After anxiously waiting for my sample issue of BEAR to arrive, I settled into reading as the busy day ended. Yes, I got off but it was the next day that it really hit me. The words in your article (BEAR6: A Few Words....) kept coming up again in my mind. It was the affirmation of a kindred soul written in a straightforward and honest manner.

Being an explorer, I've checked out the sexual icons on the gay culture you mentioned, in addition to religious celibacy, spirituality and women. All these things have a place inside who I am, but the labels don't seem to fit me. The only one I personally feel wearable is: "I'm a man."

I dig MEN, and won't deny there is a wild hair inside this man. Your BEAR magazine definitely has the kind of hot men I can sink my teeth into. What's more, I like the idea behind the whole movement: encouragement to us men that don't fit the gay mold.

D. M., Fairfax, CA

I was on my way to lunch Friday with my big, 6'1", red-headed, hairy, bearded, best buddy Dave, when he pulls out his first copy of BEAR. Yum! All the way to Woody's Bar-B-Q I'm making affirmative noises as I turn each page. "Yeah, this is hot. Great. Sign me up."

At Woody's the only other customer is a real bear of a man!!! Probably 30 years old, 6'3", lean, hard, round ass, with very well-defined muscles everywhere, big hairy arms and hair sticking up out of the back of his collar.

Dave says, "That's a real BEAR!!!"

Well, you bears had me feeling like hibernation was over and bear meat was on the menu so I go to strike up a conversation with this handsome stranger (I'm famous for that.). When he turns around, there's a big, hungry polar bear on his tee shirt! Great handshake! Sensitive light gray eyes, big dark beard. He turns out to be a National Forest Ranger in Los Padres. So we're all three going on a hike next weekend.

D.S., Santa Barbara, CA

BEAR6 was my first contact with your wonderful and important publication. As a lifelong fetishist, I bemoan the ascendancy of the "pouty Nazi" look in porn models. Much like any collector of truth and beauty, I have searched the fringes of friction fiction, looking for that elusive glimpse of the perfect piglet being of some use to himself and others. Your filthy minded cartoonists are a joy. Your photos of fur-faces make me weak.

I'm warm for your form. I was also glad to find my own peltless state (Washington) described as "hairless bear groomer." All I ask is a small niche in the ranks of fuzzy fans to lavish worship on the hairy legged beast who enjoys a little contrast to his own homegrown sweater and scarf set.

R.H., Seattle, WA

TRASH #95 won't be done until March, but just wanted you to know some of your boys seem to be interested, thanks to the ad you carried (TRASH is good shit! Glad some of you are getting a taste of trash).

Seems to me the guy on pages 7-11 (Woof in BEAR 6) was in one of the Easy Rider tat books. Am I dreaming? But then, all of us guys with beards look the same to some people. Thank Meese that I have tattoos that no one else has. Nobody looks like Mr. T.

I will be on the road for a month tattooing and molesting homeless men, hitchhikers and anyone else that gets in my way. Send info on TC's artwork. I'd be glad to have it waiting for me when I return.

Mr. T/JD, East Rutherford, NJ

I have just received my first issue of BEAR Magazine. I first heard about your magazine from Drummer's "Bears and Mountain Men" issue and I just had to order it. It is just what I have dreamed about for a long time. I love bearded and hairy men.

I recently looked thru an issue of Honcho with a special "brawny" section. What a disappointment. Big dicks don't make one brawny. I also don't enjoy the blond boys with big dicks that are everywhere in mags and videos. I am more interested in nipples and hairy chests and hairy bodies.

I live in Buffalo, NY which is a mid-sized city with its share of big, burly bear men but the ones in the bar here are few and far between. They either sound like little girls when they speak or the ones that are real men are chasing the blond little boys around the disco. I still haven't found a bear man who would want me for his cub.

I'm 31 years old. I have brown hair, brown eyes and a brown beard. I have some hair on my chest, arms, back and belly. I wish I had more but at least I'm not hairless. I have very hairy buns and legs. I'm told I'm not bad looking—some call me cute and baby-faced—but I'm only 5'6" tall and I weigh 190. I know I'm overweight but I'm working on it. I joined a gym and there are no bears there either. Right now I'm still at home so I can't write in to BEARS IN HEAT because if a bear came to visit I wouldn't have anywhere for him to stay, let alone do anything. Besides, who really wants to come to Buffalo anyway.

What I would like to know is if maybe you could print places for bears to meet. Like what cities and what bars are the best places to go. Are there any bear runs? Is there such a thing? I would love to curl up to a big, hairy bear around a camp fire. I've never been camping but I would love to go.

Is it possible to print a calendar of events? I long to be with a real bear man. Any help you could give me or where to go and what to do would be appreciated. I am looking forward to my next issue of BEAR. I wish it were monthly instead of quarterly.

How about more pictures of RICK FROM IOWA. Do you think he would pose for a lay-out?

I hope someday soon to come to San Francisco. Maybe I could meet the staff from BEAR. I bet you guys are all hot-looking.

D.G., Buffalo, NY
I really like your letter. It shows enthusiasm, curiosity, innocence and lust. Not a bad combination to have in a subscriber! Let's see. Where can I begin. First and foremost, my suspicions are that you are not alone in Buffalo. We have over ten subscribers in town, and who knows how many more that would like to be. My guess is that all these guys are bear lovers, and probably several of them wouldn't mind putting a cub through the paces. Try an ad. And if anonymity is an issue, ask me to assign you a COA Box. You'll probably get fewer responses than using your own address and phone, but what the fuck. Give it a whirl.

You think you're overweight, huh? We've got some big men reading this rag as well as readers who like their men with some meat on them. Don't try to look like the big-dicked blonds you were ranting and raving about in your letter. But do do everything you need to make yourself comfortable with your outer and inner self.

Every issue of BEAR (so far, at least) has a "Sightings" section. It's here where our readers send in pieces on their communities or regions where bear-types frolic. We're publishing A Hungry Man's Guide to Bear Hunting in the near future too. Keep your eyes peeled. And in the meantime, get your hands on as many back issues of the rag as you can.

Lots of you guys want to go to bear parties. And I know damn well what you want to do once you get to one. In San Francisco a group of fellas got together and organized "Bear Hug" parties—basically free for alls for bear lovers and their fans. They set a time and place, spread the word through flyers and word-of-mouth, and then they show up and do it! It appears that there's a need for "chapters" of these events. OK, let me see what I can do. I want everyone from Upstate New York who's interested in attending a "Bear Hug" party to send me their name, address and phone number and a self-ad-

My fantasy man is much like the cartoon on the title page: mature, barrel-chested, balding, hairy as hell and definitely aggressive—maybe a little bit devilish when thinking about sex. How about giving us a real man like that, hairy as possible.

Anon., New York, NY

I am amused with the pettiness of some of your subscribers. Being new to BEAR, I was delighted with Issue 5 and look forward to many more issues. In your quest to satisfy everyone, maybe you should classify your bears and not be dedicated to just one type. In the real and fantasy world there are many bears to choose from.

