So here I am, four issues into the editorship of BEAR—having the time of my life, by the way. I skip to work. OK, so it's not TIME/LIFE here, but the place has its perks. For instance, we're South of Market, and we're a half a block from the Lone Star. There's a great coffee place at the end of the block, and they're real nice to us. I can wear torn-up jeans to work (shorts when it's hot; nothing when it's hotter, but haven't done that yet). I can listen to Blondie or the B-52's or Bauhaus or the Beach Boys at my desk. There's BEAR Grease in the john, with a big sign that reads, "Employees must wash hands after cumming," above the sink.

If I need a break from looking at naked men on my computer, I can just listen to my voice mail, and there will usually be a dirty call or two from some horny guy in Buttrutt, Nebraska who called just to "talk" about the big, dick-shaped, rubber, vibrating thing he's got crammed up his asshole. And, of course, there are always magazines to look at. If the day ever came when I got tired of lookin' at bears, I've got a choice of about a jillion others to peruse. Oh, yeah, and when printed material seems so... twenty minutes ago, there are a couple of TVs and VCRs and a few hundred video titles to choose from. Research, you see. Every once in a while, there will be a real hot one, and like we're watching the parting of the Red Sea, everybody in the shop sorta freezes, our mouths drop open, and suddenly, that video becomes the new "standard" against which all future videos will be measured. Yeah, we're jaded, but we can still be impressed. It's a wonder anything gets done around here.

Big hairy guys come by the shop and want to get naked for the magazine. That's always fun. But, because I'm married, you know, to probably the most beautiful man on the face of the planet, I don't get too involved with that aspect of the business. We're in our third monogamous-not-monogamous year together, and it's blissful to a sickeningly-sweet level... cuddles and snuggles and dirty pig sex and then, "Let's get ice cream and then take the dog to the beach, OK?" and that sort of thing.

Yeah, I know—save it for Hallmark. But I'm givin' myself big pats on the back here for resisting the drooling snout of the serpent when he's wagged it in my face. Maybe I'm a saint (no comments from the peanut gallery, please). Nope, doubt that. Maybe it's because I'm still head over heels in love. Could be. Or just maybe it's because I know that no matter what comes through that door, it can't hold a candle to what I've got at home. Yeah, he's really that special.

Sometimes I wonder if I've just died and gone to hell, and God's laughing at me. (Heck, you'd think he'd have bigger fish to fry with the Academy Awards just around the corner.) Not that working here is bad, mind you. It's too damned fun. But go figure; I meet the man of my dreams, and we live happily ever after, but everyday I go to work and have to look at big, hairy, naked men. What's up with that?

Enough about me. Let's talk about BEAR. Four issues in. So far, so good. I've been able to rise above burning issues like: Is he a bear or is he just a chick in bear clothing? Is he hairy enough? Is he big enough? Too big? Is his dick too small? Too big? (Scratch that last one... no such thing.) Does he have facial hair? Does he have to? Is a mustache enough? Does the hair on his back compensate for the lack of hair on his face? Does his ten-inch dick compensate for the lack of hair on his body? Is he really sexy? Have I had sex yet today? Is he old enough? Too old? Is he an otter? A fox? A wolf? An aardvark? Does anybody care?

All b.s. aside, all I want is for this magazine to be good, for the men to be sexy, and the "look" to be interesting enough to get your motor runnin'. I want BEAR to get you hard, and get you off. I want folks to appreciate the beauty of men whose hairy backs and burly bellies haven't always been in vogue, even now, when it seems that everybody's jumpin' onto the Bear handwagon. When guys come up to me and say, "I love your magazine," it makes my day.

Sure, we still refuse to define what makes a man a BEAR. I've got ideas. But their parameters get tweaked and twisted every week or two, so I'll just keep them to myself and do my job...

It's a dirty one, but somebody's gotta do it. See ya next time.

SPENCE

It took us several months to get Spence here shot for BEAR; finding a photographer in his neck o' the woods, nailing down a time, the nuts and bolts of it all.

I knew, though, from the snapshots he had sent us earlier this year, he would be worth the wait.

And how!

He says being shot for BEAR was the first time he's gotten sleazy in front of a camera. As you'll see, he graduates with flying colors.

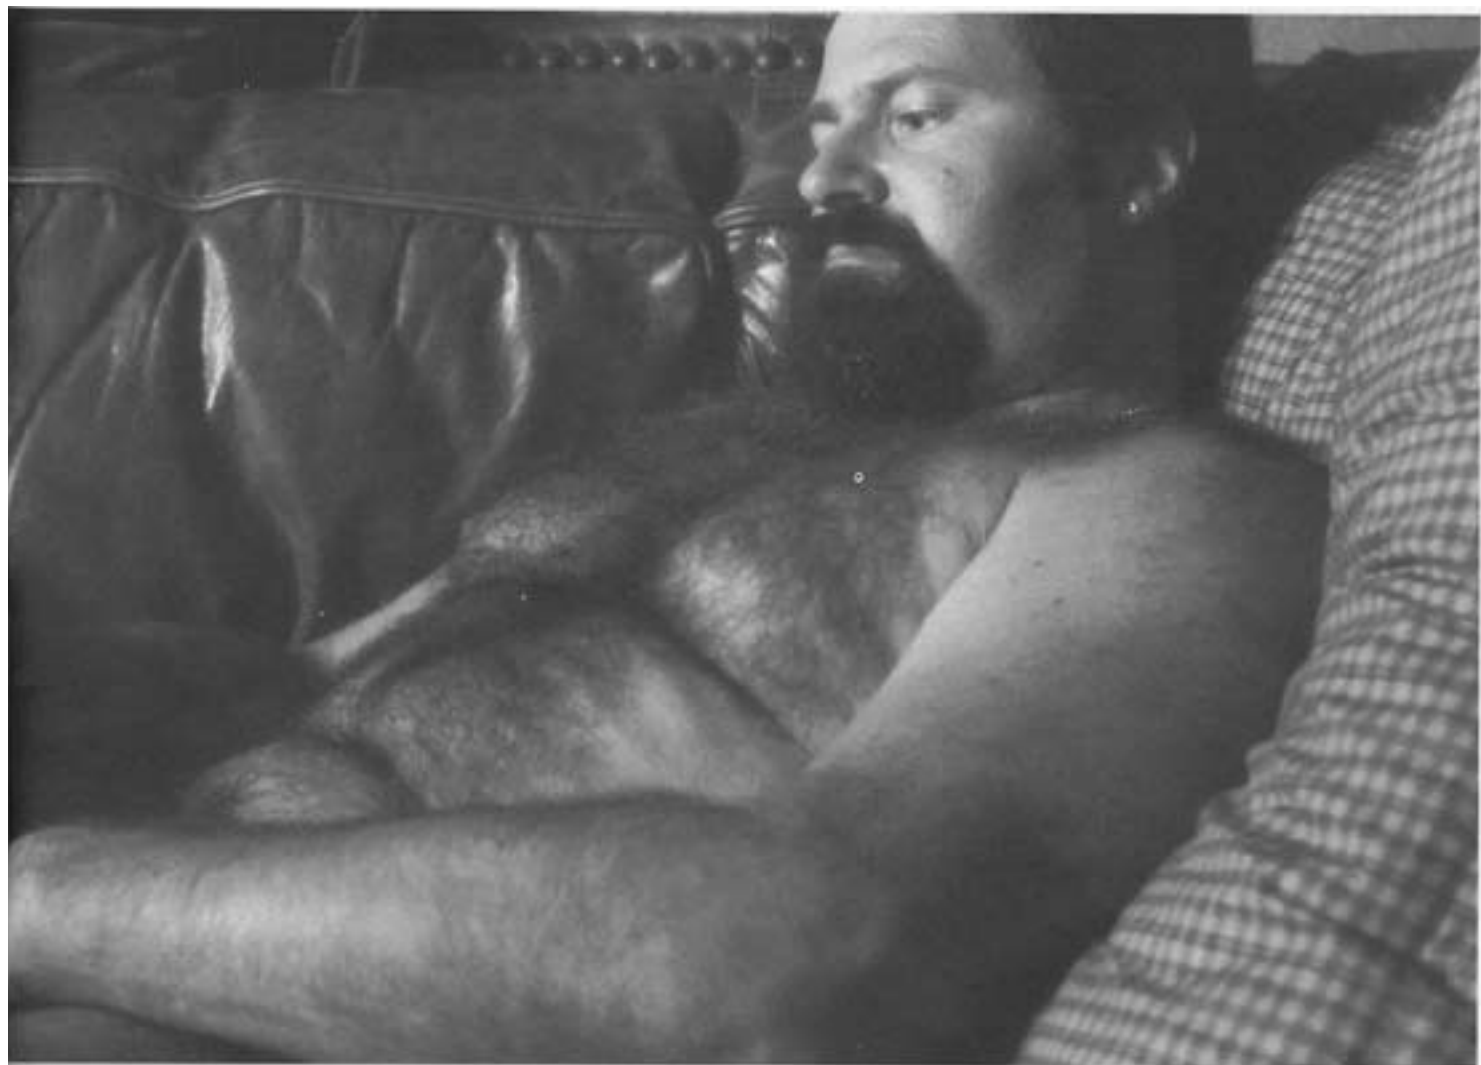

I asked him if he gets off on showing off. "Not necessarily, but I'm definitely not shy!"

He lives in Arizona. He's single. He's carpeted. That's all you need to know.

WRITE TO PAPA

Butcher, Baby!

Before I say anything, I must first begin with congratulating you on your unique, but most excellent gay stereotype demolishing mag. I can't get enough of those solid, stocky, chunky, curvaceous, butch, burly, and of course, hairy looking men! Getting a chance to see them strutting their stuff, combined with informative items on gay bear culture, is something I thought wasn't possible, until I discovered BEAR. I'm fuckin' sick of those shaved, six-packed, skinny, pussy fairies. We queers need to butch up the scene as much as possible.

Australia

Thanks buddy, for the kind words. Glad BEAR works for you, but what the heck is up with: "We queers need to butch up the scene as much as possible." Yikes....

Outta curiosity, what did those shaved, six-packed, skinny, pussy fairies ever do to you? Sure, I don't wanna have lip-lickin' monkey sex with 'em, either, but "I'm fuckin' sick of..." is just a little over the top, don'tcha think?

Take a look at "Hat's Off: They Smoke Fags, Don't They?" in BEAR 50, p. 31. You might learn somethin'.

Café Curtain Call

I want to thank you for the 50th issue of BEAR. I was in ecstasy when I saw the cover. Being new to BEAR, the only picture of "The Perfect Man" I had seen was in the letters column of BEAR 48.

LETTERS TO BEAR

May I give you one piece of advice on works of art - which Jack Radcliffe is? You don't put café curtains around the Mona Lisa; you don't put a trench coat on Michelangelo's David, and you don't put anything on Jack Radcliffe, ever!

Pennsylvania

Um... yeah, sure. And, "you don't pull the mask off the ol' Lone Ranger, and you don't mess around with Jim." I know the song.

I gotta ask, though, what the heck are "café curtains?"

Ignore Whiners

Just wanted to say a few words about your magazine. Like you, I have a passion for big, hairy, no-bullshit men.

I have only received one issue of BEAR.

I enjoyed it so much that now I would like to receive Bunkhouse, as well. I hope it's just as hot as BEAR. Keep up the great work, and ignore the whiners.

RS
West Virginia

BUNKHOUSE, Brush Creek Media's fastest-growing smut mag, is every bit as hot as BEAR. It has a cowboy slant to it, and the men are real and rugged. Pick one up at your local smut shop, or give us a call at 800-234-3877, and we'll sell ya one over the phone!

Happy Camper

Just got BEAR 50. WOOF! There are more full-color pages here than ever! The centerfold of Jack Radcliffe will leave many a bear and cub wet for days, and the stories are VERY good! This will be a hot collector's item!

Shinjuku Bar

I was in Tokyo last week, and I finally found Japan's first and only (to date) bear bar. It's called the "Snuggle Bear," and it's located right in the heart of Shinjuku 2-chome (Tokyo's gay village). As there is no "street address" (in the Western sense), you'll have to telephone for directions—the "master" speaks good English. Tel: (03) 3341-0680. The natives are really cute, friendly, and very curious about us men-Asian bears.

Dirty, Dirty, Dirty

I just received issue 50, and read your message on page 22 where you mentioned "ideas that might be too dirty to publish." Well, one really struck my fancy.

I know sometimes when I take a piss... well, after I urinate, there are still droplets that ooze out of my crotch down my thigh. I would love, instead of piss, to see a nice white cock plopped against a thigh, with cum running down the thigh, and someone's tongue placed against the thigh, as if to catch it. The tongue does not actually have to touch the sperm.

I do not think your magazine can publish a cum shot such as this, can you?

BEAR 50 is right on target! Keep up the great work!

BB • IL

You're right. We can't publish that. Bodily fluids are a big no-no. But, more importantly... what's up with the oozing piss? Oozing? You'd better get that checked, buddy. Piss shouldn't ooze.

Stirring Cocks

What a fantastic cock-stirring issue in BEAR 50. It would be hard to single out every aspect of our satisfaction, but my bear buddy and I almost came to "blows" over first handling rights. Thumbs up on the color. It is a dimension long lacking in BEAR, and much appreciated.

As for the art work, outstanding... and the photo layouts literally grabbed our "solid attention." If there is such a thing as "ursine divinity," Jack Radcliffe has a place in that Valhalla.

Keep up the great work, Scott. We look forward to your innovations and further developments with our favorite bedtime companion. Sincere congratulations.
RR
California

Thanks, guys. Sincerely, it's a very cool thing to have people not only appreciate your work, but to take the time to actually sit down and write a nice congratulatory letter. I'm flattered, and humbled. Thanks!

Fabulous Fur

Congratulations on your fiftieth issue. I've been a steady subscriber since issue #7. We've had our differences, but overall I have thoroughly enjoyed your publication. It has helped define who I am, and has affirmed my belief that fur is fabulous.

While I have admired Jack Radcliffe from afar, I really haven't followed his career closely. The photoshoot in issue #50 struck me like one of those glowing "after" examples in a makeover ad: Mr. Radcliffe has always been an impressive specimen, but he has matured into a major daddy bear! His waist is thick without being flabby, he has allowed his beard to fill out, which makes his face appear squarer, and his eyes have developed jolly crinkles in the corners which only add to his appeal. The centerpiece shot of him should be sold as a trademark poster for your magazine; it's bound to be a collector's item.

One final note: if your idea of getting dressed up "all formal-like" is throwing an unbuttoned tuxedo shirt over the shoulders of an otherwise nekkid guy, I'd love to stop by your offices on casual day!

Keep up the great work. I can't wait for issue #100.
Bruin
WI

Actually, on casual day, we wear clothes to work. Dressy days...we work in our birthday suits.

Seriously, at the beginning of the photo shoot, Jack was wearin' a tuxedo shirt, dinner jacket, bow-tie, the whole business. But, when I started choosin' pics for that layout... well, I didn't want to waste a page. He just looks too darned good naked!

So all you got to see was the shirt and the champagne, and... well, you know the rest.

Bitter Offer

I've been reading your magazine for the past few years, and I'm a real fan, especially of that Jack Radcliffe who in spite of the fact that we've never actually met, has been responsible for some of the best orgasms of my life. Thanks, Jack.

Here's my problem: I was in the Dugout bar last Sunday night for the usual six o'clock rowdiness - a bunch of

the wittke wire

You may recall that back in BEAR 44, I threatened to secede from the gay "community" for what I called, "The shallowness. The fucked up priorities. The images that are successfully marketed again and again to gay consumers who then do everything in their power to alter their own physical appearance to more closely resemble the images that they have been sold. It's like a snake eating its own endless tail." Gee, was I pissed or what? The thing that added fuel to my fire then, as now, is that 98% of gay media seems to have no interest in actually discussing these issues with anything even approaching a critical eye. But Roland Tec's excellent debut feature film, All the Rage, changes all that, and may also be remembered as the ingenious opening salvo of Queer Independent Cinema's New Wave.

All the Rage asks the question, "What happens when a buffed and plucked Agay with the right job and the right friends and the right house in the right neighborhood, finds himself falling for a regular guy who isn't interested in any of the trappings of fabulousity?" (Hell, he's not even committed to going to the gym!) The result is a lushly filmed examination of homo-konsumer culture, and the men who live and crash and burn by it. Alternatingly funny, sad, exasperating, and invigorating, All the Rage seems even more remarkable because of the fearlessness of its critique.

Christopher (John-Michael Lander) is a rich Boston lawyer with quite possibly the ugliest haircut ever committed. But this doesn't matter because he has gym breasts, a tiny waist, and money. So lots of other guys with tits and biceps and small waists want Christopher really bad. Yet, even though he "has it all," Christopher feels that something is missing. (An inner life, perhaps?) His coupled friends, Tom and Dave (Peter Brubiski and Paul Outlaw), invite Christopher over for dinner with the hope of setting him up with their book-editor friend, Stewart (David Vincent). Christopher finds himself falling for Stewart, while being teased mercilessly about it by his muscle buddy, Larry (Jay Corcoran). Christopher and Stewart attempt to make a go of it (why Stewart would even bother, was something of a mystery to me).

