LETTERS TO BEAR

ALASKAN KNIGHTS

I'm sending a letter to Coverman 20, Fred, in care of you. This man's eyes and smile are too much; so captivating I had to write. After I had written the letter, I looked at the photos again. Very nice. Especially page 53.

I also want to thank you for producing an excellent magazine.

I placed an ad with a photo in issue 14 (on page 48), and the responses are still coming in every now and then. I figured because of my location (Alaska) I might receive maybe 50 letters. To date, I've gotten 789 responses. I don't know if this is usual, but it has kept me busy. All but four have been answered because of no return addresses. All in all I have made some good friends around the USA and internationally. There are lots of interesting men out there. Thank you for giving me the opportunity to meet some of them.

Keep up the good work. If I ever get to San Francisco, I will stop by and see what you are all about down there.

M.B.O., Fairbanks, AK
I gave your letter to Fred, our last cover model. He blushed, even before he opened it.

789 responses to a personal ad just might be a record for us. But keep in mind, you're a hell of a good looking man. I'm sure a lot of people would pilot dogsleds through the Yukon for a crack at a nice dinner with you. Good luck with all those men and let us know when you're coming to town.

STOGIE LOVE

Last evening I was reading through some back issues of my Cigar Studs newsletters and I saw a comment urging members to write to you, as the publishers of BEAR Magazine, to do an issue on cigar smokin' bears. So here's mine.

As a regular reader and subscriber of your fine publication I tend to search the photo personals, then Bears In Heat for men smoking cigars or the word cigars in their ad text. Over the years I've met a good number of hot cigar men in this manner, and we seek out print media and videos that focus on cigars. I'd like to urge you to put out an all-call for hot cigar smokers, young and old, to do a special issue on cigar bears in the near future. Thanks.

R.S.T., Wallingford, PA
There's something about that big old stinkin' tube hanging out of a bearded man's mouth that does it for many of us.

THE WITTKE WIRE

Some friends and acquaintances who consider me a somewhat sane and reasonably intelligent person look at me with disbelief when I tell them I am a devotee of professional wrestling. "It's so fake," they say as they shake their heads and tsck-tsck their disapproval. Jeez, you'd think they were the first people ever to realize that the most popular form of sports entertainment in the US puts the accent more squarely on entertainment than on sport. That's why I've found the best response to these "No shit, Sherlock" types is to ask with glazed eyes and as much seriousness as humanity possible, "Whaddya mean?" They usually walk away at this point.

As a horny 13 year old in 1974 I learned to love wrestling magazines for their close-up action photos and soon found the publications an integral part of my frequent masturbation rituals. They were filled with candid and publicity shots of near-naked furry men grabbing each other—what more could I want? That's why names like Nick Bockwinkel and Gorilla Monsoon always call up for me visual images of riding the toilet backwards and the smell of Vaseline Intensive Care Lotion, if you get my meaning.

The wrestler I most loved back then was Bruno Sammartino, truly my first J/O buddy. Large, fur-covered and with a face like a gangster, Bruno was the be-all and end-all of hirsutism in my mind. Thus began my near-two decades of wrestling fandom.

Since that time the professional wrestling industry has gone through as many changes and trends as any other example of US popular culture you could name. The worst of these is, of course, that curse of contemporary body culture: shaving. Fortunately, there is a great number of wrestlers today who stand tall in the Sammartino tradition, proudly leaving their body hair woolly and natural and undoubtedly inspiring a new generation of 13 year-old boys to self-inflicted orgasm.

The World Wrestling Federation (WWF) is the dominant league in the country (due to its monopoly-like exclusive contracts in arenas and television syndication markets) and unfortunately, its version of the game is practically unwatchable. Recently rocked with scandalous allegations of steroid and cocaine abuse as well as (homo)sexual harassment, the WWF has retreated into its already offensive patriotic yahoo tendency with a vengeance.

For example, a wrestler as aesthetically pleasing as Hacksaw Jim Duggan is forced to wave the American flag and chant "USA! USA!" at opponents from, say Minnesota (which apparently has seceded from the union) and other exotic locales. It's almost enough to distract the viewer from his big belly, chest fuzz and facial hair.

There are other attractive men in the WWF who are worth at least a quick look (perhaps with the TV sound turned down). Jim The Anvil Nyhart; Jake The Snake Roberts; Earthquake (for fans of the really corpulent); and The Berzerker are somewhat notable. Also, the WWF's Monday night wrestling program on the USA cable network is often co-hosted by the charming Hillbilly Jim who is generally clad in a pair of bib overalls sans shirt. His unkempt hair, wild beard and thick chest coat is the stuff of which dreams of mountain men are made.

With life as a professional wrestler such a transient one, many grapplers frequently jump from league to league. Consequently, big stars like World Championship Wrestling's (WCW) tag team The Road Warriors become bigger stars as The Legion of Doom in the WWF. This pair would do well to let their body hair grow back, although Animal (the more stout of the two) often wrestles with one of those cactus needle-like fresh crops of hair sprouting from his massive pectorals.

The WCW is the nationally-televised wrestling league (on Superstation TBS) of most interest to BEAR readers. A good 50 percent of the wrestlers in this league have forsaken the razors and wax and face their rivals without denuding themselves. This league easily features the handsomest, hairiest men in the business.

One of the notable denizens of the WCW is Big Josh, who is like We've had a lot of requests for a cigar issue, and manage to get a few stogie shots in the mag every now and then. We already have enough ashes blowing around the shop to plug a volcano, so we're gonna do it. In the meantime you might want to take a look for the new men's magazine coming out this fall called Cigar Aficionado. We did a write-up on it in the Shits & Giggles section of this issue. Check it out.

FROM RUSSIA WITH LOVE

Our friends have brought us some copies of your nice magazine and we realized that a whole bear world exists. We are definitely out of the mainstream here in Russia, especially because of the present social, political and economic situation. Nevertheless we want you to know that there are some bears on the banks of Europe's largest river, The Volga; boating, camping and enjoying our time. Indeed we have great company here. In spite of the fact that we can't manifest ourselves openly, we are a kind of well-established society in provincial Russia.

It's a pity we are cut off from the whole of the bear-fan world. This place is ideal for a nice bear-retreat: very picturesque woods, the river with deserted sand islands on it, beautiful hills and mountains. All this summer we are enjoying life in nature.

Our western guests so far have really enjoyed their stay here: the hospitality of the natives, underground galleries, opera, etc. So not to feel so lonely, and to maintain the international bear friendship, we would like to invite some bear friends to visit who are not afraid of some difficulties like having no proper coffee brand in the morning, or sleeping on the inflatable bed in the tent in the forest. We're in Samara (on the maps of the former USSR it still can be named Kuybyshev), 1,000 kilometers east of Moscow.

We could even someday organize a brand of travel agency, as we now do for foreign Russian-study students. If this proposal doesn't find any response, we'd be happy just to invite here some private guests to enjoy our company here.

Dr. E.V., Samara, Russia

It made our day to know people in your area are managing to get copies of BEAR. I had the privilege of being in Russia a few years back, and the men there are some of the best-looking and all-out friendly people in the world. No lie. It's a good place for BEAR. Keep spreading the word.

If anyone here wants to take you up on your offer, we'll pass their letters on to you. Best of luck, and keep warm!

THAI IT AGAIN

I am a new subscriber to BEAR. Since I arrived in the United States, your magazine is definitely the first one of its kind that I've subscribed to. I really appreciate what it has to offer.

I am from Thailand, where gay men are always thought to be effeminate in nature. Your magazine really opened my eyes to how some American gay men can really be. It's a very refreshing change to see that gay men can be very attractive in their most masculine nature. I'd really love to make friends with people in the bear circle. I am smooth and athletic. Men with lots of body and facial hair (in short, those in BEAR) have always

BY CHRISTOPHER WITKE

Hacksaw Jim Duggan without the smarmy politics. Hailing "from the Great Northwest," Josh carries an ax handle, wears knee-length denim shorts, plaid work shirts with the sleeves cut off, a black knit cap and lumberjack boots. Josh sports a fur-covered chest and a luxurious beard. In recent bouts, bad guys like Arn Anderson have been ripping the shirt right off Josh's back in decidedly homoerotic demonstrations of dominance and submission. If you have a VCR with a slow-motion feature, you might want to make a note of this practice.

Fans looking for a furry daddy are directed to Larry The Crusher Zbysko, a dirty-dealing veteran with copious chest, arm and leg hair. After being absent from the scene for a number of years, Dr. Death Steve Williams has recently returned to the WCW. The husky, bearded brute is living proof that you don't have to have a lick of body hair to be ursine. Now if only he'd change his stupid haircut. Newcomer Diamond Studd has kept a relatively low profile, which is a shame if you're a fan of tall, broad, arrogant top types with really hairy chests. The currently shaved (including armpits) Ravishing Rick Rude has been around forever. Fortunately, there are plenty of stiffs that turn up regularly in magazines like "Pro Wrestling Illustrated" that show Rude's incredibly hairy chest and arms, which sets off the anchor tattoo on his bicep quite nicely. Perennial creeper The Fabulous Freebirds are still around in all of their hairy-chested glory, if you can stomach them. Commentators and ex-wrestlers Magnum T.A. and Jesse The Body Ventura - both of whom have terrific chest pelts - are also on hand for WCW broadcasts. Alas, they are usually fully-clothed.

My vote for the three best professional wrestlers currently in the field are all presently appearing in WCW bouts. They are as follows:

Number Three: Arn Anderson. As if the densely hairy arms and legs of this bad-guy father figure weren't enough, this balding and bearded beauty quickly works up a drenching sweat that makes all that hair stand out even more. On top of all this, Anderson is always a must-see for basket watchers (it's clear that he's circumcised, FYI) and occasionally exposes flesh well below his impressively dark tanline.

