LETTERS TO BEAR

Mom, Gimme my Fuckin' BEAR!

I just got BEAR 29. I actually received it last week in the mail but just got it back from my sister and mother who stole it when they came for dinner. They said they can't find real men like these in Playgirl.

I feel sorry for them so I really don't mind. But I make sure I get every issue back.

In just about every BEAR, people write about you guys out-doing yourselves. But this time you really have. David and Mason are two of the finest men I've seen. All I can say is, "Ride me, cowboy!"

I have been a BEAR subscriber since 1992 and a bear-watcher since as far back as I can remember. I had gay friends in high school who were all size queens. A guy had to have an 8" cock before they would even notice him. I never was and am still not turned on by the size of a man's cock. But show me a man with a thick moustache and a hairy body and I'll just melt.

Your magazine not only has great looking men but is also very informative. You might say I've matured by reading your magazine. I am no longer embarrassed that my dick is only 6 inches long or that I have hair on my back.

Chris Wittke's article in BEAR 29 really hit the spot. I thought I was doing something wrong because I don't drive a fancy car, make a lot of money or travel the world over. That gay stereotype has been pounded into my head.

This is the first letter I've written to a magazine so I apologize for my thoughts being all jumbled and out of order. Also, how can I concentrate with that cover of David sitting on the bed next to me?

K.N., California

We're awful glad you could put the six-incher away for a minute (I bet you know how to work it better than a lot of eight inchers out there) to drop us a line—especially with David staring you in the face on your bed. You did just fine.

Getting your copies of BEAR swiped by your mom is sort of a new one for us. We like it. Let her know she can subscribe anytime she wants. And while you're at it, I'd like someone at PLAYGIRL to know they're being outdone. Have your mom write them a letter for me.

You echo our most important idea: Don't worry about shit. We're up to seven billion beings here on earth and each one has something to offer regardless of income, hair or dick size. Promise you'll keep enjoying and we promise to keep pushing the smut.

THE WITTKE WIRE

Everywhere I go people say to me, "Hey. Hey you!" I just naturally assume they're not talking to me and I ignore them.

"Hey!" they say, almost yelling and sometimes giving little waves to catch my eye. That's usually about the time I turn around to see who's standing behind me yammering and gesturing so obnoxiously. After all, it could be a celebrity I'd report on in this column. What if he were someone like Alec Baldwin or Ed Harris and what if he were wearing a form fitting tank top and cut-off denim shorts with the top button unfastened and scuzzy, unlaced old work boots? What if just because I didn't want to appear interested I missed meeting the type of sexually appealing famous person for whom I would eagerly compromise my journalistic integrity? Alas, it has yet to occur, but a guy should never give up hope.

So I turn around again only to find the person across the bar room/street/alley/public restroom excitedly pointing at me and shouting "Hey. You."

"Me?" I pantomime like Shields and/or Yarnell while pointing my index finger at my sternum.

"Yes!" they say with the gushing relief of Annie Sullivan when she finally gets through to Helen Keller in The Miracle Worker.

"You!" they say, ambling over with smiles and hands extended in greeting. "Aren't you the guy that writes that thing in BEAR?" they inevitably ask. "The gray thing," they explain, "the thing in the box beneath the letters."

"Oh yeah, I write that thing," I reply with a smile and a sense of relief that I haven't been mistaken, yet again, for some crook from America's Most Wanted. "That thing is by me"

"How do you do it?" they ask in a tone of astonishment.

"Always with a rubber," I reply, misinterpreting the question.

"No, no," they say patiently. "I mean that thing in BEAR. How do you watch all that television and see all those films and catalog all those commercials and rent all those videos and still have a life?"

"A what?" I ask.

"You know," they continue, "a life. Work, friendships, social activities, sex."

"Huh?" I mutter, shaking my head and wandering off to my solitary fate. The truth is, I thought everybody lived his life this way. I mean, who isn't obsessed with finding out everything he can about the actor who plays the hunky and street smart Caribaldi on Babylon 5? You know, the guy who out-Bruce-Willised Bruce Willis and is even more appealing simply because he is, in fact, not Bruce Willis.

Doesn't everybody fantasize about the actor who plays Mike on the amateurishly fascinating syndicated adventure show Acapulco H.E.A.T.? (His full name, incidentally, is Brenden Kelly and he is a real stunner.) Who doesn't sit though episode after episode praying for a scene in which Mike appears shirtless, and weep when the

Northwind

I'm here in DC, finishing up a two-week trip to Stonewall Weekend in New York. As I got ready to leave for home (Vancouver, BC), I picked up BEAR 29 as a final souvenir of my trip. And the great memories came flooding back as I remembered my two recent trips to Houston.

Issue 29 is a good one, guys; one of the best you've put out as far as I'm concerned. The photo quality is good, the layout is interesting and most imaginative and, of course, more and more men who we all enjoy drooling, growling and exploding over! Can't get enough of that, and you sure as hell filled it up pretty good this time.

Keep up the great work. I'm looking forward to more and more.

Is there any possibility that you could consider a special issue of BEAR combining issues 1 and 2? I know the history of how they were put together and how fast they got snapped up! Since I have every issue of BEAR since Issue 3, I do think about those issues and wonder "what if" one could ever see how BEAR really started out. Another woof.

Take care, be well and stay furry.
Northwind, British Columbia

Hey, North, glad to hear from you, fella. We've seen a lot come and go over the years, haven't we? Seems like decades since the 40 copies of BEAR 1 came off a xerox machine. I don't even have a copy of issues 1-4 anymore. They're history.

You might remember the compilation Brahma Studio did, The Best of BEAR 1 & 2, a few years back. It's out of print now and the artwork isn't available. But every once in a while, if you're real nice, you can run into someone who has an original BEAR 1 to look at. It's pretty trippy shit.

Marx on the 4th of July

The 4th of July just kept cumming with all the fireworks—and on the 5th with the arrival of BEAR 29. Yes, indeed, a hot issue. Everything in it is fuckin' far-in!

The fiction piece, "West Texas Riggers," that Mike Golobay offered up, is top drawer. I sure wish I could write like he can. I'd have to say that piece is just about the best I've read in BEAR in some time. Bar none.

Yow, and I'd climb fuckin' all over David and Mason in a heartbeat, along with probably most of my other bear brothers. I think I have got to visit Texas soon.

You guys really put together one phenomenal issue with number 29. You really out-did yourselves with this one. A big thanks.

Chuck Marx, past model, California
"West Texas Riggers" is one of the better-written pieces we've used in a long time. Mike can roll a good time off his word processor like nobody's business. Plus he's a damned nice fellow.

Thanks for keeping up with us. Best of luck.

Wrap It Up

I just want to write and say I loved BEAR 29 - The Texas Issue. The coverman was totally awesome.

I also loved seeing Mason in cowboy boots. That gets me hot and horny—I loved seeing all the guys in their boots. Keep up the good work.

Do you mail issues out in plain envelopes? If so I am getting a subscription.

B.B., New Jersey

Glad you like what we're doing. It wears us out sometimes, but it's worth it.

Lots of guys call the shop to ask how BEAR is wrapped for mailing. We like to say it comes in dick paper with the word "smut" all over. But it doesn't. It's discrete. A plain brown wrapper from BCM.

BY CHRISTOPHER WITKE

anticipated event occurs?

I'm shocked when I realize that not every gay man is a professional wrestling aficionado. But then I get word from someone who's even more obsessive than I that amateur wrestling from Iran sometimes pops up on the international cable channel and that the men are simply not to be believed when it comes to fur quotient. And I feel better because I know that I'm not alone.

I know for a fact that I'm not alone in the delight I take in many of the so-called reality shows that proliferate across the airwaves, because as most BEAR® readers will agree, real men are much hotter than the processed Hollywood kind. That's why I coveted the COPS hat I saw on the head of one of the scarily sexy Stonewall 25 celebrants in New York last June. I know that if I could have engaged him in conversation rather than merely drool in his direction, I would have found that he, like me, also enjoys the occasional episode of Emergency Call because the almost universally mustached and bearded paramedics help me indulge in my Gage and DeSoto fantasies. I've also recently become an enthusiastic fan of the syndicated Real Stories Of The Highway Patrol because the bitches are even tighter than they ever were on CHPs and facial (and forearm and poking up over the regulation T-shirt) hair seems to be a part of the required contemporary uniform these days.

But then I wonder: am I the only one who got depressed when he heard that Elden wouldn't be on Murphy Brown this season? Didn't anyone but me rejoice that the oozingly sexual Peter Onorati would be back next year in an hour long drama and was I the only one who hoped that, with luck, he would be allowed to grow his body hair back after last season's disastrous (and body waxed) sitcom Joe's Life? Was I the only man on the planet making excuses for the general lifelessness of the film version of The Shadow by thinking that Alec Baldwin's chest looked as delectable as ever?

I imagine I was the only person who had heart palpitations when he read in the New York Times that the actor who played Jean Valjean more times in companies around the world than any other actor in the shlocky but wildly entertaining Les Misérables has recently returned to the role on Broadway. If I were rich I'd buy all of the tickets so you could see this guy. His name is Crage Schulman and he is everything a leading man should be. Hell, he's everything men should be! Besides a gorgeous beard and a tenor's belly, his voice can raise goosebumps. (The first time I saw him on-stage he was in the chorus of the first national touring company of Les Mis, understudying the lead. My gaze was riveted on him in the background and I subsequently missed all of the downstage action. It's about some kind of revolution or something.) If you're anywhere in the New York City area, find out if Schulman is still with the Les Mis company and go if you can. Really. I wouldn't lie to you. I know about these things.

Now that I think about it, maybe I should get one of those whatcha-ma-call-its. A life.

A Football Player's Sweaty Hole

In BEAR 29, David just makes my manhole sweat and my fat dick swell. If he doesn't think he's a man worth trapping then he needs someone like me to pin him down and bearhug him to sleep with some hot summer sweat and warm winter naps.

Seriously, if his write-up is true, and husky muscle turns him on, then I've got a 6'1", 240 lb. football player bear body I'd like to tackle him with, give him a lickin' and hope he's still tickin'. This guy next door wants to get in line!

Keep up the centerfolds—this one bear-buddied me. And if you're in need for another cowboy, you've sure sparked my interest. I'd pose anytime. P.W., Florida

We sent your letter on to Dave. You could practically hear him blush when I dropped it in the mail slot.

You say you have a 240 lb. football player bear body? I want pictures on my desk by the end of next week. I'm serious.

Moma me los huevos

I am a Mexican bear, a cowboy in southeast Mexico. I subscribed to several gay magazines edited in Mexico, the US and European countries but none—and I really mean none—had the men I really wanted to see until I found BEAR in a Houston bookstore. I have received four issues already of this exciting magazine and I am waiting and checking my mailbox almost every day when I think the next one is coming (with my right hand ready for heavy work). I used to have a moustache only, but now I have a full beard that makes me feel great.

Congratulations for your sensational magazine and thank you very much for showing Pete (Coverman, BEAR 28) because he's the man I wish I had with me here at the ranch. My beard looks a lot like his. I also got many letters from interesting men after my ad was published in one of your issues. I hope to keep on getting your magazine forever.

F.F., Mexico

We get off on hearing how BEAR changes people's perceptions of themselves and their world. Proves yet again that we're more than just pretty pictures of pretty holes, north and south. Glad to know we're getting some attention in the U.S. of M., and that real cowboys are still around to kick up the shit.

Up Britannia

Have just received my first ever copy of BEAR Magazine, now finally available here through a distributor. What can I say? This is the best thing since sliced bread! I have been a secret bear admirer for years and your mag is beyond my wildest dreams. I have never seen such amazing beautiful men; my fantasies come to life.

Regrettably, I am no bear myself; clean shaven, thinning fair hair, 5'6" and 110 lbs. So I guess you would not even let me into your shop if I were in town. I have no illusions that you bears would have me on your list of possible conquests but that does not stop me from admiring you all at a discrete distance.