But Christopher's lack of appeal is actually one of many brave moves writer/director Tec makes as he tells his tale. He has some fun with shifting film grains. He also has the best use of overlapping sounds and dialogue this side of Robert Altman. He paints a sparkling vision of Boston that is warmer and way, hairy bears in cut-offs and ball caps throwing back beer and cruising the hell out of each other. There were some very sexy guys in there (including a couple I recognized as BEAR models) and they were all laughing and slapping each other on the backs and drinking, drinking, and stroking each others fur and having a blast.

So, I'm in there trying to join in on the fun with my cutoffs and my ball cap and my beer, and I can't help but notice that I'm registering a big fat nothing on the bear-o-meter. Nobody's slapping my back or cruising the hell out of me or grabbing my ass, and just as I'm wondering what the hell is the deal, my bear-friend Adam, the one taking the motorcycle lessons, tells me that my problem is that I'm not actually a bear, but, rather, an otter.

An otter?

Who the hell wants to be an otter?

I used to watch Mutual of Omaha's Wild Kingdom pretty religiously and the image that's coming to me here is not very sexy, much less hot! Bears are fierce, territorial hunters who are dangerous and aggressive, especially when mating. Otters are frolicsome, water-logged cowards who spend most of the time on their backs cracking mollusks open on a rock. Bears are large creatures with thick fur, massive claws and a surly disposition. Otters are like little mammals with oily pelts, sharp teeth and too much nervous energy. Bears growl, and according to Marlon Perkins, Otters bark!

Who the hell wants to be an otter?

"Hey, it's cool to be an otter," Adam said as he turned to give a bear hug to one of his bear-friends.

"So why don't they publish OTTER Magazine?" I asked.

Adam said, "They do. It's just called National Geographic." That got a pretty good laugh from his friend and several other bears standing close by.

I suddenly realized that I was on the outside of the den looking in.

So I need some help here. I need to raise my otter awareness. Do Otters belong in Bear clubs? Is there such a thing as an Otter club? Are there special Otter groups and Otter weekends and Mr. Otter Contests? Are there Otter T-shirts and ball caps and coffee mugs and, well, Otter-related products that I can buy? Is there an OTTER Magazine?

It took me forever to find my group and I don't want to waste anymore time finding my sub-group? If I've gotta be an otter, I wanna be on the inside track.

P.G.

NY

For the record, I know plenty of bears who spend a good deal of time on their backs, too. A good buddy of mine has seen more ceilings than Michelangelo (apologies to whoever came up with that line).

I'm not much on the definitions thing. Yeah, I've heard guys called "otters" and "wolves" and "cubs" and there are probably a shitload of other names that I haven't even heard of. Let's face it - I'm still tryin' to figure out the... what the heck's it called... "bear code" (you know, that nifty little system that allows guys on the internet to describe themselves without actually using words to say what they look like, or what they're into. What's up with that, anyway?).

way more racially diverse than the actual experience. He isn't afraid to shake up the narrative a bit with direct addresses to the audience that seem to seduce viewers, while involving them in the madness, simultaneously. Personally, I was seduced by some of the fur on display on several instances.

David Vincent brings an enormously appealing teddy-bear quality to the role of Stewart. He's a more butch and introverted Nathan Lane (if you can even imagine such a thing), with a shy smile, a nice hairy chest, and a bit of a spread around the middle that completely disqualifies him from A-gayhood. Peter Bibriski is the quintessential salt-and-pepper-haired daddy who also shows off a nice pelt in his bed scenes with Paul Outlaw.

The pidce de resistance for the fur lovers among us, however, has to be Jay Corcoran. Balding and furry (you know those are two of my favorite adjectives), Corcoran brings a surprising level of humanity to a part that could too easily have been one-note. An original cast member of the Off-Broadway naked gay-boy show, Party, a few years back, Corcoran has also recently been making his mark as an independent documentary filmmaker. His film, Life and Death on the A-List, is a must-see that also takes on body image issues in the gay community, and serves as a tidy, non-fiction precursor to All the Rage. Corcoran's next documentary, the soon-to-be-completed, Undetectable, is about the lives of six people with AIDS and how they are impacted by triple combination drug therapies. In a few years, Jay Corcoran could very well emerge as a daddy-bear icon (as long as he resists the urge to shave his body), giving even the great Ed Harris a run for his money. (Kudos to everyone involved in putting Corcoran in a jock-strap and having him walk away from the camera during All the Rage's underwear party scene!)

So, is there any irony in the fact that I am describing attractive physical characteristics of actors in a movie that seriously examines contemporary gay culture's obsession with creating and maintaining hierarchies of physical attractiveness? Well, sure. But that's one of the reasons the film works. Though it careens to an ending that is not as cathartic as Tec may have hoped, All the Rage draws viewers in, while consistently asking us to look critically at what attracts us in the first place. And there's something about the fact that the repulsive Christopher describes the ideal man as "smooth... he has to be smooth..." that makes it seem even more subversive that BEAR readers could find so much to ogle that isn't A-gay in All the Rage.

All the Rage has played dozens of film festivals around the world, and is slowly, but surely, being released around the country. You can check out its official Web site at <<http://www.tiac.net/users/pinkplot/index.html>> to see if it's coming to a theater near you. If it is, you should make the effort to see it, because what we have here, is a gay film that asks some new questions and doesn't ask all of its stars to shave their bodies. I believe this means we're standing at the dawning of a new era!

You can reach Chris Wittke at wittke@writeme.com to get whatever you need to off your hairy chest.

If you wanna get intellectual about it, check out Les Wright's The Bear Book. He explores the in's and out's of everything bear-ish, including definitions and classifications. You can order it through Brush Creek Media by callin' us at 800.234.3877, or ask for it at your local bookstore.

Your best bet in my opinion would be hooking up with a local bear club, attending a bear event or two (Bear Bust is comin' up in Tampa in October!), or hang out at the bars where your favorite bears hang. Take my word for it, they'll come around.

In the meantime... we put this cover together just for you buddy! Keep smilin'!

Jack Off

Congrats on your 50th issue of BEAR. Special thanks for giving us the present - Jack Radcliffe in full color splendor! This layout is your best yet. Woo! Suggestions: why don't you make the next Classic BEAR (either 4 or 5) an all-Jack Radcliffe issue, with his original BEAR layout, his BEAR 50 layout, a new layout, and highlights of his Brush Creek videos, including the new Palm Springs Vacation? I'm certain it would be your biggest seller ever! Finally, last time I e-mailed you about Palm Springs Vacation you informed me I could purchase the video, but the packaging was not ready. I now assume that if I order a copy it will come in a box since you now have ads for it in your magazines. Please let me know. I want to complete my Jack Radcliffe video collection.

Pennsylvania

Thanks for the compliments, and suggestions. BEAR 50 was fun to do. But, after all the work we had him do for that, and for the Bear 1999 Jack Radcliffe Calendar (see page 80 to order. It's 12 months of Jack Radcliffe as you've never seen him before!), we're giving Jack a well-deserved break. There are other bears to shoot, too!

Fallen

Congratulations on BEAR 50 - it's the best issue ever produced. It's bloody beautiful! Well done to all the guys involved. Jack Radcliffe was without a doubt the best choice to feature. I fell for him years ago (who wouldn't?). There is something about him that makes him come across as a nice guy. It's the eyes, I guess.

I will grab another copy of this issue, so I can frame the centerfold and cover. The champagne and dress shirt were inspirational. That is a handsome guy!

Pete

Australia

I don't know if it's the eyes, or that big fat uncut dick surrounded by thick brown fur, or that thick fur-covered torso, or those solid tree trunk legs, or...

Okay, okay - so he's studier 'n hell and a nice guy, to boot. I'm sure I'll find something wrong with him someday... like his second cousin's wife's best friend blew the president or somethin'.

Bear Cruising

Yesterday I was out cruising for bear truckers on the CB as I usually do. Thought I'd have more luck if I crossed over to Ohio onto Rt #7. I yelled out on the radio "Any driver want a blowjob?" Got a reply right away, but from an insurance salesman, not a trucker.

He said follow him to this pickle park on an old truck route. We drove for about a half hour until we got there. He pulled in first, and I followed. There was a pickup parked in the lot, and as I went past the truck to park, I noticed he had an out-of-state license plate with the tags reading IND-BEAR. He was a good-looking bearded bear sitting in the drivers seat. The insurance man and I walked into the restroom.

I thought the guy might follow us in, but he didn't. I gave the insurance man a blowjob. He zipped up, thanked me, walked out of the door and drove away. I stayed in the John with my pants down, sitting on the toilet stroking my hard cock.

I heard a door shut. It was the pickup bear guy. In he walked. I asked if he read BEAR magazine. He said yes. Without any hesitation, he unzipped his jeans, shoving a nine inch hard cock in my mouth. He kept shoving it deep down my throat, then pulling it out, and rubbing it over my mustache and beard. I sucked and licked his cock, balls, and ass for about 15 minutes before being rewarded with a mouthful of bear cock-juice.

Wished more guys would advertise they're bears looking for us rock sucking beer men!

JB
W. Virginia

I love it. Sounds like a t-shirt slogan: "I hunted for a bear, but all I got was this lousy insurance salesman!"

Seriously, though—sounds like fun, buddy. Hey, did the bear guy happen to have a dime-sized birthmark on his left butt-cheek?

Clarification:

This is the official BEAR poster. The survey in BEAR 50 mentioned that you get a free BEAR poster when you send in the survey, and it seems a couple of fellows misunderstood the graphic on the survey page as the BEAR poster. We apologize for the misunderstanding.

Diversity?

Welcome, Scott, to the big, bright, world of BEAR. I wish you the best of luck, and hope you will have a great time steering my favorite mag. The bear community sometimes pisses me off with their shallowness and "sex at any cost" attitude, but BEAR Magazine has always approached man to man relations with maturity as well as a fun loving spirit. A good mix.

Most of BEAR's models seem to aspire to be Jack Radcliffe now. Not that Jack isn't amazing, but how many of him do we need? I like variety, diversity, and guys of all types, not just Jack (who is amazing, tell him I said so.)

I like the way you refuse to define what a bear is, but you send a mixed signal with your model choices. "A bear is in the attitude, but this is what it looks like."

Best of luck, and take good care of my baby.

Well, Paul... I've wrecked my brain, and I can't, for the life of me, figure out how I'd fill the pages of BEAR with attitude instead of men. So, until I can figure out a way to do that...

Most models come to us. We don't go out fishin' for dick and say "hey, you're a bear!" when we find a hot guy, or anything like that. The guys who come to us, who wanna show off their hairy holes, consider themselves bears. We just pick the best ones.

I'll tell ya - based upon the reaction we're gettin' from BEAR 50, we're not going to get many complaints by puttin' Jack Radcliffe wanna-be's in the magazine. Folks can't seem to get enough of his "look."

But, you're right - variety is the spice of life, and I'm trying to mix it up (see BEAR 51) by putting different types of bearmen in the magazine. I hope you recognize the change, and keep slappin' my hands if you think things are gettin' stale.

Simply the best

BEAR #50 was the best ever - dick was hard from the moment I opened the magazine. Great jack-off stories. Hot, hot men. If Scott (the new editor) had anything to do with it - KEEP HIM! Loved it!

It was me! All me! No help from anybody else! I did it all by myself, dammit! And if anybody tells you differently, they... well, okay, they probably helped alot more than I'm givin' 'em credit for.

BEAR is a group effort... copy editors, contributors, photographers, models, advertising people. Mine is just the name on the masthead. When the magazine looks great, I get the glory. If it sucked, I'd get the heat.

But thanks just the same. I'll let the rest of the gang know you're happy. And, BEAR contributors around the world - THANKS! ☺

Doesn't that sound good? "Dick breath?" I guess straight guys think it's really an insult to call someone that. Never mind the fact that there's no such thing, and that it'd be damned inconvenient (people'd know what you've been doing on your lunch hour). But we're all over here loving it. "Dick Breath? Moi?" It'd be great if it were possible to have penile halitosis.

Picture a sultry, bearded face that exhaled the essence of cock. It would smell kind of a cross between bread, Little Friskies and salami. Wait. That's what my cat's breath is like. Wrong angle. Major digression. Keep the audience entertained.

You like dick, don't you?

Yeah. Stick it in your mouth. Taste it. Yeah.

One of our greatest pleasures, as gay men, is unwrapping the package. You take a fella home, or just pull him into a doorway, and see what he's got under the hood. Surprise! It's like a box of chocolates. You never know....

The first penis I ever met, besides my own, was unusual, and therefore, very sweet to me. Deep pink, almost purple. Kink on the shaft, and a large vein along the top that made a big bubble the size of a nickel. It was the first one I put my mouth on—what a strange, dry texture! That was 1978, we were both 13, and it always gives me a little thrill to think back. I can still remember the smell of Tide detergent his stay-at-home mom probably used on his underwear. But that was twenty years ago. That dick's gone on to servicing pussy, and has probably barfed out a number of kids by now. Ah, well. One got away.

I once wrote a treatise on the quality of penii, back in the days before I could get any. Wish like hell I could find it, that little piece of paper on which I scribbled my thoughts, heart thumping. It was pretty brilliant, if I dare say.

When you're a tired old homosexual like me nowadays, though, you can often tell what a man's dick is going to look like even before you see it. But there are surprises out there (God I love surprises).

I'm a fan of genealogy. There are male body patterns based on the various gene pools of the world. We shouldn't talk about them because it's not politically correct, and it's out of our control, so best not go there. Mustn't offend. So we won't. (So I shouldn't even tell you the time I had sex with a guy, and we were talking later and he said, "You'll never guess my ancestry," and I said, "You're X and Y with a fair shake of Z thrown in," and he said, "No way! No one's ever guessed it right!" Well, the way the pucker of his buttohole felt to my tongue, that only comes from Z, and it's delicious... have you never been more scared?)

What a banquet, penises. There's such variety. Pretty ones, ugly ones, angry ones, silly ones, smelly fat ones that drip (I like those). Big heads, little heads, tapering shafts, curves, arcs, veins, oh, and the colors! Beige, pink, gray, blue, chocolate, do we not lick them? Do we not lavish them till they faint?

But we've always got to be polite when meeting a new cock. No giggles—not so much as a sigh or pouty exhale—when unzipping the fly. Wouldn't be proper. When my first husband whipped out his dick—and when I say whipped, I'm being generous here—I had to stifle a giggle. A bad sign. "Well, that pretty much explains the Corvette."

I didn't really say that. Besides, it was a Mustang.

No, the point is, cut the crap, we all like them big.

Now before you get that look in your eye, let me explain. It depends on what you plan to do with the male human penis you hopefully have in your hand right now as to how big it needs to be. Some guys just wanna tuck it away and forget about it. Some want to suck dick, and some want some good old-fashioned butt fuggin'.

If you're the tuck between your legs type, you've already stopped reading. Blah. Blah. Besides, you're the ones who have the biggest dicks in the world. You know it's true.

Sucking dick, however, is a deeply personal moment, and you're right, for this, size doesn't matter. You get the whiff of a fella's pubes and the promise of a little precum, and we're all equal in the eyes of the Lord.

If you like to stick weenies in your po-po, then it gets a little more technically involved. Some penises are too small to enter the masculine buttohole (we once got a dirty story submitted to BEAR where there was a typo so that the author was going on about his "fuck chanel" [sha-nell]—but there I go, digressing my little brains out again). Sometimes bigger ones hurt less than smaller ones, someone really needs to explain that one to me. And if you've ever been fucked by a really big schlong, then you know that special secret of the second sphincter, way up inside, and how it can rock your world.

If so, just buy a vibrator and come on back to the table.

Big dicks are popular because we all like big things. Swollen, round, throbbing, big penises. You liked reading those words, didn't you? It's a guy thing, like booming brass bands and stuff that explodes.

We all get a little more emotionally healthy by recognizing our diversity. Celebrating our uniqueness. We are the world, we are the children, it's just that some of us are children of a lesser codpiece. Play nice. They all taste great, even when they are less filling.

There's absolutely no truth to the rumor that I hate size queens, but love their boyfriends. G

How'dja like him to tuck you in every night? He was part of a coupon for Diamond Crystal water conditioning salt. Yeah, yeah... he's made to look real fierce and all, but we couldn't help but notice those happy/sad theatrical masks in this big bruiser's tattoo collage. Must be a theatre fan. Fellow named Dag saw this in a German magazine called STERN. The text to the right of the well-dressed bear translates as follows: At the beginning our life was free. The woods, the mountains and the oceans were in our minds. That's history. Today we live in large cities. Clerks, couch potatoes, lounge lizards. Sometimes, we wanna go back in time... OK... who's the bear workin' for Goretex? Thanks, Dag!

MARK

Call him a bear, call him a cub. Mark's pretty much a perfect lookin' cuddle bear.

