personally, I prefer Reich's music to Glass'; Glass leaves me cold and unmoved. Reich, on the other hand, wants to engage the listener. On a very superficial level, the music sounds as though it does the same thing over and over, in endless repetition. On closer inspection, the texture changes every few measures, perhaps a new fragment is introduced, maybe an old fragment sounds different because it's being played at a different speed or place in the music. The music can be calm or meditative or thrilling or frightening. In the hands of a superb craftsman like Reich, it can be all of the above at the same time.

Should you care to try it, I recommend The Desert Music (arguably his best work), Tehillim (one of my favorites for its joyful and ecstatic conclusion), the Octet, Music for a Large Ensemble, or Music for 18 Musicians.

Well, I gotta go. If you have any questions or comments, please write me in care of this fine magazine. And remember: never whistle while you're pissing and don't ask questions while you're getting blowed.

BIG NORM

Story by Mike Jones
Illustration by Griz

"No! I told ya before, man, I don't WANT my fuckin' carpets cleaned!! Damn!!" As I slammed the phone down hard, I barely heard the woman on the other end muttering, "Thank you, sir." That had been the fourth call this morning. I'm a real patient guy, but enough is enough! I thought, Call again, lady, and I'm gonna get one of your guys to come out here and then I'm gonna clean his clock!

At 6-foot-4, 240 pounds, I can do it.

I was real pissed because I wasn't gettin' my house picked up. I needed to start dinner, too. I didn't have any time for this nonsense.

Rrrring!! The doorbell. Fuckin' great. Whoever it is, this better be good. I'm gonna treat you like shit whoever it is. You can bet.

I yanked the door open and got a surprise that took my breath away. That takes a lot 'cause I'm a pretty big fucker. There stood the biggest fucker I ever saw. He had to stoop down just to lean inside the door to talk to me. He had the most perfectly sculpted golden brown beard I ever saw. Crystal ice-blue, clear eyes winced in the bright summer light. He shrugged as I threw open the door and it banged against the wall. That this big fucker would wince at anything at all surprised me.

An embarrassed laugh bolted out of me.

He smiled then. He had to be 6-foot-6, 260-280 pounds of pure man. Full head of brown and black hair packed underneath a blue Peterbilt cap.

Forearms are one of the first things I notice about a big man. He had huge, blond-brown hair-covered forearms, rippled with thick veins.

I pushed the screen down open to get a better look at him. Wow! What a piece of art.

"Scuse me," he said. He smiled a sheepish sideways grin. "My rig overheated about three blocks from here. I been to three houses, pal, and no one will let me call my office to get someone out here to repair the fuckin' thing."

"I can't blame them," I said. "You're just a bit intimidating to most people around here, to say the least."

"Are you gonna be intimidated, too?" he asked, disappointment creeping over his clear face.

"Do I look like I'm intimidated?"

"No, matter of fact, you don't," he said. "It's real hot out here. Could I please come in?" His voice had a rich low timber. I bet he had big furry low-hangers droopin' between those beautiful, thick thighs of his.

How could I say no? I could smell the summer on him as he strode into my living room. The faint smell of a newly-mown lawn and hot, pungent mansweat entered the house with him. He smelled all man. You could clearly smell the summer sun radiating from him in waves; it was 90 degrees-plus out there.

He looked around my nicely furnished living room and said, "Nice place, man. Looks comfortable."

"Just make yourself at home, friend," I said.

He threw out a huge hairy paw to me that easily wrapped itself around my big hand. It was not that common to find men bigger than me. This was a real treat for once. I shook his hand. He introduced himself as Norm.

"Yeah, I got my own 'frigerator rig," he said wiping his neck with a big red handkerchief. He pulled his cap off and gingerly placed it on my oak coffee table that sits in the middle of the living room. "I guess it goes in the shop for now. Damn, I was almost home, too."

"Well, Norm, there's the phone over there. I got a few things to wrap up in the kitchen, but I'll be right back, okay?"

"Sure," he said. "Won't take me but a few minutes to get through. Help'll be on the way in about two hours. I been through this once before."

"Well, if ya find out that's how long it's gonna take for sure, we can kick back with a few beers and relax in the cool air," I offered.

"Man, that would be nice," he said gratefully. Underneath his strong body odor (which I've always found to be the only cologne a man really needs), a scent clung to him like Polo or maybe Old Spice. Its slight sweetness made me dizzy for a moment.

He habitually used those big, thick hands to talk with. I watched him on the sly as he flexed his forearms when he spoke excitedly. I can't remember when I've seen so much hair, flowing from the top and sides of the tank top he had on. I was getting quite dizzy being near him. This man could be detrimental to my health! Two big ol' patches of dark brown hair fanned broadly underneath his pits. He was slightly muscled and had a beautiful belly, which extended a little over his leather belt. Hairy too, probably.

"Make yourself comfortable, Norm," I offered as casually as I could. "Take your shirt off if you want. You'll cool off faster in the air if you do. I tell my friends they can strip down to their underwear in my house if they want."

He grinned. "Thanks." He started to strip off his shirt, but I couldn't bear to stay and watch him. I think I probably would've tried to rape that monster. I'm strong, but I don't think I'm that strong. Whew!

While in the kitchen, I could hear his low, rumbling bass voice talking on the phone. After a few minutes he hung up. He sighed, and I swear I heard him plop his big feet on my coffee table. Man on man, I wanted to eat him alive.

I walked back to the living room, two bottles of beer in hand.

"Ready to cool off . . . whoa!" I gasped and almost dropped the beers. My hands were trembling at the glorious sight sprawled out in front of me.

"You told me to make myself at home." That sheepish grin again. There he was only in boxer shorts. Big, suckable feet propped up; massive, hairy paws folded neatly over his black-haired belly. His thick thighs, too, were covered with black hair. In fact, the bottoms of his feet were just about the only places where there wasn't any hair.

"Man," I said thickly, "You are really a sight in your boxers. Pretty. Too pretty! I almost lost it."

"You see somethin' you like, eh?" he said, revealing again those perfect rows of pearly teeth. What a hypnotizing smile he had. I was afraid he was already in control and I the slave.

"Everything!" I said. "I like the total package."

I shakily handed him a beer, but he wrapped his hand around my hand instead.

"You're tremblin', man. Turn you on real bad, huh?" He laughed. "You wantin' it real bad? Tell me how bad."

I'm a pretty big-sized fucker myself. I've never turned to butter in front of anybody before. 'Course I ain't never seen a guy built like this before, either.

He took the beer from my hand with his other hand and smiled up at me. "It's been a hot fuckin' day, man. Thanks."

He yanked my arm down hard and pulled all of me into that huge lap of his. Man, I almost fainted! He knew how to play!