For example, in the real world you have the Grizzly, Brown, Black, Polar, Panda and Koala. In the fantasy world you have all sorts of Teddy Bears as well as fictional bears like Winnie the Pooh, Smokey the Bear, Papa Bear, and Care Bears.

You might consider classifying the ultimate bear a Grizzly as being one with full facial hair, profuse body hair—front, back and in between. A Brown or Black bear would be either color with various degrees of body and facial hair. A Polar bear would be your blonds with various degrees of body and facial hair. The Panda classification would be for bears who have gray touches and the Koala classification would go to the bears who have facial hair but small amounts of body hair.

The fantasy classifications could go to those who have no body hair but have a deep admiration of Real bears. For example, Teddy Bears could be those who love to snuggle and pet. Smokey Bears could be those who are into cigar fetishes. Winnie the Pooh Bears could be those with fetishes or other fantasies. Papa Bears would be for all daddies. Care Bears would be those who love all types of hairy bears.

After establishing these classifications, one would classify themselves when they submit features, pictures, ads, etc. to your magazine. For example, I would classify myself as a Panda/Papa/Care who has a particular interest in Grizzly/Teddy. Interpretation: I am an older individual—daddy-type—with graying hair who loves all types of hairy bears, particularly those with full facial and profuse body hair who love to snuggle and pet.

I am sure there are others who might have more experience in this area of classification and would be willing to improve on my idea.

Let's all get together and enjoy the super publication you have, with the hope that future issues will grow and everyone can be happy.

J.S., Olean, NY

I get it. A sort of Dewey Decimal System for our kind of men.

Recently you sent me BEAR 6 which I liked a lot. Please send me two back issues, your choice. I would take out a subscription if it were not for the excessive mark-up on Canadian subscription. Is it a go-away price? You actively don't want Canadians to buy your magazine? I should be very interested to know your reasons for this discrimination.

C.G.T., Toronto, Canada

I'm embarrassed. When we developed the rate structure for BEAR, we lifted it from another publication. Fuck, I didn't know what to charge and I knew nothing about mailing costs, etc. I just figured that it was much more expensive to mail to Canada. Well, it is more expensive. We can't mail Third Class. We have to handle each out-of-country subscription separately. And Canadian First Class IS more expensive than US First Class—but not much. So we've developed a new rate structure which is fairer to the Canadian subscriber. Thanks for speaking up and pointing out this discrepancy.

Please send me a sample of BEAR. Am interested in buck naked outdoor fun with big hairy guys with big feet and toes.

Rasslin' Ba'ars

by C.C. Ryder
Illustration by Tuttle

Yo! If ya'all are like me, you'll flick on the ol' tube and get yer cheap yah-yahs watching big bruisers trash each other in the ring. Yah-hoo for wrestling!

I'm not talking 'bout Olympic Greco-Roman athletics, where fair play, rules and true blue All-American, clean cut competition exist, where the referees don't stumble around blind while some monsters meaty fingers gouge his opponent's eyes. I'm talking 'bout glitz, girth and gore. Professional wrestling-mayhem for the masses.

Yup, it's cheap, rank, sluttish, low class pro-lie entertainment. But by god, there ain't a whole lotta places where you can catch eyefuls of big-butted, burly, bear-furred studs, sweating, growling and pounding the living shit outta some ugly mutha fucker to pay the rent.

A Concise History of Rasslin' In America

Before I start barking 'bout hot boxes and crotches I'd wanna nuzzle and lick, here's a little fistful of learning for ya.

Grappling in the Big Time for cold hard cash is a game as old as the hills. Before the turn of the century, in gamey gymnasiums throughout this nation, fast shark-suited promoters would unharness their corral of brutes for cash-waving, foot-stomping crowds.

The matches were played regionally with each promoter staking claim in a territory. Sure, there were border skirmishes. After all, a top fighter draws top dollar, and the bottom line for promoters is money. But the set-up was pretty amiable, the local throng got to watch the local hero suckerpunch the bad guy, and the local cash got stashed in the promoter's hometown pockets.

Pro-wrestling stayed regional for decades. Even in the 50's when matches began to be broadcasted on TV, pro-wrestling kept its territorial sensibility. The twenty or so regional promoters made a comfortable living until...

...1982 when Vince McMahon unleashed the fury of the World Wrestling Federation(WWF) and thoroughly changed the rules.

McMahon was born to the sport. His granddaddy ran a pro-wrestling gig in the Northeast. McMahon's dad ran the shop through the 50's, 60's and 70's. In 1982 he bought out his poppa and began playing dirty pool.

McMahon waltzed across pro-wrestling's boundaries and aggressively and ruthlessly snatched stars from other promoters and bought time on local TV stations. McMahon exhibited his glitzy brand of grappling in every major TV market. His WWF shows air on 124 stations nationwide. Plus two shows per week on cable. Plus special events on MTV. Plus getting NBC to do the "Main Event."

St Louis and San Francisco stations pay $100,000 a year to broadcast Superstars of Wrestling, which is the videotaped version of McMahon's traveling shows: Wrestlemania, Royal Rumbles, and Battle of the Titans.

For years wrestling superstars were scattered across the country, and any bozo with bleached blonde hair was some sort of world champ. But by creating a cast of characters and marketing them globally, McMahon is slowly putting the two-bit high-school auditorium promoters out of business. McMahon grossed $80 million in ticket sales last year. Combined with his stash from marketing, his WWF made $145 million in 1988.

Is It For Real?

Whole continents will be laid waste by nations arguing whether pro-wrestling is "real" or "fake". During one slam-show a free-lance photographer was close enough to the action to overhear two wrestlers choreograph their moves. One guy said, "Is this hold comfortable?". Another guy said, "OK I'm gonna throw you now."

For McMahon and the other promoters the fakery issue is offensive. Said McMahon, "It really doesn't matter to me whether someone believes it's real or fake. It matters that they [the audience] enjoy what we do...(that they) won't go home feeling cheat-

The Bushwhackers are by now used to a warm reception from most of the strangers they meet in the street. An unusually friendly response when asking directions from the good citizens seems to have surprised them. Maybe it was the smiles they had for lunch.

Photo of The Bushwhackers from WWF Magazine and (they) won't sit there feeling bored.

"We are a wonderful hybrid of sports and entertainment," brags Basil DeVito Jr., WWF marketing director.

Professor Gerald Morton, author of Wrestling To Rasslin': Ancient Sport to American Spectacle says, "It's a carefully choreographed 'contest' in which a good guy clobbers a bad guy and nobody gets hurt." Morton adds, "It can't be faked because it never was intended to be a sport...Wrestlers are characters in a continuing story...like any drama it has a predetermined outcome. You wouldn't say Hamlet was fixed."

The outcome of each match is decided by the promoters, based on grappler's popularity (box office receipts). Gary Worrel a physical education professor says, "Wrestling fans enjoy the controlled anarchy...the obvious rule breaking and lack of fair competition is the good vs. bad. The audience allows itself to be made a fool of."

It's cowboys and Indians, cops and robbers, Luke Skywalker and Darth Vader. So what?