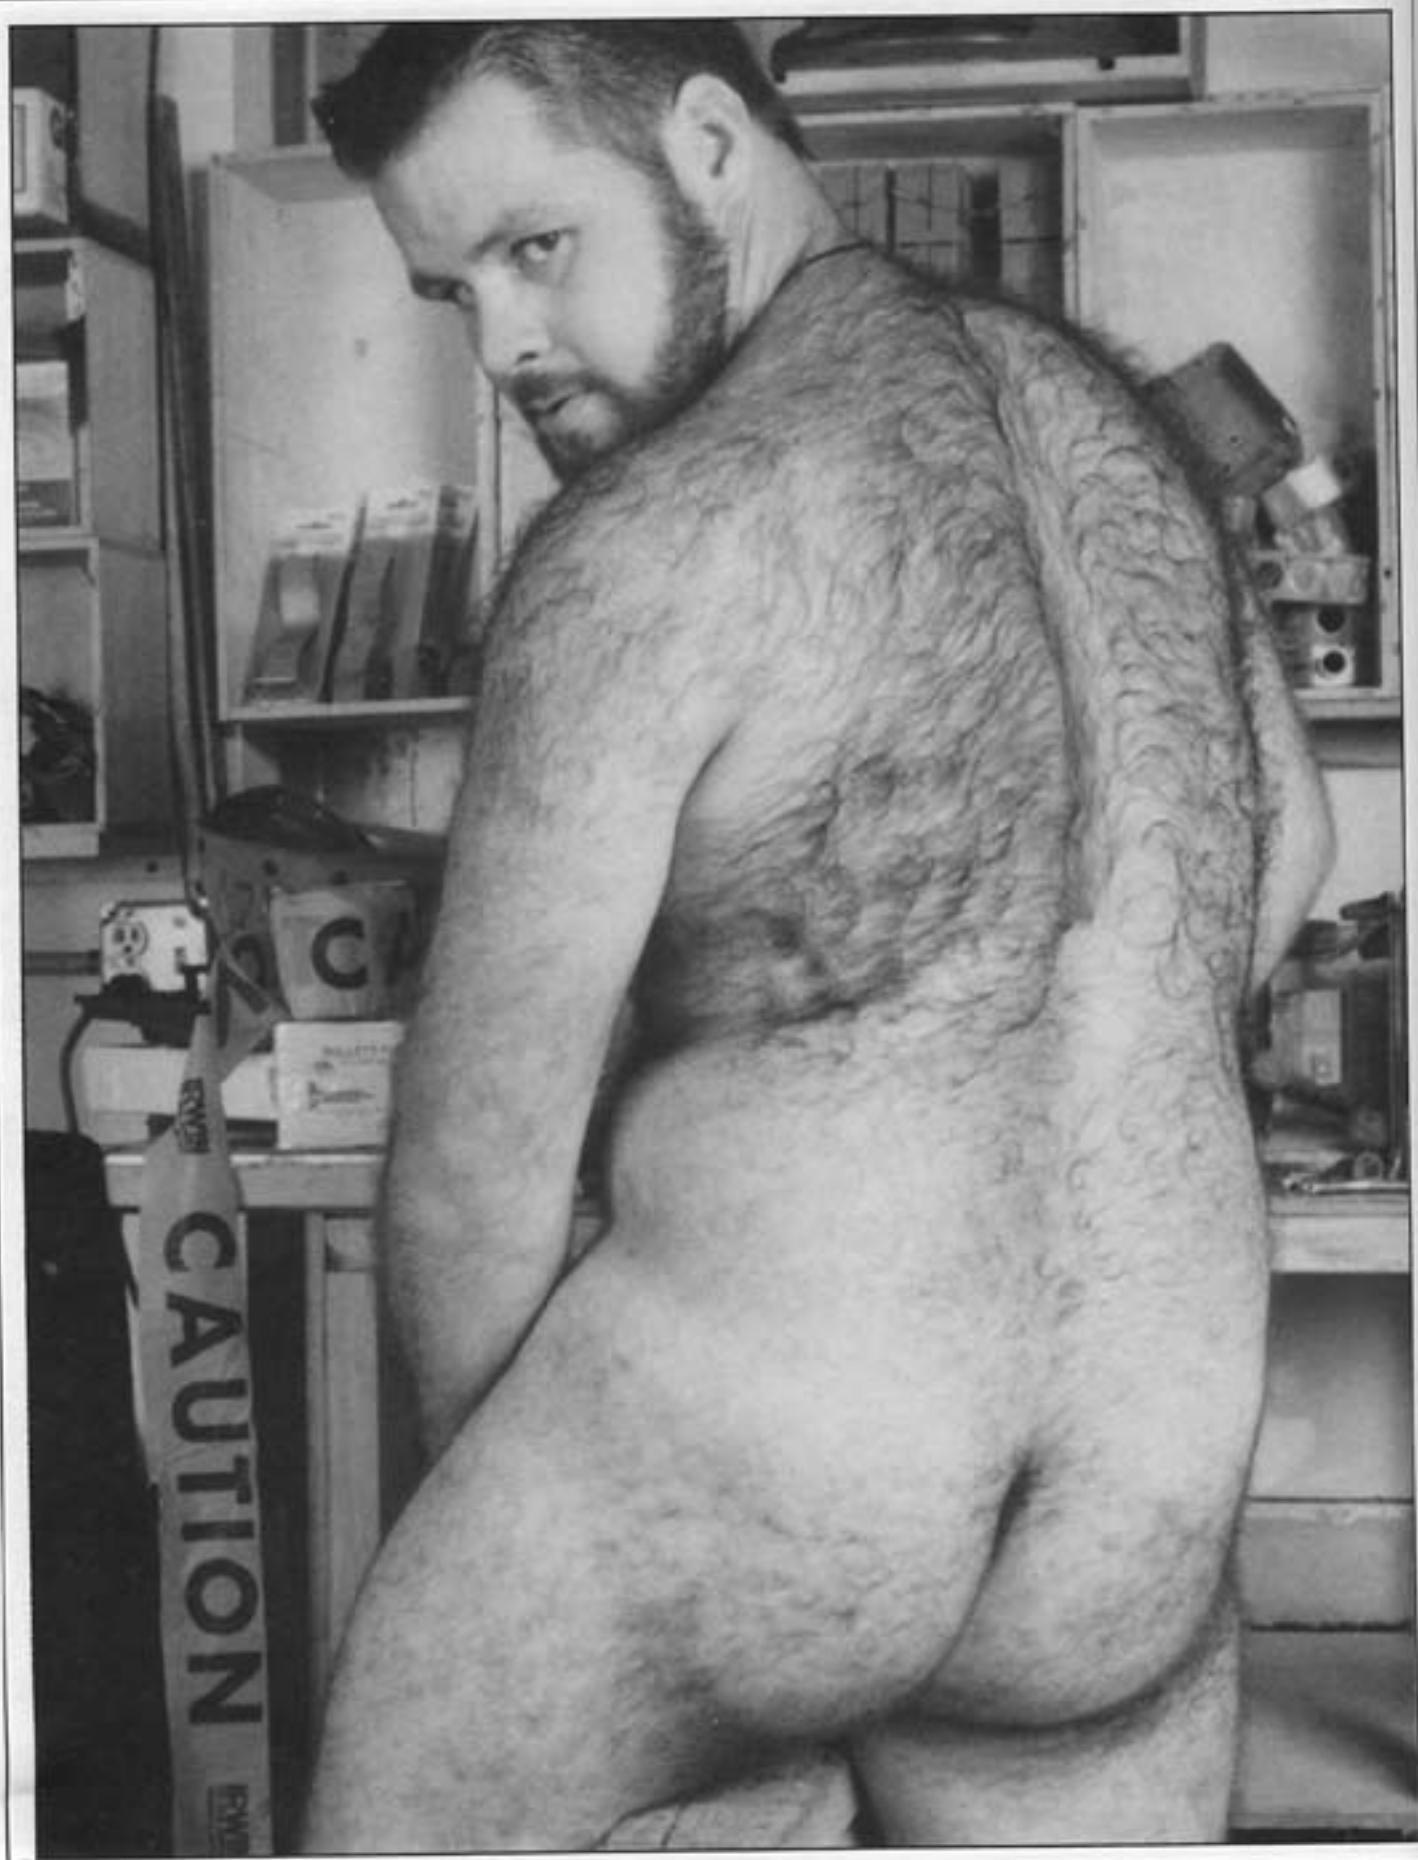

Hairy as hell, cute as a bug, with that fuzzy tummy, and a sinister little sneer that suggests something nasty's goin' on inside that pretty head of his.

We found him in the midwest, Ohio to be exact, and got him naked for our BEAR cameras when he came out for a little fun and frolic in the city by the Bay.

Easy with that drill, buddy!

grizzly

Ol' Pete and me had been partners for quite a few years. We hired out to hunt wolves, coyotes, bears, or panthers. We caught and broke mustangs, and even rustled cattle now and again. Why, once we even tried ranching with some cattle we sort of picked up, but we just didn't take to being tied down. So we was off again.

Those were the good ol' days, just Pete and me. A man couldn't have a better partner than Pete Grimson. We shared everything: food, work, liquor, and our blankets. We took turns cooking whatever the other one shot, and come nightfall, we flopped around like two live fish on a hot griddle to see who was gonna poke who.

I remember Pete and me went out to California in the early 1840's. That was before California statehood, when the Spaniards still ran things. We went out to hunt bear for the wealthy hacendados, or landowners. It was around the end of July, just after the vaqueros started the matanza, or yearly slaughter of cattle for hides and tallow. They left most of the carcasses lying in the sun for the buzzards. It was these leftovers that attracted the grizzly bears. Now, the hacendados didn't mind the grizzlies having a free meal off this carrion, but some bears went after the living herds of cattle and horses, and a few acquired a taste for mutton.

The hacendados gave us good Spanish silver for each bear we brought in, and the hills and mountains were overrun with bears back then. Pete liked to wait near the calaveras, or "places of the skulls," where the slaughtering took place. After the vaqueros cleared out, the bears came in to eat. They were easy targets, and the Spaniards didn't know the difference between those grizzlies or the rogue killers that went after their herds and flocks.

One hot day in August, we rode up into the mountain meadows where Don Francisco, our current employer, kept his sheep. Some bears had been taking his sheep, and he wanted it stopped. One shepherd was mauled, and the others had run off. The sheep were left unprotected, and nobody would go back up there. It was important enough for Don Francisco to up the bounty per bear.

Pete and me, we found the camp with no problem. It was a sturdy timber and stone cabin with a small corral for pack mules built near a spring. It was better built than many a cabin or bunkhouse I'd seen over in American territory. The roof was flat and slanted toward the back, but it was supported by rafters and posts strong enough to hang a butchered steer. The cabin sure seemed bear-proof.

Our first day at the sheep camp was spent building a low corral of brush. The sheep were scattered all around, but we were able to herd some of them into the corral. A couple of dogs showed up. They had been trying to hold the flocks together. I guess the dogs wouldn't give up even if the men did. The dogs seemed happy to see us, and did a better job of rounding up the sheep than Pete and me.

By mid-afternoon, we had a sizable number of sheep in the corral. We decided to wait and let the bears come to us. Pete went hunting for supper while I set the camp in order. Pete came back later in the day with a few partridges and a hat full of early huckleberries. We cleaned the birds and stuffed them with the berries and some green things growing around that Pete recognized as cooking herbs. I made dumplings out of flour we found in the cabin, and I betcha we had a dinner as fine as any you could get in those fancy restaurants in Carson City.

It was getting dark, so we settled down for the night. Pete kept the fire going in the stone hearth 'cause it got pretty cool at night in those mountains, especially when you slept buck-naked like Pete and I always did. We didn't sleep in the beds, but lay our blankets on the floor in front of the fireplace.

I thought that maybe I'd get a good poke at Pete's ass. He had his back to me, pretending he wasn't thinking the same damn thing as me. So, I started running my hand down his side and over his furry round butt. Pete had the thickest blond fur I'd ever seen on any man, and his ass was no exception.

I spit on my fingers and thought I'd slide 'em into Pete, but he rolled over onto his back, his dick sticking up into the air like a flagpole. So, I massaged his pecker, instead. My own meat was hard as stone and dripping with juice. I had really wanted Pete's ass.

Pete's blue eyes sparkled in the firelight under his thick golden hair. I always had a soft spot for blond guys, and Pete was one of those Scandinavian boys from Norway. His bushy yellow mustache hung over his lips and framed his white teeth, with one gold tooth a little off center to the left. Yep, Pete was golden from his hair to his teeth, and down the length of his body to his slender cock and his perfect ass.

Pete wanted to kiss. He really loved being kissed, but kissing a man was something I always had trouble doing. It wasn't that I didn't care for Pete. I just figured kissing was something you did with a pretty girl across her back fence. So, I just swung my hips around and popped my hard dick into Pete's face. I stretched out along Pete's hairy body, and started to lick his rod.

Pete ran his tongue up and down my cock. I shivered, even though the fire was blazing. The feel of Pete's tongue on me was almost as good as the feel of Pete's chute. I felt his full lips glide down my shaft as he took my meat into his mouth. His mustache tickled against my skin as Pete inhaled my dick into his warm, wet mouth.

I loved it when Pete sucked me. I'd just lay back and let him go to work. If Pete thought I was selfish, he never acted like it. His head bobbed up and down on me, his mustache wet with spit as his hands massaged my thighs. Pete sure knew how to work a man over.

I rolled over onto my back, and Pete rolled with me. His body was stretched the full length down mine, head to toe. My hips thrust upward. His mouth waited for the length of my dick to slide into it. My eyes were closed, and I was squeezing Pete's warm butt with my callused hands. Pete's cock was rubbing against my face, and I could just feel the slick wetness from where his meat was oozing juice.

Pete's head, and my hips, were going at a fair pace. I could feel my seed surging deep down in my balls. I wanted to let go and fill Pete's mouth with my hot white gravy. So, I figured what the hell? I pumped like a wild man. I pushed my piece as deep as I could get it.

I knew I was close, and I reckon Pete knew it, too. His face swallowed my cock like a thirsty man in the desert gulps water. When I couldn't take it anymore, I let out a whoop, and shot my load into Pete's hungry mouth. I pumped until I was empty—until my dick was raw—then I lay still.

"It's a man," Pete yelled back, "You can't shoot a man!"

"The hell I can't!"

"No!" Pete hollered, "Get a rope!"

By now, the other dogs had left off chasing the bear and had joined us. Four snapping, barking jaws kept the bearman trapped. He had dropped the sheep and stood over it, growling. In all my life, I ain't ever seen a man behave as this one did. You'd of thought he had the hydrophobia, the way he snarled.

I had gotten our ropes, and by the light of Pete's lantern, I made a pitch catch that dropped over the bearman's shoulders and pinned his arms down. Quick as a rabbit, I hitched him to a post and ran around to get him from the other side. He was pulling and tugging on the rope, gnashing his teeth like a wild thing. I got around him and caught him from the other side. I tied the rope to a tree.

"Now that we got 'im, what the hell we gonna do with 'im?" Pete asked me.

"I dunno," I answered, "You won't let me shoot 'im."

"Maybe he's crazy, or maybe he's been lost in these mountains and don't know how to be human anymore," Pete said. "We can't just shoot a man. He ain't done no harm, but kill a few sheep."

"Well, we sure as hell got to do something," I said as I got as close to the bearman as I could without getting hit. "Get his attention, Pete."

Pete stepped forward a little and clapped his hands. The bearman turned toward him with a snarl. I took aim and landed the butt of my rifle against his head. He let out a howl that wasn't human, then turned on me with a roar that would've done any he-bear proud. I hit him again, and he dropped.

I was for tying him tight to a sturdy tree and leaving him until morning when we could get help, but Pete said we couldn't leave him out in the cold. I didn't know why since he'd been running around bare-ass naked for God

Grizzly started howling, his dick thrusting up between Pete's thighs. A long ribbon of yellow-white cream shot out of that swollen brown rod. It lay along Pete's back, and down the crack of his ass, in a thick line.

Pete sat up and looked at me with that devilish smile and those bright eyes. He was licking his lips, and I knew he had liked it. I just lay all quiet-like, and gently stroked Pete's cock and balls. It might take a little time, but I knew my energy would come back and I could give Pete some pleasure, too.

Well, I didn't have any time to work on Pete. All of a sudden, the dogs started a riot. There were sheep bleating in fear, dogs snarling, and our horses snorting. Pete and me got our boots and trousers on, and headed out with a lantern and rifles to see what was happening.

Pete ran to the mule corral to check on the horses. I headed down to where the sheep were. It was a mess. Part of the brush corral we had built earlier was ripped apart. Pete had the lantern, but even in the moonlight, I could see white carcasses lying around. I heard the dogs running off to the right, and saw something big going up the hillside. I fired at it, don't know if I hit it 'cause it just kept moving.

I heard Pete hollering and one of the dogs barking over by the horses, so I headed off that way. It sounded like Pete and the dog had something cornered. I figured maybe it was a bear, but I hadn't heard any shot. I sure wasn't expecting what Pete had his lantern shining on.

Pinned against the high corral wall, with the horses going crazy on the other side, and Pete and the dog in front of it, was a man! At least I think it was a man. Something naked and hairy stood there, growling. It had a dead sheep under one powerful arm, and was swatting at the dog with the other.