"You like, eh?" He laughed. "Oh, by the way, business first. They told me they had a truck break down right before mine. So they said it might be four hours till they get to me. I gave 'em your address. Hope you don't mind. That way they'll come here and I won't have to wait by the rig in the fuckin' sun."

"Sounds good to me." I could smell his thick, rich body odor now that I was sitting in his lap. He tortured me further by raising his arms and crossing them behind his head. His pits were virtually thatched with golden brown fur. I now knew that I was gonna eat them out in the four hours I had with him. Make the most of the time you have with anyone 'cause you never know when they'll be gone. Never take anything for granted; especially the time spent with an extra-hot man.

He twisted the cap off the bottle with a single twist and a grunt and placed it on the coffeetable. "There," he said, "now we can get serious, right?" Before I could answer, he firmly grabbed both sides of my head and rammed his tongue down my throat, just about sucking my tongue out. This guy had a powerful mouth.

He reached up and pulled my T-shirt over my head. "Hmmm. I can get into a clean chest when it's as muscular as yours. You work out, I can tell." He rubbed his calloused hands over my chest roughly and slapped it. "Yeah, I think we're gonna get along just fine. You're just about my size, too. This is gonna be fun."

He reached for my belt buckle and began fumbling for the catch on it, becoming frustrated at the attempt.

"Stand up," he said. I got off his lap. "You're a big boy, you know that?"

I caught myself saying the very thing I tried so hard to break myself of saying: "I ain't got a big dick, though."

"I ain't after big dicks, man. You can probably shoot that cum all over my beard no matter what size it is, right? So don't worry 'bout it. I'm into a good time - romancin' - not necessarily big dicks."

He slowly pulled my faded jeans down around my ankles, and I stepped out of them. "You got some pretty hairy legs, friend. Almost as thick as tree stumps."

He flicked open the cotton fly on his boxers with an idle finger for just a second; an unconscious habit probably repeated a dozen times a day. I could see a mass of solid black hair in there.

"Can't wait to rub your beard down there, can you?"

I ran a hand softly, romantically over his feet. Boy, they sure looked edible. To do them justice I would have to chew and suck on them for hours. His feet were covered with yellow-brown fur. The hair bristled like thin wire under my intense, heated touch. Touching him or having him touch me was like observing sparks in interplay.

"That feels good, man," he said. "You into footplay?"

"You bet," I answered. "And so will you when I get done with you, friend. The bigger and hairier they are, the better. I want to eat those toes of yours." I couldn't wait to suck those smelly, chubby toes.

I ran the back of my palm through his furry, thatched armpits, looking into his eyes to see his response.

"I ain't told ya to stop yet," he said, grinning at me with those bright blue eyes.

I leaned toward him and ran my beard through both armpits. This man's smell was as strong as a real bear's. The heady aroma made me intoxicated and even more horny. It made me crazy: crazy enough to grab his armpit thatch with my teeth and pull. He just moaned deeply in pleasure.

I gasped and lay my great head on his thickly carpeted black chest. Breathing harder, I looked up into his face. He was smiling at me. "I suppose your back is just as hairy as your front, right?" I asked. He obliged and turned around. I wasn't disappointed. His back was hairier than my chest. Hair swirled in sensual patterns there. I stood up and licked salt-sweat from his back. I moaned as I grabbed a hairy side in each fist and pushed my face further into his exceptionally broad, sweat-slicked back.

"Let's go down in the basement where it's cooler and plow into each other," I said.

"Sounds good to me, man."

He followed me downstairs to a completely furnished room in my basement. I turned on lights, but didn't get to turn around before he threw his strong arms around my sides and clasped his hands tightly in front, right below my belly. I felt the heat of his breath on the back of my neck as he towered over me. He was nibbling on my shoulders. Then he was biting me, purring like a big cat.

Reaching behind myself I felt his hard thighs and hairy legs, stroking them. He gripped me tighter and subdued me as he made thrusting motions against my ass.

"You feel good, boy. Real good." His voice was coated with that low, orgasmic headiness. "Kneel down."

I did. He did too. It felt good to have him gripping me behind like a lion gripping his bitch with power that would not be denied.

I felt his hardening cock pressing through his boxer shorts into my back. I inched my hands through his powerful grip toward the center of my back. Feeling his dick for the first time, I thought I'd never get to the end of his erection.

"Damn! You're hung!"

"Yeah, ain't it a shame. It's all yours right now, too. Do what you want to, man."

"Well, release this animal grip on me and let me turn around to see that dick poppin' through' your drawers."

I turned around and saw his dick was sticking straight out of his boxers. I barely parted the cotton fly when it popped through the hole. It had to be a thick nine inches. I reached through the hole and gripped his nuts.

His eyes met mine and dared me to pull them through. They were hairy and hefty and big as eggs. I leaned down and kissed each nut as I cupped his wrinkled bag in my hands.

I reached behind him and grabbed his firm, round buttocks. I slowly tugged his boxers down over his powerful thighs. Aching slowly. I wanted to enjoy every second. I observe everything to make sure I remember it all later.

I buried my face in his bush as I kneeled before him.

"Man, unless you like an endless river of hot piss, I gotta go to the john right now before we go any further," he said.

"Oh, man, don't waste it. Empty your whole fuckin' bladder straight down my throat. I love nothin' better than havin' a big man shootin' his hot load o' piss down my throat."

He had to go so bad that little spurts of it shot prematurely into my beard. "Sorry, man," he apologized. I ran my tongue over that part of my beard, lapping up the few drops of tangy piss.

"Don't be sorry," I said, "I love it!"

I grabbed the hot, softening meat in both hands and plunged it deep into my warm mouth. I heard him sigh, "Ohhhh! Yeah!" above me as his body-heated piss, sweet to my taste, began flooding my throat. His pisshole was so large that he was almost shootin' more piss than I could swallow, causing some overflow to dribble down my chin and disappear inside my beard.

All this time he was leaning back, standing with his massive hands on his hips moaning real hard and shaking his head from side to side.

I did my best to keep up with his flow, thinking it would never stop. He pissed in my mouth for a good two minutes before the flow slowed down even a little. I sucked on the pisshole when I was sure he was completely done.

"That was real nice. You like doin' that, huh?"

I nodded my head, punch-drunk with what had just happened.

"Now stand up," he said. "My turn to get at your dick."

Kneeling in front of me, he buried his beard deep between my thighs. I felt his wet tongue on the shaft of my dick. I petted his great, bearded face as he licked my dick and balls.

"Why don't you lay down on this couch here, and I'll show you what MY favorite thing is," he said. "I love dick,

you know."

"I ain't sayin' no."

He walked over to me on his knees, opened my legs and crawled between them. Again he buried his furry face in my crotch. Suddenly he had my dick and balls in his mouth all at once.