BEARS 10

Ya gotta have mucho athletic prowess to survive in the ring. Tossin' a fat-bellied lumbering grunt takes muscle. It takes strength and precision to execute kneedrops, figure-fours and leaps off the ropes without cracking your skull.

Big Bucks for Big Bucks

For the journeyman wrestler it can be a rough business—keeping yer wits while having them bashed outta you five or six nights a week. Pro wrestlers have no union, no pension, no workers comp. The promoters are like old dock foremen who dictate who works and who sits home. "One bad fall could wreck

BG Enterprises (almost their whole library...). Neat stuff! Few bears involved, but the videography is good and the action is a helluva lot more erotic than most contemporary porn. BG Ent., Box 5291, Huntington Beach, CA 92615. Send him a couple bucks for information.

your career," says Hulk Hogan, "and that means six figures a year for most of us. And at least a half a million for me as the Champ."

Mucho dinero fer sure! And he ain't the only one rollin' in dough. The Junkyard Dog makes about $250 grand, barking all the way to the bank. "I buy an ounce of gold every week," says The Dog, "my CPA told me to".

And if André the Giant body slams Big John Studd to the canvas he walks off with $15,000. Not bad for twenty minutes work.

Bring On The Men

The sport may be fake but there sure are some real lookers in the ring. Big ba'ar rasslers are what creams me, and I'm not talking about panty-waist pretty boys like Ravishing Rick Rude, Jake the Snake Roberts or Bobby The Body Ventura. These pretty boys don't have nothing no beach, gym or Chippendale clone couldn't offer.

Ba'ar rasslers—husky, hairy, bearded and baaad—keep me glued to the tube. Fuck the sequined clowns like Honky Tonk Man and those pancake-make-up meanies like the Powers of Pain. Put their faces back on that tired band Kiss. Mascara and lipstick on a three hundred pound bloated brawler is truly a crime against nature.

Natural man, Arn Anderson struts like I like. Neat beard, fierce eyes—his big body does justice to his bright red shorts.

BEAR8 11

'Cause I like 'em big and dumb, Hacksaw Jim Duggan is my main man. With a 2x4 slung across his shoulders, this pot-bellied, wild-haired S.O.B. gives a thumbs up, holler-ing, "Hooooo!!!"

The Bushwackers, Luke and Butch, are a tag team that outta win some kinda weirdo-bear award. Always licking on each other, these crusty mates would be fun to watch fuck. They have identical buzz cut heads and cropped whiskers. The only way to tell 'em apart is by the lack of Luke's front teeth.

Then there's Big John Studd. His name kinda says it all. A big beefy blond animal. A golden Viking bear. The last time I saw Big John in the ring, he and André the Giant were in a maximum stare-off. Fat André looked a bit shook up. I hope Big John whips André's butt in their upcoming match.

There's More To Life Than The WWF

Now I ain't gonna describe all the fuckers out there. Ya'all are gonna have to fiddle through your local TV Guide and find out when this crap is on in your neck of the woods. And even though I prattled on about the WWF, they aren't the only one's broadcast-ing this stuff. On Ted Turner's network [ESPN] is the AWF: pro-wrestling without the show-biz schmaltz of the WWF. The men are a lot more violent in the AWF. They don't mind spilling a drop o' blood or two.

Dudes, its a whole lot more fun taking in the action, live at ring side. The stink o' sweat, the smell of spilled beer, the screaming crowds, the whole ball of wax is tons better when you're really there. Check the sports page, check the entertainment section of your newspaper. There's bound to be some rasslin' action at your local arena. Even if it's one of them cheapie shows, it'll still be a good party.

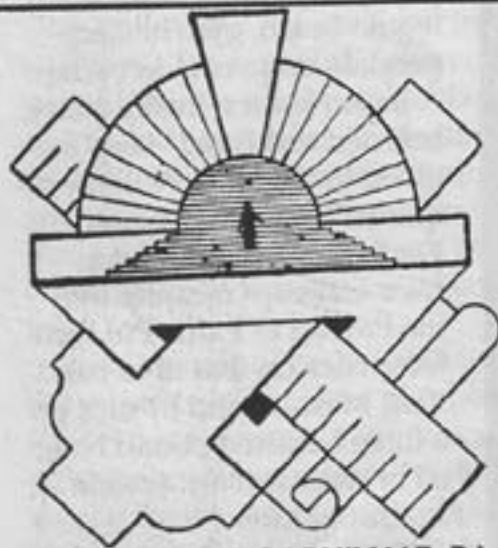

So You Wanna Be A Rasser

For those bad-ass few who want to get on the inside of the rasslin' game, I can't tell ya a whole lot. I know there's the Monster Factory in Paulsboro, N.J. Pretty Boy Larry Sharpe operates this school for would-be professional wrestlers. And if that's too far for ya, try the bulletin boards at your local smelly jock strap gymnasium. Lots of the pros were muscle bound pec freaks. I'm sure info's for the asking in the locker room.

And the next time yer shuffling around for some shit to read, check out these mags: Pro Wrestling Illustrated, WWF Magazine, Superstar Wrestlers, Wrestling Eye, and Wrestling World.

I'll see ya ring side. Buy ya a brew.

I like bikers. Not the yuppie in a suit scooting to work on a little ricegrinder, but the kind of Bikers that scare and revolt straightlaced citizens; leather-clad, Harley-riding "Outlaw" Bikers. Of course, the most "outlaw" thing most of them have done is to trade or sell a little grass to their bros, something half the Yuppies on ricegrinders are guilty of as well. But, the Bikers have a different lifestyle that sends the "upstanding citizens" into a tailspin.

Of course, there's more than just admiration for individuality at work here. I'm unabashedly gay, and bikers just flat-out turn me on. The sight of a long-haired, long-bearded MAN in grease-stained 501's and worn leathers straddling a big Hawg is enough to give me a hardon in a flash. Some of my gay friends buy gay skin rags to jerk off over; I buy the outlaw biker rags and ignore the women.

Part of the reason I'm into this breed of biker, I suppose, is that I love grungy, greasy, sweaty men. Some time ago, I practically stole a hot nearly-new Low Rider with a flawless two-tone dark red paint job from some silly fool who was going to get a ricegrinder that wouldn't "vibrate" so much. I've spent the last couple years slowly customizing the bike, wearing my leathers, and letting one particular pair of jeans go unwashed....

A couple months ago, I found the bar. A run down little tavern on the "bad" side of town, there was nothing in front of it but scoots -- most of them Hawgs with a few Brit machines mixed in. I was taking a roundabout putt to the parts shop to pick up my new custom saddlebags. As the silver-bearded bro behind the counter rang up my purchase, I asked him if he knew of the place.

"Sure do. It's a nice little biker bar -- windows out front so you can keep an eye on your scooter, though you hardly need to -- any of the bros there would yell if anyone started fuckin' with anyone's ride. Gets good and rowdy, but the brawls are rare; just a real nice place to party. But if you're looking for scooter babes, forget it. It's got a rap as the place to go when a brother just wants to be with bros. Here y'go... those bags'll look real fine on your bike. Y'all come back -- you're one of our best customers!"