Number Two: Nikita Koloff. Known as The Russian Nightmare before the dissolution of the Soviet Union, the gorgeous Nikita is attempting a comeback as a good guy. He used to wear a Terminator-like flattop, but in his latest incarnation he's shaved completely bald. With his droopy moustache and hairy paws, Nikita cuts an impressive figure indeed. Since he generally wins his bouts now that he's a good guy, Nikita has developed the endearing habit of pulling his singlet straps off his shoulders, rolling the top half down to his waist and then pinning his opponent to the mat, flesh against flesh. God only knows what this act symbolizes to Nikita, but it sure is enjoyable.

Number One: Rick Steiner. His nickname is The Dog Faced Gremilin and this is one mutt with a very sniffable butt. A built-up endomorph, Steiner has a hairy chest and arms, a big, thick moustache and a tattoo on each of his well-developed upper arms. Lately Steiner has been prone to wearing wrestling tights with plunging necklines, which not only exposes his delectably fuzzy chest but also one of the most edible oulles ever. He also smells real good; don't ask me how I know.

There are lots of other great wrestlers out there, many of whom appear in regional leagues particular to specific geographical areas. Traveling through these circles could be such fur-balls as Jerry The King Lawler, Tully Blanchard and Steve Lombardi, a.k.a. The Brooklyn Brawler, the dumb-but-beautiful Billy Jack Hayes and the d.d.g. (drop dead gorgeous) Scott Hall. You never know where they might turn up. And if someone chides you for your interest in professional wrestling because "it's so fake," remember: we live in the post-modern era. What isn't fake? As film-maker Jennie Livingston learned from the Harlem ball culture in her brilliant film "Paris is Burning," there's something to be said for Butch Reaness. Even if it isn't.

been my fantasy. Unfortunately, after going through most of the personals, I think it would be difficult for people like me to get responses to an ad. Running one of my own may not be a good idea as I might not have any responses. I don't feel insecure about myself, but I don't have any idea how the BEAR crowd would look upon people like me. Tell me if you think I am not being fair and should run my own ad.

J.S.F., Eugene, OR

Look again, guy. There are men out there who want to meet other men - regardless of size, shape or texture. They happen to be big, burly, furry, and may want to snuggle up with YOU. Run an ad.

IT GETS BETTER

Just wanted to drop you a line to say how much I enjoy your magazine. This one took a little longer to get here 'cause you guys moved, I figured. But let me just say, when I first looked at issue 20, I told my fuck-buddy, "No good guys, really."

That's when I found out how great the written parts are. John Dibelka's Bare Pause made my day. And a new music review I can understand for once. All and all, even without the hot pictures, my favorite magazine.

J.C., Lodi, NJ

I'm not alone in thinking the guys in BEAR 20 are plenty hot; dicks are shedding tears all around the country for Fred. One of the things that is important to us here is a good mix. We can't hit everyone's button each time. Thanks for your honesty.

But listen, we love guys who read our articles. It takes a real man to see us as more than just sex objects. John Dibelka is as smart as they come, and has the unique gift of making things make sense. We like using his work. If you want a visual, check out his picture on page 63 of BEAR 19. You won't be disappointed.

We just added more dirty pictures to each issue of BEAR, starting with this one. We're up to 72 pages, and may add more. You'll get your nut with us, one way or another.

LOST IN LUST

I am very interested in a model I saw in a back issue of a mag. He had his Levi's down and sported a moustache. Please let me know what merchandise you have that features this model.

P.L., Kannapolis, NC

With all the incredible hunks running around this place, we need you to be more specific. Did he have any birthmarks? Was he cut? Any identifying veins or curves in his dick?

SOMEWHERE IN NEW JERSEY

I'm sorry to say I had let my subscription run out when I was out of work. I missed getting your magazine. The men and fiction are both really hot. So you can bet that when I went back to work, one of the first things I did was renew my subscription. I'm hoping that you can help me with something else, though. I'm a bear myself, and would like to know where bears in the New Jersey area go. Are there any clubs or anything for bears outside New York? If you could put me in touch with anyone out here, I'd be very grateful.

ANY HOLE WILL DO

I was able to snag this pic. from one of the bartenders at the Lone Star Saloon. No further comment.

C.M., Marlboro, NJ

Funny you should mention finding bear clubs to hang with. Starting in the back of this issue we're making a list of bear organizations around the world. We probably won't get all of them the first time around, but take a look. You can bet it'll expand nicely with each new issue.

We have quite a good number of subscribers in New Jersey, so you're not alone. If there are any clubs, bars or other good shit in your area, they haven't dropped us a line. But keep checking around, maybe call some of the groups on our list in back. Then let me know what you come up with.

OUT OF AFRICA

Who's the guy on the flyer you just sent me? In which edition of BEAR would I find him?

You guys should get your shit together and put your smut videos on SECAM. We poor fuckers out here are missing all the fun.

I'm really spreading the word here.

My buddies think BEAR is hot! You guys are doing a great job bringing the boys together. I included some recent pictures for the hell of it.

The dollar/rand exchange ratio is a bit shitty at this stage, but as soon as the market has recovered, I wanna subscribe.

F.P., Swakopmund, Namibia
Man, it took me ten minutes to figure out which of your pictures I wanted to use. I decided to go with the one that showed the most fur and sweat.

The guy on the video flyer you saw is J.J. Montana, a real heavy dude who shows his stuff in our video, Prime Meat. We didn't get him anywhere else in the mag, except for an inspiring publicity shot on the back of BEAR 15. Take a look. His cock is something to behold - and behold.

We get a lot of requests to send videos in the Pal/SECAM format used outside the United States. We want to do it. When we get the right equipment, we'll put out a mailing to let everyone know. In the meantime, get the tape and have it converted at a place near you.

Thanks for spreading us around the Dark Continent. Keep telling your buddies and stay in touch. Tell us what kind of homo happenings they have in your area. We want to know.

This is our furry, sweaty guy in Africa. He has a big dick, so drop him a line.

WE'VE MOVED !!!

Come on over to our new store located around the corner from the Lone Star Saloon. We can now be found at 367 Ninth Street, between Harrison and Folsom Streets. For those of you that send in all those dirty letters and pictures, our mailing address is still 2215 Market Street, #148 San Francisco, CA 94114.

MARK SESSIONS

PHOTOGRAPHY
BY Steve Sutton

Mark has been a good friend of BEAR for years.

Hailing from Atlanta, Georgia, Mark frequently ventures to San Francisco in his travels, and always manages to stop by the shop to say "hi."