Anyhow, thanks for making an English wimp a very happy and horny man. Keep up the great work and hello to you guys and all your readers. You have one hell of an enthusiastic follower over the water here.

J.W., West Midlands, England
You can't imagine how delighted we were to finally get BEAR into England after all these years. We have a nice little letter from Her Majesty's Customs saying "[We find BEAR 27 & 28] would not breach the prohibition on the importation of obscene material." My first concern was that we're getting tame in our old age. But they also added, "If you have no objection, the samples will be retained here for future reference."

Uh-huh. Right. Someone's slammin' the Spam in Sussex tonight.

Since you're new to us I'll go easy on the "I'm not a bear" trip. Just know that we don't play that here. You're welcome in our shop anytime. We do not exclude or discriminate on the basis of secondary male sexual characteristics.

None of the best people do.

South Africa

Thanks for the information about getting an international subscription. I will certainly take advantage of it as soon as I can—unfortunately the Rand is undergoing a poor exchange right now.

Nonetheless, Leif enclosed a note saying that you all love pics for private viewing, so, hell, here are a few for you guys. If you feel like publishing any of them, go right ahead. Hope they live up to BEAR expectations.

Now, just another thing: The BEAR movies. Since you guys in the US use the NTSC video system we here use PAL-SECAM, are any of yours available on PAL? Shit, there are three of them I would love to own for those lonely nights.

So, happy viewing, and I look forward to hearing from you guys again.

R.B., South Africa

Your pictures surpassed BEAR expectations. In fact, they made our day. Thanks for giving us a peek.

As for our videos, they are available in PAL-SECAM. BEAR's dirty videos are now a worldwide phenomenon, and our operator, Jeffrey, is standing by for your order.

DOUG

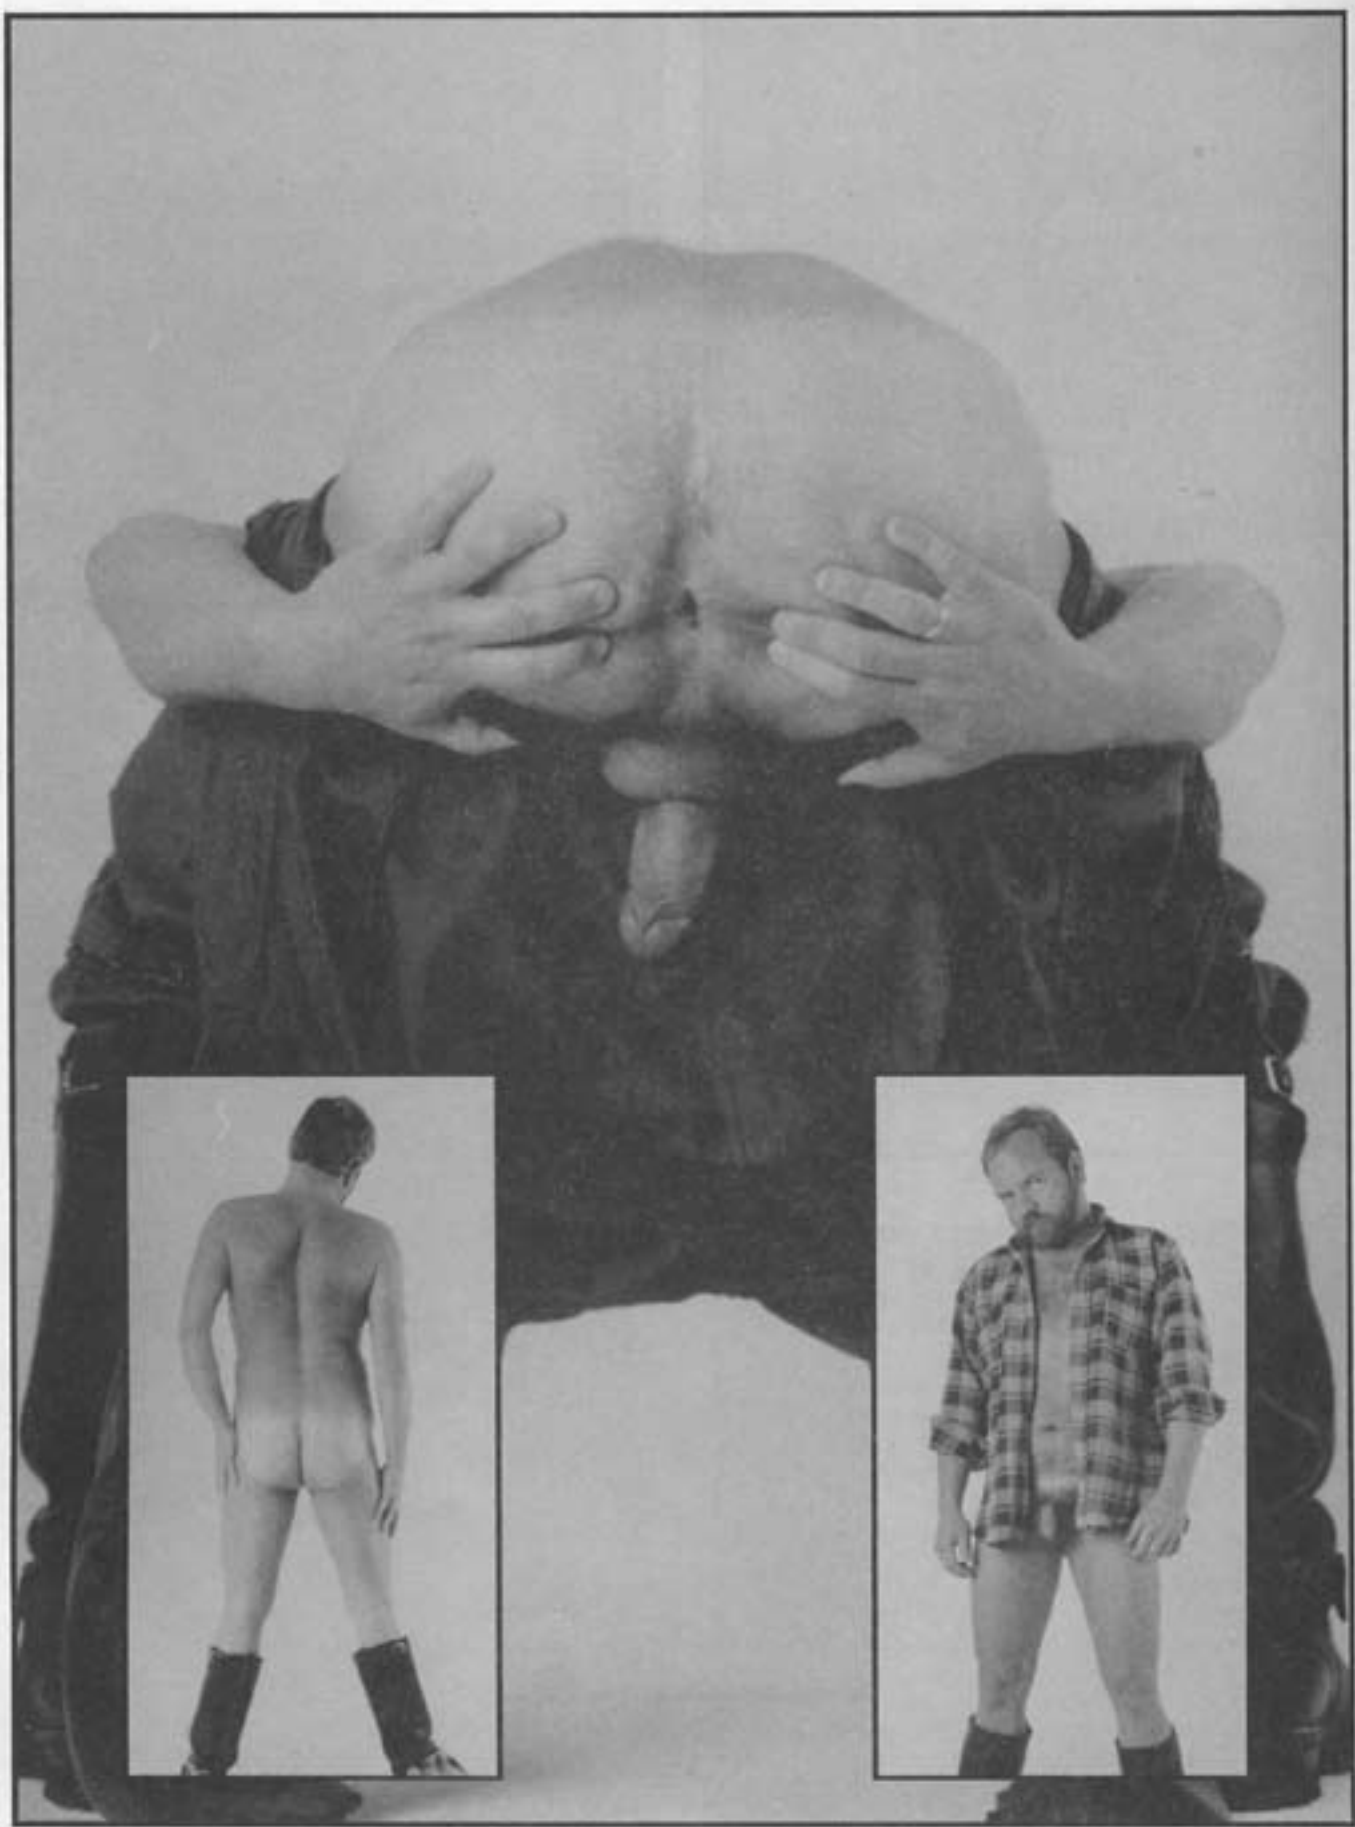

Every once in a while you meet a guy who knows exactly what he wants out of life. With his easy-going manner, stocky frame and golden hair, Doug usually gets what he's after. He's Canadian. A refugee from the Prairie Provinces, he now lives on a houseboat in Vancouver. Doug's into leather and travelling to Brazil, and he seems to enjoy picking up airline men and giving them something to remember.

When he was down in San Francisco for the shoot we went for a spin in his rented Mustang convertible—over the Golden Gate Bridge on a foggy night, listening to Gregorian chants and sharing good conversation. He has the rhythm of a romantic, but watch out. There's a Master's degree behind that sweet face of his.

POLECLIMBER

By T.S. Wayne

Illustration by Dadé

I am lucky to come from a blue-collar family. My father works for the local utility company as a lineman supervisor. Years ago, he was known as a pole climber. You know, someone who actually climbs and works on utility poles. You can imagine what kind of jokes you get with that job title, and I've heard them all. My mother worked as an office manager for a carpenter's union for most of my 25 years.

When I say I'm lucky to come from a blue-collar family, I don't mean that I've been brought up to appreciate the fruits of hard labor or the value of a good work ethic, although that certainly is true. No, I mean I'm fortunate because of all the hot men I saw at all of the company and union picnics and get togethers. Ever since I was old enough to really notice, I'd come home from these events in such a horny heat that I'd have to get myself off several times just to be able to walk right.

Of course, I never fucked around with anybody that either worked with my dad or was a member of the union my mom worked for. I thought about it plenty but not enough to have the guts to actually pursue it. But as it turned out, Denny changed that.

Denny is a co-worker of my dad and the closest thing he has to a best friend. He started working for the company when he was my age and has been there for almost fifteen years. He's a real happy-go-lucky sort of guy. I've rarely seen him without his trademark broad grin and the smiling eyes for which the Irish are so famous. It's hard to imagine him ever being angry about anything.

You know how little kids sometimes become fond of an adult? That's how it was with me and Denny. In fact, my mom began to refer to him as my buddy. Even the worst day began to perk up when my mom would call out to me, "Hey, your buddy's here!"