My cock is only about five inches long-thick but short. That didn't seem to matter to him though, the way he went going to work on it, making love to my dick and nuts loudly with sucking, wet sounds.

His tongue was pulling at my nuts hard-feeling real nice. The rhythm felt like a fucking motion. He was getting me closer and closer to the edge.

"Man, that feels good. I'm gettin' real close. Oh, man."

I could feel that I was slipping to the point of no return. The orgasm suddenly slammed into me like a liquid wall. I shot my cum right against the back of his throat and heard him moan as he felt the warm spatter of cum blast out of the end of my dick.

He pulled himself away from me, licking his lips and making smacking noises.

"Oh, man," he said. "Nothin' like the taste of cum! I can eat gallons of it."

"Let's both sit on the couch and I'll show ya what my specialty is," I said. "You sit on one end and put your feet in my lap, like this. Right. Now, close your eyes and relax."

Pulling one of his huge, heavy feet up to touch my beard, I closed my eyes and slowly ran my beard over the top of it. I could feel his hair bristling against my lips. I parted them and lightly ran my tongue over the top of his foot. He moaned. I don't think he expected what was coming next.

I teasingly ran just the tip of my tongue over the tip of his big toe and scraped the toenail with my teeth.

He sharply drew his breath through his teeth and goosebumps rose all over his hairy legs. He was really in for it now.

I let him wiggle his big toe into my mouth slowly. I sucked hard on it and pulled my head back and forth like I was on his dick.

Looking up across his furry belly and matted chest, I saw he was pounding his pole, shaking his nuts with every stroke. He was heaving and arching his back.

"Oh, man, that feels so fuckin' good!"

It turned me on more than I can express to see this huge, butch fucker layin' back on my couch, pantin' and moanin' like a puppy dog. I did my best to cram the other four toes of his foot into my warm, wet mouth. I managed it and sucked on them loudly.

His breath got heavier. "Oh, man, I'm close. You're gonna get it all over you, too," he said.

"Good," I said. I put the toe of the other foot in my mouth and started nibbling it, giving it the same treatment as the first.

"Oh, man, here it - ohhh, man!!"

I looked up, still sucking his huge toe, and saw him cum in fountains all over his chest and belly and hand. He looked me straight in the eye as he deliberately pointed that shooting cock at me, spraying me in the face with wet, splashing globs of hot juice. He laughed uncontrollably as the tension fled him, and he was released into a childlike awareness.

"Man, that was great! If I ever get into town again, I think I'll go out of my way to stop here and pay you a visit, if you don't mind."

"I hardly think I'd mind, Norm. Anytime you wanna come, though, make sure you've had a whole pot of coffee. That piss-drinkin' was too fine."

Once in a while he stops by, and we always have a rowdy bear of a time. Two big ol' burly boys just gettin' each other off and gettin' off on being with each other.

Home Cookin'

Most of you boys are familiar with the fine artwork of T.C. Now T.C. is not one to limit himself to paper when it comes to the erotic stimulation of the mind and body. This son-of-a-bitch even makes homemade sex toys! He uses both conventional and nonconventional materials and methods to liven up those sex organs. We've asked him to lay out his discoveries in the next few columns.

Here's the story behind the following item. Last Christmas, my buddy Bob Maddox, the proprietor of Male Hide Leathers in Chicago, put his craft to work for me and fashioned a nifty sling. I gave it to my old man Chris, and needless to say, we've spent a good many pleasant hours fucking around in it.

For extended mind and body play, I put a stool at the foot of it. One evening I started thinking, "Wouldn't it be grand to have a swing sling instead of a stationary stool. Something one could sit in or lean into, work up a rhythm, and effortlessly slide right into the old wazoo."

I called Bob and we talked about the concept. He'd never received this request but agreed that it made good sense. His suggestion—and a good one at that—was to go to a tack shop and purchase the item which goes around the horse under the saddle. This should set you up fine, he said.

I wouldda followed his advice if I hadn't run into T.C. before running into a horse store. T.C. drew up this pattern for a custom-made gizmo which not only does the trick, but looks ominously erotic hitched up next to Bob's sling.

THE MOUNTAIN STATE BUSH MEN

For those into enormous facial hair output, you might want to make a dooryard call in Nellis, West Virginia. Two tow shop workers, the Jerry's Lewis and Erwin, have not shaved since 1963.

Apparently, the town had a centennial celebration back then, and the post-pubescent males were encouraged to grow their beards for the Mountain Man contest. The two Jerrys joined in the Fur Ball, and then bet each other 500 smackeroos that they wouldn't be the first to shave it off. Well, it's 1990, they're still working at Nellis Tow, and they collectively display 54 years' worth of fuzz with pride.

PRE-SCHOOLERS DISCOVER THE JAC-PACK

No date? You really want to choke your chicken but you've got your arm in a cast? Maybe just want a little variety on those lonely evenings? Remember that Jac-Pack you bought during the height of discomania, and you just can't find it anywhere? Is that what's troubling you, cousin?

Well, I can't bring back the Jac-Pack, but I think I found a suitable substitute at a price that will almost make you laugh. Would you believe I bought an armload at the price of two for 99 cents?

Okay, bruins, here's the truth. I bought Swim Aids by "The Wet Set", manufactured by Intex Recreation Corp. of Long Beach, in a toy store! These are vinyl, two-compartment, inflatable swimming "crutches" for little kids. You normally put one on each arm of a small child and inflate through two stoppered valves.

They're probably only available in toy/recreation stores during the swimming season, so you may need to check around. The "style" number on the package of two is #59650. I paid 99 cents; you might pay more or less.

I've tested four of them continuously for almost a full year now. All of them have been inflated as hard as I can get them. Two were simply put on the closet shelf and I check them now and then. One of the others was liberally coated with mineral oil, and petroleum jelly on the second. So far, there appears to be no deflation of any of them, and the ones with lube show no signs of any deterioration at all.

In use, they behave just like the Jac-Pack of long ago (at 1/18 the price!) with a distinct advantage offered by the dual compartment construction. For those who are less lengthily endowed, inflating only one of the compartments will be more convenient. For the rest of us, both compartments can be inflated. They're a lot more fun when used with a friend.

At these ridiculously low prices and their evident imperviousness to lubes, every bruin household should have several on hand! Visit your local toy store and check out the blow-up swim-aids department!

THE BEAR BUG HITS AUSTRALIA

Dear BEAR Readers,

A NEW BY-AND-FOR PUBLICATION TO HIT THE STREETS

D•P•N (Diseased Pariah News), an alternative quarterly magazine for people who are HIV+, will make its debut this fall.