"Shoot it!" I yelled at Pete over the ruckus.

knows how long. So, we dragged him into the cabin.

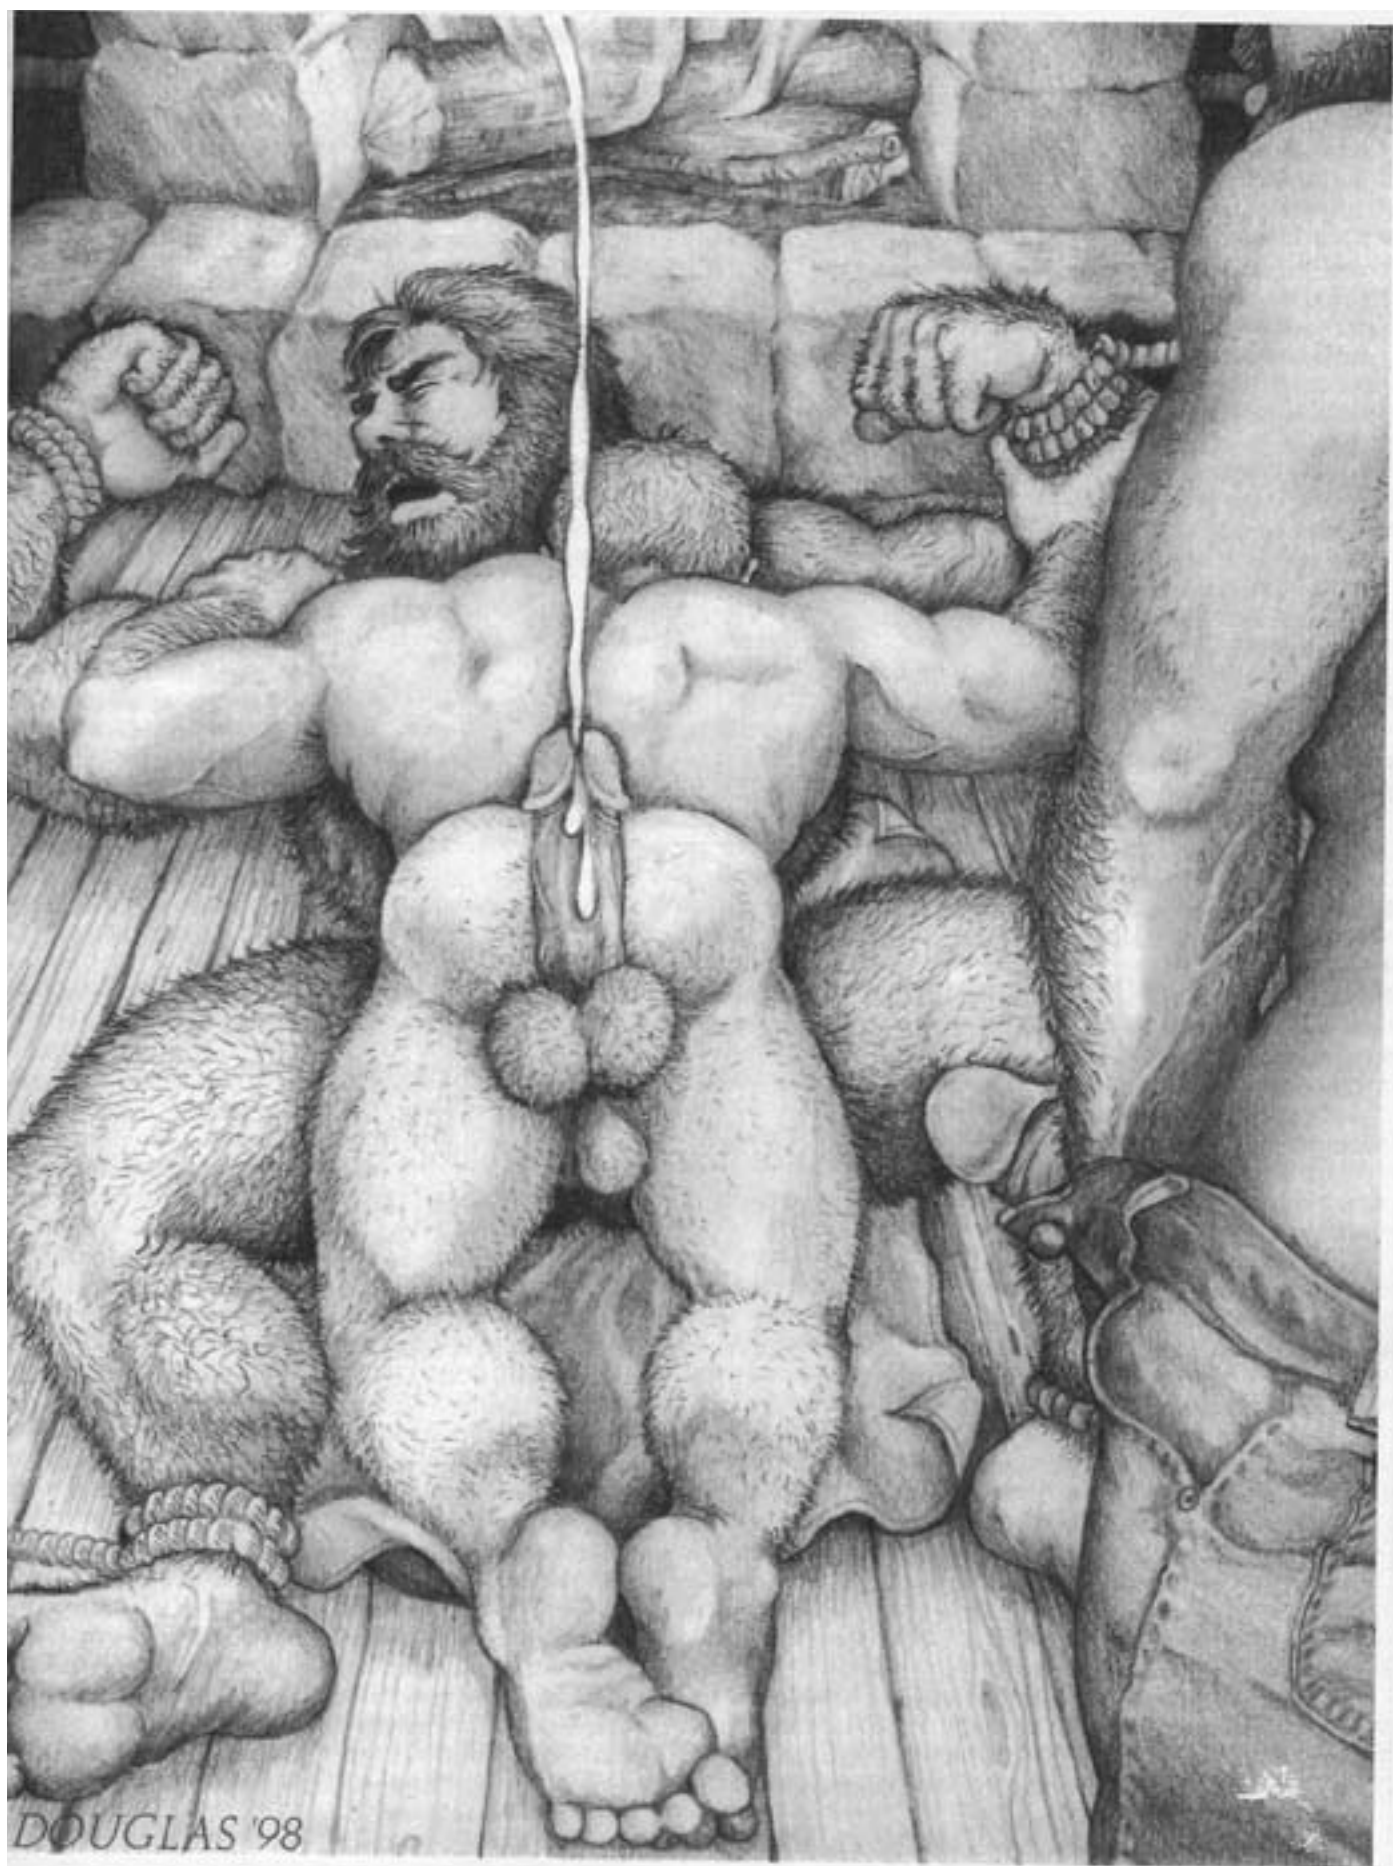

We stretched him spread-eagle across the cabin floor with his wrists and ankles tied securely to some of them big posts. He looked like he was spread over an anthill in the desert, but he was a mite more comfortable. Pete had pulled some of the blankets off the shepherd's beds so he wouldn't have to lay on a cold floor. I didn't know why. He was probably used to lying on the cold ground, by the looks of him.

He was a big man, all right. Well over six-foot with thick arms and legs like gnarled tree trunks. He must have been a white man once, but his skin was brown from the sun, and he was covered in dirt. He had to be the hairiest man I'd ever seen. I reckon living outside like that, nature sort of takes over and you grow extra hair, like a horse's winter coat.

The bearman was covered in black hair, and that was full of twigs and leaves and God only knows what else. I'm sure he had fleas and probably lice, too, but ol' Pete sure took to him. You'd thought he was a little kid with a new puppy. I ain't ever seen a grown man act like a nursing mother the way Pete worried over our prisoner.

Pete heated some water and took my last little bit of lye soap. He said he was gonna scrub some of the filth off the bearman. I didn't want no part of it, so I just wrapped up my blankets, and leaned against the wall near the stove. I got my pouch out and rolled me a cigarette. I had me a smoke while Pete played nursemaid.

Pete started by washing the bearman's face. A lot of dirt came off, but the man was still far from clean. I guess you could've boiled him for a day or so and still not got him clean. 'Course, every little bit of washing helped. The man wasn't really bad looking, in a rough sort of way. He was bearded with long black hair and eyebrows that grew together.

Pete pulled some of the twigs out of his hair until he started to come to. Once he was awake, and knew where he was, he started thrashing his head back and forth. His whole body shook as he roared at us. I reckon he was as mad as hell. He probably wanted to go back to eating sheep with his bear buddies. He bared his teeth each time we got near him.

Pete didn't seem to be bothered by the show. He stared far enough away from those snapping jaws, that ol' Grizzly couldn't bite him, but he kept on washing him. He scrubbed the muscled arms until I thought he'd take the hair off. It reminded me of when I was little and my mama would wash me once a week. I guess I'd been snapping and growling, too, if Pete had been washing me like that.

As Pete worked the bearman's chest with the warm soapy water, the growls became a low rumble. When Pete bathed his thighs, cock, and balls, the rumble became a whimper. Pete rolled the foreskin of the Grizzly's dick back. The fat head was smeared with cream as thick and lumpy as soured butter-milk. Bits of cheesy gravy clung to the washrag as Pete cleaned the man's meat. I could smell the rank, gamy odor from where I was sitting. Bearman smelled like a randy stallion that ain't ever been cleaned. That wasn't the only thing Grizzly had in common with a stallion. He was damned near hung like one, too.

The more Pete handled that big cock, the bigger it got! I think bearman decided he liked being washed after all! And I came to realize that Pete was enjoying himself, too. The bearman's thick rod was standing straight up, the veins twisting around the shaft like roots. Heavy cream still clung to the ridge behind the big cockhead. Pete worked the cream up and down the length of Grizzly's prime meat. Clear juice glistened on the head of Grizzly's piece as it oozed out of his piss slit. Pete's mouth slid down his rod. He lapped up the cock juice, the cheese, and the buttermilk!

Well, I nearly puked. The smell alone would have killed me, but Pete didn't pay it no mind. He just kept licking and slurping that cock. I started to get hard just watching. I could tell the bearman liked it 'cause his hips started to thrust up off the floor to meet Pete's hungry mouth. Pete released the fat head of Grizzly's dick and stood up.

“They started slobbering over each other, growling and nipping. I wasn't sure anymore who was the wild man, and who was my partner. When Pete pulled away from Grizzly, there were little trickles of blood running down his lips to his chin. I wasn't sure if it was Pete's blood, or the bearman's. I suspected both.”

“He rooted through the dark hair—like a javelin digging grubs—until he found a fat brown nipple. Pete started chewing on that man's tit, his hands clawed Grizzly's brown body. Pete was pinching his thighs together, squeezing that big greasy cock while his body wiggled and squirmed over bearman's. Grizzly started howling, his dick thrusting up between Pete's thighs. A long ribbon of yellow-white cream shot out of that swollen brown rod. It lay along Pete's back, and down the crack of his ass, in a thick line.

Pete moaned, and I thought he was blowing his load, but nope. He was only getting warmed up. He sat straight up, Grizzly's meat sliding up and down the crack of his ass, smearing his manjuice all over that smooth white ass. Pete reached behind, and started to grease his asshole with bear's gray. He leaned over the captive man, supporting himself with one arm while the other hand worked more hot cream into his chute.

Pete leaned over the bearman's face, too close for my comfort. I was gonna holler for him to watch out, but before I could, they were cheek to jowl. Pete rubbed his face into Grizzly's beard, sliding his tongue over his cheekbone down to his mouth.

I watched as Pete stripped out of his clothes. I wanted to ask him just what the hell he thought he was doing, but, to tell the truth, I was getting pretty damned excited.

Pete pulled his shirt over his head and tossed it aside. He ran one sticky hand over his lean belly and up over his chest. He left a slick smear of Grizzly's cream across his body. Pete dropped his drawers and underdrawers. He stood there as naked as the bearman—and just as hard. Grizzly tried to free himself, but he couldn't. He just lay there, with his cock all shiny-like, looking at Pete.

Pete knelt down and started rubbing the bearman's cock again. He was straddling the Grizzly's leg, humping it like a dog. I watched as Pete slid back and forth on the bearman's hairy thigh. Pete's body was pale from the waist down, almost as white as unbaked biscuits. His milky thighs squeezed the bearman's. His pink cock slithered through the dark fur like a blind albino snake.

I had brought my own pecker out, and was pulling on it. I stroked it while I watched Pete crawl all over the wild man; stretched out along Grizzly's long body, sliding over him like a worm. When Pete slid past the man's throbbing dick, it poked up between Pete's white thighs; the dark, hairy meat standing out against the pale flesh.

Pete buried his chest against the bearman's hairy chest.

He rooted through the dark hair—like a javelin digging grubs—until he found a fat brown nipple. Pete started chewing on that man's tit, his hands clawed Grizzly's brown body. They started slobbering over each other, growling and nipping. I wasn't sure anymore who was the wild man, and who was my partner. I saw a side to Pete that I'd never seen before. When Pete pulled away from Grizzly, there were little trickles of blood running down his lips to his chin. I wasn't sure if it was Pete's blood, or the bearman's. I suspected both.

The bearman was still hard and throbbing, like a rutting animal. I figured he was good for another load or two. Pete must have figured it, too, 'cause he sat up and guided Grizzly's pecker right between his asscheeks. I watched him squirm a little, shift his weight from one knee to the other, and then slide down over that bulging, fat piece of meat. Pete grunted. I reckon Grizzly's cock was hard to take. I knew how tight Pete's hole was, and the bearman was a damn sight—bigger than I was!

Pete settled down to riding that bear dick. Supporting his weight with his knees, he slid his sweet ass up and down the thick shaft. Pete stroked his own slim cock with one hand as he pulled at Grizzly's fat tit with the other.

Ol' Grizzly liked it, all right. His hips were hopping off the floor as he drove his rock into Pete's chute. The bearman pulled against the ropes, his arms and legs swelling with muscle. Each time his body tightened, the pine supports shook. I thought if he shot a second time, he'd pull the whole damn place down.

Pete was rocking back and forth on Grizzly's piece. He wasn't tugging on the bear's tits no more. He was running his hand over his own pec. I imagine he was wishing it was the bearman's hand on him. He pulled his own tit until it stretched long. His hand ran up and down his cock. I could see the juice glistening along its length, and I wanted to taste it. I knew Pete's taste—sweet and tangy—and the thought of sucking on his dick made me work my own meat harder.

My fingers slipped along my cockshaft; the juice oozed out and made me slick. Watching Pete take it up the butt with that fat, cheesy, wild man's dick made me hotter than I thought I could be. My balls wanted to blow. I could feel my seed pushing, wanting to surge through my meat and out my piss slit. I stroked myself faster, harder. I knew it was coming.

I let out a howl and shot a thick glob of white cream. It landed on my chest, right under my left nipple, followed by watery drops that sprinkled my belly. I was moaning awfully loud as my cock coughed up its last bits of white juice. I lay back against my bedroll. I felt like I'd been whipped. It felt good. Whatever commotion I'd made, Pete and his bear hadn't paid me no mind.

Pete's eyes were closed, and his head hung limp against his chest. He was still pulling on his own tit, and he stroked his meat hard and fast enough to take the skin off. Grizzly's hips were thrusting up into Pete. The movement shook Pete, his head flopped from side to side like he was drunk or knocked out. The bear was shoving his rod up Pete something fierce. He arched his back as high as his restraints would allow, his head bent backward, and let out a roar. Grizzly's eyes were shut, and his head started to thrash from side to side. I figured he was shooting his load up into Pete's ass.