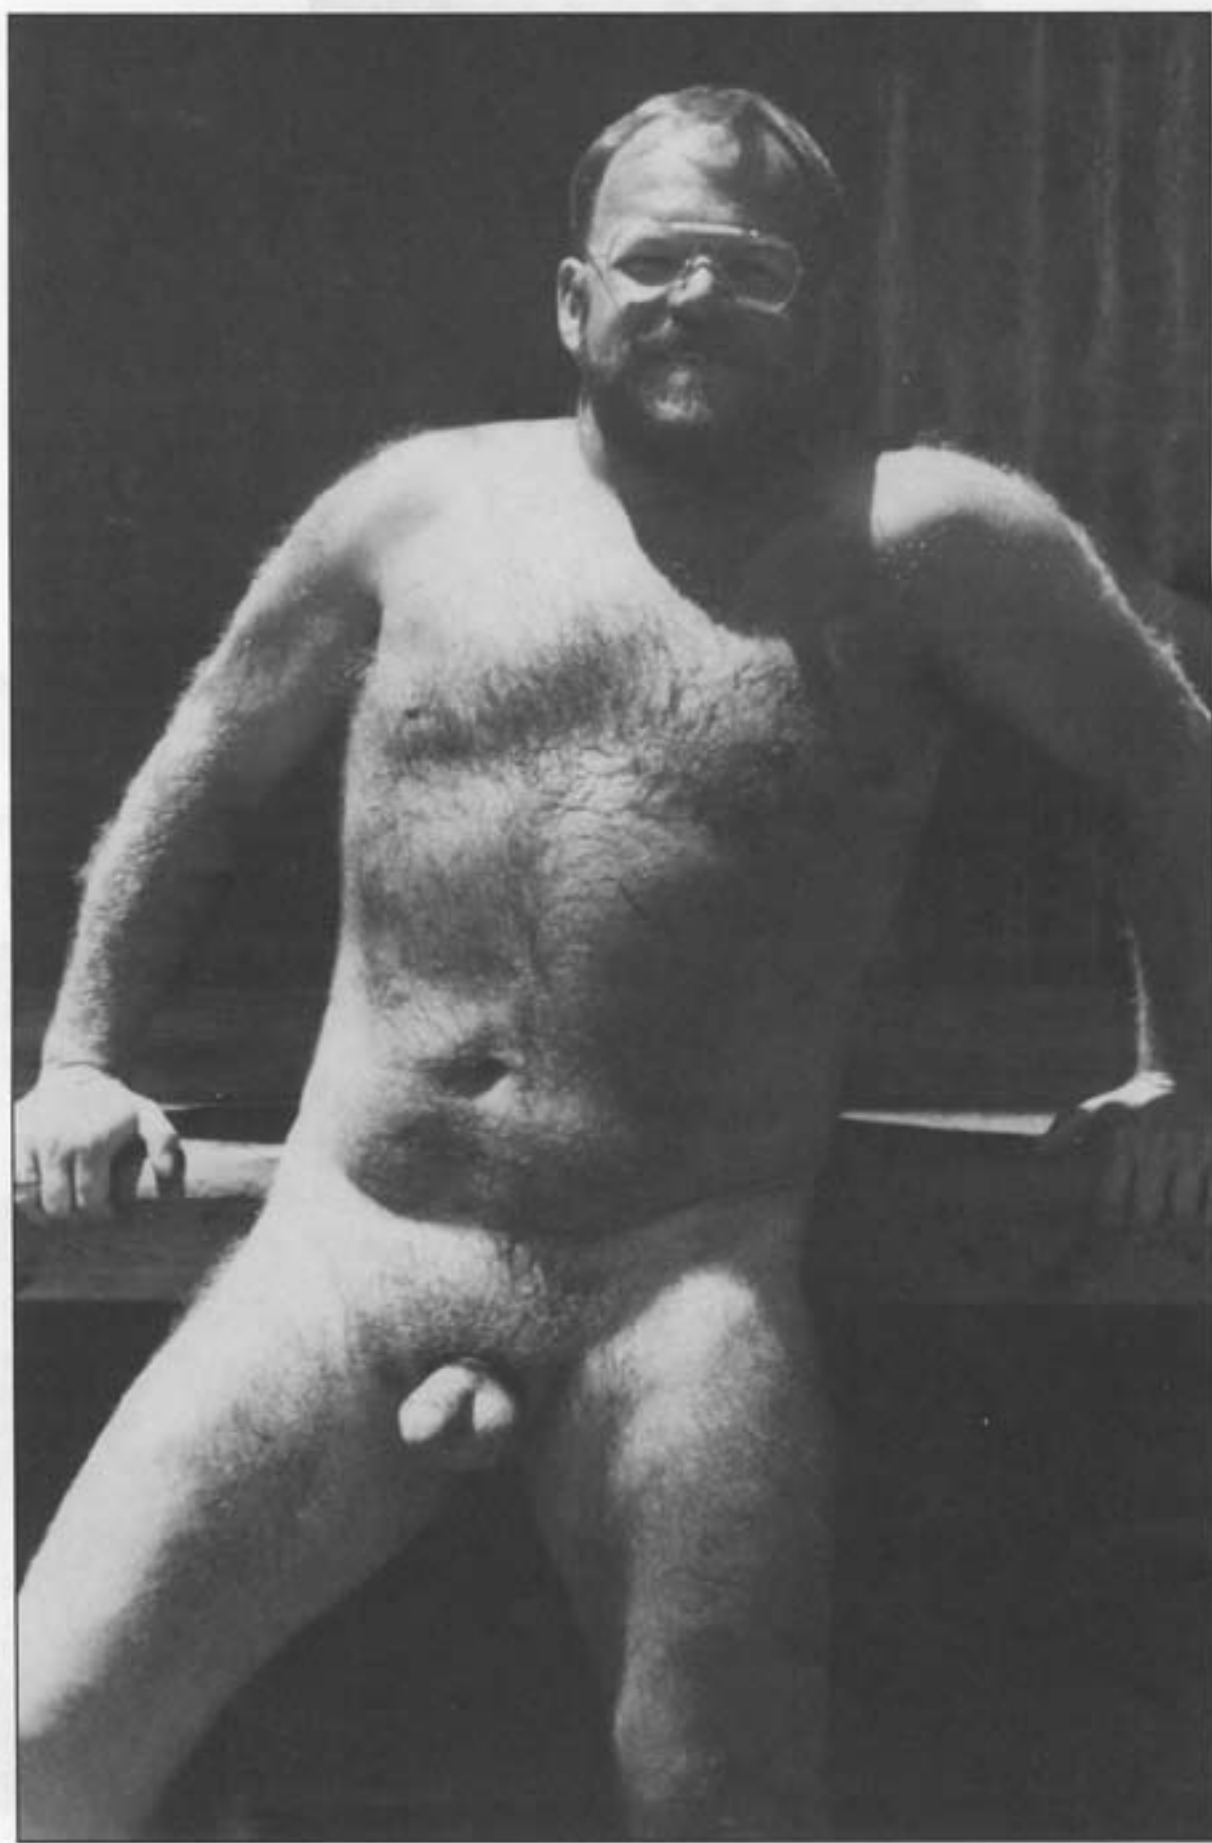

I always thought he was a particularly handsome man. During a dinner we shared at

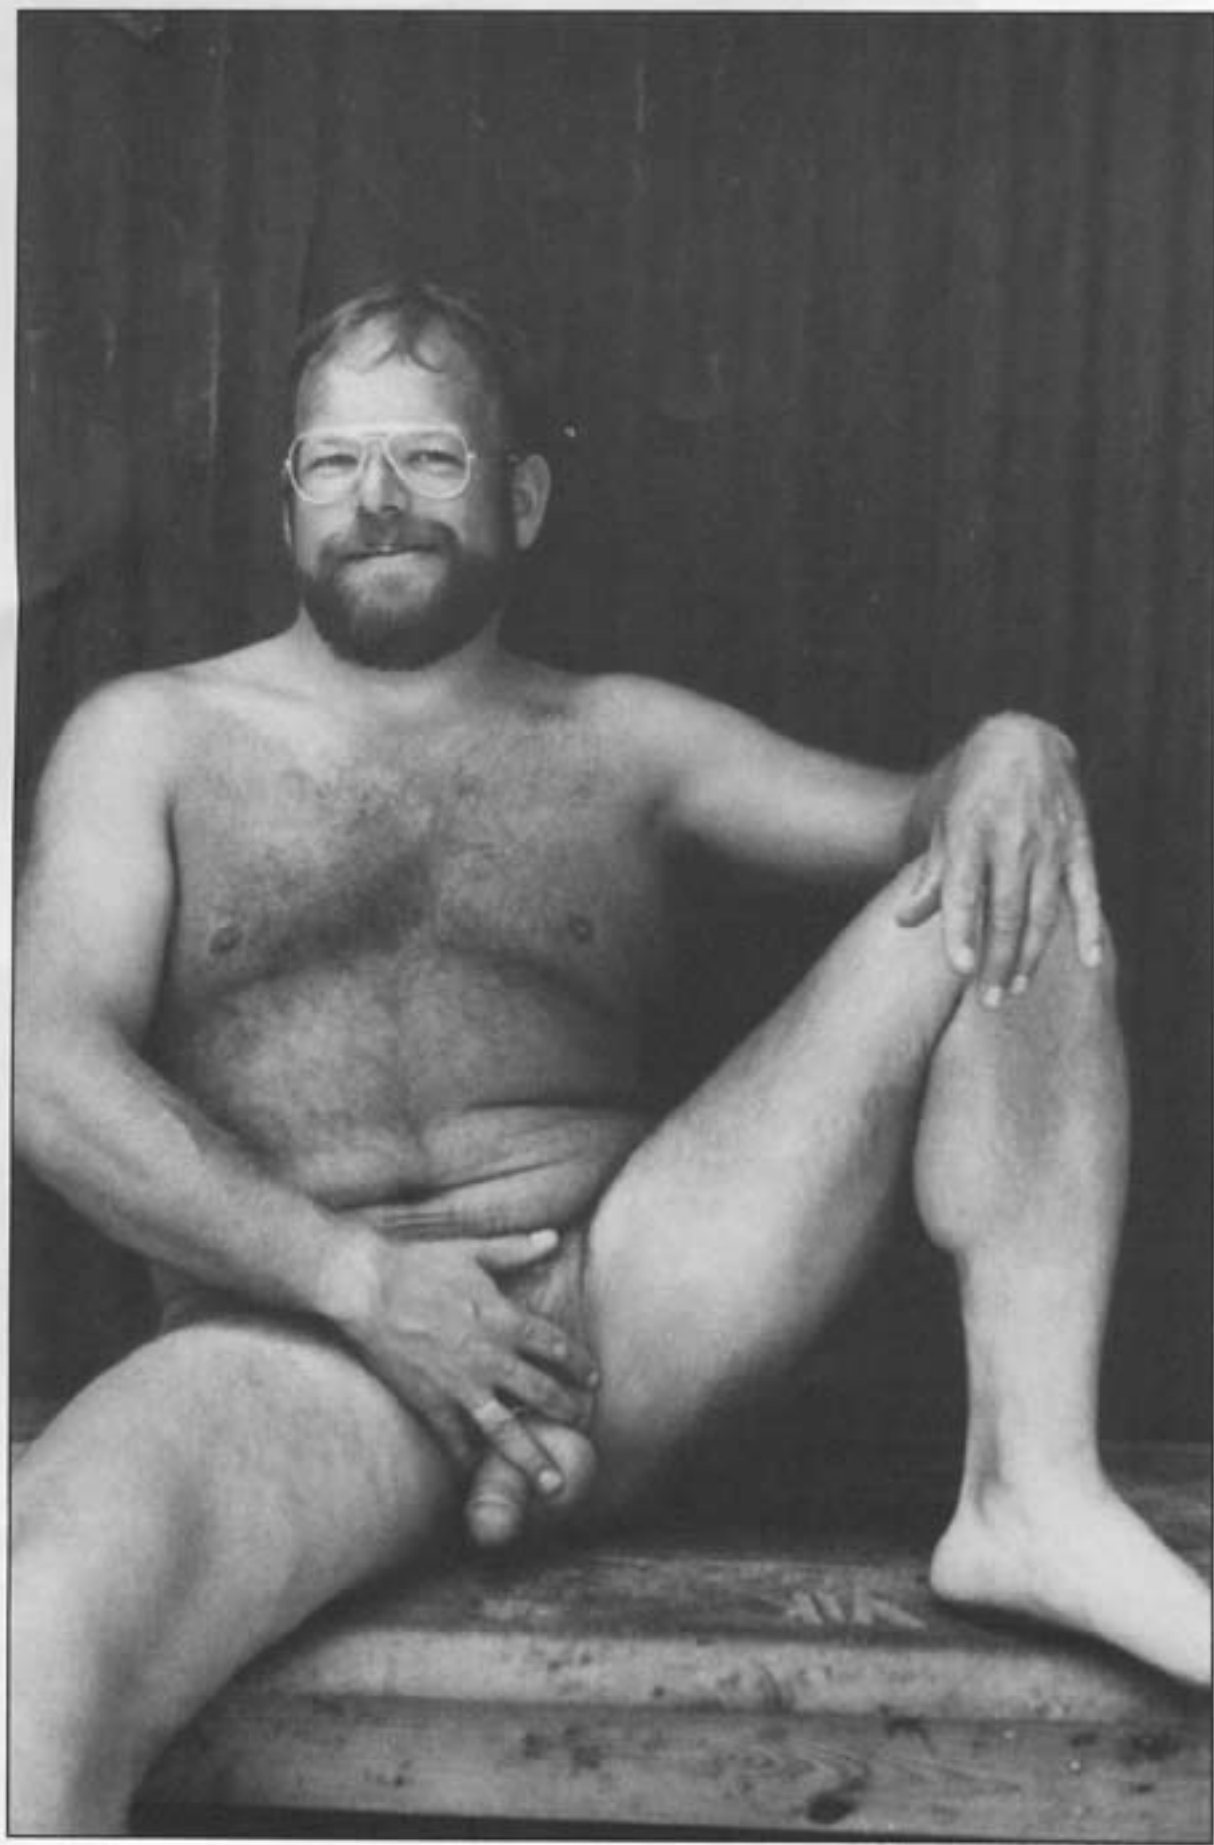

Café Sport in North Beach, Mark looked at me and said, "Well, tell me, Richard. What does it take to get in BEAR?"