Here are some quotes from the flyer: "We're tired of crying, blaming ourselves and being told not to discuss our durable powers of attorney over the dinner table...A lot of us feel if you're HIV+ and you have or may develop AIDS, you can either laugh or cry, but crying gives you uglier wrinkles...Get fat, don't die...D•P•N will be a forum for people to share their own ways of dealing with the plague."

I liked what I saw in the prospectus and look forward to seeing the premier issue. Five bucks gets you four issues. Send to D•P•N, Box 31431, San Francisco, CA 94131.

"GET OVER HERE, SONNY. I'VE GOT THE JAVA JERK-OFFS"

I'm a coffee drinker. Not your 20-cup-a-day man, but I do need my caffeine to crank me up for my morning ablutions. In fact, it was one of the earliest vices I took a liking to.

A recent Michigan study informs me that as coffee drinkers grow older, they are sexually more active—and remain active longer—than people who don't drink coffee. I'm curious on the study's method, but no mention was made of it. I can tell you though that most of the older gents I've been privileged to bed down with have been sexual powerhouses. Horny bastards...with Maxwell House perking in the morning.

JESSE HELMS IS THE REAL

BOYCOTT MARLBORO!

ACT UP/DC P.O. Box 9018 Washington, D.C. 20001 (202) 726-7220

SMOKE, SMOKE, SMOKE THAT CIGARETTE?

I'm not a big one for boycotts. Sure, my heart goes out to the farm laborers, Biafran babies, overworked and underpaid workers of the world and the like. And I do understand that people holding power over others not only need to be made aware of their responsibilities to the human race, but also need an occasional whack across the head (or tear in the wallet, as the case may be) for them to seriously take their ethical obligations.

But I have problems with boycotts. First and foremost, I never seem to get straight when I'm supposed to start (and stop) buying the product. Secondly, which specific items am I'm supposed to avoid: green grapes? Concord grapes? what about grapes grown in Mexico? Thirdly, if a boycott damages the financial integrity of a company, who loses and who wins? Are jobs lost? executive jobs or line worker jobs? Are supporting industries negatively impacted too? And fourthly, have the boycott organizers researched their beef fully?

ACT-UP, an international network of folks pissed off at the level, type and philosophical support from governments' action regarding AIDS has called a boycott against Marlboro cigarettes, owned by the Philip Morris Co. This conglomerate is the largest corporate supporter to the re-election campaign of Senator Jesse Helms. Helms is a very powerful anti-human rights supporter whose agenda includes cutting government funds to AIDS related programs. Philip Morris, whose holdings include several other cigarette brands as well as the Miller Brewing Company, has also donated to AIDS organizations and ACT-UP isn't pleased with the company playing both sides of the fence.

I'm not pleased with this situation either. From a management perspective I can understand what Philip Morris is up against. Helms represents one of the largest tobacco growing states. It is in the best interests of a company producing tobacco products to have its Congressional representatives indebted to them. A Senator votes on every piece of proposed legislation; Philip Morris is supporting Helms the bigot, but even more so, Helms the legislator.

ACT-UP is asking bars to discontinue carrying Marlboros in their vending machines and citizens to cease smoking them and/or call the company at 800-343-0975 (Philip Morris Smoker's Advocate) and 800-446-7030 (retail order toll-free number) to make their protest known to the company.

Jesse Helms is a dangerous and powerful critter. He has taken direct action to create a hostile environment for oppressed minorities. He speaks up against your and my tax dollars being used to address the AIDS crisis. This man is in public office and I support anything which can be done to remove the scaffolding keeping him there.

We have the choice (and the power!) to decide what products we're going to consume. The Philip Morris Co., as a producer of consumer goods, needs to recognize that the individuals who have made them a financially secure institution can as easily elect to buy similar products from another company. My guess is that Philip Morris has the resources to effectively destroy the Jesse Helms machine; instead it chooses to fuel its fire.

ACT-UP has not gone far enough. Boycott all Philip Morris products, including Marlboro cigarettes and Miller beer.

BEAR'S HOME DECORATING CORNER

Do your eggshell walls need a little yolk? Are the stains and smudges on your wallpaper - mementos from past fuck buddies - food for thought for visiting relatives? Do you wanna fuckin' shoot every one of those god-damned eagles flittering over your Colonial wallpaper? In short, do you need something a little bit off the wall to put on the wall?

A reader sends us samples of bear-related wallpaper and info on how to get it. Choose from a wooded scene with big mamma and her two cubs frolicking amidst the grass, a scattered cub pattern (two of whom appear to be rubbing peckeroos) on a beige background, or a simple, understated bear pawprint pattern on a gray-green background.

A bargain at any price, they sell for $15.99 per roll except the pawprints, which go for the low, low price of $12.99. SWEPT AWAY, Part 2

Fiction by Furr
Illustration by Grizz

After Paul had left, I grabbed myself a beer and wandered back into the bedroom to find a pair of shorts, when I discovered that Paul had left his tanktop behind. I'd done a pretty good job vacuuming him off, so there were only some smudges down the front, but it still smelled strongly of the hot sweat he'd worked up cleaning my chimney.

I could hardly believe it, but the smell of his hot, hairy body on that shirt started my cock rising again; before long, I was lying on the bed, snorting mansweat and pounding my meat like I hadn't gotten off in a week. My free hand roamed my chest and beard, all rough and crusty from the dried cum that had dried there; I raised my arm and sniffed my sweat along with his; I wiped my pits with the shirt to mix the smells. My roving hand finally hit my hairy buttercrack, still slick with grease, and found my sticky hole, tender from the pounding Paul had given it. I slipped three fingers up my hole, and imagined them to be Paul's cock. While fantasizing wildly about his two partners, I splattered my chest once again with hot cum; a little less, and a little thinner than before, but still a respectable load, which I wiped up with the shirt, grinning the whole time.

By the next Saturday morning, that poor white tanktop was damn near unrecognizable. It had become my favorite cum rag, and the lingering pungent odor of Paul's sweaty armpits still carried through the countless loads of jizz I'd soaked the shirt with. I had forced myself to quit beating off on Friday, so that if Paul's prediction came true, I wouldn't be exhausted from the start. To say I was nervous was an understatement; and when nervousness is combined with a raging case of horniness, it's almost enough to drive a man crazy.

I did manage to calm myself a bit by focusing on the fact that even if nothing happened with his partners, I could very well wind up with Paul back in my bed after he finished work for the day. So when the doorbell finally rang, I was at least in a semi-stable frame of mind.

That didn't last long.

When I opened the door, Paul was standing behind his two partners, and the breeze brought in a wave of sweaty bear-musk that started giving me a hard-on right on the spot. Paul was dressed much the same as he had been when I first saw him; Greg was wearing boots, black jeans and a blue chambray work shirt, sleeves rolled up to the elbows and unbuttoned more than halfway down the front. Marty was wearing boots and a pair of snug overalls, with no shirt.