I grinned. "Soon as I decide what I want to do next for the scooter that I can afford, I'll be back! Catch ya later!"

I decided to stop in the bar on the way home to check the place out. I damn near popped a hardon just walking into the place. The air was thick with smells, the two most potent being man-sweat and well-worn leather. Motor oil, beer, and cigar smoke added spice to the mix. Trying to look casual, I surveyed the room. The bar was small, but set up to be snug, not cramped. Being this was a Saturday afternoon, the place was pretty busy. I can tell you that all the bikers there were the genuine article, and I would have gladly taken most of them home to play with.

I stepped up to the bar, and I got a better look at the bartender. My first impression was "Fuckin' huge!" That didn't change. The man had to be at least 6'8 if he was an inch, and broad. A beard came down to about where his nipples should be, and a long braid down his back, both of brown hair shot with silver. A half-smoked fat cigar between his teeth. My second thought was "No wonder this place has no problem with brawls...!"

His threatening demeanor was softened when he pulled the stogie out of his mouth, grinned like a bear who's just found a honey-hive with all the bees gone, and rumbled "Hey, bro! Never seen you here before. What can I get ya?" Disarming as the greet was, I didn't miss the upper body muscles rippling under his black t-shirt as he leaned forward so he could hear me over the jukebox.

"A draft, and a light if you've got one" I said, as I pulled one of my own long cigars from my inner pocket. The damn things are a bitch to carry without breaking, but well worth the hassle.

The bartender grinned even wider (if possible). "Sure thing! Nice to see another bro who smokes like a man." He passed me my beer, and pulled out a lighter as I paid for the brew. "Y'know, there's a whole bunch of bros who like stogies who are in here every so often; when they get goin' and I get mine fired up, I gotta turn off the damn smoke alarm." The grin stayed after he put the cigar back in his mouth and said "Joy yer brew!" around it.

I gradually started dropping in more often; the company was good, and it was certainly nice to be with men who shared my interests in Harleys. Most of the time, I just sat at a table in the back, sipping my beer, smoking my cigars, and enjoying the hardon that watching the other bikers gave me -- discreetly hidden under the tabletop. I eventually noticed the group that the bartender Teddy (as in Bear, as if anyone looking at the man couldn't guess, and hence the groaner name of the place: The Teddy Bar) had mentioned. By keeping my ears open, I eventually found out they all had rented a house together to save on living expenses, and therefore be able to spend more on their scoots and other pleasures. Occasionally, they'd come to the bar and damn near empty the joint, with the announcement they were having a party.

Finally, on a mellow evening, one of them came over to me and sat down at my table. He was one of my favorites to watch, what with his dark coppery auburn hair and beard, both long but obviously well tended. I began to worry that perhaps my watching had become too obvious.

"Hey, man. The brothers and I were just wondering why you never show up at any of our parties?"

So that was it. "Just didn't feel like the invitation included me; you obviously knew everyone else in the place, and I don't force myself on people."

He chuckled. "That's for sure. Well, all the other people you've been talkin' to say you're good people, so you come to the next party, OK?"

While the prospect of likely having to hang out with a bunch of biker women as well as the men didn't thrill me, I didn't want to be rude. "Sure will, and thanks for the invitation."

"Great! See ya then bro!" As he stood up to shake my hand, I could swear that first one of his booted feet slid over to nudge one of mine; and I KNEW that when he stood up, he had a hardon -- a nice one -- behind his greasy grey-black jeans that wasn't there when he sat down. I couldn't help the surprised look on my face; he caught it, grinned at me a little, and winked.

It was a week or two before that group announced another party, and in that time I still hadn't been able to figure out what was going on. To say that I was curious would be a strong contender for "Understatement Of The Year." After my little encounter with the copper-bearded biker (whose name turned out to be — predictably — Rusty), I worked on being a little more outgoing, and wound up making the acquaintance of most of the group in the house, but I still had no idea what was going on.

So, one night when I was in the bar celebrating the fact that everyone where I worked had been given a month off — with pay — while the place was remodeled and refurbished, in came Rusty and a couple of his buddies to announce another one of their parties.

"Damn it, Rusty, you and your crew are gonna ruin me!" Teddy growled, though he was smiling when he said it.

"Give it a rest, Teddy. I haven't known you to miss one of these parties yet, after you close up here!"

"Got me there, Rusty. See you about 2:30, then!"

The whole lot of us hopped on our bikes and followed Rusty and his buddies back to their place. It turned out to be a slightly run-down, but very large house on the edge of town, with no nearby neighbors — a perfect biker party pad, with no neighbors to piss off. Everyone else hustled inside, but Rusty's sidestand had gotten jammed. I pried it loose while he held the bike up, and we walked up to the house.

It was one of those older-style buildings with an actual enclosed porch in front of the main door, and once we were on the porch, Rusty grabbed me behind the neck and laid a wet tongue kiss on me that left me gasping for breath with a full hard-on in my pants.

"You just passed the final exam!" he said, grinning at me. I picked the little sucker up, as he was about six inches shorter than me, and shoved my tongue back down his throat. When I finished pumping my spit down his throat, HE was the one gasping for breath.

"Rusty, will you PLEASE tell me what the flyin' fuck is goin' on here??" I could see all sorts of bikers doing all manner of sleazy things to each other through a crack in the curtains. "Half those bros in there have ol' ladies, and most of 'em talk about nailin' pussy at the bar. What gives?!!?!!!"

"Ya gotta understand; lots of ol' ladies won't give their men head, or get into some of the raunchy or rough stuff their men like. There's a lot of truth to the saying that bikers will fuck anything with a hole. There are some all-gay bros, some that actively swing both ways, and some that just come here for what they can't get at home. But, because lots of these guys don't want their women to find out, or whatever, no one talks about it outside the parties. The main rules are no fights. If someone comes on to you for something you aren't into, turn 'em down politely, and if someone is too persistent, tell one of the guys who lives here and we'll take care of it."

"So the whole thing is kind of a private club that uses Teddy's as its recruiting office?"

He grinned. "The whole thing was Teddy's idea, but it didn't really take off until we got this house to throw the parties in. Teddy said he figured you were into men, so I administered the test."

"So what are we waiting for? Let's go!"

Rusty led me into the house and showed me the layout. The upstairs was the bedrooms of all the men living there; you could use them for private playing if the occupant of the room was part of the group or gave his permission. The kitchen was set up as the bar, the back porch as the place for those into recreational chemicals to do their indulging, and most of the rest of the ground floor was fuck space. The basement was set up for some of the kinkier (and messier) scenes.

Filling all this were the men. Big as the house was, there were enough that the place felt crowded, and especially so when a particularly hot scene would draw a lot of spectators into a particular area. If you want to get an idea what they looked like, flip through a copy of In The Wind, Runnin' Free or any of the other "outlaw" biker photo rags. Big beards. Wild moustaches. Long hair. Leather. Greasy, dirty Levis. Sweat.