"A photographer and a smile," I said. "Be at the Lone Star on Sunday morning for a shoot." And here he is, smiling at both ends.

Home Cookin'

by T.C.

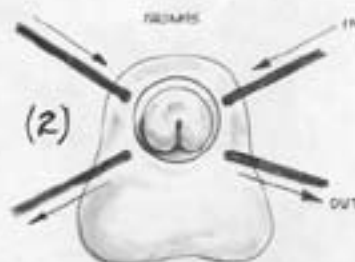

If you have ever wondered what else those extra bungee cords just laying around are good for, try this. Fucking yourself with your favorite dildo feels great, but have you ever wished it would slide in and out without all that effort? Squatting over one only goes so far. Here's one way of getting it with minimal effort.

Materials needed:

- your favorite dildo, preferably one with a base or set of nuts
- two long leather thongs, old electrical cord or other strong string
- one or more bungee cords

1) Get out your dildo and, with a sharp, pointed tool, such as an ice pick, poke four holes near the base of the shaft as shown.

2) Using whatever method works for you, push one leather thong through one hole and back out the other hole on the same side. You want the long ends to come out on the top of the base of the dildo. Do the same for the other side with the other thong.

3) When you have pulled the thongs through the holes to equal lengths, tie a knot as close to the base as you can. This will help to keep the thongs from being pulled back out and causing too much slack. Then tie the ends of the thongs together to make a long loop for each side.

4) Put the bungee cord hooks through the thongs at the bottom of the dildo as shown. If you only have one bungee cord, slide it under both pieces of thong.

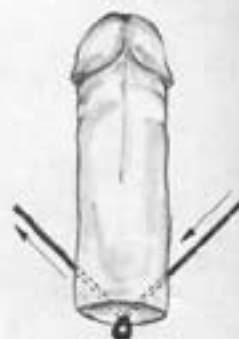

Fig. A

This is how it works: take the ends of the bungies and hook them around the legs of a chair or table. Scoot up to the chair and put your legs up against it. Push the dildo up your ass, grab hold of the thongs and scoot back far enough to put some tension on the bungies. You'll find that when the bungies start to pull the dildo out, all you have to do is pull on the thongs and you get a nice, easy fuck. Pretty easy huh? And you can do this just about anywhere there's something to hook your bungies to.

If your dildo doesn't have a base on it, poke the holes directly into the dildo as shown in drawing fig. A.

COUNTRY BOY IN THE HILLS

by Mike Jones

Last fall I was on a photo-journey in the Midwest for a small bed and breakfast guide. Having photographed the celebrated B & B under schedule, I was driving back and ran into a pleasant little town in the hills. I had driven all morning and all afternoon and had a few days to relax and a few extra bucks to spend. Inquiring at a one-room grocery shop where I might find a room was the smartest thing I could do, I thought.

The old man behind the counter thoughtfully rubbed the white stubble on his chin and said, "I don't rightly know."

I heard heavy, booted steps behind me. A hand landed heavily on my shoulder, startling me. At eye level I turned to meet a broad chest clothed in red flannel.

"We got a room," said the bass voice above me. I looked up into striking green eyes surrounded by black bushy eyebrows, curly black hair and an equally dark beard. I guessed his age to be about forty-five.

"You pick up around the house for my brothers and me and you can stay long as you like. That'll earn your room and board." He smiled good-naturedly, his hand still resting on my shoulder. I looked down and saw it was huge and the back of it was black with wiry hair. He didn't seem to mind my close scrutiny. Before removing it, he gave it a gentle squeeze. It ran through my body like electricity.

"That sounds good to me," I said.

"You got a car?"

"Yeah, the little Dodge out front."

"Good," he said, paying the old man for his groceries. The grocer put the big man's food in two bags and handed them to him. He turned and walked out the door with his two bags.

I followed his rusty truck over many a back road. Trees littered the roads with leaves painted gold, red and green. We were getting deeper into the hills as we made our way into lonelier territory. I wondered what I was getting myself into. Who was I kidding? I was following this big bear's tail wherever he was leading, obviously. I followed him around what seemed to be our fifteenth bend when he whipped his truck into the driveway of a well-built log cabin.

"Nice," I said as I got out of my little green Dodge.

"Prob'ly not what you expected, either. My brothers and me built this place for my folks when we was still teenagers. When the folks passed away, we came back and stayed on. We could use someone to pick up around the place, though."

This guy was huge. Not only tall, but broad and thick. He grabbed his two bags of groceries out of the front seat of his truck. "My brothers been callin' me Rocker, ever since we been teenagers 'cause I got the big rocks in the family." He grabbed the front of his jeans with his free hand to outline what looked to be a massive pouch.

I eagerly grabbed and freely pumped the huge paw he extended in my direction. I heard a screen door squeal open to my left. Rocker might have been the biggest boy in the family, but he was by no means the best-looking one. The handsome one that emerged through the door was a shorter, near-twin version of Rocker.

"Whoa!" I said, not hiding my pleasure.

Rocker cocked his head to the side, looked at me, and chuckled, "You like that?"

"Yeah," I replied, watching him get closer. "I'd suck his peter dry." The guy approaching us was only wearing a pair of red, skin-tight boxer shorts.

The big guy laughed again. "Well, I hate to tell you this, but his peter never runs dry." When the other one approached, Rocker said, "This is little Rob."

"Howdy," he said, firmly grabbing my hand in both of his and squeezing. He stood in front of me, about five-foot, ten inches tall and about 250 pounds, with his legs widely spread. He looked rock-solid, his bare chest bristling with coal black hair. In the open slit of the boxers all I could see was black. He turned to his big brother and said, "He sleeps with me in my bed."

"He'll take the guest room, piss-ant."

"Maybe so, but he'll sleep in my bed." He looked at me sheepishly. "That alright with you?"

"Yeah," I said. Rob had huge, hairy feet, I observed greedily. If I had my way later....

"Let's go in and meet the other boys," Rocker said.

The other three were variations on a theme. One brother, Joe, was nearly as tall as Rocker but blonde. A shy, brown-headed brother named Dan was nearly as short as Rob, but had muscles built on top of muscles. The only hairless one was Dick.

The first night I was there (and every night thereafter) Rob and I showered together. He seldom let me out of his sight; he said he was trying to guard me from the other brothers. It wasn't necessary, though. I followed the squat, heavy-set man everywhere in a lusty daze. He never seemed to tire, no matter how many times a day we went at each other.

We would jump into the shower right before bed. "I'm not gonna let you touch me," Rob said after we got in the shower that first night. "I'll wash myself first, then run my hands all over you and soap you up, then rinse you off." I couldn't take my eyes off all that hair. He was darkly tanned, hairy and black-bearded. His head was covered with short, thick black curls. His charm was his unassuming air. His face reflected no pride, nor did he seem to know how incredibly hot he looked. Nor did it seem that he cared. All the time I was there, his attention was totally directed at me.

"Then," he paused for effect. "I'll dry you off. And only me."

I took the opportunity to look at his feet again; they were so huge and hairy. I felt the pleasure of looking at him all the way down in my stomach and it throbbed in my nuts. "As long as—" I began. "As long as I get to do anything I want to you after we get in bed."

"Deal," he said. Rob ran his bark-rough soapy palms over me slowly, tenderly through the thick hair of my chest. I heard him moan and watched him cock his head to one side when he soaped up my rock-hard nipples. His hands ran down my sides and behind to play with my butt. He cupped my balls and dick in both hands and soaped them up, massaging them and turning them gently between his palms. It felt so heavenly that my dick began to lengthen.

He kneeled in the shower, the water streaming down his furry back. I closed my eyes as he began to rub his soapy hands up and down the length of my legs. "Oh, man, that feels good," I said.

I felt a thrill a minute later and opened my eyes. I saw his hairy forearms between my legs and felt his slippery fingers exploring the outer lip of my asshole.

"That feel good?" he asked.

"Oh, yeah!" I said breathlessly.

"I want that clean...for later," he said, smiling up at me. Kneeling there, hot water flowing into his black beard, he looked like a Norse god.

Later, at two in the morning that first night, we were both nude and kneeling on the heavy duck-down quilts that lay over his king-sized bed. By the cool breeze that gently blew aside the curtains, it was clear that autumn was quickly falling into winter.

We were quite dry when Rob began reaching for me by the blue light of the full moon. I was on the farthest side of the bed. "C'mere," he said, arms outstretched, reaching for me, flexing his fat fingers with a sad longing in his liquid-blue eyes. His beard sparked with small white fireflies when he turned his face in the night lights. His gnarled nine-inch member stood straight out above his flat balls.

"I get to do to you what I want; you promised," I said defiantly.

"I know," he said. "But I ain't had a handsome man in my arms in about two years. I just wanna hold you," he pleaded bear hug of his powerful arms I knew I was doomed. One large bicep was wrapped around my face and I could feel the thick bush of his underarm brushing against the top of my shoulder. His desire, his lust, his desperation, enveloped me and my heart melted as he snuggled me. He lay his bearded head on my other shoulder and I could almost swear I heard him whimper. His rich masculinity flowed over me and put me into a very peaceful place. He started rubbing the hairy patches of my back in small circles with a broad palm.