As I stepped aside to let them in, I was struck by what a perfect "matched set" of physiques the three of them made. Marty was tall and wiry, though not in a scrawny way; he was built more like a swimmer, with strong yet compact muscles. His jet-black beard was neatly trimmed, though his moustache was long and lush. Something about his features and the blue-black shade of his beard hinted at some exotic ancestry – a touch of Middle Eastern blood, I thought. It seemed almost a given that his chest, arms and back were thickly covered with a fine, straight, silky-looking fur.

Greg was Marty's physical opposite; where Marty was tall and slender, Greg was shorter, built thick and powerful – more like a powerlifter, or the clichéd "brick wall". He wore his brick-red beard in a style much like the lead singer of ZZ Top, though not as long; it was about three or four inches beyond his chin and squared off at the bottom. His hair was tied back in a ponytail, and his chest and arms were covered with curly red-blond hair. As he moved past, I saw that the armpits of his shirt were soaked with sweat, and there was a damp trail down the middle of his back. Whereas I had figured Paul to be in his late twenties and Marty seemed to be right around the same age, Greg struck me as being a bit older – probably mid-thirties.

I showed them to the fireplace and the three of them went right to work: Marty on the damper, Paul on patching the cracks, and Greg went up to install the new protective grate on the top of the chimney.

"Normally, we'd just send one man out on a job like this," Marty said as he worked. "But as Paul probably told ya, this is our slow season. Since all of us like to keep busy, we figured we'd get the job done for ya in record time."

"The reason I called to get my chimney swept in the first place was because this is the off-season for fireplace work. I'm glad that for once I didn't put it off until you were impossible to get a hold of."

Marty chuckled. "We're always easy to get a hold of. It's just that getting an appointment for fireplace work is harder in the fall."

Interesting response, I thought. "I'm going to get to work on some chores myself; yell if you need me."

Less than an hour later, I heard Greg's deep voice calling me from the living room. "Your chimney's all set, Art. If you have any problems with it when you start using it in the fall, just let us know."

Greg looked like someone had taken a garden hose to him; his shirt was drenched, and his beard and chest fur sparkled with drops of pungent sweat. Paul was pretty wet and ripe too. "Want something cold to drink? Looks like you worked up a pretty good sweat out there in the heat."

"We'd sure appreciate it," Paul said. I fetched four cold beers from the kitchen. Marty and I were only halfway through ours when Greg and Paul finished theirs. "Can I get you two another?"

"Nope," Greg rumbled. "I want somethin' else now. The fireplace is done, now I think it's time to take care of the owner!" With that, he picked me up and threw me over his shoulder. "Lead on, Paul."

Paul led us into the bedroom, where Greg heaved me onto the bed and growled "Strip!" at me as he proceeded to do the same. Before long, I was on the bottom of a pile of hot, sweaty, furry men and loving every second of it.

Despite the fact that I was clearly dealing with three very horny Bears, the three of them – particularly Greg and Marty – spent a lot of time hugging, kissing and caressing me. What with all the pungent mansweat filling the air, I'm amazed we spent as long cuddling as we did. As we got a better idea of where each other's hot spots were, though, the touching rapidly became overtly sexual.

I pulled Greg around and settled his sweaty, hairy butt down on my beard and tongue, facing Marty who was preparing to fuck me. As Marty slid his full length into my ass, Paul moved in between Greg and Marty, and from the movements of all involved, I figured out that he was getting his dick sucked by Greg and his asshole eaten by Marty.

That didn't last too long, though, and Marty's groan of pleasure soon after Paul hopped off the bed told me exactly where Paul's hard cock had gone. Greg stood up, and as he turned around to present his furry balls for me to suck, I could see I was right – there was Paul, pounding away at Marty's furry asshole as Marty plowed me.

Once again I was immersed in the thick sweaty musk of Greg's hairy crotch, and I started lapping sweat off his big bull balls – perfect counterparts to his (literally) beer-can-thick six-incher. As I snorted and slurped, Greg said, "I can see Paul wasn't exaggeratin' about you likin' your men sweaty. Glad to see the three days of funk I've got goin' are bein' properly appreciated!"

I groaned my appreciation as my hands worked Greg's heavy chest pelt, sending droplets of his hot musk raining down on me as I slurped his balls. About this time, the double-fuck that Marty was in the middle of sent him over the edge, and he grunted and growled as he pounded his hot load into my furry hole.

This seemed to start a round of "Musical Bears" – Paul had been fucking Marty with nothing but gobs of spit for lube, so Marty settled his butthole down on my face for some soothing tongue work; Greg took Marty's place and started ever so gently working that incredibly fat cock into my well-reamed asshole, and Paul somehow managed to get in between Greg and myself with my cock all the way up his butt.

"Hot damn...this ass is just made for fuckin'!"

"What makes you say that, Greg?" Marty asked.

"Never seen a butt take to this fat wreckin' tool of mine so damn fast. Brace yerself, Art, you're about to get a Bruin Bangin'!"

Greg's strokes, which had been slow and easy to get me used to his fat chunk of bear meat, immediately speeded up. Paul started fucking himself even harder on my cock, and I maneuvered Marty into plunging his long, slender schlong down my throat until my moustache tickled his black-furred nuts, and my nose was buried in his thick asshole fur.

Greg was getting highly verbal: his deep, somewhat raspy voice churned out a steady stream of raunchy comments about his fat dick, my hot ass, how much he liked seeing my whang up Paul's butt and Marty's tool down my throat, and so on.

Greg's words wired all four of us into one hairy, sweaty fuck machine with perfect timing: Marty pulled out of my gullet, rocked back on his heels and spurted gouts of thick cream down across my beard onto my chest. Paul wasn't far behind him, blasting his gobs of jizz in the opposite direction, most of his load winding up in my beard and hair. Paul slipped his ass off my cock just in time for me to splatter all over my belly, followed by Greg pulling his fat rammer out of my hole to frost my crotch hair with his shots of thick bear juice.

As I lay there gasping for breath, something caught Paul's eye and he tumbled off the bed, motioning the other two to move to either side. I started to get up to see what he was doing, but he barked "Don't move!" at me, and I sank back down onto the cum-splattered pillows.

A blinding flare told me that what Paul had gone after was my Polaroid, and he had captured my cum-covered state for posterity. He handed the camera to Greg, who snapped Paul and Marty sucking some of the cum out of my beard, and then Marty photographed Greg trying to mop up my chest with his long, full beard.