I realized that I was unconsciously rubbing my hardon through my jeans, so I popped my fly and pulled out my cock and balls. No sooner had I started to slip my long skin back and forth over my cockhead than Rusty's tongue was in between my skin and cockhead. Since on my job, no one gives a flyin' fuck what you smell like-- and the previously mentioned fact that I love sweat -- I was in the habit of bathing maybe twice a week. Given the timing, Rusty had plenty of dickcheese to lick out for me-- and he did it damn well.

I remembered what he'd said about some of the bros being into rough sex, so I shoved my cock down his throat without warning. He just kind of closed his eyes and hummed blissfully, so I gave him a couple good deep strokes before pulling out.

"I don't wanna get off before I see what all's going on here. Maybe a little later?"

Rusty grinned. "Later, or the next party...I want your dick, and I'm willing to wait for it. Enjoy yourself, and I'll catch ya later."

I got myself a can of beer and started prowling the place, checkin' out the action. The beer I'd had at the bar had opened the floodgates, and I needed to piss. I started lookin' around for the can; what I found was a room full of piss-soaked hunks. I had just finished relieving myself into a particularly well-built stud with a hot honey blonde beard when I felt a familiar warmth spreading across the back of my pants and moving down my legs. I looked back over my shoulder, as my urinal started sucking my cock, to see a compact man, nicely built with a fairly short, midnight black beard against pale skin pissing all over the back of my pants. I recognized him as one of the regulars at Teddy's, name of Mick.

"I've waited a LONG time to do that, bro!"

I pulled out of Honey-Beard's mouth. "Shit, if I'd known, you wouldn't have had to wait!" I dropped to my knees and started sucking his cock. He quickly grabbed my head in his hands and held it still.

"Whoa, boy. The tank's not anywhere near empty yet!" He pulled back a bit, and started pissing in my mouth. After gulping down a couple of mouthfuls of sweet, clear beer piss, I pulled back myself, and guided his piss stream all over me. Honey-Beard stood up behind me and started pouring it on as well, so I took Mick's cock back in my mouth and drank him dry.

Since by this point, only one of the three of us was still dry, Honey-Beard (whose name turned out to be Reb) and I dragged Mick down into the pools of fresh piss all over the floor, and wrestled him around enough to thoroughly drench him.

We finally crawled out of the piss parlor and collapsed together on a funky old mattress that had clearly seen its share of piss-drenched bikers. We lay there a while, licking piss and sweat out of each other's beards and getting to know each other. In the meantime, the attention we were paying each other got our dicks to rising, and before I knew it, Reb was sitting on my dick and Mick was settling his furry ass down on my face.

Now, I love fuckin' butt, especially one as tight and hairy as Reb's. But eating ass -- that's my specialty. I pulled those black-furred buns apart and planted my tongue right on Mick's hole; I was in no mood to be subtle. My long tongue slipped right up his hole, until my beard was grinding his butt while I ate. Mick and Reb were deep in a long, hot kiss of their own while they jerked each other off and rode my body.

Mick squirmed his butt all over my face, trying to get my tongue in deeper; Reb amazed me with what he could do in what is, after all, a rather difficult position for the dude gettin' plowed, 'specially since he has to do all the work. I could feel the rhythm of their hands as they beat off, and hear the slurping sounds they made as they kissed; counterpointing those were the vicious, liquid sounds of Reb shoving his tight, slick asshole down my cock to my balls, and of course, MY ardent slurping around in Mick's shithole.

Finally, Mick could take no more and set us all off by blasting off all over Reb's chest; I could feel his cum dripping off of Reb onto my belly as his hole spasmed shut, trapping my tongue inside. Reb started fucking himself on my cock even faster, and brought the two of us off as close to simultaneously as makes no difference, him adding to the mess in my chest fur, me pumping his butt full of my hot mancream.

Mick slid off to one side as Reb covered me and started rubbing our cum-slicked, furry ches together as we gently kissed.

"I gotta find out what's put Mick in a daze. Hope you don't mind a juicy ass!"

"Fuck, no! Get that crack down here on this face!"

My cum had already started leaking out of his abused butt, so I immediately got to taste my jizz hot out of his ass; it rapidly blended with the spit and Mick's buttslime that was already in my beard and 'stache. By the time I finished cleaning out his fuckpit, to my surprise, we both had roaring hardons again.

"Jeez, Reb... I'm usually a one-shot per night man!"

He grinned at me. "Go take that and get somebody off as good as you did me. I'm gonna wake Mick up and go get something to drink."

I grinned back. "Damn right!!"

As I moved away, grunts and thumps behind me told me that Reb had decided that the best way to wake Mick up was to give his butt a good hard fucking.

First stop was the kitchen for a cold can of beer; after all that buttlucking, my mouth was dry. The kitchen was kind of a "neutral" zone where people could go to grab a brew and recover before diving back in. After a couple brews, I felt like seeing what was goin' on, and started prowling around again.

What I saw had my dick rock-hard again, tenting out my greasy jeans. A glassy-eyed Rusty had his legs locked around Teddy's waist, who was holding Rusty under the armpits, and was bouncing him up and down on a cock that belonged on a farm animal as he walked around the room! Teddy's ever-present stogie, clenched between his teeth, was bouncing in time with Rusty, the ashes collecting in Rusty's fur, and Teddy was blowin' the smoke in Rusty's face.

The ass end of Rusty's jeans had been ripped wide open to let Teddy get at his fuckhole, and Rusty's cock was stickin' out through his fly. All of a sudden, Rusty's head dropped back, and he shot all over the red fur on his chest, makin' a real mess with all the cigar ashes already there. Teddy pulled him off his cock and laid him down on a nearby chair to recover.

"I still ain't got off yet!" Teddy bellowed around his stogie. "I need me another hole!"

Before I really realized what I was doing, I was simultaneously working my tongue under Teddy's foreskin while somehow managing to get one leg of my jeans off over my boot. I rapidly found myself on my back, legs hooked around Teddy's waist as a jar of Vaseline materialized out of the crowd and Teddy greased me up.

Teddy took a last draw off his cigar butt, blew the smoke in my face and smiled. "Don't wanna bust that ass permanently... just want to bust into it for a good fuck! You ready, stud?"

I must have grunted something that sounded affirmative, because Teddy started a slow but purposeful slide up my hole. Yeah, it hurt, but he went slow enough that it never got unbearable. Finally, I could feel his thick crotchfur and lowhangin' balls against my ass. His arms were supporting his weight on either side of my head, and his open, wet armpits had filled the space between us with thick male musk.

"Like my smell, eh bro? I ain't bathed in more 'n six months. If you don't get yer gun till I get mine, I might just let you give me a tongue bath later." And with that, he started to very slowly pump his dick back and forth in my asshole. Thinkin' back on it, it reminds me of a heavy freight train starting up. Takes it awhile to get up to speed, but once it's rollin' it's damn near unstoppable.