"Okay, that's enough," I said, pulling back from him. "You promised."

"Yeah," he whispered, looking at my chest and running a thick index finger through the thicker thatch that ran down to my belly button. "I promised."

"Sit on your butt," I told him. He did. I lay on my stomach, pushed my face into his hairy crotch and rubbed my face in all that fur. A cool breeze blew across my back. Through the window, in the distance, a coyote howled. I felt his thick bush pressing against my brow. His nuts were cool in the night air. I licked his furry balls and barely resisted the temptation to suck his fat, bobbing, lengthy dick right then and there and end the whole thing much too quickly.

I sat on my butt and pulled his huge feet into my lap, his hairy ankles painted blue in the moon's light. I rubbed the bottom of a foot and longed to put my tongue to it.

"You like those?" he whispered lustily.

"Yeah," I whispered back. "Are you whispering because you don't want your brothers to hear us?"

"Hell, no!" He laughed loudly. "When I shoot, I'm gonna bring down the whole cabin. All of us holler when we come; we all get off hearin' it. They'll probably start beatin' off when they hear me hollerin'."

"Man, with a willing body like this in my hands, I don't know if I'm gonna survive this."

"I hope you can," he said. "I wanna do this every night. Tonight, though, you get to do anything you want to me."

I sighed and ran a finger over the tops of his huge fat toes and said, "Man, these are pretty." I drew the heavy foot up to my face and kissed the big toe. Next I caressed it with my wet tongue, running my tongue over the hard toenail. He wiggled his toes in my face. I couldn't stand it any longer, I slurped the big toe into my mouth.

I looked into his face and saw him close his eyes and lean his head back. Seeing his clean-shaven thick neck and that blue-black beard sighing in the moonlight nearly drove me mad. I was tempted to beat off right then and there.

"Man, you are one handsome guy," I said. "I can hardly stand it."

"Good," he sighed. "You're enjoyin' me as much as I'm enjoyin' you." He leveled his head and watched me suck on his toes. He groped his thick dick and began slowly pumping the nine inches back and forth. "Why don't you let me eat that clean butt of yours?" He scooted down on the bed so he could lay flat on his back.

"I'll let ya," I said, "as long as you can bend your knee so I can keep workin' on your toes." He obliged, but with the other foot. He must have enjoyed it enough to want me to do the other foot. I turned around and backed my furry butt up to his face and felt it meet his beard. His steel-strong hands roughly grabbed both cheeks, pulling me closer.

"You sure got a soft butt," he said.

I hovered over his foot again. Kneeling over his ample, hairy belly with my butt in his face, I began to pull on my cock. I approached the hairy top of his foot and rubbed my thick beard along it, smelling his soapy-clean foot, cooled in the breezes blowing through the room. "Man, this is too much." I ran my tongue between the big toe and felt his toenail pressing against my eyelid.

He was probing my asshole with a powerful tongue, trying to penetrate the hole. He was moaning as I hungrily sucked his toes. His toes were chubby and thick; perfect. And hairy. I could feel the hair on the big toe bristle against my tongue as I wet and thoroughly soaked the toe.

He was pulling my ass closer to his face than was probably possible, trying to eat the meat as close as he could get.

I pushed his foot away from my face. He left it laying straight out in front of him. I moved closer to his face, shoving my butt into his beard, while my mouth hovered over his long and powerful prick. His nuts were deeply set in a huge patch of fluffy dark hair. I nuzzled his thatch of pubic hair, running my tongue through the matted fur; soapy clean it tasted. I ran my dry lips along the length of his dick and let them settle on top of the two large hairy nuts. I kissed his nuts. As he increased his attention on my asshole with his tongue and rough hands, it aroused me even more and I began to work more earnestly on his genitals. I swallowed his concrete-hard dick.

He was slowly pumping his dick in my mouth. It spurred me on. He was breathing heavy behind me and working on my ass hot and heavy, slurping noisily.

With his dick in my mouth I ran my wet tongue along the large bulbous head and up and around the hairy shaft. I heard him groan behind me. He probed my hole with his tongue. I got off his dick and rubbed my beard along his cock and penetrated his wide pisshole with my hungry tongue. I sucked on the head, with my tongue still gently probing the hole, tasting warm, sweet pre-cum. I opened my mouth wide enough to engulf the dick without touching the skin of it. When I had the whole length of it in my mouth I closed my lips over it and started sucking. I heard him moan behind me, breathing harder. I couldn't keep nine inches down my throat without gagging though, so I backed off after a few seconds.

Neither of us was going to last much longer. I could feel that sweet, tingling feeling creeping up my nuts into my stomach.

"Face me," he said impatiently. "Let's kneel and jack cum all over each other's bellies."

I turned and obliged him. I lowered my head and wet a hairy nipple with my tongue. Rob was breathing heavy and his face acquired that stern serious look as an orgasm hairy nipple with my tongue. Rob was breathing heavy and his face acquired that stern serious look as an orgasm was coming. "Oh, yeah!" he said. He was hammering his cock, blurring the fist and dick together into a blue haze. "It's comin'." He began to whip his fat post even more furiously, riding the wave of the orgasm.

I looked at his hairy body and felt the beginnings of the wave. I was going to shoot all over his chest and belly. I reached an arm behind his furry back and pulled him close to me. I let my hand fall till it rested on his hard hairy butt. The hair of our chests melded into one as both of us were pounding the belly of the other with a fist and a hard dick.

"Ohh!!" he cried, "Here it comes! Ohh, Yeah!" He began really crying out then. His eyes met mine as our orgasms slammed into each other and we splashed hot cum all over us. His first splash hit my beard and I saw my hot cum slash the side of his face as we pumped both our cocks straight at the ceiling. I felt the hot liquid shooting all over my chest and belly. I used my free hand to rub the slimy stuff into my hairy belly. I wondered if his flow was going to slow; it just kept shooting. Both of our fists were wet and slamming each other, regardless of any pain. His cries were thundering through the room. He rubbed his huge hairy chest all over mine. We were wet and sticky and didn't care. As we rode it down to quietness, he grabbed the back of my head with his free hand and slammed our mouths together and shot his tongue as far down my throat as it would go. He was breathing heavy into my mouth as he probed me with that wild tongue. I didn't think he was going to come up for air, but he eventually did. This guy was the definition of sensuality.

He wasn't through; he was an expert at after-play. I lay in his arms for the longest time, my head laying on his furry chest, occasionally nibbling a dark nipple. He rubbed my shoulder and kissed my forehead often. The next thing I remember was the warm light of morning.

BARE PAUSE

John Dibelka

DADDY DEAREST

I believe that no one ever had a completely happy childhood. The adults around us did what they wanted, we learned what we could, and most of us got through it somehow and went on to something else.

The way I see it, the reward for becoming an adult is getting to do what you want. You miss the whole point if you try to go backward, to reinvent your younger years, or (and this is even worse) sit down where you are and whine about how you wish you were somewhere else. You're where you are because you're there. Bigger folks may have shoved you in one direction or another, but the decision to change course or not is yours.

I seem to part company at about this point with a lot of other folks who write. There has always been a big and sloppy club of poor old rich brats who spent their unhappy childhoods with famous parents. Lately, they all seem to be making money hand over fist by telling the world how miserable they were in books which sell millions of copies.

Don't get me wrong. I'm all for making money in almost any way you can. I believe that anyone who can write should write. Whether or not anyone should read what these people have written is purely a matter of personal choice.

You had better believe I am all for personal choice.

That's why I have stopped trying to read the latest batch of Memoirs of a Hollywood Family from Hell. The only reason I started it was that this time the part of Daddy Dearest was supposed to be played by Keenan Wynn.

Wynn was never quite one of the Really Big Stars, or even a very good actor. He was always playing second banana to someone. If you're not a movie fanatic you probably can't place his name with his face, but you'd recognize his picture. Or his voice. He had a great voice, big, masculine and a little bit rough at the edges.

Wynn was a Bear on the screen. The man was built, and hairy, and he looked mighty fine. My favorite sight of him shows up in "Combat Circus," a Humphrey Bogart movie that's like a much-earlier version of *M*A*S*H*. I haven't found this flick on tape yet, but when I do I know I'll wear one scene out, rewinding to wank to it just one more time. It's better than porn.

Wynn takes his shirt off. For the next ten minutes or so he muscles a truck around half-naked. The flex of his pecs, the fur on his chest and the sweat slopping out of his pits make me drool in my popcorn. After that, when he kisses a Korean war orphan goodbye, his bushy moustache, buzz-cut hair and the tender way he holds the kid all make me want to call him "Daddy." I think he even smokes stogies, or at least chews on them a lot, but don't quote me. When it comes to that movie my hormones are hell on my memory.

It doesn't matter that those images may come as close to reality as a pretty-boy star in some Italian sports car is likely to get to a backwoods cabin. In fact, that's a part of the fun. It's a game we all play together, where we agree to sit around and get ourselves lied to by projections that look like people. There's supposed to be a difference between what's on the screen and what's all around it.

That's according to me. There's at least one writer out there who disagrees. Somebody who really did call Keenan Wynn "Daddy" and now thinks he shouldn't have had to.

According to Junior, old Daddy wasn't a very nice guy. There's a lot in this book about spouse abuse, child abuse, drunkenness and stuff. You know—the usual. It's all served up like it's going to change my mind, make me stop watching the old man's movies or, at the very least, win my sympathy for what a hard life the kid has had.

Know what? I don't care. I didn't even finish the book.

I don't mean I don't care about domestic violence or substance abuse. Those are real problems which have hurt a lot of real people and they're nothing I'd make fun of. What I don't care about is the fact someone says they're connected, somehow, with a picture I see on a screen.