After some rasslin' about and a lot of cum-smearin', the three of them agreed to let me use the last shot on all three of them lying next to each other, with cum-eating grins on their faces, beards wild and sticky with drying jizz. By that time, of course, the first picture had fully developed, and I had to admit to Paul that the sight of me lying there covered with four huge loads of mancream was not something I would have wanted to miss.

The four of us trailed off into a friendly pile to snooze off our exertion, waking a couple hours later as Greg trundled groggily off to the bathroom to dispose of the beer I'd given him earlier. Marty started whispering in my ear, "Greg loves to get fucked as much as any of us, but for some reason, he doesn't like to admit it; just play along with us."

When Greg returned, Marty and Paul each grabbed an arm, I slapped a handful of lube on his asshole, and the three of us guided his fuckhole down onto my waiting hard-on.

Greg spat in my face. "Fuckin' ambush artist!" His reaction took me by surprise until he grinned wide and continued, "But your damn dick sure feels good up my rump, Stud!" Not missing a stroke, he bent forward and growled, "Get in there, Paul!"

TPaul's meat slipped into Greg's tight butt next to mine; Marty came in behind Paul to return the favor Paul had done him earlier.

I'd never been part of a double-fuck team before, so the sensations of having another man's cock rubbing against mine in a hot, tight butt were wild and new. Greg was just as verbal getting fucked as when he was doin' the fucking, and much of his sleazy rap he snarled at me in between spitting in my face and sucking on my tongue.

"Yah, muthaFUCKin' hot cocks...Plug that damn horny shithole...Ram me good and get me off, dammit! Yeah! Harder!"

This time, I was the first to shoot, jetting my load deep into his asshole. Paul wasn't far behind me, once he felt my cum slithering around his cock. Greg was plowing his cock into my hairy belly as he fucked himself on our cumming dicks, and either Marty's cum-growl or the sensation of well-churned dickjuice running down the backs of his legs set him off, and I got another huge load deposited in my sweaty, cum-stiff chest fur.

We gradually disengaged and flopped back to catch our breath. "Holy muthafuckin' shit," Gary wheezed. "What a wild damn fuck!"

After all the exercise, the growls from our insides kept us from being sleepy, so we ordered a couple of pizzas to be delivered and sat around the kitchen table eating and bullshitting.

"Hope you don't mind me asking, Art, but isn't this a big house for just one person?" Paul asked.

"Well, yes...but I had a lot of money from an inheritance that I had to do something with so that the damned IRS wouldn't take it all, and this seemed like the best way to go. I'd planned to take in some paying housemates, but I haven't gotten around to dealing with it yet."

The three of them looked at each other and slowly started grinning. "As it happens, we're about to get kicked out of the house we're renting, 'cause our landlord sold it to someone who wants to live in it," Gary said. "There's enough room in this house that we could keep our own little weird personal habits to ourselves, and I think our other 'personal habits' would make up for any other problems," he grinned.

"Well, there is one problem," I said.

Their faces fell, and a moment passed before Paul ventured, "Well, what is it?"

"I don't know where we're gonna get a 'WARNING: BEAR AREA' sign to hang over the front door!"

One of my readers in New York wrote me with a horror story about a gay couple who had been together for a number of years. One of them died, and his family proceeded to clean out the other one financially.

Our society places a high value on marriage, so heterosexual married couples are protected from these sorts of things just by virtue of having a marriage license. Gay couples, who in most jurisdictions cannot legalize their relationship if they want to, do not enjoy these protections automatically. There are, however, things that a gay couple can do to protect itself, the partners and the relationship.

First is the Durable Power of Attorney. This document authorizes each partner to act for the other if the latter is unable to act for himself. Some states require that a power of attorney be drafted by a lawyer; others do not. Check to find out if your state requires that a lawyer draw it up; if it does, make an appointment to see one right away. You need the protection.

If your state allows you to write your own, my advice is still that you consult a lawyer. This is a technical document and it is easy to make a mistake. A poorly drawn power of attorney can be worse than none at all.

A form for a power of attorney can be obtained from most stationery stores or office supply stores. Most of the form is fill-in-the-blank. As a gay couple, however, it is important that you include specific provisions within your power of attorney. Some courts have held that a general power of attorney is insufficient; it must explicitly state the powers being given from one party to another.

What follows is written with the presumption that your relatives are less than supportive of your relationship and, should unhappy circumstances arrive, will only be too happy to interfere in it given the chance. I know that for many gay couples this is no longer the case, but you need to remember that many parents view their gay children's relationships with hostility. It is better to have unneeded protection than not to have any protection and suffer. If you enjoy a good relationship with both sets of parents, be thankful and protect yourselves anyway.

Your power of attorney should not use the word "lover," "spouse" or any other word that would indicate a sexual relationship. To my knowledge this has not yet happened, but I am just waiting for a homophobic family to challenge a gay couple's powers of attorney in court on grounds that sodomy is illegal and thus any protection of an illegal relationship violates public policy. Until we have some caselaw on the subject, you are advised not to advertise your relationship in any document that might end up in court. Maybe I'm just paranoid, but in this case, discretion is definitely the better part of valor.

Your power of attorney should explicitly say that you are giving your agent (in this case, your lover) the power to make medical decisions for you in the event that you are unable, either temporarily or permanently, to make those decisions for yourself. It should further state this authority is being given to your agent to the exclusion of anyone else being able to make medical decisions for you unless your agent is also incapacitated, in which case your power of attorney should designate who your alternate agent should be. It should also explicitly provide that your agent has the right, should you become incapacitated, to dispose of your real and personal property with your best interests in mind.

Your power of attorney should state that your agent has sole dominion over your personal effects and papers during the period of your incapacitation as well as custody of any minor children you may have. It should also take into account any other personal circumstances specific to your situation. Try to imagine any set of circumstances that could happen, and write your power of attorney accordingly. Each lover should have one for the other.

By the way, if you don't get along with your family, there is nothing that will prevent you from giving a power of attorney to a friend, even if you aren't lovers.

Some states require that powers of attorney be notarized; others don't. It is a good idea to notarize the signatures regardless, since that is one more little thing that will likely help make the document enforceable in case of a dispute.

Next we come to the subject of wills. If you die without a will, the state writes a will for you. Exact provisions vary from state to state, but the general rule is that what you leave behind goes to your children, then your parents, then your siblings, then any other blood relatives you have. Your lover gets nothing unless you write a will.

Have your will written by an attorney because, again, a poorly written will can be worse than no will at all. However, simple wills are not that difficult, and you can

TAKING CARE OF YOU AND YOUR'N

Got a question of legal concern or significance? Mel'll do his best to set you straight, so to speak, in this column, or if you're kind enough to enclose an SASE, maybe directly. His address:

write your own if you know what you're doing. (Note: I said a simple will. If you have millions of dollars worth of property from which you plan to create a trust, skip the rest of this column and call your lawyer.)