Through the front door my dad would walk with Denny behind him. They'd grab a couple of beers and wind down before Denny got back in his truck and headed for home. I would sit at the table with both of them, not saying much of anything, and hang on his every word. He was rather fond of me also, always asking me about school and, when I got old enough, how many girls I'd been dating. Actually, I stopped hanging around with them when I got to the age where I realized why he interested me so much. I just didn't want anyone to catch me looking at him, wondering what he looked like without those work clothes, how hairy he was, what he could do with that body....

More or less, though, I grew apart from him. Soon, I was in college and working part time, so I wasn't home a lot.

During one particular weekend home from college, I walked in the house to discover that I'd be alone as the folks had decided to spend the weekend out of town. No big deal. I figured I'd spend the whole time watching TV and studying anyway.

It was early Saturday evening. I had just finished a TV dinner. Wearing only a pair of jockey shorts, I was headed for the shower. The doorbell rang and I hightailed it back to my room to find a pair of gym shorts to throw on. When I opened the door, there was smiling Denny whom I hadn't seen in quite a while.

His grin got wider. "Hey guy! when'd you get back?"

"Just last night. So, how the hell have you been, Denny?"

"Not bad, not bad at all. I'm on my way to the Sportsman Show. Want to see if your old man is up to going with me. He around?"

"Naw, he and mom left for the weekend. Didn't he tell you yesterday at work?"

His eyes widened. "Aw, hell. Yeah, now I remember. Shit."

"You got time to come in for a while don't you? Have a beer at least."

"Man, that's the best idea I've heard all day."

He let himself in and made his way into the kitchen. I don't know if it was wishful thinking but I could have sworn I saw him give me a quick once-over. I grabbed a Bud for him and a soda for myself from the fridge. I joined him in the room and we sat there drinking, and talked about everything and nothing. I told him about what I'd been doing in school and he told me about work and going fishing on the weekends at his lake-front cabin. Then he threw the old dating question at me and I answered honestly this time: I'd been out with a few people but nobody really special. He only said that was good, that I was too young to really settle down with someone anyway.

I don't know why I said it but I told him he looked different but that I couldn't figure out why. He took a drink from his can and, with a sly look, answered, "Don't know. Why don't you take a better look?"

It was clear to me where things were headed but that remark still threw me for a loop. Hoping my face wasn't red, I took Denny in with my eyes, starting with his ever-present baseball cap. He stands a few inches shorter than my 6 foot frame. He's of the dark Irish type having fair skin with dark, almost black hair. I let my gaze wander from his smiling eyes to his densely bearded face. He was wearing a white golf shirt with his union's logo on it. All of the buttons were undone, giving me a glimpse of his hairy chest. His chest hair was so dark that it was easy to see through the knit shirt. I knew that I was getting a hard-on but didn't care because I saw a bulge in his lap.

I didn't have time to study it for long. Before I knew what was happening he got up and stood before me, his face inches from mine. He put his hand on my shoulders and said, "What's the matter? See something else different about me? Tell me, cause I sure see something different about you."

With that, one of his hands went down the front of my shorts and gripped my cock. The other hand locked itself to the back of my head. "Uh-huh, I thought so," he murmured, and his beer flavored tongue slipped into my mouth.

Still in a state of shock, I knew I wanted him but I couldn't believe I was standing there with the tongue of my father's best friend going for my tonsils. The hand down my shorts worked my prick. His calloused thumb hit a sensitive spot on my cockhead and I felt my legs shake.

He broke the deep kiss with a gentle laugh. "Easy guy, easy. I got you. Am I gettin' to you that bad?"

Basic instinct finally took over and we headed to the bathroom. I lost my shorts and underwear on the way and I was doing my best to make him lose his. We somehow made it into the shower, barely big enough for two people. The hot water hit us as we melded to each other. Our hands tightly gripped each other's asses. He pressed my back to the warm tile and pushed one of his thighs between mine and I humped my water slicked balls against his wet thigh. The friction from his hairy legs against mine and his mouth on my Adam's apple were getting me close and he knew it.

"Turn around," he ordered. I felt his cock press against my backside while one of his big hands spread the cheeks of my hairy ass and gently prodded my hole. I felt it relax enough to allow one of his fingers in.

"That's it, guy... relax and open up for me ... that's it ... let me in there ... I want that ass of yours...." There were now two fingers up my ass gently clipping my gland, my cock pulsing with every press of his fingers. I snaked my right hand behind me and grabbed his wrist, urging him deeper. I wanted it. I wanted it real bad.

"Turn around," he ordered. I felt his cock press against my backside while one of his big hands spread the cheeks of my hairy ass....

"I think there's something else that belongs in there. Let's go," he said.

We didn't have far to go. My bedroom is right outside the bathroom. We collapsed onto my unmade bed with me on top. Before that short, fat prick of his was going anywhere else, it was going down my throat. I moved down his chest, pausing long enough to scratch my brick colored beard over his nipples, nibbling them with my teeth and fingers. At last, I headed south, took a deep breath and took his prick into my mouth.

He groaned and thrust upwards until the head knocked the back of my throat. I kinda think he didn't realize I'd learned a thing or two while I'd been away. I sucked him long and hard, the sweet taste of his pre-cum in my mouth. I didn't want him to boil over so I let his dick drop out of my mouth after a minute. I went back up to his face and opened his mouth with my tongue. My inhibitions were gone and there was more urgency in my actions. I stroked his black beard.

I stopped long enough to look him in the eyes and tell him to turn over. With that sly grin on his face, he obliged. I moved my hands up his inner thighs, feeling the hair brush against my skin. I pushed his legs apart, gripped the white globes of his ass, and spread those cheeks wide open.

I took a long, hard look at this, one of the best parts of a man. With the fingertips of one hand I brushed his asshole gently back and forth. I heard Denny's low groans and watched his hot hole quiver. I wanted to go slowly and savor this but I heard his muffled commands for more.

I wasn't ready to go further yet. I put the tip of a finger square on the pucker and nudged it, letting just my fingertip inside at first. Then I began some serious ass-diddlin', working three fingers up his chute. I buried my face between his legs and chewed on his loose ball sack, pulling its hair with my teeth. I slowly licked a trail behind his balls up to his wrinkled rosebud.

Licking him heavily, I smoothed out those wrinkles with my tongue, taking a gentle nip or two. Denny bucked his ass in my face and groaned all the more. After taking one long, last lick from the cord of his balls to his tailbone, I attacked his hole. My tongue slid easily into his warm tunnel and I gripped his waist to pull his ass onto my face.

Denny was really getting into this, bucking his hips in my face as I tongue-fucked his ass. Over and over I heard "Oh, yeah. Oh, yeah!"

I took my wet face away from his ass for a breather. I covered his body with mine and whispered in his ear, "You like that huh? What else do you like? Hmm? You want your best friend's son to fuck your hot ass, don't you? All you gotta do is ask. We'll save mine for later."

Three words: "Go for it."

And I did. He was relaxed, wet and stretched out enough for my invasion. I reached down and positioned my slick prick against his hole and walked right down that sucker. I drove it into him as deep as I could and, when that wasn't enough, I slid my arms under his and locked my fingers around the back of his neck to get more leverage.

Before long, I felt the familiar pull in my balls that told me the geyser was about to blow. The hair on my chest mingled with that of his back and I slipped out from between his cheeks at the last possible moment. I reared up and looked down in time to see hot, musky jism spout from my cock and coat his back and ass. I collapsed back onto his body and kept thrusting, my cock still blowing its load.

"Your turn big guy," I breathed in his ear, "or did you already lose it in the sheets?"

I rolled off his body onto my back, trying to catch my breath. I must have dozed off for a few moments because when I opened my eyes again, I saw Denny's face above mine. He had a twinkle in his eye and a devilish grin. "You bet it's my turn and your gonna work like hell for it, too!" With that he rolled me onto my belly and fell on top of me.

I was as wide as the Lincoln Tunnel from the ass-play in the shower. It was a good thing too, because he wasted no time.

"Spread 'em wide. I'm comin' in," he grunted. I felt the hot, hard organ plugging my ass and the soft weight of his balls resting on mine. His body felt like a warm, furry blanket.

"Let's see how good a poleclimber you really are," he said and started to pull out, leaving just the head of his dick inside my ass.

I knew what game he was playing. I was going to have to work my ass to pull it back on his pole.

I met his challenge only to have him pull out again. "Higher," he coaxed. "Higher!" I managed to get back on him three times before I cried uncle and gave up. If anyone had walked into the room at that moment, I'm sure it would have looked like we were playing some bizarre form of sexual Twister. Finally, we collapsed in a heap of laughter and he slipped completely out.

It was time for a serious fuck. I wanted it and I was gonna get it. He turned me over and I wrapped my legs around his back. Seeing his red, sweaty face as he pushed his way into me got me hard again. His eyes were closed, his jaw was clenched, the muscles and veins corded beneath his skin. I pinched his nipples hard, my ankles tightening around his body. He yelled out, not in pain but in pure orgasmic frenzy.

Suddenly, he pulled his cock out of my ass, quickly knelt over my belly and gave his rod the few strokes it needed to let go of the load he'd been building up in his heavy balls. I felt the spurts hit my chest, my face, and my beard. I watched his face during his orgasm and I savored the look of his raw sexual satisfaction. Spent, he fell on top of me, gluing our chests together with his cum.

Our breathing had only just gone back to normal when I heard him whoop and holler. I opened my eyes to see that grinning face of his looking down on me, his cheeks and chest flushed red. "What've they been teaching you at that college, boy? It's damn hard keeping up with you! That there was worth waiting for!"

The pieces were falling together. I looked up at him and laughed, "You had this planned all along, didn't you? Just how long have you been after my ass, fucker?"

"About as long as you've been after mine." He jumped off me, got out of bed, and pulled me to my feet. "More'n once I caught you looking at me with more than hero worship in your eyes. I was biding my time until the right moment when I could do something about it. 'Course your mother'd have my balls if she knew what we just did."

I grabbed his balls in my hand. "I won't tell if you won't," I said.

He just laughed, and led me to the bathroom for another hot shower.

We spent much of the next 48 hours doing everything two men can do to each other.

When Sunday came and it was time for him to head home, we said our good-byes with hugs and gropes and promises for more to come in the future. He did say something, though, that made me wonder. As he walked out the door, he tipped his cap and said, "You know, you're a better poleclimber than your father ever was."

THINGS TO DO

BY LUKE MAURMAN

14 January 1995. Los Angeles, California. Beefcakes are on parade during the Mr Southern California Bear Contest. It's being held at the Faultline in Hollywood (Californians take their earthquakes seriously, and if you're lucky the earth will move for you). Contact the Bears LA for more info at PO Box 4614, Valley Village, CA 91617. Or call 213-850-9858.

17 January 1995. Portland, Oregon. The Cascade Bears like to party, and on this particular eve they're heading to a bath house to do some male bonding. They call it Bear's Night at the baths. Hell, it's even worth a drive up from Medford to go do something like that. Give 'em a call, 503-323-6071.

27-29 January 1995. Waterville, Connecticut. The Northeast Ursamen, a friendly and accessible group is holding a Waterville Valley Ski Weekend in the wilds of Connecticut. If you think you can handle cold wet snow and warm fuzzy skin, call 203-742-1727 to reserve your place in glory.

3-5 February 1995. Provincetown, Massachusetts. Like you might have figured, the weather's none too pleasant on the Cape this time of year. That's why forty of your closest, furrriest friends will be along to keep you warm, if not actually dry. The Hibernation Run, put on jointly by the New England Bears and the Northeast Ursamen, oughta give you plenty of chances to meet Mr. Right Now. Contact the New England Bears at PO Box 873, Cambridge, MA 02140. Or call 508-458-0011.