I get twitchy in my britches over Keenan Wynn's pictures. Keenan Wynn's personal life is none of my business. Every word of this book may be true. In fact, it probably is: the guy who wrote it sounds like a snivelling, shiftless so-and-so, and kids like that usually come from parents as abusive as this one says his father was. I don't know one way or the other. I didn't know his father. I don't know my own father very well. If it is true, I feel badly for him and his father both, but there has got to be more to anyone's life than lying in the street sucking your thumb and pointing your finger at your old man's dirty laundry.

Whatever the truth is, it won't make any difference in how I feel about myself. I know who I am and what my fantasies are and how to tell the difference. I do what I want and I have a good time. I've even been on video once or twice, naked, stuffing everything within arm's reach up my butt and pulling on my pud until it spits or falls off; I don't remember which. Those tapes are still for sale if you know where to look. Buy them if you like. I love the exposure. It's as close as I'll ever get to being a Really Big Star.

But remember that what is on those tapes is not me, any more than the fur-burly picture of tenderness and sweat in that other film is Keenan Wynn or the things you remember from being a kid are the only plot your life can have. Enjoy the show. Write your own script.

As for you, young Wynn; I'm done with your book. Eat your own dirty laundry.

And go away, kid. You bother me.

SEPTEMBER

10 - 13 September 1992, Baltimore. The Baltimore Adventurers are hosting a get-together in the woods. It takes place in a campground near Darlington, MD. You'll find yourself hiking, rock climbing, sailing, biking, sucking, fucking or enjoying really quality conversations about the nature of sensitivity and commitment. Write Baltimore Adventurers, PO Box 33406, Baltimore, MD 21218, or call (410) 243-6442.

18 - 20 September 1992, San Francisco. The International Mr. Drummer and Drummer Boy contest weekend. If you're into leather and discipline, this is the event for you. Reserved seating at the contests. Beer busts, contestant basket-auctions come as they may at various San Francisco hot spots. Contact Desmodus at (415) 252-1195, or write PO Box 410390, San Francisco, CA 94141-0390.

18 - 22 September 1992, Germany. Das ist Gay Oktoberfest in Deutschland. Not really in October, but nevertheless the only place to be seen in Europe in early autumn. A celebration that goes back through the ages, it gets better when you hang around with drunk German men in leather and spikes. Contact City Bound travel agency in San Diego to get all the gay info at (800) 843-8820/(619) 542-1388. And drop some liederhosen for me.

25 - 27 September 1992, San Diego. The National Gay Rodeo Association's San Diego Rodeo is a pretty big to-do. Takes place at the Del Mar Fairgrounds just north of the city. Remember, it's sweaty men and sweaty animals and beer and leather and lather and lots and lots of rope.

So git on over there and rope yourself a big one. For information call (619) 298-4708.

17 October 1992, San Francisco. Earthquake Party, Lone Star Saloon. Be at 1354 Harrison Street, South of Market, at around 5:00 p.m. to feel the earth move as it did in 1989. Actually, they just turn up the stereo real good. But seeing as how you'll be drunk when it happens, what do you care? Trac II, a design consortium consisting of Eric Penigar and Stephen Stafford, your Managing Editor, will do up the saloon to simulate the end of the world. But it's OK. Your water and electricity will still be on back home.

15 - 19 October 1992, Europe. European Big Men's Convention '92. It takes place at Place Ste. Catherine in Brussels, Belgium. Big men, chubbies, bears and all the ones who love them will gather for a rich weekend of bar-hopping, touring, dining and stuffing those European sausages. Write Girth & Mirth Belguim, BP 1514, B-6000 Charleroi-1, Belgium. Their fax number is (32) 0-71-51-84-01. Move quickly. They like things in place ahead of time.

23 - 25 October, Orlando Florida. It's the BIIIIIG Bear Bust at the Parliament House and Full Moon Saloon on Orange Blossom Trail. Hundreds of bear-types will be running around having sex, and they want you to join them. Reserve way ahead of time by calling the Parliament House at (407) 425-7571. Ask for Robert Russo. Or write to Bear Bust, 410 N. Orange Blossom Trail, Orlando FL 32805. It is expected to sell-out fast.

28 October 1992. Richard Bulger's birthday. He's our publisher. We try to keep him happy. Chocolate usually works, until his blood sugar crashes—then he just goes home. Please send some so we can get some work done.

Let's talk about it

Recently I appeared before a federal judge seeking an emergency temporary restraining order against a government agency. The agency screwed up, admits it screwed up, but nevertheless took the position that that's the way the cookie crumbles and my client will just have to live with it, even though it would be devastating to his business.

Because the lawyer who is representing the government is 1,500 miles away, the hearing on my request for a restraining order was conducted by telephone, with the judge and me in the judge's chambers and the other lawyer on the phone. I had been asked to be there 15 minutes before the hearing; the judge wanted to know what practical solutions, apart from the lawsuit, I had pursued with my client. "It seems clear to me that your client needs to have something happen, and fast. How has he tried to resolve his difficulties on his own?"

When the hearing began, the first words out of the judge's mouth were to ask the government attorney, "Counsel, is there any good reason why this case could not settle? It seems to me that the parties should be able to reach an agreement." His last words, at the end of the hearing, were, "I am taking Mr. Dahl's motion under advisement, and I will rule on it if you two can't work out your differences. But I would strongly advise the parties to settle the case." Then he hung up, turned to me, and said, "In my many years of practice, I have learned that sometimes picking up a telephone book is a better strategy than picking up a law book. Tell your client I said good luck to him." The next day the government and I worked out an agreement, and it now appears that everybody will live happily ever after.

So what is the point of this story? That sometimes it is better to pick up a telephone book than a law book.

Litigation is a wonderful job for people like me who love to be bitchy and can even get paid for it. For the parties to a lawsuit, however, suing is a long, expensive, frustrating and exasperating process. The average one day trial runs up $10,000 in legal fees for each side, and an appeal will cost at least another $10,000. The courts are so crowded, mainly because of this idiotic war on drugs, that delay is a fact of life; courtrooms are overbooked in the hope that someone will settle. Unless your case is an emergency - Your Honor, my client will die in the gas chamber tonight unless you grant a stay - you can figure on at least two years before trial will even be scheduled. Because the courts have a lack of resources to give reasoned consideration into each case, the ones that do get heard are often rushed through in assembly line fashion. They don't call the motion docket "cattle call" for nothing.

So what is a poor client to do? The answer may well lie in the free market of ideas: have you tried talking about it?

Probably the lion's share of lawsuits are brought because there has been a breakdown in communication of some sort between the parties. Maybe I'm too optimistic, but I believe most people are reasonable, at least at some level, and are willing to work toward a solution. Unfortunately many times emotions get in the way, hard feelings are generated, and the next thing you know there's a process server at the door with a summons and complaint. I have often thought the system would greatly benefit from a rule that no lawsuit can be brought until the parties, minus their lawyers, have tried in good faith to work out a solution.

In some cases that wouldn't work. Some people are stubborn and intransigent, and some people have unrealistic expectations of the duties owed to them by other people. Those cases will probably have to go to trial. But a number of states are now requiring arbitration, and will allow a case to be tried only where attempts at settlement have failed.

If you believe that you have been wronged, and you cannot work out an agreement with the other side, then you might want to save the expense of a lawsuit by finding a trusted, neutral third party to try to mediate. Many neighborhoods have alternative dispute resolution centers whose function is to mediate disputes among neighbors. Unfortunately, in large cities, people aren't nearly as neighborly as they once were, so the other person may not be willing to talk with you to a third party. It is easier to mediate where the parties know each other and will have to continue to live with each other after the dust settles. But it never hurts to ask.

It is also important to evaluate your reasons for bringing legal action. If what you are really seeking is balm for your bruised ego, is that balm worth the $10,000 it will cost to bring a lawsuit? Likewise, if you have been sued and your primary reason for not settling is your pride, you may have to ask if your pride is worth the cost and expense of defending a lawsuit. Eating humble pie is hard, but sometimes it is far better than the alternative.

This brings me to another point: having now watched "the process" in action for a number of years, I am absolutely convinced that a lot of lawsuits would not be brought if people did not feel unfairly treated by the other side. This sounds rather simple and stupid, but many times we miss the obvious. If you are in business, there is a right way and a wrong way to tell a customer that you won't replace a defective good. If you are polite, respectful and sympathetic, you are much less likely to buy a lawsuit than if you laugh at the customer and tell him he is stupid. Many times people sue because they have a strong feeling that the other side has wronged them and doesn't even care enough to listen; rudeness makes people angry, and angry people are much more likely to call a lawyer. If you are willing to at least listen to him, even if you don't agree with him, you may sufficiently salve his feelings to avoid court. Believe me, with lawyers charging $100 an hour for their services, it is much cheaper to listen to an angry customer and try to calm him down.

One last thing: I'm in the process of moving to Boston and will be opening legal practice there; by the time this column hits print I will already be there. If you are having a dispute with someone and both of you are agreeable to having a third party try to mediate, by all means call me. My telephone number is (617) 825-7193. I have great mediation skills. I beg, threaten, plead, cajole and nag. Since I'm not a judge, I'm not bound by the constitutional requirement that there be an actual case or controversy before I hear it. And I promise you, my rates for mediation are a lot cheaper than what you will get charged for bringing a lawsuit.

THE RULES OF THE GAME

1. Replying to a BEAR™ Box Number.

Write your letter, put it in an envelope and seal it. On this envelope, put the fella's box number IN PENCIL where you'd normally put a stamp. Put this letter along with $1 in a larger envelope and mail to us. That's BEAR, 2215R Market #148, SF, CA 94114. We always forward letters if you've done what's called for here. If you mess up—and particularly if (a) you don't put your note inside another envelope, and/or (b) you don't include a buck—we throw your handiwork away.

2. Constructing your ad. When you write out your ad, keep this in mind: talk a bit about yourself and be real clear about the types of folks you'd like to meet through your ad. As much as possible, avoid telling us who you don't want to meet. No "no fats, no feds, no Lithuanians" shit. Be positive. And if you aren't, we edit the shit out of the ad and turn you into more of a Pollyanna than you'd care to be.