Before you begin, read your state's statute on wills. Go to any large library and ask for the state statutes. If you live in California, you want the Probate Code; in any other state, just look in the general index under wills. The statute will tell you the requirements for a valid will in your state. You should especially take note of how many witnesses are needed to sign it, whether the signatures require notarization, and whether the statute requires the use of any specific language.

Next, decide what you are leaving to whom. Remember that your estate will be required to pay any debts and taxes against it, and you should also remember to make provision for funeral expenses. You also need to provide for what is called an "executor." That's the person who will be responsible for carrying out your wishes after you are dead; in this case, probably your lover. You should also designate an alternate executor in case something happens to him first.

A standard will provides that debts and taxes are to be paid, appoints an executor and an alternate executor (you may have co-executors if you wish), and then provides instructions as to how your goods are to be distributed. It may also contain provisions such as how your body is to be disposed of, what funeral arrangements you want, and so on. If it contains such provisions, make sure you leave money in your will to cover the expenses. And finally, the will contains your signature and those of your witnesses.

If you and your lover own a home together, or are considering jointly buying one, you might consider owning it as joint tenants. That means that each of you owns 50% of the home until one of you dies, at which point the other automatically — without having to go through anything else — owns 100% of the home. If you currently own your home under some other system, an attorney can change it to joint tenancy with little difficulty for a nominal fee.

Relationships are wonderful things, but they carry responsibilities with them. One of those responsibilities is to make certain that the one you love is provided for in the event of a tragedy.

PHOTOGRAPHY BY ALTOMAR STUDIO

This here is Buddy Masturs. He's a good looking man brought to us courtesy of Altomar Video. In my opinion this is the type of man who should be starring in fuck flicks. My friends at Altomar obviously agree with me since they've showed him off in Max Makes It Big, Cult Of Manhood, and their recent release Working Stiffs.

If you want to see what this fella does to whom—as well as get a feel for the Altomar product line—we encourage you to order their Preview Tape ($25 + $3.00 shipping and applicable CA tax) or send for their $5 info pack. TRUCK

by Ed Bishop

We were headed back from a day at San Gregorio State Beach. It had been a perfect day: sunny with a cool ocean breeze. But now it was getting towards evening. Truck and I were in the black Blazer, heading up Route 84 through La Honda to I-280 when Truck said, "I've gotta take a leak. Let's stop at this rest area up ahead."

It was located on a rise in the freeway near Hillsborough just north of the Bunker Hill exit. There was a long winding road leading to a parking area at the top of a hill. As we pulled in, we noted that no one else was there.

"I'll be right back," he said as he stepped down from the Blazer. I watched as he headed off down a dirt path and began flipping through a magazine while I waited.

I was startled by the sound of an approaching vehicle – a Ford Econoline van. The paint was faded and there were several rust spots. It pulled into a space on the other side of the lot. The driver climbed out – a big guy with long, curly blond hair and a long, blond moustache. He stood there for a moment, looked around and stretched. Then he headed down the same path Truck had taken a few minutes ago.

I went back to my magazine, but started to wonder what was taking Truck so long. I locked the door of the Blazer behind me and headed down the path to see what was going on. Ahead, the path tunneled through some large bushes as it made its way down the hill. I came across a large hole cut through the fence where the path forked. Here I was faced with a choice: I could continue along the fence or climb through the hole. Making my way through the dense bushes on the other side of the fence, I looked up and that's when they came into view.

The burly blond had his jeans pushed down around his ankles, and Truck was on his knees sucking on the guy's cock. I could see that Truck had reached under the guy's legs and had pushed his thumb up his ass. He was working it with the same rhythm as his sucking.

Suddenly the blond caught sight of me and grabbed for his pants. Truck pulled off his cock with a loud slurp.

"It's okay, man, he's a friend," he told him. The guy gave me the once-over and then looked down at Truck, giving him a nod. Truck signaled for me to come over.

"Check this out. Not bad, huh?" he asked. I walked over to take a look.

"Whoa, that's one hefty piece of meat you got there," I told the blond. Long, thick and uncut with a long, loose foreskin. Behind the cock hung a set of heavy balls in a leathery sack. The left one hung about two inches lower than the other. A gold cock ring pressed deep into the blond, curly crotch hair.

"Let me see what else you got." I pushed his T-shirt up over his hairy belly until his massive chest, covered with a light dusting of hair, came into view. I let out a low whistle. "You must work out," I said.

"No, just construction – a lot of long hours."

"Well, it's really paid off."

Running my palm over his chest, I circled his left tit with my thumb. He groaned as Truck started sucking on his big dick again.

"You like having your tits worked?" I asked.

"Yeah, but nice and easy, just like that." His eyes were closed.

I got behind him and reached back around to rub both his nipples with my fingertips.

"Oh fuck! This is too much," he moaned.

"Did you say fuck?" I whispered.

"Yeah."

"You want me to fuck that furry ass of yours?"

"Yeah."

I dug into my pocket for a condom. My cock was already hard, so it was easy to roll it on. I reached down to work my middle finger up his hole.

"Oh yeah," he moaned. I pulled my finger out and pushed the head of my cock between his hairy buns until I found the hole.

"Ready?" I whispered.

"Yeah."

In one swift move I was in all the way. Not expecting that, he let out a loud, painful shout. I clamped a hand over his mouth, and started fucking. I rammed my cock into his ass, grabbing his hips to keep from pushing him over. Truck continued his work on the guy's cock. The blond reached up to flick his own tits with the ends of his fingers. I had my cock up his tight hole as far as it would go.

"Oh fuck man, this is too much!" he grunted. "Yeah... yeah!"

I was still deep inside him, almost feeling his heartbeat with my cock. I could feel the heat of his body. I pulled back slowly until just the head of my cock remained inside.

"Let's finish him off," I growled to Truck. With that, I rammed my cock all the way in and started fucking his hot hole for all it was worth. Truck was slurping loudly as I heard the blond's breathing become even heavier. He let out a loud groan as he began to shoot his load. Truck had pulled off to watch the thick cum squirt out in a wide arc.

"Yeah, fucker, that's what I like to see,"

Truck said as he stroked the cock.

Just then I came. Three or four more strokes deep in his hole and I shot my load.

"Unh, oh God! Take...that...load, fucker!" I said as I gave him one last push.

"Holy shit!" he said as I pulled out. I went around in front of him and saw his cock hanging down, half hard with Truck's spit glistening over the thick, rough-looking foreskin. A long string of cum was swinging from the end of it. Pants around his ankles, shirt up over his chest, a smile from ear to ear. Something was splashing on the ground behind me. I turned to see Truck, cock in hand, spewing a thick stream of piss from the broad head.