17-20 February 1995. San Francisco, California. President's Day Weekend. Many of you make the trek to The Fog City every February to carouse and have sex. In 1995 the Bears of San Francisco are spearheading an event: The International Bear Rendezvous. Mark your calendars now and contact the BOSF for details: 2215R Market Street, Box 266, San Francisco, CA 94114. Or call 415-541-5000. That self-same weekend, the Fourth Annual Bear Expo will be happening as well. For their information write Bear Expo, 2261 Market St #160, San Francisco, CA 94114. Or call 415-362-8880.

17-20 February 1995. New Orleans, Louisiana. If New Orleans and Mardis Gras aren't enough to get you off your stick and into the streets for some fun, you got one more chance: The Leather Journal's Pantheon of Leather Weekend. Get in touch with the Leather Journal people at 7985 Santa Monica Blvd. #109-368, West Hollywood, CA 90046, or call 213-656-5073.

Looking way ahead....

14-16 April 1995. Seattle, Washington. When the springtime sun finally comes out in the Puget Sound area, it's time to celebrate...and dollar cinemas at Alderbrook Mall just don't cut it. Get out with the Northwest Bears for their Spring Thaw gathering. You won't be disappointed. Get the details by writing or calling: 1202 E. Pike #802, Seattle, WA 98122; 206-233-1003.

25-29 May 1995. Chicago, Illinois. The Great Lakes Bears will hold their Bear Pride '95 Convention. It's quite a to-do with a picnic in the park, much bar hopping and a whopping contest. More details will follow, or contact the Great Lakes Bears at 312-509-5135

HINDSIGHTS

Clan of the Cave Bears '94. The Second Annual Mammoth Cave Outing with the Kentucky Bluegrass Bears and the Cincinnati River Bears, 10-11 September.

Lovingly kitsch accommodations at Wigwam Village (Cave City, KY) with concrete teepees. The overflow stayed at the equally accommodating if less architecturally unique Caveland and Ramada Inn. Yes, the teepees have a/c, showers, cable, even the original, rustic hickory furniture.

We all descended on Mammoth Cave National Park for the 2-hour Historic Tour where we feared a couple of fellas would get stuck in "Fat Man's Folly." It was a damn tight squeeze, but we all made it through.

After general tourist trap shopping (Wow! Slag glass!) we all headed back to the teepees for a cornucopia (roasted corn-on-the-cob), grill-out and Henry's raspberry and Rollo brownies. Rumors of eating peach pie off Indianapolis bruin Mike's buttocks proved false ... this time.

After a hearty country breakfast at the Watermill Restaurant, we bid adieu to summer and sent forty furry friends back to Nashville, Chattanooga, Louisville, Lexington, Cincinnati, Indianapolis ... and those distant parts of Alabama, Illinois, Ohio, Wisconsin, Indiana—and Australia.

New England Bear Contest. Boston was not only one of our nation's birthplaces, it's home to one of the archetypal bear events. Great segue, huh? Pictured above are the New England Bear Contest winners from August, 1994. The excitable chap in the middle is winner Mike Morram. The people of Boston had better get used to a lot of whooping and "wuuing" from him. First Runner Up was Michael Moran (l) and Second Runner Up Bob Ebersol. (He's a fireman—get 'im, guys!)

The other guys were as cute as hell too: RJ, David, Michael, Mark, Will and Tony. Bear Historian Les Wright won an award for outstanding contribution to the community. The Boston Ramrod hosted the event, and the place was packed. I had the thrill of being a judge. Very difficult choices to make, but I enjoyed a fun, organized and successful night with the New England Bears.

If our readers wore pearls they'd be grabbing the fuckers right about now. We fucked up in issue 29. I know. Shocking. Yours truly said the Bears of San Francisco, a way cool group in their own right, hosted the bear contest at the Lone Star this August. Nooooo. It were the SF Leather Bears, a whole nother passel of folk, headed by John Caldera and Paul Mastroianni. Can you believe a cock-up like that? By the way, Bill Byrne won, and over $800 were raised for the San Francisco AIDS Emergency Fund. They did it right.

Cascade Bears' Prowl '94. The Cascade Bears, keeping true to their kind and rowdy heritage, hosted quite a do early this August. The Prowl is a weekend of parties, bar-b-ques, a riverboat cruise, nude sunbathing, and of course, the contest.

Many San Franciscans and Floridians already know Lurch. He's a huge, funny man who emceed the contest and is pictured below, along with the contest winners and judges. Back row: Northwind, Jon and Ron; Front: Van Floyd, Lurch (sporting quite a boner there in his nose), The Hun and Dennis Pauly.

Below this are three bare butts. As a special courtesy to our readers, you get to match the butt with the contestant. Sorry, we don't have any prizes to give, but just take your time and enjoy the manly "butt-ocks."

Here he is one more time: Mr. Luke Cottrill, Spike, BEAR's contestant at the New York Gay Games. Won a Silver Medal in powerlifting. You done us proud, Luke!

The Last Frontier, Anchorage's bear group, held their first contest event, the Black & Blue Ball. You're looking at the result here to the left. Awful cute, ain't he? Name's Eric Britten. Apparently he used to live with real bears. Had a family of them near his old log cabin in the Alaskan wilderness.

Maybe Alaska isn't nearly as chilly as people say it is.

Bouncing Off the Walls

Here's another way to fuck yourself or to put you at the right height and spread for one of your buddies. You need to be somewhat athletic. Make sure you're not too far from the floor. Wearing a pair of leather work gloves helps too. Keeping a tight grip on a chain or rope can really fuck up your hands.

You need a wide leather workout belt; chain or rope; a clamp or attachment; something in the middle of the wall like a large stud—that's where you're going to attach your dildo and you don't want to have to do the splits to get it in.

Once you have everything in place, your belt hung up and your dildo at just the perfect height, place the belt behind your hips or lower back, whichever is more comfortable. Lean back and slowly lift your legs, propping your feet against the wall. Bend your legs and take aim so that your dildo will slip on in. The higher you hold the chains the more of a sitting position you'll be in. Hold them lower to put you in a reclining or almost upside down position.

BARE PAUSE

John Dibelka

Odds & Ends

I look forward to spending most of a summer Saturday between the time I write this and the time you read it at the wheel of my convertible, with my friend John beside me taking pictures of bystanders, and an as-yet unnamed personality sitting on the folded top, as part of the San Diego Pride Parade.

I plan to wear my Giants cap while I drive, and dark glasses, and sneakers and shorts and a T-shirt. I've chosen these clothes because they're what I always wear.

It has never occurred to me to wonder why I should do this. It seems as natural as breathing. I am what I am, and what I am needs no excuses. After watching TV coverage of this year's Los Angeles and San Francisco parades, however, a friend of mine has asked me "...why some gay folks insist on dressing up in outlandish costumes to march," and said, "It seems that these folks are a detriment to the gay and lesbian cause." I had to tell him why I don't agree.

I don't wear a dress, and I won't wear a feathered cape or a codpiece of leather and chains or a button that reads "This Face Seals Five" or tattoos on my ear lobes and rings in my nose, only because these things do not represent what I am.

They do, however, represent what people I know are. I consider it my responsibility as a moral human being to help them express it.

Further, I consider it my duty as an American.

One of the three main symbols we gay, lesbian, bisexual, transsexual, transgendered and otherwise "sexually different" people use to identify ourselves is the rainbow flag. By combining all colors into a single insignia we acknowledge our community is made up of independent people.

A similar attempt to represent this ideal of one common assembly of equally important individuals yet waves o'er the land of the free and the home of the brave. Unfortunately, the vast majority of those who pledge allegiance to that flag don't seem to understand what the symbols, or the words they mouth toward them, mean. Americans stamp e pluribus unum on every last one of our coins but on precious few of our hearts.

Fifty years ago the free and the brave of this country fought an obscenely costly war against people whose insufferable crime against humanity was a demand that every man be just the same as every other man but clearly different from all women, each of whom must be, instead, like every other woman.

Yet today I see no difference between the Juden in old German script splashed with red paint across a Dresden tailor's door in 1937 and the "fucking faggot" etched into my windshield half a century later; between laws which stripped Jews of their property in Warsaw and laws which put a gay man's life partner on the street because, for lack of a legal partnership like marriage, he cannot inherit the house they shared for twenty years; between the Ultimate Solution that snuffed out six million lives and the current genocidal governmental disregard for AIDS.

I do, however, see a chance to learn a most important lesson. Those who do not speak up for their rights lose those rights and, soon, lose their voices. Silence=Death.

I think it was Voltaire who said, "I disagree, sir, with what you say, but I shall defend to the death your right to say it." His contemporaries, America's founding fathers, also said things like that in order to preserve for themselves and for their posterity a social structure based on freedom to pursue rights they considered inalienable and universal.

Foremost of these is the right of expression. I cannot hold those men responsible for the fact that their descendants are, like most who inherit vast wealth, hell-bent on squandering the incredible fortune they've received.

People attempt to oppress those they fear. Most people fear the unknown. Making the unknown known helps reduce the fears of those who are willing to learn, who can question their prejudice and alter their perception. Nothing can help those who will not, or cannot, grow.

There are somewhere between 15 and 30 million differently-sexed (if that term ain't politically correct, I don't know what is) people in the United States today. Pride parades are a forum we choose to show both that we are living, breathing, normal and productive people (just like almost everybody else) and that we have interests and desires and needs which make us individuals (and therefore very different from everybody else, including each other). If we have a single cause to express, this is it.

However we dress when we march we are saying, in visual shorthand, "I'm not just like you but I'm worthy of your regard."

As Spock and Dr. Jones put it (or will put it, depending on your point of view), "The glory of the universe is in its infinite diversity and the ways in which our differences combine to create meaning and beauty."

Or, as ACT-UP puts it now, "We're here; we're queer; get used to it!"

Corrections:

As a result of an editing oversight, the name of Eyes of Desire editor Raymond Luczak appeared misspelled in this column in Issue 28.

A typesetting mistake caused the first paragraph of Jay Shaffer's new book of short stories, Full Service (BadBoy; $4.95) to appear in garbled form in early copies. The passage should read: Gene folds his thumb down flat in his palm and pushes, I loosen and push back; the ring of my asshole flares and shrinks again and wraps around his wrist: I grunt and sigh. I am in fist-fucking heaven.

The author regrets both errors.

Acknowledgement:

This column could easily turn into BEAR's obituary page: Almost one out of every five people I knew has died since the beginning of 1994. The fact I don't write about every one here does not mean I do not mourn these people. It's just, you know, there's Things To Do.

On the other hand, some people's deaths require statements.

John Preston was one such man.

Preston was not only a pioneer and an historian, he was my editor, my mentor and my friend. Others will eulogize him at length far better than I could, and I thank them for it. But because I would not be in this business—and in fact because this business would not even, in its current form, exist—without his love and guidance, I have to say a public good bye.

And thank you, Sir.

Rest Stop Sex

I am not sure how highway rest areas came to be centers of gay social activity. But they are.

Homophobic cops know this and take advantage of the situation to harass gay people. After all, if you want to harass gays, you have to find us.

There really are two sides to this story. To a vice cop, rest areas exist as places for families to bring young children who should not be subjected to gay men in the throes of passion. They would argue that they don't care what gay people do so long as they do it in their own homes and not where other people might encounter it. I think they have a point, but only to a certain extent. Offending other people may be bad manners, but I'm not sure it is criminal.

As readers with long memories will recall, a couple of columns ago I talked about public sex. The bottom line is if you have a reasonable expectation of privacy you are safe. The problem is that there is case law all over the map as to what constitutes a reasonable expectation of privacy. Within the specific context of rest stops, the cases are even more confused. Some courts have held that the bushes are private as long as they are away from public view but the toilets are not since the public uses them. Other courts have held that the toilets are private if you close the stall door but the bushes are not since the public walks through them. In any case, use your own best judgment and be careful.