Pete started to gasp. I reckon if this load was anything like the first, he could just about feel it flooding his chute. His own cock was hard and stiff, his hand moving along it in short fast motions. Pete's back got as stiff as a poker. His hips tightened on Grizzly's rod, and he shot white ropes of cream across the bear's hairy chest.

Pete slumped down over the bearman's chest and lay still. Both men were heaving as if they'd just run a mile or two. Pete's eyes were closed, and he snuggled against Grizzly's chest. There was a wet popping sound, and Grizzly's dick slipped out of Pete's ass. It was still hard! Lordy, it seemed like this man-beast just wouldn't stop!

Pete rolled off the bearman's chest and nestled along his side and up under his armpit. He fell asleep like a newborn babe. Grizzly turned his head and looked down at Pete's blond head under his arm. Grizzly seemed content, then his eyes wandered over to me. He stared at me with those yellow-white eyeballs. He bared his teeth, but he didn't make a sound. I think he was trying to tell me that Pete was his! He was staking his claim, letting me know not to come between him and his mate.

I shrugged and rolled up in my blankets. I could feel the sticky wetness of my manjuice smeared over my belly and chest. If Pete had been sleeping with me like normal, he'd have licked me clean. I felt a little jealous that my partner was sleeping with the bearman.

I woke up once during the night. The only light came from the hearth, and it was just a glimmer. I could make out the form of the bearman in the middle of the cabin. He was asleep and snoring like a winter storm. I reckon it was his snoring that woke me. Then I noticed a form sitting near the fire. It was Pete. I got up and crawled over to the hearth. Pete didn't even look at me, he just watched the coals glow.

"My grandpa came from Norway," he said quietly. He never even looked in my direction. He just started talking. "He used to tell us kids stories from way back when in those Viking times. I remember him talkin' about the Berserkers. They were Viking warriors, strong men, stronger than normal men were. They'd wear bearskins into battle, and they would change them. The spirit of the bear would enter them and make them wild. They'd go berserk."

I didn't say anything; there wasn't anything to say. I just sat there, next to the fire, wrapped in my blankets. Pete poked the fire with a stick. It didn't seem like he was expecting me to say anything. We sat for a while, listening to the bearman snore. Finally, Pete got up. He looked at me, dead in the eyes. I couldn't see all his features, 'cause it was too dark, but I'll never forget the shine of his eyes in the dim light.

"I reckon he's like that," Pete said, nodding over to Grizzly. "He's like a berserker: the spirit of the bear has him. He's forgotten what it is to be human, but I don't think he's forgotten what it means to be a man!"

Pete walked over to his bearman and lay down again beside him. He didn't say another word to me. I just sat curled up by the hearth. After a while, I guess I must've fallen asleep. When I woke up, both Pete and the bearman were gone. At first, I thought that maybe Grizzly had broken free and maybe hurt Pete, but then I took a look around. Them ropes weren't broke, they'd been cut. Pete's clothes were still lying on the floor, but his blankets were gone. His traps were there, his rig, saddlebags, all of it, except his knife, a tinderbox, and the leavings of our supper. There wasn't any blood, either. No sign of struggle. Nothing.

Pete's horse was still in the corral with mine. So, I saddled up and went out after their trail. It was two tracks, both of 'em barefooted. A big set of man's tracks, and a smaller set. The dogs weren't no help. They seemed spooked and wouldn't go near the trail, so I left them to guard the sheep.

I looked for them for a couple of days, but I didn't catch 'em. I did see 'em though, from a distance. I looked across a high-mountain valley. Over on the other side among the rock going up the far slope, I spotted a big, black, hairy thing. I first thought it was a bear, then I recognized the bearman. I didn't see Pete at first, and I got red hot 'cause I thought Grizzly may have killed him. Then I saw a yellow head among the rocks.

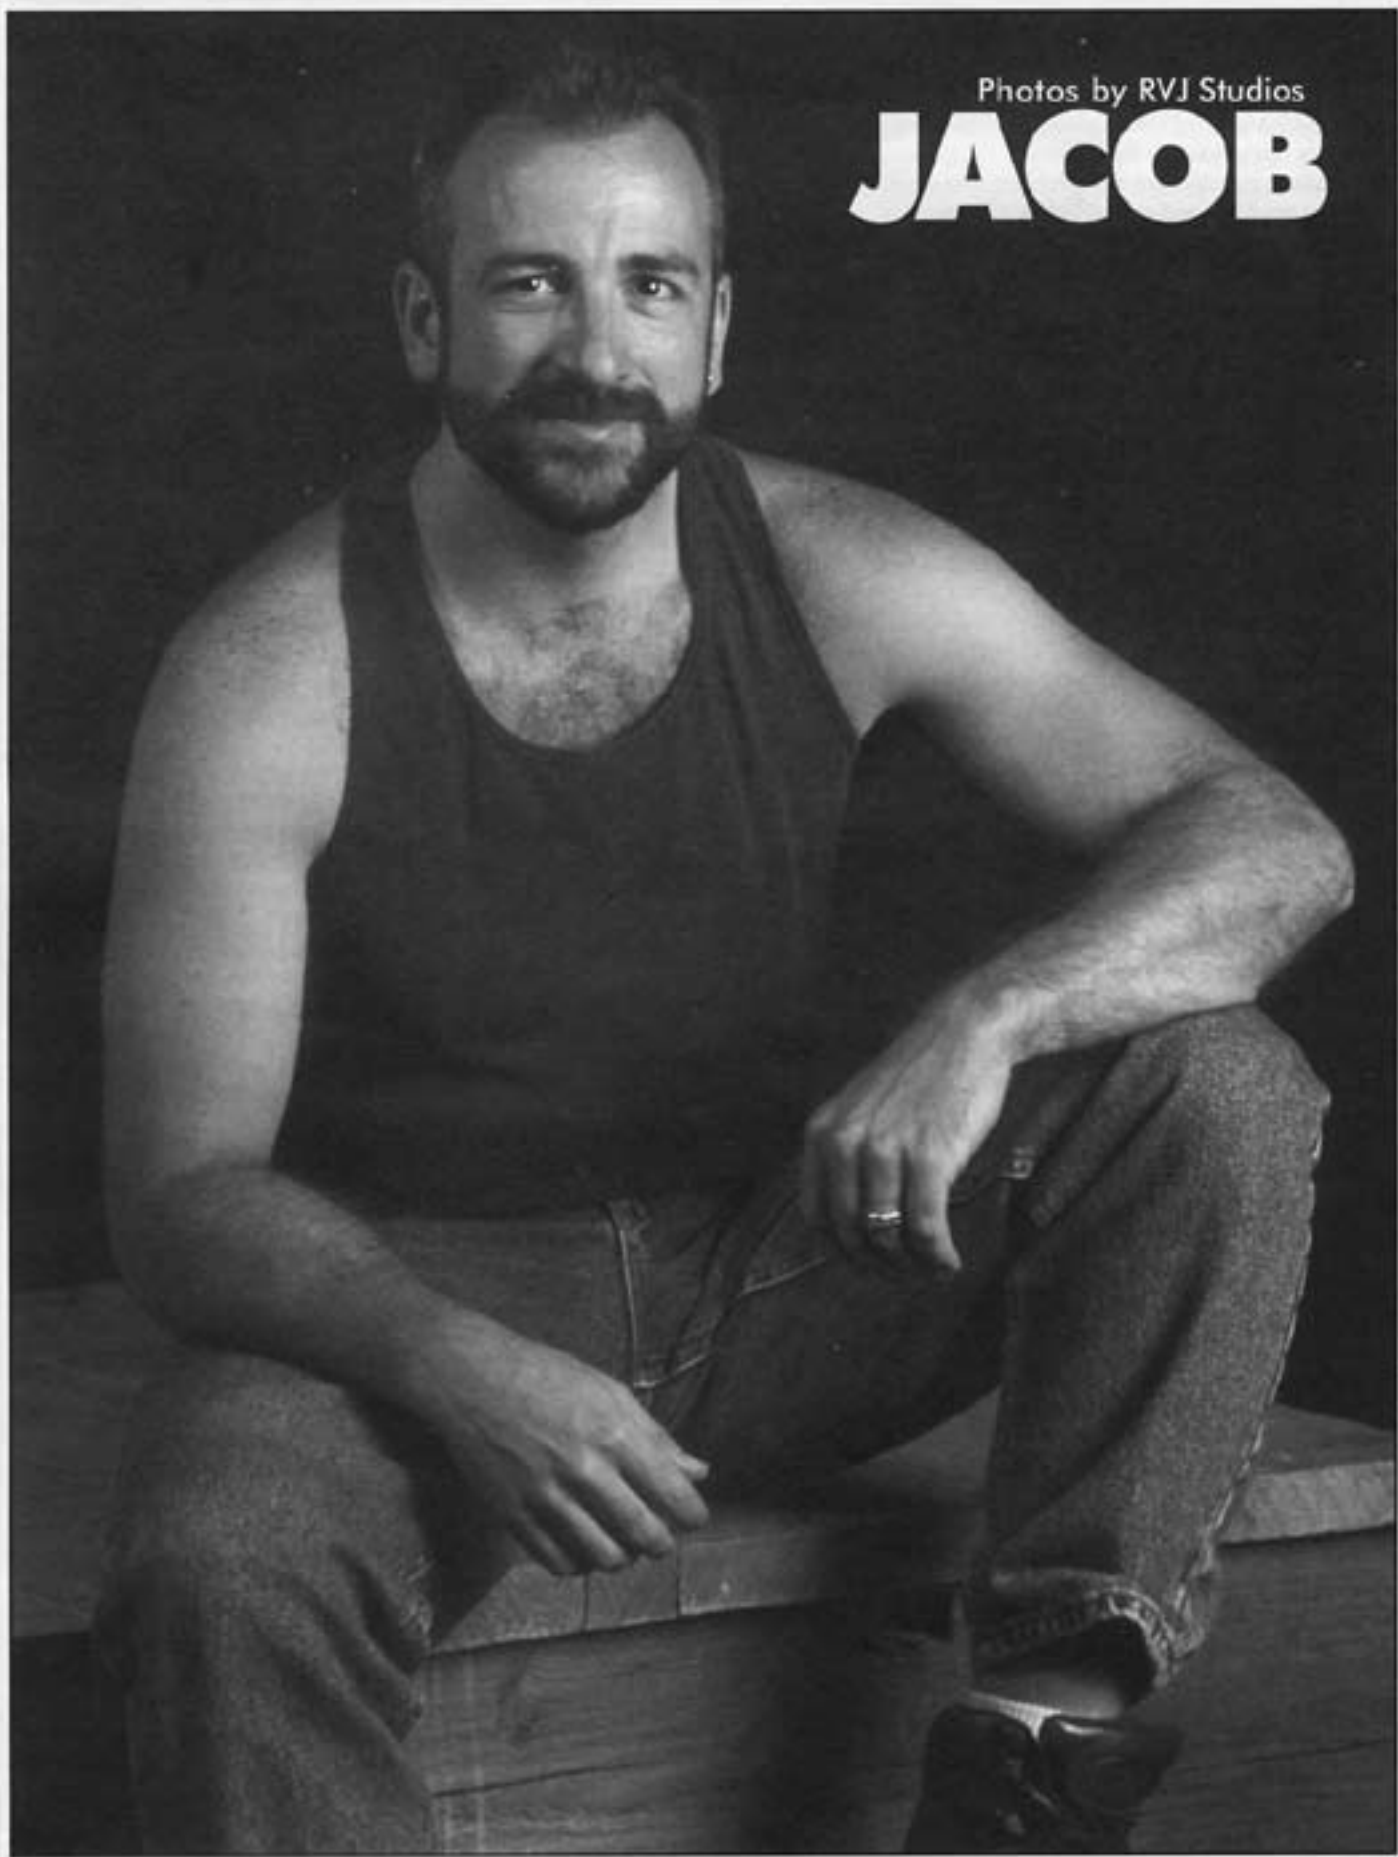

I hollered across the valley to Pete. Both men stopped and turned around to look. Grizzly roared in defiance. Pete just stood there a minute, then he waved. Pete and the bearman turned and disappeared among the rocks. I tried to follow, but it was too steep and rocky for a horse, and I wasn't gonna go it on foot.