With that massive fuckrod in me, my own eyes went glassy long before Teddy hit his stride. Someone put a full inhaler of amyl in my hand, and a couple long hits on that sent my brain on vacation and my butt took over. I stared into Teddy's eyes and watched as he broke out in a heavy sweat, little crystal drops of musk forming on his beard, moustache and forehead, and big wet stains spreading out from his pits and down the front of his shirt. I was pourin' sweat too, but I didn't notice till a lot later. Nothin' mattered but watchin' that hot stud, and buckin' my ass back to meet his strokes. The look of bliss on his face when I started meeting him halfway was fuckin' wild.

I was so focused on Teddy's eyes I didn't notice his tongue workin' in his mouth until he hawked a big mouthful of spit all over my face. I gasped, and my mouth fell open to receive the next three gobs of thick, almost cum-like spit, which carried the pungent flavor of the cigar he had been smokin'. After blasting the last one full force into my mouth, Teddy followed it with his tongue all the way to the back of my throat, or so it seemed.

As I started sucking on Teddy's tongue, his fuck tempo picked up a little, and he started growling deep in his throat. As his growling reached a peak, he pulled his tongue out of my mouth and said, "You better be ready to get your butt pumped full, cause I'm 'bout to shoot!" His thrusts started to get harder instead of faster, and his breathing grew rough.

"Oh, yeah, fuck, fuck, ohh, yeah, oh shit, yeah, Yeah, YEAAAHHHHHH!!!!"

Whereas before I felt like I was having a telephone pole shoved up my ass, now it felt like a firehose -- and his thrusts didn't stop. In fact, he was ramming his hardest as he came, and he let go with another mouthful of spit in my face for good measure. That was the last straw for me, and I sent my load blasting up along his furry chest to splatter all over the beard on the underside of his chin.

He slowly lowered himself down onto my body, but kept his dick in my hole. After giving me a long, gentle, tender tongue kiss, he whispered, "Gotta piss, bro!" in my ear.

"Is it rank?"

"Should be. I ain't pissed since early this mornin'. You want it up your butt or all over ya?"

"How 'bout both, if ya got enough for both jobs?"

He grinned. "You're a sick fucker; I like that. Both it is!" Immediately, another sensation of spreading warmth started in my ass; and it continued until he whipped his pissing cock out of my asshole (which I quickly clamped shut) and started soaking me down from head to toe. Just as he finished pissing some into each of my boots, I grabbed his cock and drank the last few squirts of his incredibly dark piss; it was such a dark gold it was almost brown. I slowly rolled up onto my hands and knees, and as I started to kiss Teddy once again, I felt a pressure and a warmth at my fuckhole.

"Too fuckin' far to the can, bro. Your butt's a lot more convenient!" said the grey-bearded biker pissing in my ass.

"Fuck, bro, that's what it's for!" I told him, and got back to Teddy. Instead of returning to his lips, I decided to take the "tongue tour" of his sweaty bod that I'd earned. As soon as he realized my purpose, he obliged me by stripping off his sweat-drenched shirt to give me access to his fur-carpeted torso.

All that fur was soaking wet and stuck to his skin with pungent, tasty bear-sweat. I chewed my way down through his beard, then groomed his chest with my teeth (discovering that his nipples were big and sensitive in the process). After that, I dove into those armpits that had been tantalizing me for so long. My eyes were watering, but my nose and my tongue were in ecstasy. I wallowed my beard in his 'pits to pick up his scent, slurped from his elbow halfway down the side of his chest, and just generally pigged out on his sweaty, stinkin' bod, finally collapsing across his chest.

"Ain't you forgot somethin', bro?"

"What's that, Teddy?"

"Well, y'all did a fuckin' killer job on half of me, but there's another half that hasn't felt that fantastic tongue of yours yet!"

"Oh...." The third (or was it fourth? I lost count!) dude to piss up my ass while I was slurping Teddy finished up and pulled out. "Um, yeah. Ted, I'd never want it said I passed up a funky crotch, but my tongue feels like it's been sandblasted after suckin' yer fur. How about next time around? I gotta admit I'm lookin' forward to havin' you sit that hairy butt of yours down on my face!"

"Me too! But then, this IS your first party, and I don't wanna burn ya out before you work up your stamina. Besides, right now I think you need to go dump all that piss you've collected!"

"Truer words were never spoken, bro. Catch ya in a bit."

Feeling the desire for just a tad of privacy, I slipped out into the backyard, which was lightly populated with small groups fuckin' and suckin' and gettin' sleazy out in the bushes. Feelin' a lot like a wild animal, I took my dump under a big tree, screened off by bushes, then went back to the house.

I found Teddy where I had left him, and stretched out on a nearby couch.

"Too bad these damn parties of yours are only once or twice a month, bro. This is the best time I've had in a long time!"

"Well... it's like this all the time for me and the other bros who live here. Somethin' new all the time, and good hot reliable fuckin' whenever ya need it."

"Sounds great, ya lucky fucker. Ohhh, yeahhh...."

At that point, a bro with a neatly short-trimmed reddish-brown beard walked up and let fly all over me with a stream of hot piss. When he finished, he slipped his cock into my mouth and down my throat.

Teddy laughed. "I can see you're gonna be busy, bro. I'll talk at ya later. Enjoy!"

I lost count of how many cocks I sucked while layin' back on that couch... I did wake up still damp, smellin' totally rank with piss, and with my beard stiff with dried cum. I just wasn't sure why I had awakened; the room was still dark and quiet. Then my mind focused, and I realized I was gettin' an expert blowjob.

"Mmmm... fuckin' great way to wake up, bro... oh yeah, get it all... take that fat fucker all the way, yeah, like that, bro." I had my hands on the back of his neck shoving his face into my crotch. Before long, I let him up, and his hot tongue swirling under my foreskin got him a mouthful of my jism.

It was no surprise when I realized my cocksucker was Rusty. I watched with a grin as he spit my load out into his hand, and rubbed it into his beard, wiping the last of it off in his chestfur.

"Sleazy bastard!"

"Damn right, and you love it!! I told you I wanted your dick, and I got it!"

"The way you suck, bro, you can have it any time you want!"

I pulled him down on top of me and started suckin' his tongue, and nibbling him from the tips of his ears to the base of his neck. He started doin' the same thing to me, and what with the spit flyin' every which way.... I found I was rock-hard again.

"You bastards are turnin' me into a fuckin' satyr!"

Rusty leered at me. "I sure hope so!! Now, to take care of THAT..."

Rusty bent down and slobbered all over my still-wet dick, then quickly turned and slammed his ass down on my tool, all the way to my furry balls, in one fast move.

"Ohhh, damn that's a good fit!" Rusty moaned.

I rolled him off me onto the floor, then hooked his legs over my shoulders and shoved back inside.

"You're gettin' thisload on MY terms, bro! Brace yerself!"

I started fuckin' the man's hot, tight hole hard and fast, and had just hit a nice rhythm when the little bastard hocked a huge gob of spit right in my face (he musta seen Teddy and me goin' at it earlier). Not to be outdone, I blasted him back, and the two of us kept on swappin' spit until I finally pulled out of his ass, and blasted his spit-soaked beard with my jizz. When that hot stuff splattered up across his cheek, he let go and made a sticky mess of all that red fur on his chest.