The other wrinkle, of course, is that if you live in a state with a sodomy statute, it doesn't matter if you had a reasonable expectation of privacy or not. Michael Hardwick, remember, was arrested for conduct that took place in his bedroom. If it is illegal in your own bedroom, it won't help you to argue reasonable expectation of privacy.

Laws governing sexual conduct at rest areas only prohibit sex. There is absolutely no law against making eye contact, engaging in conversation or exchanging phone numbers. Going home or to a hotel room with someone is perfectly legal.

This is an important point many gay people aren't aware of and many police officers ignore. Police often harass gay men whether they are engaging in sexual activity or not. I've heard many stories about guys who were minding their own business and having police officers hassle them, telling them to leave, taking down their license numbers and, in some cases, arresting them.

This is, of course, harassment. A police officer knows the difference between sexual conduct and non-sexual conduct, so these are not honest mistakes. Homophobic vice cops would prefer gay people not use the rest areas for any reason. They hope a bit of negative reinforcement will push us back into the closet. Some will stop at nothing to accomplish this.

This brings us to another point: you cannot depend on police officers to tell the truth. The courts, on the other hand, presume that a police officer's word is gospel. If something comes down to your word or his, the cop wins. One judge told me judges know the police lie but they also know criminal defendants lie. If they have to pick one liar over another, they will side with the cops.

So if you are simply making conversation with someone and a policeman gives you a hard time, you must make a decision about whether or not to assert your rights. Even though the law is on your side, it won't mean much if the police officer busts you for public sex and lies about it on the witness stand. Unless you have a witness or some other independent means of proving your story, you will probably lose.

This is a problem that must be addressed on a community-wide basis rather than with each individual case. The situation will only change as each police department becomes more sensitized to gay issues. If you are hassled by cops at a rest area, write a letter of complaint to the chief of police. Even if your letter does no immediate good, if enough people write, eventually the chief won't be able to ignore us.

Perhaps gay people should organize and go to rest areas in groups to monitor police behavior. If the police know they are being watched and that misconduct on their part will be documented, it may have an impact.

Police also respond to political pressure. As we acquire more friends in state and local government, using their offices will help. If a pro-gay governor gets fifty letters from gays who were hassled by cops, he/she is going to find it difficult to ignore us.

Some problems can be solved in the courts and some with the political process. This problem is one that does not lend itself to judicial resolution because the judicial system assumes the police always tell the truth, except in rare instances like the Rodney King affair where there was too much evidence to ignore. Redress will ultimately result from a combination of advocacy and the political process.

RULES OF THE ROAD

1. Dialing BEAR Voicemail. To use MasterCard or Visa, call 1-800-347-BEAR. The Bear Computer will tell you what to do. If you wanna charge it to your home phone instead, dial 1-900-HOT-BEAR. You can record your own personal greeting, answer someone else's, or talk to whoever else is jacking-off on the line.

2. To Collect Your Messages in Bear Voicemail: At the main menu, hit the star key. This takes you to your mailbox. Always press keys slowly and firmly. If you get stuck, the star key also takes you back to the main menu. If you're on a dirty bulletin board, leave your area code so the guys know what part of the planet you're calling from.

3. Constructing your ad. When you write out your ad, keep this in mind: talk a bit about yourself and be real clear about the types of folks you'd like to meet through your ad. As much as possible, avoid telling us who you don't want to meet. No "no fats, no feds, or Lithuanians" shit. Be positive. And if you aren't, we'll edit the fuck out of the ad and turn you into more of a Pollyanna than you'd care to be.

4. Cost and duration. Personal ads are free if you're a BEAR BUDDY. Otherwise, they're $0.25/word/issue. Wanna change your ad? Send in $5. Wanna discontinue your ad? Write in and we'll pull it. You will have to pay to have a pulled ad put back in.

5. Deadline for classifieds for BEAR 31 is October 8, 1994.

6. BEAR Postal Box Numbers. Available to US subscribers. Free to BEAR Buddies, including Foreign Buddies. Otherwise, add $5 to the total of your ad. A word to the wise: responses to your ad will be much greater using your own address versus ours.

7. Replying to a BEAR Postal Box Number. Write your letter, put it in an envelope and seal it. On this envelope, put the fella's box number IN PENCIL where you'd normally put a stamp. Put this letter along with $1 in a larger envelope and mail it to us. That's BEAR, 2215R Market Street #148, San Francisco, CA 94114. We always forward letters if you've done what's called for here.

8. Personal vs. commercial ads. You know as well as I do what a personal ad is and isn't.

9. We reserve the right to edit personals. This is exercised for editorial consistency and for clarity almost exclusively.

10. We reserve the right to refuse any ad for any reason whatsoever.

11. Changing Your ad: It's cool. But it'll cost you 5 bucks, and must be in writing.

12. Photo ads. We'll run a shot of your face or dick—but only once. Make sure it's a clear, well-lit pic. Your photo must have a signed model release. We're running out of room for them, so they'll be printed first-come, first-served, and you may have to wait a few issues.

Mack

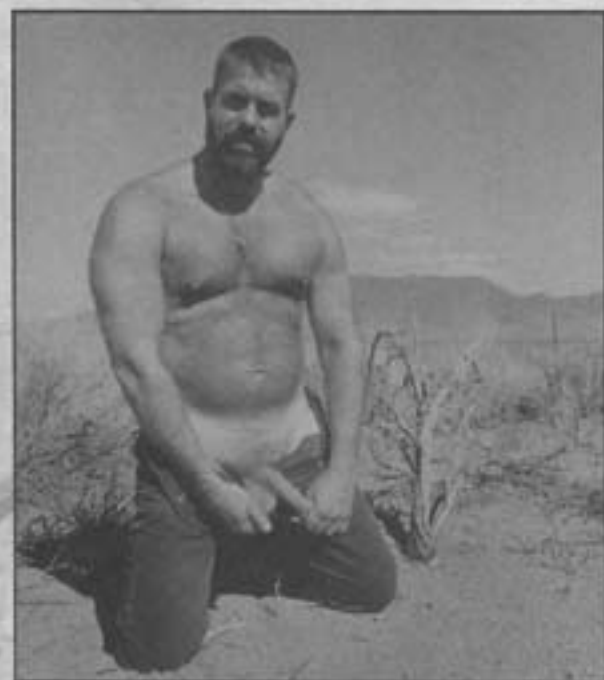

You definitely notice this guy coming down the street at you. Mack's 6'1", 225 lbs., and keeps a pretty intent look on his face. He's an aggressive man, says he's maybe a little sadistic when he gets a fella right where he wants him.

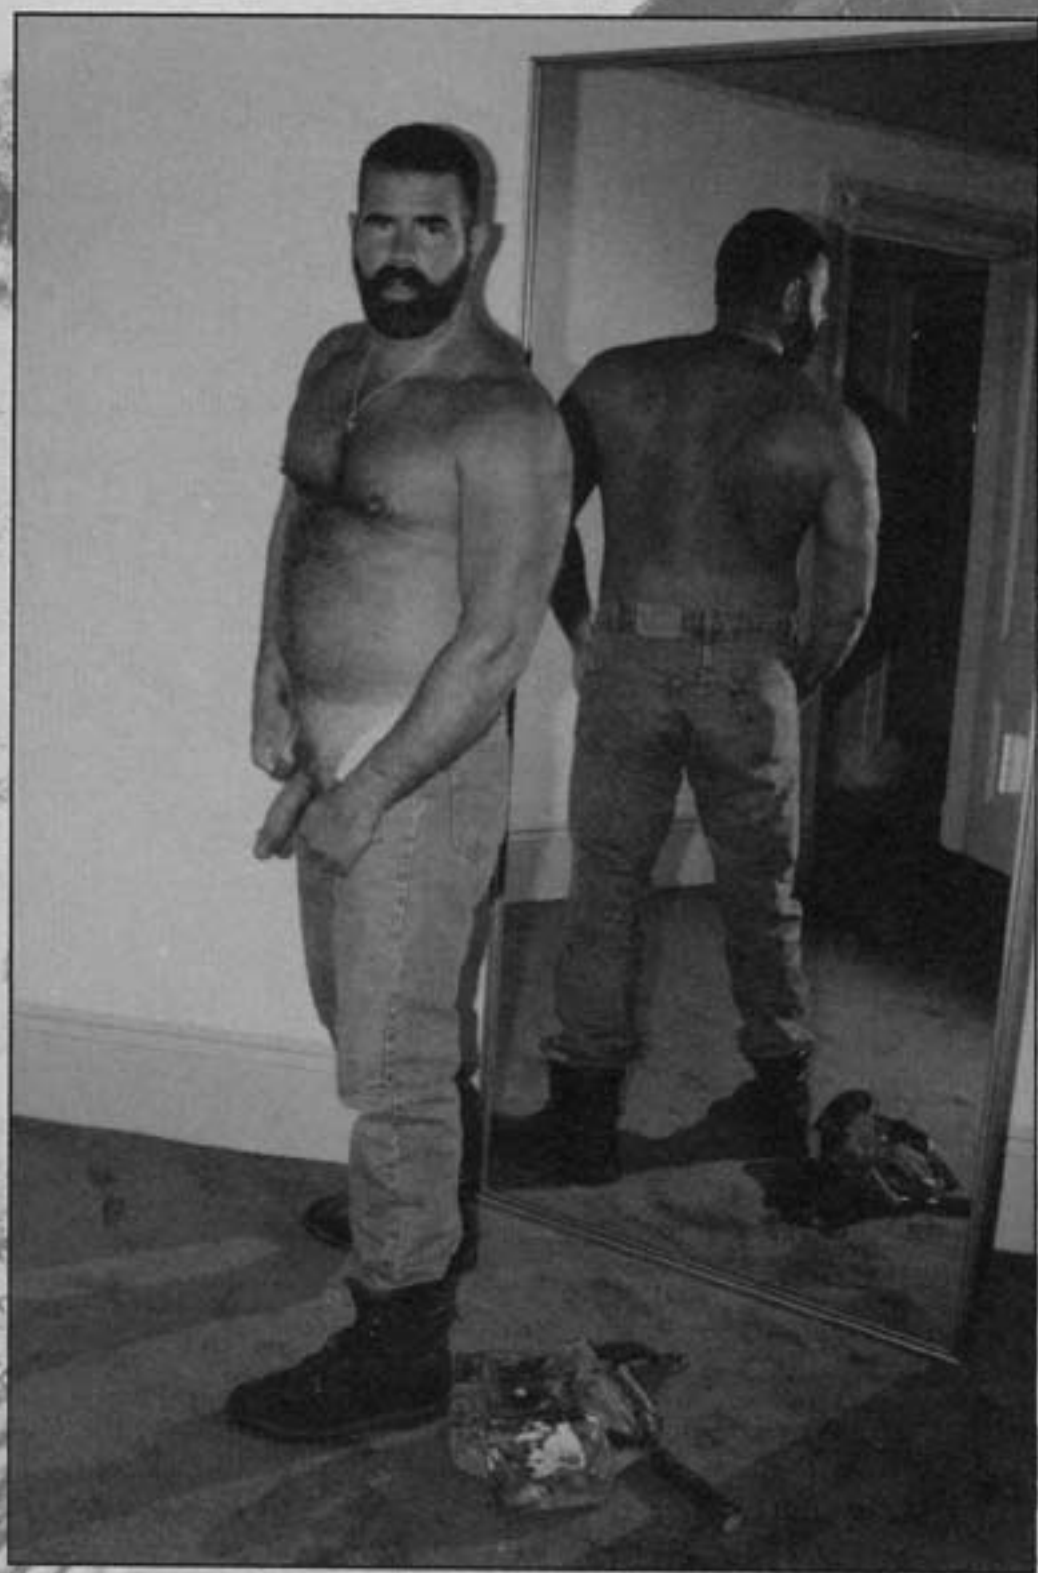

But Mack also considers himself an armchair philosopher. Having spent years of his spare time as a bartender, he gets a kick out of observing people. He's decided that you have to accept life as it comes; if you can't change it, you just have to deal with it. He believes you have to be true to yourself. If people don't like you for it, fuck 'em.