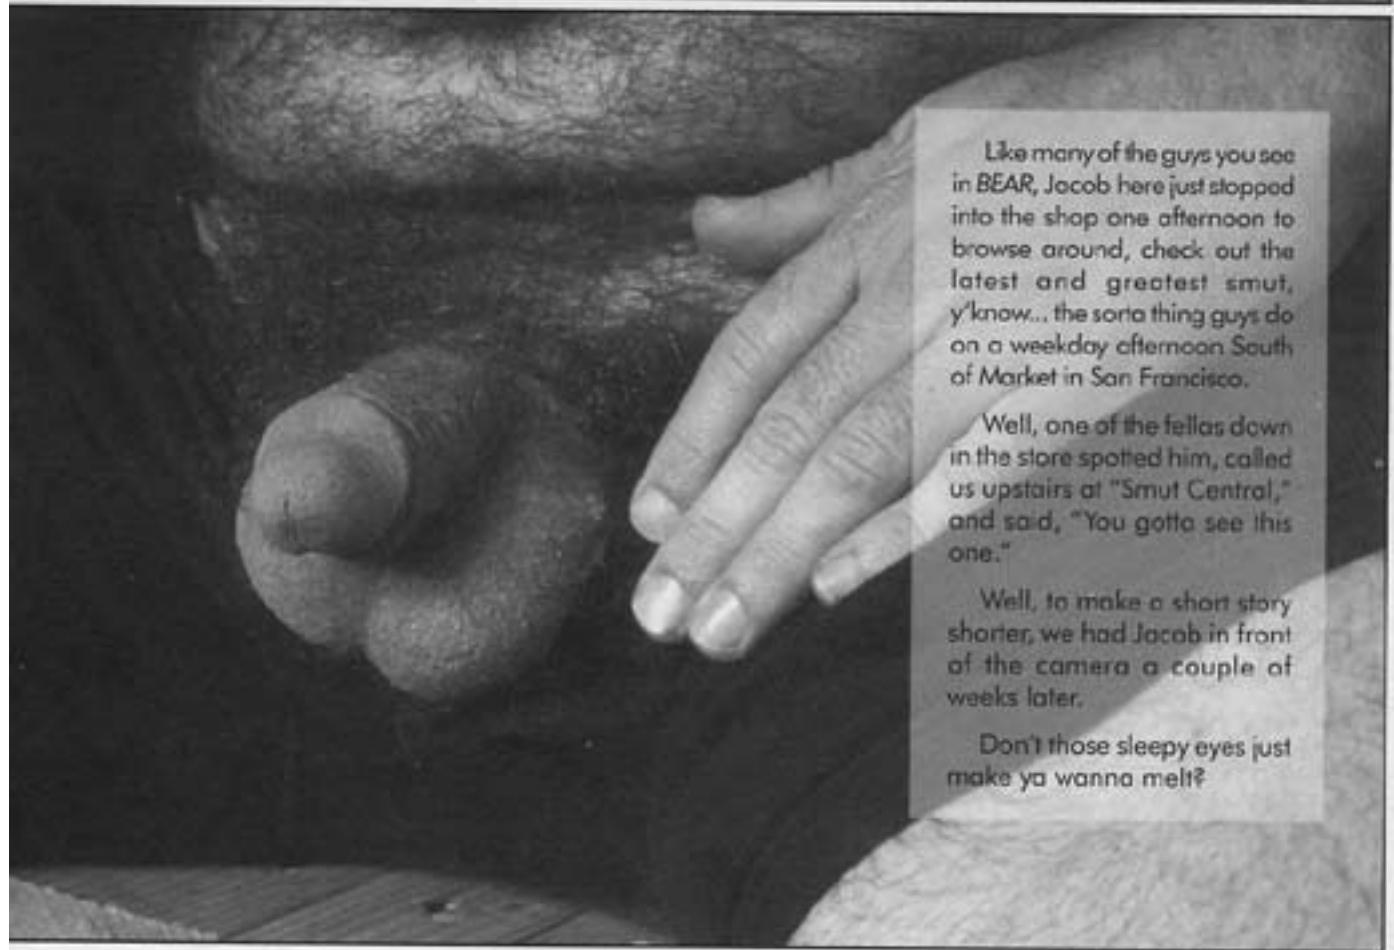

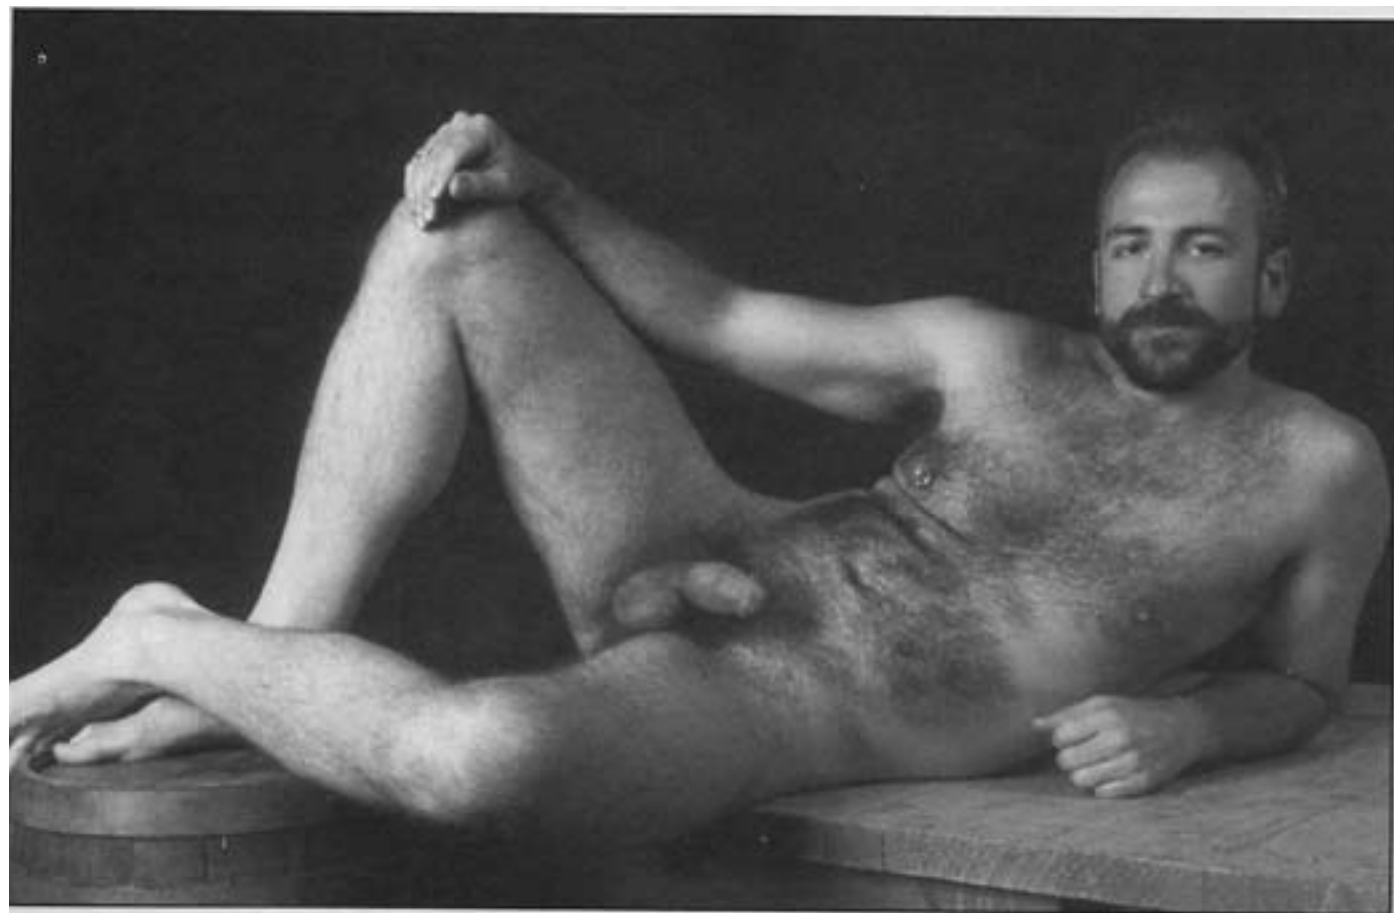

I left Pete in those California mountains. I stopped hunting bears, rather, the bears stopped raiding the ranchers. It was just like they'd sat down and talked it over. Maybe decided it was too dangerous or something. Maybe Pete got his bearman to tell 'em to quit it. I don't know.

I ain't ever seen Pete since. I've missed him all these years. Maybe Pete and Grizzly are still living up in those mountains, hunting and fucking. Maybe ol' Pete tamed his bearman; taught him how to be civilized. Why, hell, they just might be living back east in a big city.

JACOB

Like many of the guys you see in BEAR, Jacob here just stopped into the shop one afternoon to browse around, check out the latest and greatest smut, y'know... the sorta thing guys do on a weekday afternoon South of Market in San Francisco.

Well, one of the fellas down in the store spotted him, called us upstairs at "Smut Central," and said, "You gotta see this one."

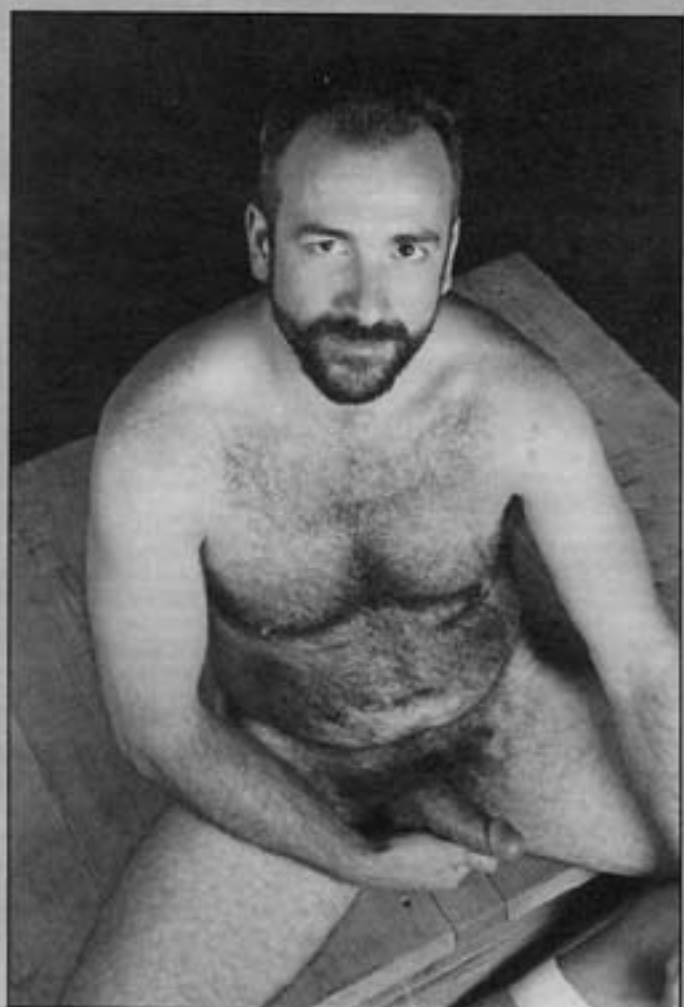

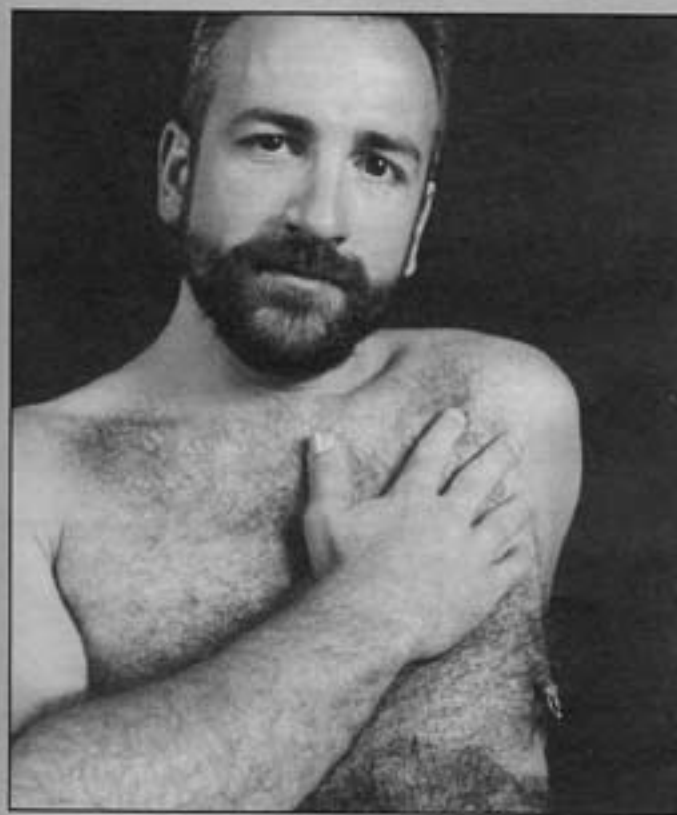

Well, to make a short story shorter, we had Jacob in front of the camera a couple of weeks later.

Don't those sleepy eyes just make ya wanna melt?

A black and white photograph of a man with a beard and mustache, looking directly at the camera. He is holding a large, carved wooden penis prop with both hands. The prop is highly detailed, showing wood grain and texture. The man's hands are positioned to hold the prop vertically. He is wearing a ring on his left ring finger. The background is a plain, light-colored wall.

CARL

Photos by M. Czajkowski

Carl here personifies one of the greatest things about working at BEAR. Just when we think we've seen the biggest, burliest, hottest, hairiest, sexiest man—and we start wonderin' if it can get better—this happens.

"Let's see... I'll take The biggest dick ever to appear in BEAR for $500, Alex!"

I've been furiously flippin' through BEAR back issues for the question to this $500 answer—searching for somethin' comparable. (You know how I just hate this job sometimes...)

Who cares, really—unless, of course, they someday replace that "poetry" category on Jeopardy with "dicks."

Hmm... food for thought. Bon appétit.

CHRIS

HANDJOBS ANTHOLOGY 1, 2 and 3

From Avenue Services. Each volume has over 75 "throbbing daddy-boy stories." You think we make this up?

We weren't sure if the stories were throbbing or the 'daddy' was, but after we read them, we sure were. Sexy, horny daddies find naive, innocent, young men and spoil 'em! You know, shower 'em with... or... gifts.

#1 10208 • $15.00
#2 10209 • $18.00
#3 10210 • $20.00

THE BEAR BOOK
Edited by Les Wright, this composite of essays, editorials and anecdotes takes a mostly academic look at the Bear phenomenon. Required reading for anyone who is still trapped, asking, "What is a 'bear'?"
12401 • $24.95

JULIUS' BOOK OF BEARS

Julius draws big, burly, adult men like no one else, and this collection of bears is no exception. Plenty of husband material here, if ya don't mind 'em fictional.
10207 • $20.00

THE SUCCESSION

You know Rolando, who draws those great comics for BEAR and Hombres Latinos? The Succession is an illustrated novel full of burly studs, thick foreskins, and lots of fucking and sucking.
Yum!
10206 • $15.00

HOT STUFF

HOT CHARACTER ACTOR

Randy from Evanston, IL sent us these two items. Don't know which magazine they're from, but it's page after page of "hot" stuff. Above is a neat-a-tennis shoe that has anatomically-correct tuddies on the soles, I guess so you can mark yer territory without pissing on everything, and to the left here, toasted as "Hot Character Actor" is minnn... Patrick Warburton, Elaine's hot-a-hairy blue-collar beau from that Seinfeld show that all the kids used to rave about. Damn, he's a dish, ain't he? (Hey Winko... Alec WHOT?)

Thanks, Randy, for keepin' us current!

Ron from Amherst, NY says, "The Sunday, August 2 Buffalo News ad says it all: BEARS WANTED. Where do I apply? Thought fans of Shits & Giggles would enjoy this. The Buffalo News is, however, extremely right-of-center conservative. You'd better drop the name and telephone number appearing in the ad!"

Here it is, and thanks, Ron!

HiBearNation '98

Show Me Bears

November 12-15, St. Louis, Missouri

Help celebrate the fifth anniversary of one of the biggest bear runs. This run just keeps growing and growing. It's not to be missed! This year's host hotel is the newly remodeled Radisson Downtown Riverfront Hotel. Register now!

Midwest Bearfest '98

Midwest BearPack

December 18-20, Indianapolis, Indiana

Need to snuggle during your hibernation? Then this is place to go. The Midwest BearPack has a jam-packed weekend planned for their bear run participants, which includes the Most Huggable Bear contest. Fly (or drive) in Friday to participate in their Bear Cubs Pie-Eating Contest, and make a big ol' mess of yourself. Then, find your nearest bear, and have him (or them—why limit yourself to one?) groom you clean. In addition to these highlights, they will also be taking a trip to the local IMAX theater for a movie. Be sure to bring a wrapped gift, because at Sunday's send off party, they'll be having themselves a little gift exchange. Registration is $35 through December 1, $50 thereafter. Online registration is available at their Web site. The host hotel is The Renaissance Tower [(317) 261-1652], located at 230 E. 9th Street. Mention the BearPack, and get a rate of $67 per night.

La Fiesta de los Osos

Bears of the Old Pueblo

January 15-18, Tucson, Arizona

Spend Martin Luther King, Jr. weekend in the company of some great Southwest bears. Highlights of this year's event will include the popular Fiesta-Bear Contest, tours of Southern Arizona and Northern Mexico, as well as bar nights and barbecues (it's usually around 70 degrees this time of year). Attendance is limited for this event, so you'll have to register ahead of time.

Mid-Atlantic Leather Weekend

Centaur Motorcycle Club

January 15-18, Washington, DC

I know how you bears just hate pageants—not! A favorite of Brush Creek Media, this annual event is always good for some sleazy, mid-winter fun. Literally thousands of husky leathermen and bears (you'll see a few chicks, too) flock to the nation's second largest leather event to see who will be sashed as the next Mr. Mid-Atlantic Leather. Oh! Did I mention the parties? Anyway, tickets are available through Box Office Tickets, Inc. at (800) 494-8497, or by calling Centaur Motorcycle Club directly at (202) 388-1010, extension 4. Cost is $69 for the weekend, or $25 for the contest. For additional information—and pictures of last year's event—point your browser to <www.depride.org/CentaurMC>.

SEE PAGE 34 FOR CLUB CONTACT INFORMATION. MOST CLUB WEB SITES HAVE FULL DETAILS OF EVENTS.