3. Using the phone. If you're calling someone, keep in mind (a) time zone differences—if you don't know them, look in the front of the White Pages in a phone book; and (b) that the guy on the other end may not be able to or may not want to talk to you at the time of your call.

4. Abusing the phone. Don't. Or we'll eliminate them from ads.

5. Cost and duration. Personal ads are free if you're a BEAR™ BUDDY for the duration of your sub. Otherwise, they're 25¢/word/issue. Wanna change your ad? Send in $5. Wanna discontinue your ad? Write in and we'll pull it. Regardless of its duration though, you will have to pay to have a pulled ad reinserted.

6. Deadline for classifieds. For issue #21 is July 1.

7. BEAR™ Box Numbers. Available to US subscribers. Free to Bear™ Buddies, including Foreign Buddies. Otherwise, tack on $5 to your ad. We forward mail once a week. A word to the wise: responses to your ad will be greater using your own address versus ours.

8. Personal vs. commercial ads. You know as well as I do what a personal ad is and isn't.

9. We reserve the right to edit personals. This right is exercised for editorial consistency and for clarity almost exclusively.

10. We reserve the right to refuse any ad for any reason whatsoever.

JOHN & JOE BEAR

Photography by Steve Sutton

In 1988 Chris Nelson and I found an ideal spot to jointly locate our then infant businesses. Firehouse #7, an old wooden Victorian built just after the 1906 earthquake, served San Francisco's Mission District through 1965. When the city sold the aging station, the downstairs became a night club. The fire station's still unrenovated upstairs dormitory and captain's office became the home of BEAR Magazine and Brahma Studio.

BEAR was half its current physical size with one-tenth its current distribution. Subscribers, contributors, dedicated staff and the ghosts of hundreds of firemen in former residence helped BEAR mature.

The Firehouse also served as the photographic backdrop for many of your favorite BEAR men, including covermen Jack Radcliffe, John Perry, Jim Donahue, Joe Thomas and Tony Bruno.

I loved the Firehouse. It was good to BEAR and good to me. But rising crime, rising rent and our desire to serve visitors and customers in a more accessible location led us to move.

A month into our new space, our former landlady asked if we'd disassemble some oversize counters we left behind. I dispatched a crew of four significant men: Stephen Stafford, BEAR's Creative Director; Steve Sutton, BEAR's Contributing Photographer; Joe Bear, my buddy and confidant; and John O'Brian, my very special friend. You've just seen their work.

I stayed away, as I also had for the last days of the move. A chapter in my life was closing, I was knee deep in the next one and couldn't quite bring myself to be at the last BEAR shoot in the Firehouse.

10 Big Hairy Men

LIVE BEAR was the first film featuring exclusively hirsute men strutting their stuff in front of the camera. Four years later we bring you LIVE BEAR 2—ten men in solo action on a 120 minute video cassette stripping down for our camera, showing us what we want to see and telling us what we want to hear.

LIVE BEAR 2

These are men who stopped by the BEAR offices and said, "Yeah, I'd like to do a dirty video". Real action by real guys who wanted you, fans of hairy men, to see them naked and to watch them play with themselves. No cover-up sound here either. The grunts, groans and dirty talk are here for your listening pleasure.

A Few Highlights From The Film

•John, a hungry bearded man who ends up deep throating the cameraman's hand.

•Stan, a handsome furry chested Southerner who has perfect aim with his body fluids; tasty.

•Brian, so butt crazed that he takes a bust of Beethoven and shoves it up his ass.

•J. Bradway, the hairy young bear who sucks his own penis then comes in his mouth.

BUTCH BARI! NO GIRL TALK!

These are just two of the slogans on the numerous signs and posters that cover the walls on one gay leather bar in New York City. There is also a statement of purpose posted over the cash register. Loosely paraphrased, it explains that the venue is meant to be an environment for real men who want to be around the same. Thus, female pronouns and the use of nicknames like "Mary" and "Dorothy" are strictly forbidden.

Certainly, such a policy is a welcome change of pace from the nelly "girlfriend" scenes that too many gay bars have become. There's just one problem: if you close your eyes and simply listen, you'll hear something quite different than what you'll see. How butch can campy songs like "Electric Youth" by Debbie Gibson or "Losing My Mind" by Liza Minnelli be? Talk about a clash in concepts.

Do real men in leather like to whittle the night away to disco cast-offs by Debbie Gibson and Liza Minnelli? It seems unlikely. With that in mind, here's a play list of current music that would better suit the jukebox of that real man's gay bar.

First up is "Time Off For Bad Behavior," one of ten smokin' jams from the self-titled debut album by country band Confederate Railroad (Atlantic). This isn't your basic cowpoke torch 'n twang. This line-up of talented (and hunky) musicians serves up tunes with a ballsy, Southern Rock edge that is often reminiscent of Lynyrd Skynyrd and Waylon Jennings.

Along a similar line are a pair of songs from country storyteller Dan Seals' fine new album, "Walking The Line" (Warner Bros.): the pensive and poignant "Slower" and the steamy and sexy "Sneaky Moon." Music trivia buffs may remember Seals as the voice on the '70s pop nugget "I'd Really Love To See You Tonight," which was released under the name England Dan & John Ford Coley.

For a harder rock edge, there's "Stand Up" and "Piece Of The Action" from rough 'n ready biker band Little Caesar's second album on DGC Records, "Influence."

Besides being way easy on the eyes, singer Ron Young has honed his whiskey-soaked howl to near-perfection, giving these tunes a sexy, world-wise angle. Never miss an opportunity to see this San Francisco-based band work up a sweat live and in person.

Up-and-coming New Jersey trio Mr. Reality manage to be both gruff and sensitive simultaneously on "Waiting For September," a cut from their eponymous debut album on SBK Records. The cut tempers strumming acoustic guitars with piercing electric riffing and raspy lead vocals.

Despite the fact that they are called the Men, this interesting new quartet has two female members. On their new album on Polydor Records, they serve up infectious pop/rock with a razor-sharp, guitar-driven approach. Vand dyked lead singer Jef Scott has a rugged, throaty presence, making "The Brotherhood" and "Where You Found Me" a pair of tough-but-tender tunes that seem tailor-made for barroom cruising.

Final entries into this fantasy jukebox are "Shot Down" and "Lost What You Had" from John McVie's Gotta Band With Lola Thomas - a blues-juiced collaboration by the former Fleetwood Mac bassist and a previously unknown vocalist. Both songs reach back to the romp-stomp days of saloon-style honky tonk. Thomas' rich and expressive voice will, no doubt, remind many of Bonnie Raitt. The duo are currently considering a world concert tour. Judging from Thomas' sassy charisma and McVie's evolution toward being a full-fledged daddy (not to mention his incomparable bass playing), there is serious roof-raising potential here.

Although programming a fantasy jukebox has its amusing moments, it's far from an antidote to what is really offered in many gay bars and clubs. With that in mind, I'm about to start scouring the country to compile a rundown of venues that break many of the rules of gay bars and clubs. I'm on the hunt for places that feel more like men's bars with gay patrons than a twirl into Studio 54. Of course, anyone with a favorite place that fits this description is welcome to send me information in care of this fine publication. Even if you don't know of a place, drop me a line, and let me know which drummer's beat you're marching to.

The Super Adventures of Harry Chess

A. Jay

Leyland Publications

This collection of homoerotic comics reprints the Harry Chess serial originally seen in Queen Quarterly, circa 1961-1972, as well as new stories by Mike. Of the three, I liked Movie Star Confidential best.

The heroine Ginger Vitis, an aging Hollywood porno actress, has found herself wilted by booze, drugs and divorce. Haggard and spent, she dispatches her Ro-Bo-Droid Butler to seek out cum-gushing studs on the streets of Hollywood. The fountain of youth is her quest. Although its B-movie flavor makes it the most interesting story of the collection, this is not a comic you will successfully beat your meat to. The art is abrasive but the action is soft. Mike's other stories might get you there faster. A co-worker thought the action was "ass-spitting hot." I found it to be nothing more than mild hippy sex in the woods, with redundant viking motifs.

Of the three, I least liked the Harry Chess Adventures. I can appreciate the early underground experience but it's totally amateurish, silly and non-erotic. The story is so chaotic that it ultimately gets boring. I'd check out The Aerialist or Love and Rockets instead.

Gay Men and Women Who Enriched The World

Thomas Cowan

Alyson Publications

I wonder if a lot of gay men and women feel left out when it comes to history. Like history belongs to other people. Straight people. What kinds of things have homosexuals done to change the world before Stonewall?

Thomas Cowan has put together a book on just that: "Gay Men and Women Who Enriched The World" gives a new, positive look at what went on in the days before Richard Locke. The book chronicles the lives of 40 homosexual men and women who made a difference. Most of them didn't enrich the world simply by being queer. More importantly, they were queer and still had an impact that made it impossible for history to look the other way. Cowan chose these people for the following reasons: he wanted the biographies to be posthumous; he wanted them to span history and different cultures; and he wanted the subjects to be pretty much guaranteed homo, without ambiguity.

Since we're being smart bears today, we'll discuss Cowan's thesis: You know the old belief that fags are always artists? The author takes it a step further and tells us why: a homosexual man or woman grows up having to deal with their differences from others. Homosexuals interface. We play straight when we're not, often by the time we're four years old. This means we run circles around our parents and see a broader picture than others. That's where creativity and ingenious thought come in, and that's how you get into the history books.

Each of Cowan's biographies is about four pages long. Just long enough to get a good look at the subject's life and to see how they've been able to surge ahead in their particular field. Cowan's subjects include Oscar Wilde, Virginia Woolfe, Alexander the Great, Maynard Keynes, Bessie Smith and Andy Warhol.