He works well with the public. And with his hands. He's worked in construction and carpentry, and has played the piano since he was four.

Mack is interested in quite a few types of men. He's into masculinity and muscular builds, but beyond that his tastes run wide. His main requirement is that his man be submissive. Let him call the shots and he's all yours.

Searching for Papa bear, 24 year old cub, 5' 11" 230 lbs. bearded, blue eyed, moderately tanned, seeks latter day Hemingway to share a couple of pints of the Guinness over a fresh can of Crisco, if you know what I mean. If you're 40-ish, burly, hirsute both front and back with a round belly, a round beard and perhaps a penchant for pipe smoke, tweed and week old boxers. If you're gifted with an insufferably stiff prick, a warm throaty chuckle and prone to pleasantly obscene thoughts there's a willing will bear cub here who needs his twitching manhole licked and serviced on a weekly basis. Tit sucking, ball licking, ass rimming, sixty nining, finger humping, dildo cramming, mutual jacking, dirty talking, bare assed, sweaty, man to man fucking. You name it, no holds barred, so long as it's reciprocal, safe and relatively clean. I'm your boy. Tastefully explicit photo and phone appreciated to C.C., POB 776, So. Royalton, VT 05068. JUST WANT TO TAKE IT HOME

A Penis to Ponder

You gotta love America. The country with no-spoil cheese spray and a Chia Pet version of Barbara's Bush now brings you professional penis molding. A Los Angeles company, HardArt Phallic Replicating Service, will take you in hand at their LA facility and for a mere hundred bucks you can immortalize yourself or a loved one. Turn your dick into a delightful wall ornament—or a dildo. They even have castings of famous people for sale. You can contact them at 1515 Rendall Place, Los Angeles, CA 90026. Since we're plugging this for free, we have a guy in Seattle that needs to be immortalized for future generations....

More Legal Shit

Our legal advisor has tipped us off to some of America's most arcane state love laws.

People moved here way back in ancient times to escape the restrictive and frustrating laws of the old world. Didn't always work, as we all know people like to get uptight no matter where they live.

For example, it's apparently still against the law to kiss in Indianapolis if you have a moustache. That puts us shit out of luck, doesn't it? In Halethorpe, Maryland you'd best plan on coming quick, 'cause it's illegal to kiss for more than a minute. A woman can't appear on a Kentucky highway in a bathing suit unless she carries a club. And taxi drivers in Springfield, Massachusetts can't make love in the front seats of their cabs during the work day. So remember to fuck in the back if you actually find one you want to do.

The most ridiculous laws are still the sodomy laws in more than a dozen states. Do these people have no taste?

BUTT FURR™

We dunno what it is; we dunno where it came from. But I found this sticker on Tremont Street in Boston and had to pass it on.

I like it. Since it says "TM," we have to assume it's a product or band or something. If you know about it let us know. We need more of this sort of thing in our daily lives.

SHITS AND GIGGLES

Like we said in BEAR 29, The Texas Issue, Texans have a whole lotta style. The license says UNCUT, and it looks like another case of truth in advertising. If you spot him on the back roads of the Lone Star State, give 'im a go.

And here we have an amazingly tawdry sight gag sent in by an Alaskan subscriber. It's the trunk of a tree, turned sideways and looking like a butt. How nice. We're hoping to have it classified as a Broad-Leaf North American Butticalia Tree.

GAY TAROT

Created by Randy Esslinger, MOONDAWG and Stephen Stafford, The Uranium™ Tarot Deck features the major arcana of the Tarot using contemporary gay male iconography.

This 22-card deck is produced exclusively by Brush Creek Media. The cards are made from art etchings, photo collages of naked men, icons and daily meditations designed to guide and inspire the reader.

To order call us at 1-800-234-3877 or 1-415-552-1506. Or send check or money order to Brush Creek Media, 2215R Market St. #148, San Francisco, CA 94114. Please include $1.50 per deck for postage. California residents must add 8.5% sales tax.

How poignant. How deep and relevant to our needs as homosexuals. Our thanks to the gentleman in Washington, DC who sent us this edifying piece.

The best ones indeed are those that leave trails.

The Joy Fuck Club

You hear all kinds of stories about San Francisco's infamous Lone Star Saloon. The upstairs is usually locked, and we only hear vague and frightening stories of the goings on up there.

Well someone finally got in with a camera and this is what we found: Mah Jong on Thursday nights. Pictured here (l-r) are Don, Richard, Steve and Steve. Quite a few Bay Area guys show up for this evening of civilised behaviour and male bonding.

But that's only on Thursday. Sunday afternoons find the doors heavily guarded and the men who emerge looking like they've bonded in baser, more nasty ways. Still, no one's talking.

A new contact club is on the horizon. Well, OK, it's an old club that's just come back to life:
Men in Boots, Box 46001 RPO Quadra, Victoria BC Canada V8T 5G7. They're worldwide, nonprofit and want to hear from you. Get your Dehner's ready and drop them a line.

This inspiring photo came from W.C. in Louisiana. The shop was closed when he took the picture, but some big old bearded dude who worked there drove up in a pickup and invited Mr. C. into the rental yard. Wound up messin' around quite a little bit.

So let this be a lesson to you, guys. Going out on hunts for Shits & Giggles can get you far in life. Keep it up.

STEPPING OUT

Big cities can be the best places to spot hairy wildlife. Or at least a fuzzy, big-dicked dude with dirty fingernails and the need for love. Most metropolitan areas have a hangout that can get you what you want.

In New York, the DugOut on Christopher Street holds Sunday afternoon beer bashes all year. San Francisco has the Lone Star, Hole in the Wall and Motorwerks any damn' day of the week. Los Angeles has the Faultline and Wolf's in Long Beach. Chicago has Deek's and Washington DC has Remington's and the Eagle. In Seattle they head to Cuff's on Sunday evenings and in Boston it's 119 Merrimac. If you're into travel, Londoners head to the Empire Pub at High Holborn on Wednesday and Saturday nights.

This is a minimal list, of course. And things come and go pretty quick. But if you're around, check 'em out. Tell 'em we sent you. And have a beer for us.

The Condom Encyclopedia
Gary M.N. Griffin, MBA
Added Dimensions Publishing
$9.95

Something's happened to most of us over the past decade. Condoms have invaded our lives. What once was in the purview of straight people has become a part of daily living and of long-term staying alive. So it's fitting that finally a book is out there to give us the skinny on scumbags.

They cost a buck apiece. This is a serious expense. We not only need to invest wisely in condoms, we need to know where the hell those damn things come from, and just how reliable they are.

Enter this nice little book. It's a small, yellow thing, perfect bound and 128 pages in a particularly bad Helvetica typestyle. But by reading it you can learn about such things as condom sizing, cost, durability, production and testing.

Condoms have quite a history. Remember the old joke about Grandpa using buckskin condoms? Not too far from the truth. As the technology has improved, obviously, so have the rubbers. Mr. Griffin gives an up-to-date discourse on the latest fashions, including the Reality™ condom, designed to fit in the female vagina beforehand (we're sure you'll be able to find a reasonably similar place to try Reality).

You owe it to yourself and loved-ones to find out what you can about the little rubber suits. Gary Griffin gives an interesting and informative place to start. You're sure to be smitten with much more respect for the discarded soldiers of war in the world's gutters.

Keith Haring, The Authorized Biography
By John Gruen
Simon & Schuster
$15.00

I have always loved Keith Haring's work, so when I was presented with the opportunity to do a review of a book, I was glad to find this right away. Keith Haring, The Authorized Biography is a collection of anecdotes told by those who knew him. Keith himself contributed many fascinating short clippings.

Madonna, Brook Shields, Claude Picasso, Timothy Leary...the contributors to this book make a dynamic tribute to Keith Haring's life.

I enjoyed a comment by Timothy Leary about the status of today's "in" crowd, of which Keith was a part: "There are a few of us up there who are moving in the direction that our species will take in the next century. And there are poets and writers and painters, and millions of people who understand what we're doing. But what are we doing?"

Besides the great interviews and snippets from all these famous people talking about Keith, the biography gives us fabulous photos of Keith and his work, some of the shows he had done, some of the places he had shows. The photos also convey an interesting message about the scale of Haring's work: We get to see him working on a costume for Grace Jones- used in her "I'm Not Perfect" music video- which was about the size of a parachute; and we see Swatch watches with his designs plastered on them.

If you are a fan of pop culture at all, or should I say Modern Culture, this is a must-read. Basically, Keith took street art and turned it into an art for the mass consumer. We've all seen his work- in Absolut Vodka ads and Safe Sex ads, if nowhere else- and it's quite incredible even if you are not aware of where that work has been, as I was... And, eventually Haring's art was even seen on blimps celebrating the bicentennial of the French Revolution, on church walls, and on BMW's commissioned by Bavarian Motor Works.

The book also interviews Keith's Family, about his growing up years. As a gay man it's always fascinating to read the similarities and differences between other gay families.

Keith Haring asked the author of the book to write about him many months before his death in February, 1990. John Gruen spent many months with Keith, traveling to Europe and California, being introduced to Keith's personal and professional friends and acquaintances. From this, John Gruen wrote the authorized biography. And did a perfect job.

I recommend this book to anyone wondering what significance they can give to their own lives. Keith Haring was an inspiration to many, and thanks to this book, may continue to inspire future generations as well.

BOB

Bob's a subscriber from Grand Rapids, Michigan. We found him by accident one day—a letter got routed the wrong way and a most stunning picture popped out. So did our eyes. We needed more and you're looking at the result.

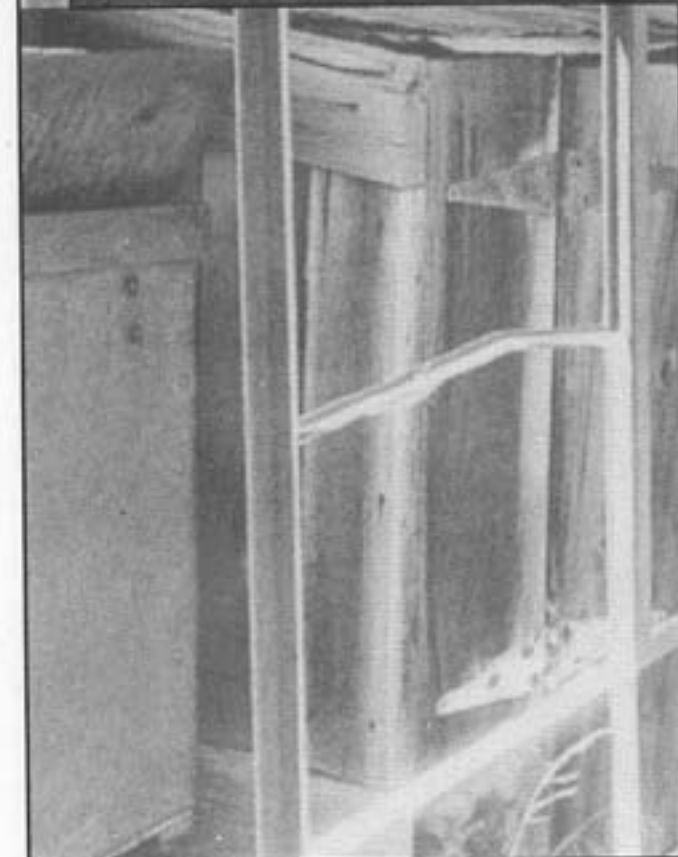

He's a carpenter, living in and restoring an 1880s Victorian house. We'd like to see him sweating on a rooftop someday, with maybe just a little ass showing above his workbelt in the true Butt Crack Union fashion.