International Bear Rendezvous

Bears of San Francisco

February 12-15, San Francisco, California

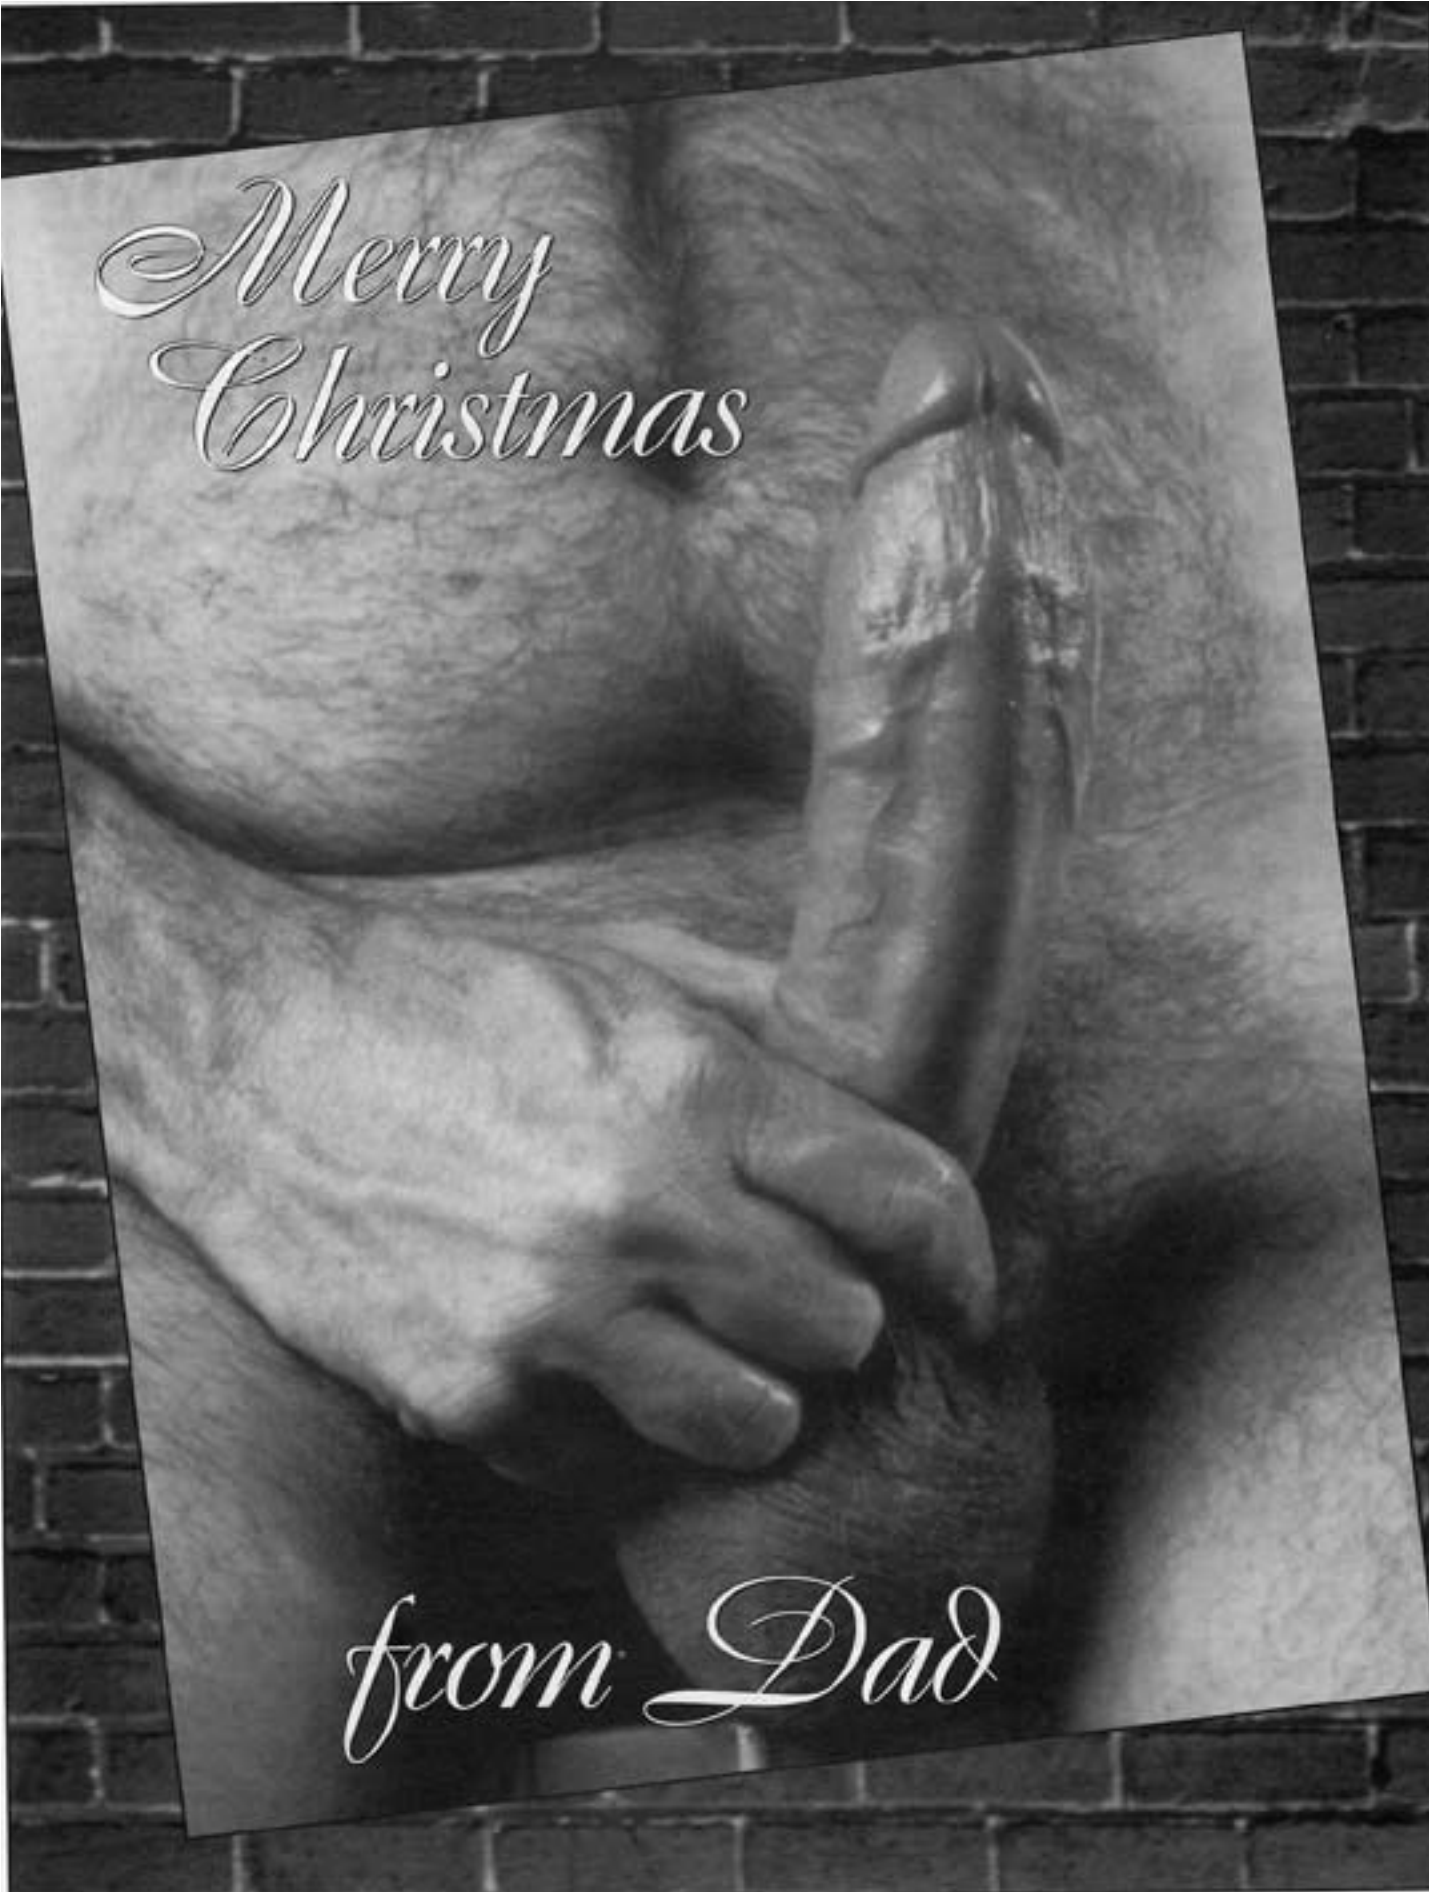

The guys at the shop are gettin' an early start on the tidying-up of the office—I even saw one of the past editors with a can of WD-40 for the revolving door on the conference room. What's all this for? Preparations for the massive bear invasion that takes place on San Francisco (and The Bear Store) for the annual International Bear Rendezvous. At press time, no information was available, but it would probably be a good idea to start working on your speeches now if you plan on competing....

Merry Christmas

from Dad

On Christmas morning, the year I was fourteen, my dad handed me a special present he had bought an' wrapped for me himself. His big hands kinda shoved the package into my lap. My little brother giggled, the twerp! I looked into my dad's face. His big chin sported a grin stretching from ear to ear. He rubbed his forefinger through his big black mustache. "Go on," he said. "Open it." The way my brother was actin', all ants in his pants, I expected I was about to unbox one of those spring-coil snakes that flies out in your face an' makes you just about shit your shorts.

"Shut up, Brian!" I said.

"All right, boys," our mother said, "it's Christmas."

My dad reached his big mitt in toward the wrapped present on my lap, not realizin' that the pressure o' his hand pushed through the package, an' through my plaid bathrobe, an' finally through my PJ's into my crotch, which was permanently hard, the way it had got like rebar in concrete, the year before, an' stayed that way so I didn't think it would ever go down, an' really never wanted it to.

"Open it," he said, not knowin' he was nudgin' harder on my crotch.

I tore open the package an' my eyes bugged out.

"Merry Christmas," Dad said.

"It's a razor," Brian cackled. "Why you need a razor?"

To cut your throat, I thought. Instead, I said, "Gee, thanks, Dad." How 'embarrassing. For months I'd laid awake nights till Brian went to sleep in the upper bunk in our bedroom an' I'd take my prick in one hand an' rub my other hand over my body, feelin' the new growth o' hair in my crotch, aroun' the base o' my cock, an' even on my balls, an' then rubbin' smooth up my hairless belly to my armpits, an' finally, an' best o' all to my face where the light blond down on my upper lip made me feel so much like a growin' man that it set off my cock in my other hand an' I'd shoot so much stuff in the tent o' my blanket that my ma asked me one day to please stop blowin' my nose in the sheets, an' I was afraid she'd caught me, but later I found out thoughts like that never crossed her mind.

My dad put his hand on my knee. "What do you think?" he said. He pointed at my own first razor.

I'd wanted to shave for almost a year, but I was afraid to ask for a razor, cuz some weissenheimer would ask, "For that peach fuzz? For that little cookie duster? Hat?" An' I was even more 'embarrassed at gettin' caught usin' a razor that I'd bought on the sly with money from my paper route, even though, I confess, I had played around with my dad's razor, but I never shaved my upper lip or face where they might see.

An' this is the good part.

The only place I could shave when I was thirteen was my crotch, which I kept shaved just a little bit at a time, cuz I couldn't show up in the showers after gym shaved all the way down to my nuts, even if I was on the swim team where the older guys all shaved their whole bodies regularly. The way my dad looked at me that Christmas morning, I figured he suspected that he had to make the first move, to kinda help me, you know, start doin' publicly the things a man's gotta do.

I always wondered if he knew, that year I was thirteen, turnin' fourteen, an' he was 33, how it was with me, always locked away in the upstairs bathroom at least twice a day, peelin' myself naked outa' my red nylon Speedos, watchin' my dick, that was big as any guy's on the swim team, stand straight up by itself. Look, Ma! No hands! While I squirmed Barbasol Shave Cream, the only kind my dad ever used, cuz it was regular Marine Corps issue, into my hand an' palmed it across my face, inhalin' its clean soapy smell, feelin' it cool on my tender cheeks an' chin an' upper lip, then squirtin' it direct on my nuts like whip cream on a banana split aroun' my hard, stand-up cock, so I could keep my balls shaved, rememberin', Oh God, how my dad's highjacked razor felt scrapin' smooth across, aroun', an' under my balls, till finally my dick shot straight across the tub an' toilet, an' I could see my face in the bathroom mirror, rockin' back an' forth with my mouth open, silent screamin', like a big O in the middle o' the shave cream, foam all over my face, silent screamin' from all the secret pleasure that knocked me out that first year I knew how to play with my dick.

My dad, who had to shave twice a day, all that summer an' fall kept bitchin' at the Gillette Blue Blade company, cuz he couldn't figger out why his blades were always dull. He musta' screwed open his disposable blade razor an' looked in an' found at least some trace o' my blond crotch hair mixed in with his own black chin stubble. In the same way I didn't want him to find me out, I wanted him to catch me, so we could be in on our secrets together, like when he gave me his first listen-son-we-need-a-man-to-man-talk.

My dad was what you might call a ritualistic type o' man, thinkin', as I said, he had some reason to shave twice a day, so he didn't have 5-o'clock shadow raspin' across his cheeks an' chin.

"Sometimes," I once heard my mother, kinda pleased with herself, say to Bonnie Hallam, who was in the same bridge club an' who was havin' trouble with her husband, "a man can rub a woman raw until he sands her down an' smoothes her out."

Watchin' my dad shave his face was one thing, but twice a year or so to please my ma, or so I'd overheard late at night, he'd head into the bathroom, when my ma was out shoppin' or at her bridge club, an' Brian an' me were at school, which I wasn't one time right before this Christmas I'm telling about, and he'd take a leisurely shower an' then climb out buck naked without towelin' off an' stand drippin' with his big, uncut cock an' balls hangin' down on the white porcelain sink, just so he could please himself, one of the few ways a married man can, while on his way to pleasin' his wife, an' then he'd start The Big Shave.

For his normal daily shaves, he always left the door ajar to keep the mirror from foggin' up. That's how that afternoon before Christmas I could spy on him, curious as I was to see what a grown man does when he's alone, cuz the bathroom was straight across from my bedroom door where I had been playin' hooky, an' with myself, jerkin off under the covers o' the bottom bunkbed, where he couldn't see me all wrapped in my sheets an' blankets, so I musta' looked, if he'd thrown me a glance, like nothing more 'n my unmade bed, which in my room wasn't unusual.

Ordinarily, when we were home, he wrapped a white towel aroun' his lean-muscled waist, but this time he didn't, cuz he was all by his lonesome an' takin' his sweet time, havin' a snifter o' cognac an' a fine cigar. He was only 20 years older 'n me, an' our features looked alike, even though he was dark and I was blond an' he was bigger built compared to my swimmer's body. He studied himself in the mirror first, runnin' his hands where the thick dark hair, matted across his chest, met between his pecs an' descended down the center line o' his torso, so it looked like a big hairy funnel cloud suckin' on down from his chest, past his navel, into his dark crotch.

Under it all hung his big, uncut, olive-skinned dick, which was a wonder o' wonders to me, an' had to be, a'course, cuz his long, low hangin' dick was the place from which I'd come, an' I'm still not sure how many inches it was, but he was hung at least ten, maybe more, cuz once, later on in life, when I was grown up, he got real loose-lipped on some Jack Daniel's an' told me that big "equipment," that was his word for it, ran in our family, from his granddaddy to his daddy an' down to me an' Brian an' Brian's young boys; but that's another story.

He sipped his cognac an' lit his cigar. A rich blue halo wreathed his good lookin' face. He began one o' the slow rituals daddies play when they think they're home alone. He changed the blade in his razor an' put it under the tap o' runnin' water till hot steam rose from the sink. He dropped a pair o' white wash cloths into the sink an' pulled them up, wrung them out, an' laid them across his hairy chest. He winced under the scalding heat, layin' his shoulders back. His hairy pees absorbed the wet warmth. Smoke from his cigar plumed from his nostrils.

He tilted his head back an' reached for his dick, rollin' his hard-on across the lip o' the sink, an' stroked it twice, then took hold o' his thick foreskin between the thumb an' index finger o' his left hand, stretchin' out its eyehole, while he smuck the index finger o' his right hand inside its eye an' scooped his fingertip around the head o' his uncut cock that was standin' straight up from its hairy bush. Then he leaned forward, flexin' his chest an' dumpin' the hot wash cloths into the sink, an' raised his finger to his nose, sniffed the aroma o' his headcheese, an' then wiped his finger clean, first in his mustache, an' then through the hair matted wet across his chest. Finally, he pulled on his foreskin, strippin' it back over the head o' his hard cock, which looked to me like I would look, except blond, when I was older.

He sipped his cognac an' put his cigar between his teeth. My ol' man was ready to shave his chest an' belly an' crotch. He souped up a wash cloth an' sudsed himself up one section at a time: left pec, right pec, flat belly, hairy groin, an' once, even his thick, hairy forearms he sometimes shaved. He gripped the Barbasol an' shook the can several times, real deliberate, an' then pushed the dispenser top. White shavin' cream foamed up in a mound like a Dairy Queen sundae in the palm o' his hand. He set the can down an' with his right fingers dippin' into the cream in his left palm, he lathered up both his pees, so you could see the long, black fur softening in the drifts o' foam. He rinsed his hand an' then wiped clear the nipple on his left pec, an' then on his right pec. They both stood out, fleshy an' rosy, surrounded by the shavin' cream.

He reached down an' touched his big rock-hard dick, strokin' it like a baby, an' then picked up his razor, puffin' the sweet-smellin' cigar still stuck between his teeth. With slow, deliberate strokes, he pulled the razor in long swaths across his chest, following the mounds o' his pees, rinsing the razor between each pull, his coal-black body hair swirling in the white sink, the smell o' the shavin' cream risin' on the hot steam, an' always his dick stretchin' up, its crownhead two inches above his stripped back fore-skin. He took one more hit o' his cigar, pulled it from his mouth, an' laid it in an ashtray.

He blew the smoke down directly on his freshly shaved chest, criss-crossed with lines o' foam, like a field on an early spring day shows where the sleigh tracks ran before in winter. He wiped his bare palm across his chest, rubbin' his hard, callused hand—I truly always loved when he touched me—across his baby smooth chest. His fingers toyed with his nipples. Then with both hands, one ahead o' the other, he wrapped his big, double-fisted grip almost the full length o' his ball-bat cock an' rocked back an' forth, strokin' his dick for his own pleasure the way, as I said, a man will do when he's home alone, or thinks he is, when he doesn't know his teen-aged son, lyin' awake, hidden under covers of his own bed, keeps so absolutely quiet his dad'll never know his boy has seen more 'n most sons dream.

Choked in his two-handed grip, his cockhead squeezed thick an' dark through his olive skin. A clear drop o' juice pearled through the piss slit, an' he bent over from the waist, lowerin' his mouth to the long dick both o' his hands pulled toward his waitin' mouth. He was doin' what I'd never even imagined. He jack-knifed his body, layin' face to his own dick.

His tongue unfurled slowly from his mouth an' he lapped

the juice from the head o' his own cock, runnin' his tongue aroun' an' under its crown, until he pulled his still loose foreskin up aroun' his hard-on an' took it in his teeth, chewin' on it, suckin' it up into his face, stretchin' it like it was the neck o' some sausage wrap. He gave sense to the advice he'd given me that on the swim team, my most important event was the stretchin' exercises.

He pulled his mouth off his own dick an' straightened up, grinnin' into the same mirror I always liked to watch myself cummin' in. He hit his cognac an' his cigar. The bulk o' his foreskin slipped slow back over the thick head o' his cock an' slid down tight aroun' his shaft. He wet his belly with the hot cloths, an' with the four fingers o' his right hand, pulled shavin' cream across his tight belly, lettin' his fingers follow the crevasses o' his abdominal muscles, latherin' up the two-inch strip o' hair that dropped down from between his shaved pecs straight to his big, hairy crotch.