"I told you I had to take a leak," he said, giving us both a wink.

I went around in front of him and saw his cock hanging down, half hard with Truck's spit glistening over the thick, rough-looking foreskin.

THE RULES OF THE GAME

1. Replying to a COA Box Number. Write your letter, put it in an envelope and seal it. On this envelope, put the fella's box number IN PENCIL where you'd normally put a stamp. Put this letter along with $1 in a larger envelope and mail to us. That's COA, 2215R Market #148, SF, CA 94114. We always forward letters if you've done what's called for here. If you mess up - and particularly if (a) you don't put your note inside another envelope, and/or (b) you don't include a buck - we throw your handiwork away.
2. Constructing your ad. When you write out your ad, keep this in mind: talk a bit about yourself and be real clear about the type of folks you'd like to meet through your ad. As much as possible, avoid telling us who you don't want to meet. No "no fats, no feds, no Lithuanians" shit. Be positive. And if you aren't, we edit and turn you into more of a Pollyanna than you'd care to be.
3. Using the phone. If you're calling someone, keep in mind (a) time zone differences - if you don't know them, look in the front of the White Pages in a phone book, and (b) that the guy on the other end may not be able to or may not want to talk to you at the time of your call.
4. Abusing the phone. Don't. Or we'll eliminate them from ads.
5. Cost and duration. Personal ads are free if you're a Bear Buddy for the duration of your sub. Otherwise, they're 25¢/word/issue. Wanna change your ad? Send in $5. Wanna discontinue your ad? Write in and we'll pull it. Regardless of the duration though, if we pull your ad, you will have to pay to reinsert a new ad.
6. Deadlines for classifieds. For issue #13 September 16.
7. COA Box Numbers. Available to US subscribers. Free to Bear Buddies, including foreign Buddies. Otherwise, tack on $5 to your ad. Let me tell you, the number of responses you receive using our address will probably be less than those you would get if you used your own address.
8. Personals vs. commercial ads. You know as well as I do what a personal ad is and isn't.
9. We reserve the right to edit personals. This right is exercised for editorial consistency and for clarity almost exclusively.
10. We reserve the right to refuse any ad for any reason whatsoever.

NEW JERSEY

TOM'S CUDDLY BIG BEAR must have big, massive, hairy bear belly overlapping belt hanging to groin partially concealing delicate tiny uncult flower all crumpled up, odor-free, boxed in between a gorgeous pair of huge hairless thighs smothering otherwise pendulous nut-sack with intoxicating scrotal aroma encasing your precious oversized family jewels. When flower blooms, leaves give way revealing shiny pink head with swelling dewdrops at tip excitedly awaiting my thick, hot, experienced, Negroid lips, 45 years old; pulsating head atop stiff stem spurts out thick cum to satisfy my insatiable sperm diet. Flower wilts and disappears completely in a luxurious overgrowth of thick, black, bushy pubic hair.

A huge round pair of immaculate and hairless buns, broad manly shoulders, heavy and hairy masculine breasts complete with hard, sensitive nipples and a glorious hairless, pink halo; giant round face double chin garnished with a full & bushy black beard; big, muscular arms and fleshy fingers; two heavy and well-constructed legs supporting 300 pounds of massive American manhood completes this lush, obese scene. That's TOM'S CUDDLY BIG BEAR. If you don't think you can meet all my specifications, don't let that bother you. You're still a human being. Maybe we can work it out - man to man. FUCKIN' AROUND

We've got a pretty serious health crisis goin' on right now. Many of my friends and yours have died. And it's been proven that certain types of sexual activity have played a large role in the transmission of AIDS.

No one knows all the do's and don'ts regarding sane sexual activities in these times. However I'm going to lay out my personal feelings regarding fucking around. How valid are they? Who knows. But I am alive, sexually active in San Francisco, and probably do not have antibodies in my system fighting HIV exposure.

1. Lead a healthy life. Get plenty of rest and an adequate amount of exercise. See a doctor regularly for physicals.
2. Keep your teeth in good shape! Floss regularly (but several hours before cock sucking). Make certain that you're free of gum disease.
3. Assume that your sex partner(s) is carrying a life-threatening, sexually contracted disease. And if you're sexually active, assume the possibility exists for yourself. The selection of your sex partner and the activities that you engage in are YOUR choices and YOUR responsibility.
4. Don't be afraid to say no. It's your life, guy. And conversely, don't be afraid to go for it if you've got a clear mind and conscience.
5. Kiss, hug and spit to beat the band.
6. If your gums are in good shape and your partner's dick is in good shape, stick it in your mouth, if this sort of thing appeals to you. I don't recommend taking someone's load in your mouth or in your ass, protected or not.
7. If you're a butt eater, you're probably not going to get a life-threatening disease by doing it if your immune system is up and running well. However you could come away with hepatitis, amoebas and other nasties. Weigh these possibilities before you make the lunge.
8. Butt fucking should be done with condoms and a water-soluble lube such as KY, spit, or Probe. Trojans have been found to leak like sieves. Just look at all the Trojan babies women have hatched. Try Gold Coin. And cum outside.
9. Number One and Number Two may be in the same category as spit as far as transmission is concerned.
10. Watch your substance use. If you think you're too fucked up to be making decisions, don't fuck around. Remember, there's no Morning After Pill.
11. If you or someone else jabs needles into you, make certain that no blood or only your blood has come in contact with the needle(s) since it was last sterilized.

WHO ARE THESE FINE SPECIMENS?

Well, we fucked up. We were at press time. This was the final page to go to the printers. It was late. And...we couldn't find the personal ads which accompany these men. And they all look diddle-able.

Unnamed gentlemen: Please call us at (415) 552-1506 and identify yourself. We'll tell your fellow cockhounds what you're into in the next issue.

ARE YOU THE DIRTY TYPE?

We are, by nature, a lusty animal. And many of us like to do, see and show nasty things. I've got quite a collection of Polaroids from you guys with notes saying, "This butt is for you and only you. Please don't print it."

Because I'm kind of dirty, I go spend over this sort of communication. But also being your basic 8th grader and disseminating, I want to get this and not to the g.p.

We have a makers' issue in mind. An issue featuring you, naked or nearly so, telling us your dirty true-to-life adventures, drawing, notes and telling us what other what you'd like to see, hear, taste, smell, and do in no uncertain terms. We ain't talking art here (although Eugene BEAT's never been known for his busy totemes either).

Readers...contribute. Send in your 50's. We'll leave it all together and put it out in a special edition, maybe even in book format. And you'll get a free copy if you're a part of it.

Take a moment, take several, get out the Polaroid, writing paper, etc., and start lying. Send it to BEAR, Reader's Issue, 2215R Market #140, San Francisco, CA 94114.