I got back onto the couch and pulled Rusty over. He snuggled up close with his back to my chest, and the two of us went back to sleep that way, spoon-fashion.

The next morning, I was awakened by the smell of breakfast being made in the kitchen. I noticed rather guiltily that all the other guests had departed. I was just about to slip out the door and leave for home when I was grabbed from behind.

"Where the fuck do you think YOU'RE going??" Rusty asked me. "As a first-timer here, breakfast is part of the package. Now get your butt in there and clean up for breakfast!"

"Cleaning up" was limited to washing my hands and face, as the small bathroom Rusty shoved me into didn't have a shower. I was rather glad of that, actually; I was enjoying the funky smell my body and my clothes were giving off, and I wasn't in much of a hurry to get rid of it.

The breakfast turned out to be "Logger Style" -- simple, but lots of it. I was introduced to the other men who lived there, around mouthfuls of eggs, bacon and pancakes. After breakfast, Teddy pulled out one of his huge cigars with a couple others following suit, and two pulling out pipes. The thought occurred to ask Teddy where the hell he bought his stogies; none of the tobacco shops I knew of carried anything as huge as what he smoked.

As if he'd known what I was thinking of, Teddy handed me one of his stogies and his lighter when he finished firing his up. "That fucker's a full 64 ring gauge [one inch in diameter to the uninitiated], and nine full fuckin' inches long. I gotta get 'em mail order, 'cause the damn wimpy smoke shops 'round here won't carry 'em. They say that no one wants to smoke somethin' that big these days. Fuck 'em!"

I lit up cautiously, expecting something big to taste awful; I got a pleasant surprise. It was very tasty, but mild. The length of the thing made it start out cool and light, and I decided that Teddy had excellent taste.

Teddy chuckled around his cigar. "I could tell you were 'spectin that to taste like horse shit, but you obviously changed your mind!"

"Damn right! This is delicious!"

"Well, that settles it. Bro, we've talked about you and decided we'd be stupid if we didn't offer a righteous brother with good taste in bikes, sex and stogies like yourself the last free room in the house."

"Huh?" Never let it be said I'm ever at a loss for words.

"Guess you aren't awake all the way yet after last night," Teddy grinned. "What I'm askin' ya is whether you'd like to live in this house with all these other raunchy fuckers. Rent's real low, and I bet livin' with brothers would be a lot easier than livin' 'round a bunch of citizen-types. What do ya say?"

What could I say?? Work was no further away from that bitch of a landlady who kept complaining about the way my Harley's rumble "echoed" in the garage. "Right on, bro! I would be the stupid one to pass up an offer like this!"

With that, everyone stood up and I was soon surrounded by my new housemates in a massive cluster hug, with myself and Teddy at the center. He pulled back a little after nearly crushing me to death in a bear hug and said "You sure smell good 'n funky, buddy. Hope you ain't plannin' on washin' any time soon!"

"In point of fact, Teddy Bear, I'm not plannin' on bathin' until the end of the month when I have to go back to work. And I bet we're ALL gonna get drippin' wet with sweat movin' my stuff over here, what with the weather we've been havin'."

One of the other bros, a brown-bearded stud with a handlebar 'stache spoke up at that and said "Shit, we'll have to have another party just to celebrate all the sweat!"

We did... but that's another story!

They put their collective consciousness together and came up with a 30 page compilation, with nearly 180 actors and the films (and the version of the film) mentioned.

Among the hairier actors listed are Alan Arken, James Caan, Alan Bates and Bruce Dern.

The book also includes a few rare black and white stills featuring Sly Stallone, James Caan, Jon Voight and others.

Available by mail from Vidfile, Box 14576, San Francisco, CA 94114 for $8.00 postpaid.

Keith Bryant Goes On To Bigger Things...

Did you see our BEAR 6 coverman showing his wares for the readers of Inches Magazine? Yup, Keith Bryant shows his full 9 inches in 9 color pages of the March issue of "the magazine for men who think big." And our own Brahma Studio did the shots. Contact Brahma for original prints (Brahma, 2215R Market St. #481, SF, CA 94114). Females Invade Gay Male Smut!

The new managing editor of Advocate Men is S.M. Brooks. And yup, it's a woman, with rumor having it that it's a straight woman at that. Hired from within, she worked as one of the staff writers and, prior to her management position, did...gay fiction. Cmon guys! She now joins Ms. D. Coniglio of Honcho, Mandate and Playguy fame as two of the most powerful erotic image controllers of gay media. Thank god Ms. R. Stilskin has been dropped by Le Salon as a favored producer of gay video; however word has it that she's doing work for other distributors now.

And we wonder why erotica is in its the current state.

BEAR Turns Down Its First Paid Ad!

Yup, we did it. We started taking paid advertising in the magazine for the first time with this issue. And...a company known for putting out inferior product, ripping off models ("Let's have sex and let me film you, just for fun." And then selling the product.), and generally rumored to have problems with delivery wanted to put an ad in BEAR. So I...just said no.

If anyone has a problem with any of our advertisers, drop me a line. We'll see what we can do. And the same goes for "Personals" advertisers.

Hot Views From the 49th State

Phew! The face on the cover just about knocked me out. I don't care what the magazine is about. I want it.

That was my initial reaction to AlaskaMen, a new quarterly magazine "for women." Here's its credo: Alaska has an abundance of interesting and exciting men whose rugged individualism, spirit and vitality make them unique among men of the world. AlaskaMen is dedicated to searching them out, and bringing their stories, to you. Explore the pages of AlaskaMen, and judge for yourself: Alaska's men, one of her finest natural resources.

The magazine contains photos, bios, and addresses of 70+ men, including those of coverman Michael Dagon. And a healthy percentage of these fellas are A-Number-One bears. Sorry, there's no skin showing in the photos.

You can order four issues of AlaskaMen by sending $22.00 to AlaskaMen, 1013 E. Diamond Blvd., Suite 601, Anchorage, AK 99515. You can also pick up an "I Love Alaska Men" tee-shirt for $15 post-paid, but I don't know if the sizing is for men or women. They're smart though, and prominently offer Extra Large. And there's a full-color AlaskaMen calendar for $15.95 ppd. which has one of the hunkiest bearded outdoorsmen I've ever seen as the cover.

Look for JewishMen, too. Another hot title from the makers of AlaskaMen....

The Leather Report A Buckshot Production

Buckshot Productions
Box 1009
Studio City, CA 91604
Running Time: 40 minutes

Colt Studio.

- The most muscular bodies and some of the most rugged faces in gay-oriented video production.
- 20 years in business
- Uncompromised locations and props
- Top of the line professional production equipment
- Sound tracks designed specifically for the action
- The "recognized" leader in homoerotic image creation.

Colt has an interesting history. The legendary Rip Colt/Jim French is a commercial artist. Way back in the 60's he decided to do a line of greeting cards featuring drawings of muscular, nude men. He used models, sketching them live as well as taking photographs to complete the detailing.

The success of his cards in certain circles encouraged him to further pursue this sideline. And then, one day he thought, "Why not use the photographs alone for the cards?"