He looked into the mirror an' liked what he saw an' smiled, all straight white teeth under the black mustache he never shaved. Then slowly, he took his razor into his right hand, the same razor I'd used to sneak-shave aroun' my crotch, an' deliberately shaved his torso clean, laying the razor under the steamin' stream o' water from the faucet, an' wipin' his belly down with a towel. Shaved clean o' his hair, he looked young enough an' was in good enough shape that he coulda' passed for my older brother, if I had one.

By this time, a'course, my own cock was tent-polin' my blankets, but I was afraid to jerk on it for fear o' him catchin' me moving outa' the eyes he had in the back o' his head, just like all dads say they have. I don't know what woulda' really happened if he had caught me. I do know I woulda' really wanted to stand opposite my dad and the two of us jerk-off together just lookin' at each other, both him an' me feeling real proud that I came outa' his cock.

His dick stood at hard attention. He stroked it with one hand an' rubbed his other hand across his fresh-shaved chest an' down his fresh-shaved belly. I knew how his hard palms must feel smoothin' his body, cuz nothin' face in the mirror positively grinned back.

Finally, he shook the can o' Barbasol again an' lathered up his crotch. He was gonna do what I was already doin'. I loved him cuz we were like father, like son, except he was dark as a Mediterranean an' I was blond as a Viking, from my mother's side, but my dick came from him. Carefully, he shaved from his belly down to the top o' his rock-hard dick; then with one hand he lifted his dick an' shaved aroun' it, till he was shaved slick clean. He wiped away the excess shave cream with a white hand towel, then wrapped the hot wet towel slowly aroun' his huge cock, bobblin' the weight o' it aroun', movin' his hips, flexin' his hairy butt, shakin' his dick back an' forth, up an' down an' aroun', like he was fuckin' somethin' hot an' wet that clung to him hotter an' wetter than that wet towel. His eyes rolled back an' closed, an' he was gone off to the movies showin' on the twin drive-in screens inside his eyelids.

I tried to sneak a stroke on my own cock, but he was like an animal in a glade. His eyes opened an' he looked aroun', more as if he lost somethin' than he heard somethin'. Anyway, his cock stayed rock solid, holdin' up the hot towel, an' he started in shavin' his big hairy balls, stretchin' 'em out, pullin' the razor real careful over 'em, while the nuts in the sac rolled aroun' tryin' to escape the sharp blade. His ball bag finally shaved, he unwrapped the white towel from aroun' his dick which the heat had makes skin more sensitive than the fresh drag of a sharp razor. His fingers pinched his nipples, an' his cock jutted one more throb toward cummin'. I watched him pleasin' himself, playin' with himself, me knowin' all along I was witnessin' somethin' real private, an' glad to know that I wasn't the only one in the family who went into the bathroom for a shavin' session o' body play.

My dad was an artist, the way he took himself up to the edge o' cummin', then dropped back, to play some more. Like when he bent over again an' wrapped his lips aroun' the head o' his huge rod, an' then started the long, slow slide o' his thick shaft down his throat, till his lips hit the base, deep-throatin' himself, down so deep his black mustache met the curly black hair o' his crotch. He was as perfect in form as any Olympic athlete. No wonder my ma an' he were crazy about each other. If he could do all this alone, go figger what he could do with someone else!

My dad was suckin' himself

I wanted to cum!

I wanted to cum!

I wanted to cum!

But I didn't dare touch myself, even though I could feel between the hard throbs o' my own dick the juice o' my cock startin' to drool outa' the slit o' my dick, an' run down the crown, inside my tight foreskin, till the juice lubed the head enough so that my foreskin just opened up an' slid down aroun' the head o' my dick an' relieved some o' the pressure.

My dad, slower 'n a sword swallower, pulled his mouth up off his cock. He palm-drove his rod a few times, reached for his cognac, an' relit his cigar. He looked real satisfied with the glass in his hand, the cigar in his mouth, and his dick reachin' out over the white sink. He smiled, an' his made glow a wild red.

He hit his cognac an' took a long pull on his cigar, inhalin', closin' his mouth, watchin' in the mirror as the blue smoke curled outa' his nostrils, through his mustache, into the humid air o' the bathroom, where he stood naked an' shaved from his strong chin to the base o' his cock an' balls. Somethin' in the way he moved made it plain as day what was next.

He looked down at his big erection an' stuck out his tongue an' wagged it back an' forth. He bent over one last time, swallowin' first the head o' his own big, uncut rod, then the shaft, inch by slow inch, until his black mustache brushed the baby-soft skin o' his fresh-shaved crotch. He pumped, suckin' himself, for more 'n five minutes, not knowin', I could tell, that there was anybody else in the world, cuz right then he didn't need anybody.

Slowly again he pulled his lips up his shaved cock, shiny wet where his mouth had sucked up hard on his meat. He faced himself in the mirror, stuck the cigar between his white teeth, the sweet, blue smoke circlin' his head, an' with his left hand smoothin' over the fresh shave o' his chest an' down his shaved belly, his right hand beat long steady strokes up an' down his hard cock, until finally his left hand stroked his crotch an' he closed its hard fist aroun' his shaved balls, pullin' down on them hard, stretchin' his nuts down an' out, big as peeled potatoes, an' so he came: the white hot seed jackin' up through the air, white clots o' cum speedin' through space, his juices spurtin' across the sink an' up against the glass mirror where they hit an' ran like snowballs meltin' in the steamin' hot bathroom, ran down the mirror, him seein' himself, his own face, through the slippery cum, cummin' still more, his body wracked in the throes o' cummin', his hand still milkin' his immense dick for all the pleasure yet remainin'.

Husband Hunting Made Easy and Other Miracles for the Modern Gay Man

by Patrick Price
St. Martin's Griffin, NY
$12.95

Here at BEAR, we pride ourselves on the fact that we have more personal ads than any other urbane magazine on the market. Some just want a romp in the woods, but most are searching for nothing but love. What we all have in common is the vision of the perfect relationship that everyone wants, but which few have achieved, let alone maintained. Whether it's a protective husband or a faithful cub you're longing to register with at Pottery Barn, Husband Hunting Made Easy and Other Miracles for the Modern Gay Man by Patrick Price holds the tools needed for all love hunters to bag the man of their dreams.

The ads you pour over in each issue of BEAR have their place, undoubtedly. But knowing what to do once that perfect response comes back is the key to making our printed pursuits pay off. From putting into perspective why we would want a relationship, to keeping it together once knee deep in one, Price spells out, step by step, the pitfalls and triumphs that can make or break our chances for success. Husband Hunting Made

Easy also details all the stereotypes we can come across during our quest: how to sift the good from the bad and the ugly, and what it takes to avoid becoming those we tend to shun the most.

Campy photos that accompany the various courting scenarios are of young boys you'd expect to find cramped into studio apartments with mountain bikes as make-shift clothes racks, but don't let those images mislead you. This hilarious commentary on the dating rituals of modern gay men is perfect for all ages and physiques willing to trade sexual freedom, unmade beds, and a blind spot to dust and dirty dishes for a domicile built for two.

So, if you're brave enough to step away from the GIFs and JPEGs of the Internet love connection, if your standard opening line is, "My boyfriend's not home tonight," and calling random numbers to coax strangers into phone sex is your way of getting to sleep when you're horny, then venture out amongst your fellow dating game contestants and study the pages of Husband Hunting Made Easy by Patrick Price. It's a jovial map that'll lead you safely to the domesticity you've been longing for.

some good things just keep gettin' better!

YOUR BEAR PERSONAL AD. HERE'S HOW TO FIND A FRIEND OR A FUCK BUDDY TODAY!

PLACING AN AD

Deadline for BEAR 53 personal ads is October 23. Deadline for BEAR 54 ads (which comes out the end of February) is December 21. These dates are subject to change as our publishing schedule varies slightly sometimes. Shit happens.

Text. Talk about yourself and be real clear as to what yer lookin' for. Avoid negative shit, like "no fats, feds or Republi-cans." We happen to dig big guys. Plus, it doesn't work, and we'll probably change it anyway.

Names. We can't run ads addressed to Occiput or Boxholder. Use your initials or a name your postal carrier knows.

Phone Numbers. We won't print 'em. That's it. Period.

Photo Ads. We'll run a shot of your face or dick, but only once. Your photo must have a signed model release (see "Show Yourself in BEAR," page 63) AND a photocopy of your picture ID. Don't bother sending us photos without this stuff. We can't legally print 'em. Each photo sent to BEAR must be signed with your name and phone number on the back. Photos are not returnable.

BEAR Postal Box Numbers. If you wish, we'll assign a BEAR Postal Box Number to your ad, collect your responses and forward them to your address. A word to the wise: your own address will get you more responses. For U.S. subscribers only. Free for BEAR Buddies, $5 for everyone else.

Voice Mail Box Codes. We assign a voice mail box to every domestic ad. Guys can leave phone messages in your box after reading your ad, and only you can retrieve them. Cost is $1.98 per minute for both parties.

Common Courtesy. If a guy gets in touch with you, write back. Even if it's just to say, "No thanks," he deserves to know you got his message.

Cost and Duration. Personal ads are free if you're a BEAR Buddy (an $85, two-year subscription). Otherwise, they're $25 a word, per issue. BEAR Buddy ads are discontinued when the subscription runs out. You'll have to submit a new ad when you renew your subscription. Wanna discontinue your ad? Write in, and we'll pull it. You'll have to pay to have a pulled ad put back in, though.

Ad Changes. It's cool, but will cost you five bucks, and must be in writing. Hint: you'll get more responses by revising your ad from time to time.

Edits. We reserve the right to edit ads for editorial consistency and clarity. We also reserve the right to refuse any ad.

Submitting your ad. Compose your ad on a separate piece of paper, and for God's sake, write or print clearly so we can read the thing. Remember, no telephone numbers or "Boxholder/Occupant" addresses will be printed in ads! Photocopy this form, or copy it by hand, but we need all of this info!

RESPONDING TO AN AD

Voice mail box number. To respond to a voice mail box number, see details under "Voice Mail Explained." If the ad says "No voice mail," it's a good bet the fella won't be checkin' his phone messages. Respond via written letter, or e-mail, if it's listed.

BEAR Box Number. To respond to an ad with a BEAR Box number, seal your letter in an envelope. On this envelope, put the fella's box number in pencil where the stamp normally goes. Send this with $1 in a larger envelope to us.

Common Courtesy, Part II. Respond only to the ads looking for your type, and don't be pullin' the old form letter routine. If you don't fit the specifications listed in the ad, don't come bitchin' to us if you don't get a response.

Prisons. Not a great place to send money, or pictures of your hairy ass. By all means, correspond and make friends. But know the potential for trouble to you as well as the guy on the inside.

VOICE MAIL EXPLAINED

Our BEAR voice mail system is designed to give you access to new friends, true love, or just a good fuck. It works. Record your own personal greeting, answer someone else's ad, or pick up your messages.

If you have an ad in BEAR: When dialing in for the first time, you must already have your pass code from us. We will mail you this code before the issue of BEAR in which your ad first appears hits the stands. Write us here at the shop if you don't receive your code for some reason.

To record an outgoing message to correspond to your ad in BEAR, or to collect your messages: Once at the voice mail main menu, immediately hit the "ster" or "*" key. The system will tell you that you are picking up your mail and ask you to enter your four-digit mailbox number. Don't let this confuse you. Most of our mailbox numbers are five digits in length and, yeah, the recording's all fucked up. Go ahead and check for your mail. The system will then give you four options. Choose option #3 to record an outgoing announcement to match your ad. This way, guys will be able to hear the voice that's attached to your hot ad. Messages will stay in the system for two weeks.

Remember, if you are advertising in BEAR, you automatically have a BEAR voice mail box. However, our 900 system allows you to set up additional boxes if you want to. This can be done by choosing command #3 from the main menu, which is different from option #3 which appears at the message retrieval area.

Still have questions about BEAR voice mail? Call 1-800-234-3877 and ask to speak to our answer guy, Mike Eades (his extension is 123). He's usually here until 4:00pm, Pacific time.

Credit card holders call 1-800-347-BEAR

To charge the call to your home phone, dial
1-900-HOT-BEAR

Cost for both lines is $.198 a minute.

Bear Decadence 1998

The New Orleans Bear and Bear Trapper Social Club threw a great party over this past Labor Day Weekend. About 200 people registered and received a "passport for pleasure and debauchery" set to a Caribbean cruise theme. Coinciding with New Orleans' annual Southern Decadence, Bear Decadence has become a great way to participate in a Bear event, while experiencing the madness of Southern Decadence. Hot and sultry, overflowing bars, and hot men and hot sex everywhere best describes the weekend. The club, in true New Orleans style, hosted parties and events all weekend. The climax was the Sunday night coronation of the King and Queen of Decadence. It actually is two shows in one, hosted by everyone's favorite, Joey LeBlanc, sporting a fabulous Carmen Miranda bear outfit (you had to be there). First there was the contest for King with ten hunky and adorable contestants. This alternated with a drag show/contest for Queen with eight different contestants. Yours truly was among the seven judges, and while it was all in fun, it still was a difficult choice. Joey did a great job of keeping it fun, and keeping it moving. Kevin Brown was crowned King of Decadence (a.k.a. keyhub). Mmm... we could just eat that boy up. (When are you going to pose for us, Kevin?) Congratulations to the NOBTSC for a great weekend, and a big thanks for all their hard work. This is an event that is going to get bigger and better every year. Don't miss it next year! —Richard Meyerson

VITTORIO

You gotta watch out for Vittorio here, 'cuz I think he's got a naughty streak a mile long... all those tattoos, plus he's got piercings in places I didn't know you could get pierced.

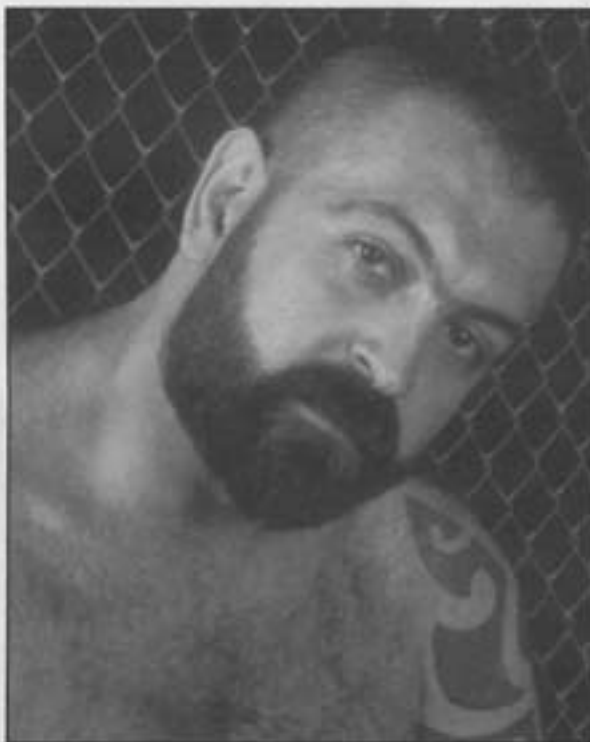

We toned him down a little for the BEAR cameras... didn't wanna scare some of you fellas off.

He's a big sweetheart, though, and his warm smile and friendly demeanor seem to sand down most of those rough edges. Not too much, though... just a little.

BRUSH CREEK MEDIA

Real Men. Real Sex. Real Hot.

BEAR: The classic magazine of Naked Hairy Homo Smut that gave the Bear movement its name. Masculinity without the trappings. BEAR serves it up raw and ready to go in every issue. Bimonthly.

BUNKHOUSE: Studs in spurs and Steynsons hittin' the hay hard. Bunkhouse peeks into the barns and down the backroads where hand-ridin' cowboys and rough-ridin' ranchers do it all. Quarterly.

INTERNATIONAL LEATHERMAN: The hottest leather/SM/fetish magazine in existence. International Leatherman brings you sizzling men and hot leathersex action, plus vital news and information on the leather scene. No nonsense here, buddy! Bimonthly.

MACH: Begun in 1980 as "Drummer's big brother," MACH has now joined the Brush Creek family, where it is still Big Brother, and a mean sucker, too. No profiles, no personals, no features; everything here is calculated to get you off. Quarterly.

FORESKIN QUARTERLY: If you love that overhang covering his cock, then FQ is for you. Inside, you'll find erotic fiction, photos, news and personal ads—all of it by and about natural, uncut men and their admirers. In fact, if you like cock, you'll love FQ.

POWERPLAY: Powerplay explores the sexual underground every three months, giving you access to kinky, over-the-edge mansex—and fantasies beyond your wildest imagination. Powerplay puts you in the middle of the erotic scenes no one else will show you. Quarterly.

HOMBRES LATINOS: Celebrating Latino men through erotic fiction, photos calientes and sexy art. Hombres Latinos also features profiles of successful gay Latinos in the arts and community leadership. Quarterly.

GBM: GBM is the serious, sexual magazine for gay African-American men and their fans. The lives (and bodies) of gay black men are exposed, explored and celebrated in photos, fiction and features every issue. Quarterly.