The book makes history come alive because many of these people were plagued with the same things we are today. Self doubt and fear over their sexuality often got in their way. Nevertheless, they're in this book because they made something of their talents and were still gay enough for history to know about it. We haven't had much gay heritage before, but this book gives us a place to come from. Plato, Michelangelo, Leonardo Da Vinci, Gertrude Stein, Lord Byron...you and I are in some pretty damned good company.

SHITS AND GIGGLES

YOU MIGHT BE A REDNECK IF:

You've ever used lard in bed.
 You honest to God think women are turned on by animal noises and seductive tongue gestures.
 The most common phrase you hear at your family reunion is "What are you lookin' at, shithead?"
 Your mother doesn't remove the Marlboro from her lips before telling the state trooper to kiss her ass.
 You've never been too drunk to fish.
 The weight of your keychain exposes your left hip.
 You wash your truck more often than yourself.
 You think beef jerky and moon pies are two of the major food groups.
 Dressing up for church means putting on a clean T-shirt.
 You consider a six-pack of beer and a bug zapper quality entertainment.
 You think Volvo is part of a woman's anatomy.
 Someone asks to see your ID and you show them your belt buckle.
 You see the next family reunion as a chance to meet girls.
 Your wife has a beer belly and you find it attractive.
 You consider your license plate personalized because your father made it.
 You have ever been fired from a construction job because of your appearance.
 You own more cowboy boots than sneakers.
 Your idea of safe sex is a padded dashboard.
 Jack Daniels makes your list of most admired people.
 You have more caps than undershorts.
 Your fishing boat is cleaner than your bathtub.

The above list was sent to us a while back and has us all confused. It sounds pretty normal to me. When I showed it to Richard, he just burped and said, "Whaddya want me to do with it, shithead?"

I lucked-out and got to go to Boston in July for the third annual New England Bear Contest (only they call it a Beyah Contest up theyah), held at the Ramrod. As in past years, it drew crowds from as far away as Maine, Pennsylvania and California. Ten men entered, and the finalists are pictured here. Look pretty intense, don't they? It's just the impact of the moment. The winner, who is in the middle, is Joe Mandell. On the left is the first runner-up David M., and on the right is Mike Moran, second runner-up and my gracious host that weekend. This year, DREIZEHN did the honors of organizing the event, and they did well. Judges included Chris Wittke of our own Wittke Wire, last year's winner Bill Sanderson, and several other dignitaries of the bear world. It was a night to be had....er, remembered.

You probably got it figured out by now that we don't do cute. It ain't why were here.

Well, every few months we get a catalog from a company that sells teddy bears and related accessories. We usually just glance through it once, pass it on, and turn back to the penises at hand. But something got my attention this time around: a shirt for the morning after, when you've got a spring in your step and a fresh-fucked smirk on your face.

Now you can own a shirt that lets everyone know you got lucky. Comes in a gray, 50/50 blend material, in sizes small, medium, large, extra-large and jumbo if you really got lucky. Contact bear-in-mind® at (508) 369-1167. They do mail order.

LET YOUR HAIR DOWN

Say you've got long hair, a big beard, and nobody loves you. What do you do? A new opportunity has developed for men with beards and long hair to meet other men with beards and long hair. Bros, a brotherhood of shaggy-maned gay men, is now developing and they want to hear from you.

Maybe you can identify with what it's like being shaggy in this trim, shaved and perky world. Long hair has a mystique and an intrigue that too often goes unnoticed. Men with manes are a very small minority in gay culture, yet deserve the bonding, friendship and intimacy with brothers of similar appearance.

Bros will provide a quarterly publication of personal ads and gatherings throughout the year. The first directory of members is scheduled for November 1, 1992. If you fit these descriptions, you may run a 50-word personal ad at $0.25 a word, per issue. In the words of Bros' founder, "Ads appearing will only be for longhaired, bearded men. To those who scream discrimination, I say GROW IT." First issue is free, $4.00 each thereafter. Bros, PO Box 17931, Rochester, NY 14617.

SHIPYARD

by Randy Hariman

I'd been working in the shipyard for about eight months when the whole thing happened. One day I went onboard for a quick ship-check to look at the location for a special battery rack I was designing. It was lunch time for the yard workers so parts of the ship were deserted. After I took some dimensions and drew a sketch I decided to look around below deck to see how far along production was on the first of the new destroyers. What I really wanted to do was to check out the great graffiti the guys write on the bulkheads before final paint. There's one private room at the bow where the guys take sluts for a blow job or whatever. When I stepped into the room I saw a drawing of a guy's hairy ass and a big dick getting stroked below it with the words "Jim gives good head" scribbled on the bulkhead. And also something about a guy from Nantucket....

I kept wandering around looking for smut when I heard a low howl from around the corner. As I turned the corner, my eyes dropped to see a pair of muscular, hairy legs straddling a stanchion. The guys had played an old joke again. They had stripped him, taped him to a structural stanchion and left him to his embarrassment. This stud was en-bear-assed in every sense of the phrase! His ankles and knees were taped with wide masking tape and his mouth was gagged by a pair of torn Fruit-of-the-Looms. Although he struggled, I could see it would have taken him hours to get loose.

When I moved in front of him I saw that it was the blue eyed hunk who hung around outside of the shipbuilder's cafe near the north gate of the yard every morning. This guy was hot looking. Even with six thousand other humpy dudes walking by, he always stood out from the crowd. His tight, dark blue Dickie work pants showed his tools perfectly. It looked like he must've worked out, or more likely, the work in the yard kept him in shape. His usual white v-neck undershirts had all they could do to keep his arms and chest from ripping out, but they couldn't keep all that soft brown fur from crawling out over his neck and arms. His warm furry face had very bold, handsome features that made the Marlboro man pale in comparison. His beard was a dark brown color with reddish-blond highlights in his bushy eyebrows and a handlebar moustache that made him look like a Viking.

And now here he was in front of me, completely helpless. He looked me in the eye as if to beg for help but I just looked down at his big dick waving around between us and dropped to my knees. When I started sucking his cock he tried, hopelessly, to free himself and howled again. I stopped to look up at his face and saw his blue eyes get wide and bright while I felt his cock getting harder in my mouth. He obviously liked it because when I continued he settled down and began to moan softly. I figured he was ready for more so I ran my hands under his shirt to feel his hard, hairy, sweaty chest heaving to the rhythm my mouth was making with his dick. When I found a nipple to tease he nearly shot his load right then but I managed to hold him back long enough for a little assplay. He let out a muffled grunt when I stuck a slick middle finger up his tight hole and deep-throated all eight, fat, hairy inches.

Feeling this hairy stud getting all worked-up had me ready to explode in my jeans, but just then I heard the warning buzzer telling everyone that lunch was almost over. Any moment now a swarm of people would return to this section. In a panic I stood up, letting that schlong flop out of my mouth and gave the stud a last hot glance. The look of surprise on his face made me think it was the first time he'd been sucked by a guy and from his reactions I'd say he liked it. I left him as I had found him, but with a huge hard-on that could cut the steel hull. As I walked back I thought, "What will the guys think when they find the stud..."

After that I had a hell of a time keeping my cock soft for four more hours. When the 4 p.m. buzzer finally sounded I ran to the lot near the cafe where I had seen him standing before. I hurried with the other six thousand or so hunks, bears and studs past the cafe. When I saw blue-eyed hunk, he locked eyes with me. I nodded, trying to stay cool, and moved toward my bike. Looking back I saw him follow me. As I put my helmet on I looked him over. He seemed bigger in the daylight. I wasn't sure if he wanted to punch me out or thank me. When he stepped in front of me, he gave me the brightest smile I had ever seen. His blue eyes lit up again as I held his stare and felt the electricity go right down my spine, straight to my dick and back up through to his. I watched him as the sweat trickled down his forehead and into his thick beard. When he finally spoke, I was relieved to hear his deep mellow voice say, "Nice day for a ride, huh?" and I just nodded yes.

I snapped out of the trance enough to reply, "Want to go for a quick one?" He just smiled and I knew he was ready to finish what I had started.

After about five minutes of shipyard traffic I turned down a bumpy back road that led to a boat launch parking lot and a small beach that was well known as the local cruise spot. I could feel his dick getting hard against my back, so I drove my bike down a path that came to a clearing where he got off the bike and I parked it. We both stared at each other for a moment and I took off my T-shirt to let the cool, salty air dry the brown curls as I rubbed my chest and belly fur. He didn't say a word. It was like he was still gagged by his Fruit of the Looms. I looked down to see his dick was hard again so I decided to make the first move.

I stepped closer to squeeze his dick through his pants and leaned to plant a kiss under his bushy moustache. He came back with a wet, hot tongue and sucked like a pro. The electrical circuit was complete when he squeezed my hard-on and we both felt our knees give. I broke away to pull up his wet shirt and to unzip his work pants, kneading and rubbing his hard muscles as I went along. He knelt down in front of me to open my jockey shorts. I couldn't wait to see how he sucked dick, so I pushed him back enough to pull down my shorts and feed him some meat. He grabbed it by the base with a big hairy fist, took the head in his mouth and slowly sucked back and forth, stroking the shaft with the same rhythm. With each stroke he went a little deeper and sucked a little harder until he had my whole cock in his mouth and I could feel his beard tickle my balls. I was ready to shoot so I pulled back and fisted a hot load of cum all over his hard chest, shoulders and arms.

This hot fuckin' stud needed some relief from the load

he was churning, but we were both so exhausted by the first blow-job that we laid down in the grass to catch our breath. I started smearing my cum all over his furry chest and he just smiled and laughed. Then we locked eyes again. I got on top of him, gave him another killer kiss and began licking the fresh salty sweat and cum from his ears, neck, chest and legs until he was clean and totally relaxed. Finally I got to working on his choice piece of meat to get him off. He had great control so I tweaked his nipples and he exploded into the air with relief. We fell to the ground, rubbed, stroked, and kissed for a while. He said, "My name's Jim," in a super-deep voice, and I drove him home....but that's another story.