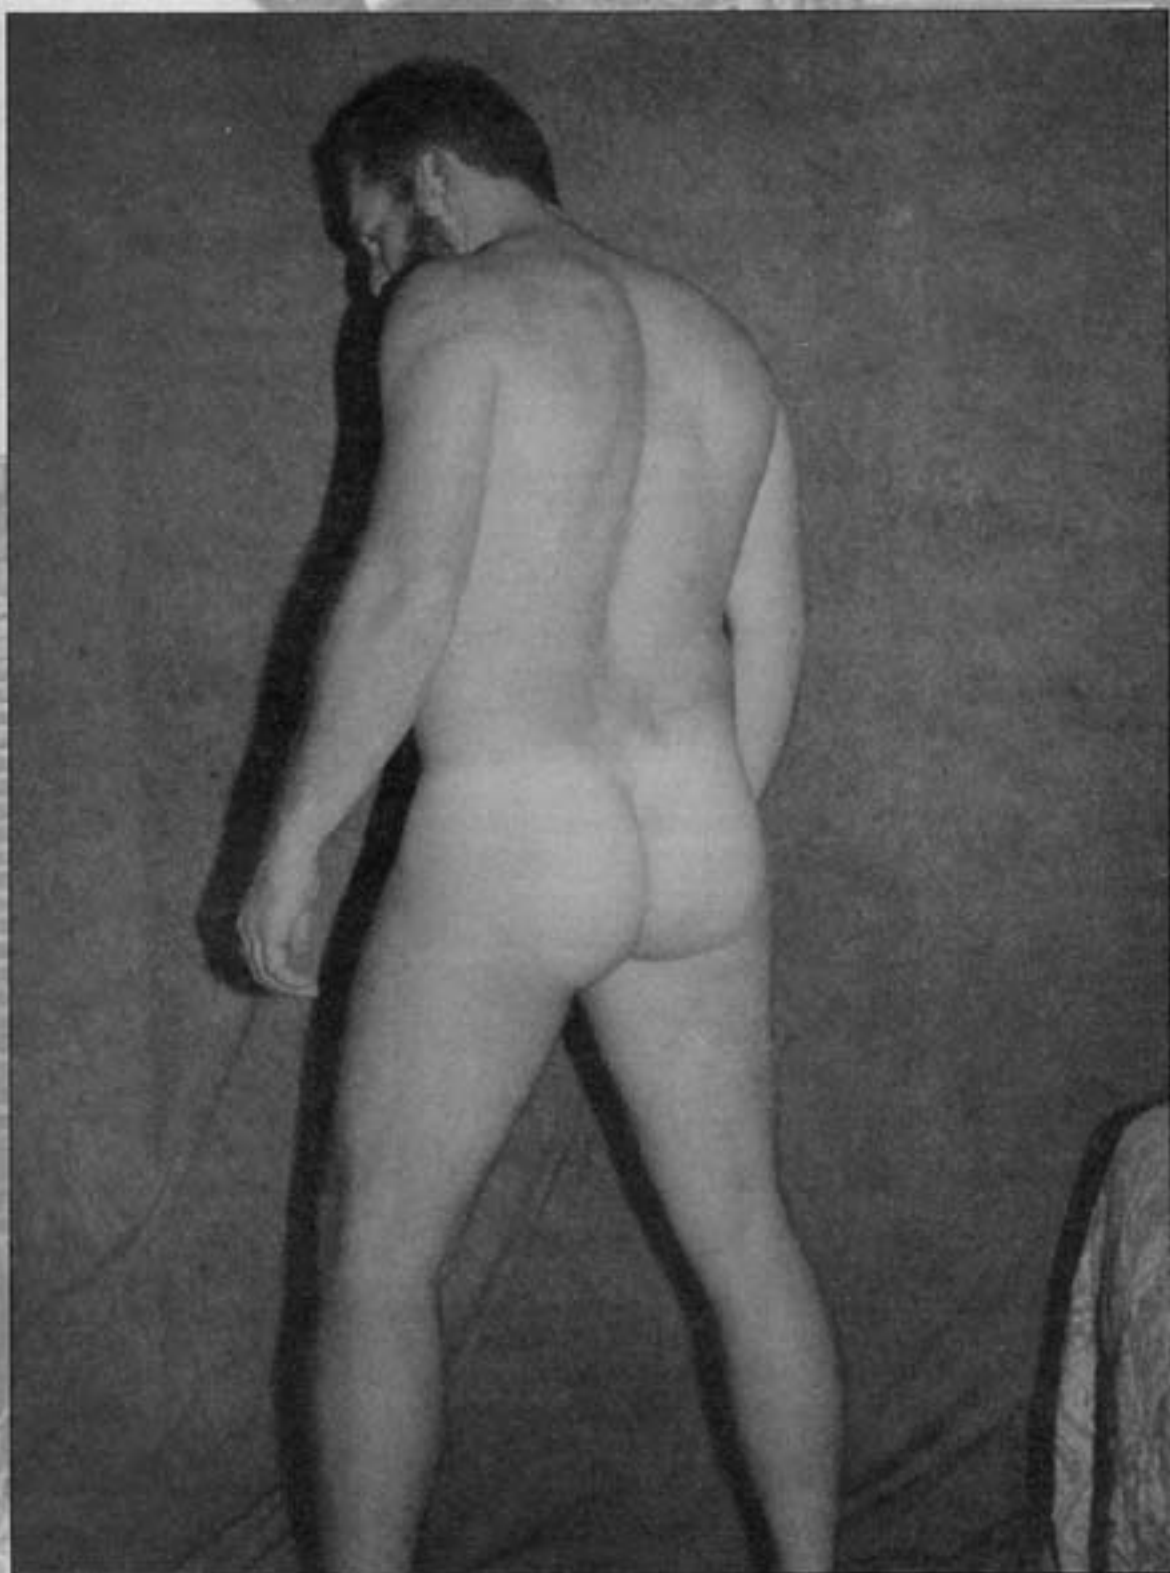

He says he doesn't mind the idea of being naked in front of you guys. Doesn't claim to be shy. He gets excited thinking about burly, hairy, older men with beards. He especially has a hankering for big thighs. Bob doesn't give a crap what other people say about him, and if you're an honest, up front man, chances are he'll take a liking to you. He likes to fuck, to get fucked and to just plain work up a sweat.

There are a few bars in his area but he prefers to hightail it to Chicago every now and then to meet new people. Except lately. Work's kept him too busy, so right now he's on a dry spell that's got him aching. Any takers?

This is the photo that did it for us. Kind of makes you stop and appreciate life a little more, doesn't it?

MARK

by Phil

Illustration by Dadé

I get to Mark's apartment early, and I can tell he just got out of the shower. His hair is damp and he smells clean as I walk past him. He's got a thick, dark five o'clock shadow tonight. Ellen and I keep telling him to grow a beard, but so far he won't. Maybe now that they're dating seriously she'll talk him into it.

I fight the familiar urge to grab and hug him.

"Ellen won't make it for pizza, but she'll be by later. Want a beer?" he asks.

"Sure," I say. "What's she doing?"

"Waiting for a call from Sheila."

"What's up now?"

"Who knows," he says, "that girl has more problems...."

As he turns to the refrigerator, I survey the manscape. He doesn't have socks or shoes on yet, and I love the way the hair from his legs continues onto the tops of his feet. His jeans look good from the back, but then they always do. I really like the way he fills them out, the bulge in his crotch pulling them tight into his butt crack. I practically drool over his strong, hairy legs when he wears shorts.

He turns and hands me the beer. As we're drinking, we chat. He smiles and laughs a lot. Being alone with him for dinner would normally make me a little nervous but he's really relaxed and comfortable tonight. In the few weeks since I told him I'm gay, he's seemed ill-at-ease when it's just been the two of us. I told him I'd once been really attracted to him. I don't know how he'd react if he knew I still feel that way. As we talk, erotic images float through my head, but I dispel them. He's my friend; I shouldn't think those things.

I'm not paying much attention to the conversation. We're talking about football, or maybe baseball. Something about balls. I'm busy watching his hands. Cub paws, Ellen calls them. Big and strong and hairy. A real turn-on, just like his strong, furry forearms and wrists, his biceps, his shoulders, chest, stomach....

He gets us a couple more beers.

"I'm gonna change out of this shirt," he says, "it's kinda itchy."

He starts unbuttoning it and I try not to stare. As he undoes the last button he turns toward the bedroom leaving me with only a glimpse of the furry trail down his stomach. He comes back in a t-shirt.

God, he looks gorgeous. I want to hold him, touch him, hug him, kiss him. I want....

"Want another beer?" he asks.

He's just finished his. I'm surprised. He usually doesn't drink so quickly.

"You sit," I say. "I'll get 'em."

When I return he's on the couch, his back to me, and he's bending his head from side to side, cracking his neck.

"Stiff?" I ask.

"A little," he says. "I fell asleep on the couch last night."

I stand, frozen, looking at the back of his head. After a moment's silent indecision I slowly reach out with both hands to massage his neck. Heart racing.

Two hands on two shoulders. I feel the cotton of his shirt and the muscles underneath. I'm feeling high from the beer and from being so near him. For so long I've wanted to touch him....

I've read plenty of derivative jerkoff stories: "Gay man gives straight guy back rub that leads to sex." I'm not looking for that to happen. I'm not trying to seduce him. He's my friend. His girlfriend is my closest friend. Hell, I got them together. I'd feel awful if I did anything to come between them. This is completely innocent, right?

Then he tenses up under my touch, and I fall a thousand miles through the clouds back to earth.

I don't think. I just act. I slap him gently on the side of the head.

"Relax," I say.

He looks up at me. His expression is serious, but there's something else in it I can't read. We lock gazes. My heart stops. After a few seconds the tension leaves his muscles and he faces forward again.

"Thanks," he says.

As he relaxes so do I, and I go to work massaging the stiffness out of his neck and shoulders. He doesn't talk but he closes his eyes and lets his head lean forward. He groans quietly.

"Mmmm. That feels great," he says. "Thanks again."

"No problem."

I'm in heaven, but I don't want to push my luck. So after a few minutes I stop and move to sit down.

Without a word, he grabs my hand and holds it for a second before pressing it against his shoulder. I start rubbing again, eliciting another moan. I get bolder, running my hands down his back and sides. Every touch is ecstasy for me.

Mark turns, still silent, and motions for me to sit down. There's tension in the air but it's good tension. Positive energy. He sits there looking at me as if searching for the right words.

"Look," he says. "I don't know what's happening here...I mean, I do, but I'm not sure why. I know how you felt about me, and I told you nothing could ever happen, more than just being friends. I didn't think I'd be into it. I was sure I wouldn't. But..."

"What?"

"Tonight I think maybe I am into it. Like I said, I don't know why. But I can understand how you feel. I've been thinking about it a lot, ever since you told me."

"Uh huh."

"I don't know if it'll work. But I'm willing to give it a try. I want to try. Your friendship means a lot to me. I hope you know that. I don't want anything to fuck that up."

"Me either."

My mind is floating somewhere above the room, watching. I can hardly believe what's happening. What do you do when your best dream comes true? I take his hand, never letting my eyes leave his.

"How you feeling?" I ask.

"OK."

"I only want to do this if you really want to."

He stands and pulls me close. After an awkward moment getting our limbs arranged, he hugs me tight. Finally, after all this time, I get to hug him. He's warm. Solid.

"I want to," he says.

His eyes close as our mouths meet in a kiss, chaste at first, but then our lips part and I can't hold back, and I'm attacking him with my tongue, and he's responding, and I'm swallowing him, and he's swallowing me, and it's right, and beautiful, and it's lust and love and friendship, all in one moment of physical contact, and my hands are on him all over his back and his butt and under his shirt and he's touching me, and we're breathing heavy and still kissing, and our crotches are pressed together and I can feel him getting hard, and I grind into him, and I open my eyes and look at him and his eyes are closed and his tongue is in my mouth, and mine in his, and we're together, alone, just the two of us, and it isn't a dream, it's really happening, and then he opens his eyes, and we look at each other for a second and then we both start laughing. We untangle for a second.

"I've never kissed anyone with a beard before," he says.

"I didn't think so," I say, smiling.

"What now?" he asks, voice hoarse, a half-smile on his face.

"Whatever you want."

"Bedroom?"

"Sure."

In the bedroom, I grab him and kiss him again. I breathe deeply and he smells so good, and he feels so warm. Every sense is fulfilled. I've never been as turned on as I am at this moment. The best part is that he's just as into it as I am. Maybe he's always been curious, or maybe just since I told him how I felt about him. I'm just glad I was in the right place at the right time.

I stroke the area around his mouth.

"You're gonna have some whisker burn tomorrow."

"That's OK," he says. "I guess you don't have to worry about that."

I smile and pull his shirt over his head. He raises his arms and off it comes. I stroke his beautiful hairy chest and bend over to kiss and suck each nipple. My hand traces the trail of fuzz down his stomach to the waist of his jeans. I let go of him long enough to take my shirt off.

He touches my chest and runs his hands through my fur. I see desire and curiosity in his eyes and I smile because I made him feel that way.

"C'mere," I say, pulling him over to the bed.

"What?" he asks playfully.

I pull him down on top of me. Our jeans are still on while we discover other things we can do with our hands and mouths and tongues.

"So," I say, breaking away for a second, "are you still into it?"

He laughs. "What, you can't tell?"

"Just checking."

"I'm not having a problem, are you?"

"No, I'm kind of enjoying myself."

"Then shut up about it," he says jokingly, pressing his crotch into my leg.

I undo the button on his jeans and ease the zipper over the hard bulge there. I slide his jeans and boxer shorts down and his cock springs loose, long and thick, beneath a forest of pubic hair. His nuts hang low and heavy.

The first thing I do is sit up and chow down on his beautiful dick, breathing the rich scent of his crotch, my hands pawing at his strong, furry ass.

"Oh, god," he moans, grabbing my head. "That's fucking incredible."

I stop long enough to shed my jeans and free my own hard-on.

"My turn," he says, smiling. Before I can say anything, his mouth is on my dick, licking and slurping. For a straight guy he's damn good. I'm ready to come right away, so I pull him back up. Seeing the spit dribbling from the corner of his mouth, I can't help but smile. He smiles back and we kiss deep and hard.

I can't wait any more. I've got to have him inside me or I'm gonna explode. I pull him on top of me and hike my legs up so his dickhead is poking at my asshole.

"I think I know what you want," he smirks.

"Yeah, I think you do, and you'd better fucking give it to me now. You got something for lube?"

"Sure, hold on." He gets up and goes into the bathroom, his cock bobbing as he walks. He's back in a few seconds with a jar of Vaseline.

"How's this?" he asks, holding it up.

"Fine. Grease up your dick." I grab a wad of the goo and spread it in and around my hole, stretching my sphincter for his invasion.

"I've never done this before, so let me know if I hurt you or anything."

"Don't worry," I say. "I want everything you've got."

He pokes his dick tentatively at my hole and starts easing the head in. I don't feel like waiting so I pull him to me and bury his cock to the hilt in my ass. Sure it hurts, but it's a wonderful pain.

Mark starts thrusting and it's utter ecstasy feeling his rod sliding in and out of me.

"Man, your ass is so hot," he says.

"Shut up and fuck me," I reply, pulling him to me and jamming my tongue into his mouth. I can feel his motions speeding up as he gets close to climax. Then, with an animal roar, he shoves into me as far as he can and his face contorts with an intense orgasm.

He slumps down beside me, sweat pouring off his face. I lick it off, tasting his salt. He opens his eyes and looks into mine.

"Man, that was fucking incredible," he says.

"There's plenty more where that came from. Anything you want."

"I want you to fuck me."

"You sure about that?"

"If it's half as much fun as it appeared you were having, it'll be great."

"Whenever you're ready."

"It sucks, but we can't now. Ellen's gonna be here in a little while. But next time. Definitely next time...."

You never can guess what will turn up in the Bear mailbag. While we truly live for the rare smut-filled letter and juicy photo, there is nothing quite like the thrill of discovering the budding musical talents rising from beardom. Mike Kuhn, the bassist for Seattle-rooted grunge-pop quartet Girl With 100 Heads, recently rocked us with a demo tape that overflows with material that is numerous notches above the jams available commercially.

Kuhn says he harbors hope that the stereotype of gay and lesbian musicians as frolicking disco dummies or forlorn folkies will be forever shattered once Girl With 100 Heads makes its inevitable swing from the gritty bar scene into the radio mainstream. Boasting a sound that is a happy blend of jangly pop a la early R.E.M. with guitar aggression on par with Nirvana and Pearl Jam, the band eschews hammering politics, opting to focus on infectious melodies and clever hooks. "I think being subtle is a little more subversive," Kuhn notes. "We're not mainstream, but we could definitely ease into the mainstream." Adds singer/guitarist Scott Wagar, "The fact that we're openly gay playing a lot of straight clubs is a pretty political act without having to say or do anything special. We're in there working alongside everyone else."

For more information on Girl With 100 Heads, or to purchase its cassette, call 206-323-1938. Seattle club-goers can also regularly catch the band at local venues that include the ReBar and Colourbox. When stardom hits this quartet, remember where you heard about 'em first.

The prideful empowerment of this

THE SOUNDS THAT ANIMALS MAKE

MUSIC REVIEWS

By Larry Flick

summer's Gay Games and Stonewall 25 civil rights celebration has unearthed an incredible quantity of impressive music by openly queer musicians. Tom McCormack has been making the coffee house rounds for several years now, peddling his deep, sensitive and intelligent brand of soft-rock. His latest album, Missing, available on the Brooklyn, NY-based Spotted Dog Records, stirs the heart while simultaneously challenging the brain. McCormack's tenor vocal range has an edgy, world-wise depth, serving confessionals like In Secret and Don't Tell extremely well. This is one of those albums that leaves you exhausted, but emotionally nourished by the final cut. Not to be missed.

Tom McCormack

On a giddier, more amusing note, John Topping makes no bones about his tastes and desires on Vision Of A Bear, an album on 'Roo Records, an indie label in Newport News, VA. With lyrics like "I am physical, and bearhood is the way to go...my passion is driven by the furry warm and loving light that speaks inside me," there is little room for your minds to wander. Regardless, this is fun stuff, with Topping's cute vocal delivery supported by retro-pop arrangements that are fleshed out with a jangly rock guitar and a spare drum beat.

If meticulously woven female

The Debut Album By John Topping

vocals a la Indigo Girls are more your flavor, look no further than the self-titled Rounder Records debut of Disappear Fear, a duo that glistens with complex acoustic melodies and shimmering harmonies. It is tough to highlight one or two tracks, since this is an album that works best when digested as a full, beautifully expressed piece.

Some of Atlanta and Seattle's finest young singers and musicians have gathered under the name New Mongrel for Not Dead (Yet), a collection of tunes celebrating 17-year-old Civil War veteran Henry Brooke, who founded the Smythe County Mongrels Society in 1866. The purpose of this group was "the joyful promotion of song and rhythmic utterances." One-hundred-twenty years later, Brooke's great-great grandson Haynes brought the concept and music back to life. Eight years since then, the concept lives on in material on this album that is by turns introspective and celebratory. Participants include members of Indigo Girls, Cowboy Envy, Big Fish Ensemble, and Celibate Twist, among others. An unusual album that shines with a special musical light. Available on Daemon Records in Atlanta, Georgia.

Kirk & Randy

We ran into Kirk first. He's the one here on the left. Kirk sent some photos from San Diego, wondering if we wanted to see more. He looked awful damn good in the polaroids. We couldn't resist. He showed up for Folsom Weekend, and we got him naked for you. He brought his buddy with him for inspiration. Randy, a midwest kind of guy, was such an influence we decided to shoot them both. Of course, we have to keep the really good pictures to ourselves.

Kirk's originally from Utah, but moved to San Diego for his job in Molecular Biology. Yup. He's got a brain. Specializes in gene manipulation, a topic that usually halts conversations at parties. Kirk's a horny little fucker, likes to tie men to the bed and peg 'em as hard as he can. He's into leather, holistic outdoor sex and burying his face in a man's crack. And all this comes with a charming personality. He's actually pretty shy and quick to blush.

Randy was raised as an army brat, weaned on military men and hairy farm hands. So he knows the value of real men and does a damn fine job of giving them something to remember. He's into computer management, electronics and astronomy.

Since Randy likes being strong and sexual, he's a good match for Kirk. By watching the two in action we can tell they've got a lot of good miles together ahead of them.

A look at some of the men behind the scenes at BEAR

John Dibella is a native of San Diego. He works in transportation by day, but drives off in a classic convertible, tends bar and writes whenever else he can. He's got a good knack for writing nasty, but refuses to stop there. His contributions in Bare Pulse have given much perspective and insight to BEAR.

Chris Wittke has been a columnist for BEAR since 1991. He's not only quite a looker, he has a profound appreciation for the male form and has a sharp eye for media events. Chris lives and works in Boston and spends a lot of time in service to the gay community.

Larry Flick is the dance columnist for Billboard Magazine in New York. Larry loves both music and husky, hairy men. He came to us of his own accord, saying "I really want to be a part of BEAR." We've been pleased to work with him and to see the contributions he's made to new artists on the gay scene.

TC's been with BEAR since the beginning. TC's Smudge, his drawing outlet, has been keeping guys in slings and thongs for years, just the way we like it. TC lives up in Brush Creek, tending his animals and hanging out in a homemade tee-pee—except when his Harley's running. Then he's down here in the city, stirring up trouble.

Michael Schruender, also known as Dadé/Ursus, happened upon us at IML in Chicago about four years ago. His illustrations got our attention in a hurry, and have been a proud feature with us ever since. He lives in San Francisco and continues to devote his time to his art of hirsute men.

Mel Dahl has been our legal adviser for many, many years. He practices law in Boston. He and his husband Michael have two cats, Alice and Peanut.

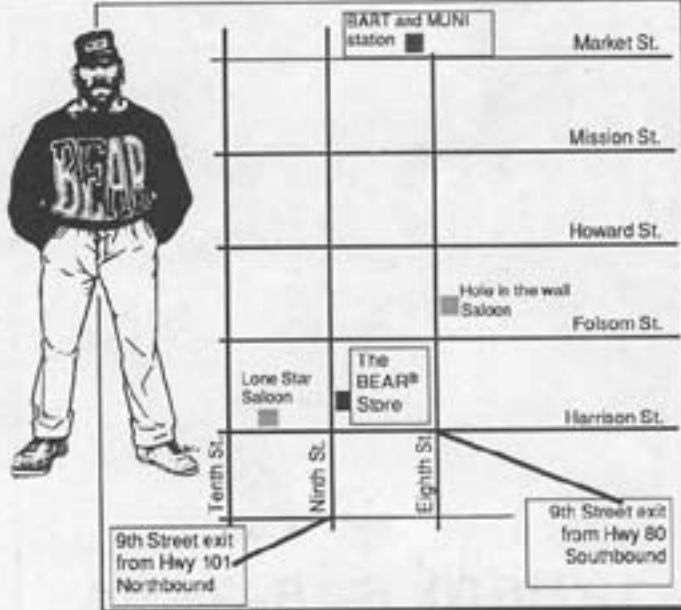

Jim Wigler has been our principle photographer in BEAR since 1992. He travelled the world before settling down in San Francisco in 1980. He's been taking pictures since 1981 and has become one of San Francisco's premier erotic photographers. Unfortunately he prefers to stay behind the camera, and no amount of coaxing would bring him out for this page.