And he did. And Colt Studio began. High quality, airbrushed photographs of muscular men. Nothing done previously in gay porn approached Colt's standard of excellence.

The Leather Report is a 1988 video offering from the legendary studio. Not a speck of fat on these guys. Not a follicle of chest hair either.

Three scenes make up this 45 minute video.

Scene One: a totally hairless (save for the sprouts on his head) muscled guy in a studded leather jockstrap, a studded breastplate and a few other leather trinkets jacks off. Not much else.

Scene Two: a mustached dude, a little less muscled than Man #1, does the same thing. He's got a leather outfit on too.

Scene Three: the HOT one. Mark Alexander was a Mr. Drummer a year or so ago. He's built like a brick shit house. Tough as nails too. Steeped in a fog machine's output, he makes love to his Harley. He's shaven all over, but there's something about this man.... Anyhow, Joe Falco, a hairless and well-built dude, enters the picture. They fuck around some. Mark tops him, sticks one, two, three, four fingers up his butt, then fucks him.

End of movie.

Jeese, Colt men are awful pretty. But, similarly to the models used by Kristen Björn, they seem inaccessible and cold. Definitely not the type I'd want to have next to me. Nor particularly the type I'd like to watch on my

Burly bearded bears and other men stoking up with their cigars at the bar. (No nudity)

A pair of cigar smoking cops arrive and take control of the hairy bartender, laying him out on the bar, shoving his face into a tray of butts and ashes, pulling down his pants and making his ass.

#3 Begging

The bartender uses his mouth to work on the cops' boots and cocks and they take possession of his ass.

#4 Sideshow

The meat comes out all over the place and while the handcuffed bartender does him, one of the cops takes his cigar out of his mouth and replaces it with a hard leatheman's cock.

#5 Free For All

The action gets heavier as everyone joins in to get a sample of the bartender's body clump on his tits, squeeze his balls, shove a cigar up his ass and finally reward his performance with a cigar.

And except for the Mark Alexander piece, The Leather Report has nothing to do with leather-as-lifestyle. If Macy's or some other high-financed department store was putting on a gay erotic video point-of-sale production, you'd see something like this film. I wouldn't be surprised if Colt had ribbon clerks in the background straightening the seams too.

Carnival In Rio A Kristen Björn Video

Major distributor: Talk Of The Town

Running Time: 120 minutes

Retail $69.95

Kristen Björn is probably the most published photographer on earth. Each month for the past four or five years, his men have filled the pages of 8-10 magazines. That's a lot of imagery.

Two years ago, Mr. Björn and I were running around San Francisco looking for accessories for his recently purchased video camera. Today, I received a preview copy of Carnival In Rio, his first hard-core film. My, has this man learned fast!

Let me dispense with the negative first. There isn't an ounce of extra poundage on these fellas. These bodies are honed to Michaelangelican perfection in the gyms of Rio de Janeiro. Beautiful to look at, but not particularly cuddly. Secondly, the action is over directed. You can almost hear Björn in the background saying, "OK. Now you suck his dick. Good. Good. Fine. Now it's time to change positions."

Thirdly, few of the guys have any body hair. One scene has two bearded men going at it (Jorgé from BEAR 5 is one of them), and another guy later in the film has a moustache—and the biggest functional dick I've ever seen. No shit! But it's not a hair lovers' film.

And the last but certainly not the least negative aspect of this film is the occasional portrayal of unsafe sexual practices. This film was done recently, and in a city where many gay men have already died from AIDS. In my mind there is absolutely no excuse for producers/directors in the adult entertainment industry to portray unsafe sexual activities in their products. Not only are the actors lives potentially at risk, but the producers are also shirking their responsibility as "educators" to the viewing public. And this last point is an issue if producers want to continue to use education as a legal argument for defending their products.

However, action-wise, it's probably the hottest film I've ever seen. Twosomes, threesomes, foursomes; cock sucking, multiple cum spurting, cum eating; butt fucking, rimming, hole showing. And all the action is extraordinarily well lit, naturally paced, and filmed in sumptuous settings with high production values. To top it off, the film is over two hours long.

There's no real plot to Carnival In Rio. Boy(s) meet boy(s), cut to a fancy house where the action never stops and hard-ons never waver, and everyone cums at least once—one guy comes five times in his scene.

Recommendation: rent this film. It should be in every video store in the country which carries gay erotica. If it's not available at your local video store, buy this film. It's hot and nasty which is a helluva lot more than can be said about most videos on today's market.

SIRCO BEARS TWO

Sirco

Box 14425

San Francisco, CA 94114

This isn't pretty. Sirco films are of the "I've got a video camera and a naked man in front of me. Maybe I can film him and make some money" genre. And heart, however you may define it, is generally lacking from their products. Latin Men, produced by Hombres Production, came out and was successful. Soon afterwards Sirco announced Latino Men as an offering. COA came out with Live Bear, and soon afterwards Sirco brought out Sirco Bears. Their other titles include Piss Pig, Enema Pig, Shit Pig and Shave Pig. Originality and love of subject matter does not seem apparent with the several films I've seen from them.

This aside, let's look at the film. A guy's jacking off, staring off into space. No beard, a little moustache, some body hair. He's pulling and pulling, but just can't seem to get it up and off. Cut to scene two starring a young fellow—maybe 19 or so—with some chest hair, but no facial hair. He's also staring off into space. He's having the same problem. We deal with his attempts to become self-eroticized for 10 minutes or so. Camera cut, and our chicken is back again with a load. Good! But chicken doesn't look too pleased with his achievement; nor did he seem to be pleased with the process.

There's two fellas that Sirco threw into this flick that I wouldn't mind trying out for size. One's this bright-eyed, street-wise, bearded dude who's sitting up in bed, playing with his dick and playing with the camera man occasionally. He appears to be tweaked. The other's this kinda ugly long-haired critter who's got this huge uncut weiner. He's doing everything he can to get the camera man to put it to him, but all we see are the looks of frustration from the long-hair. To tell you the truth, I don't know if either of these guys ever come! They may, but if they did, it was not a particularly memorable event.

My suspicion: we're looking at raw footage—at its worst. Watching men trying (and failing!) to get their dicks hard is not my idea of a good time. And calling a clean-shaven teen a bear is not fair to the bear-loving public who are forced to put a certain amount of trust in mail order companies.

Police Olympics Powerlifting: Day 2

Palm Drive Video-Sports Division
PO Box 3653
San Francisco, CA 94119
$49.95

I praised to high heavens PDV's "Cowboy Beards & 'Siaches." It was the first erotic film I'd seen which was just men...just being men...at a public event. I must admit that Mr. PDV's camera was a little shaky and the editing could have been a bit slicker. However, I still found it one of the better tapes to slap on the VCR while reading a book, having a party, or putting it to the one I lust. Great background video.

Well, they've come up with a series which, by the looks of the one tape I've seen, beats "Cowboys..." all to hell. PDV got permission to shoot the California Police Olympics—big, brawny cops lifting, pushing, pulling, swinging, grunting, moaning, sweating, swearing and showing off their stuff in competition with one another.

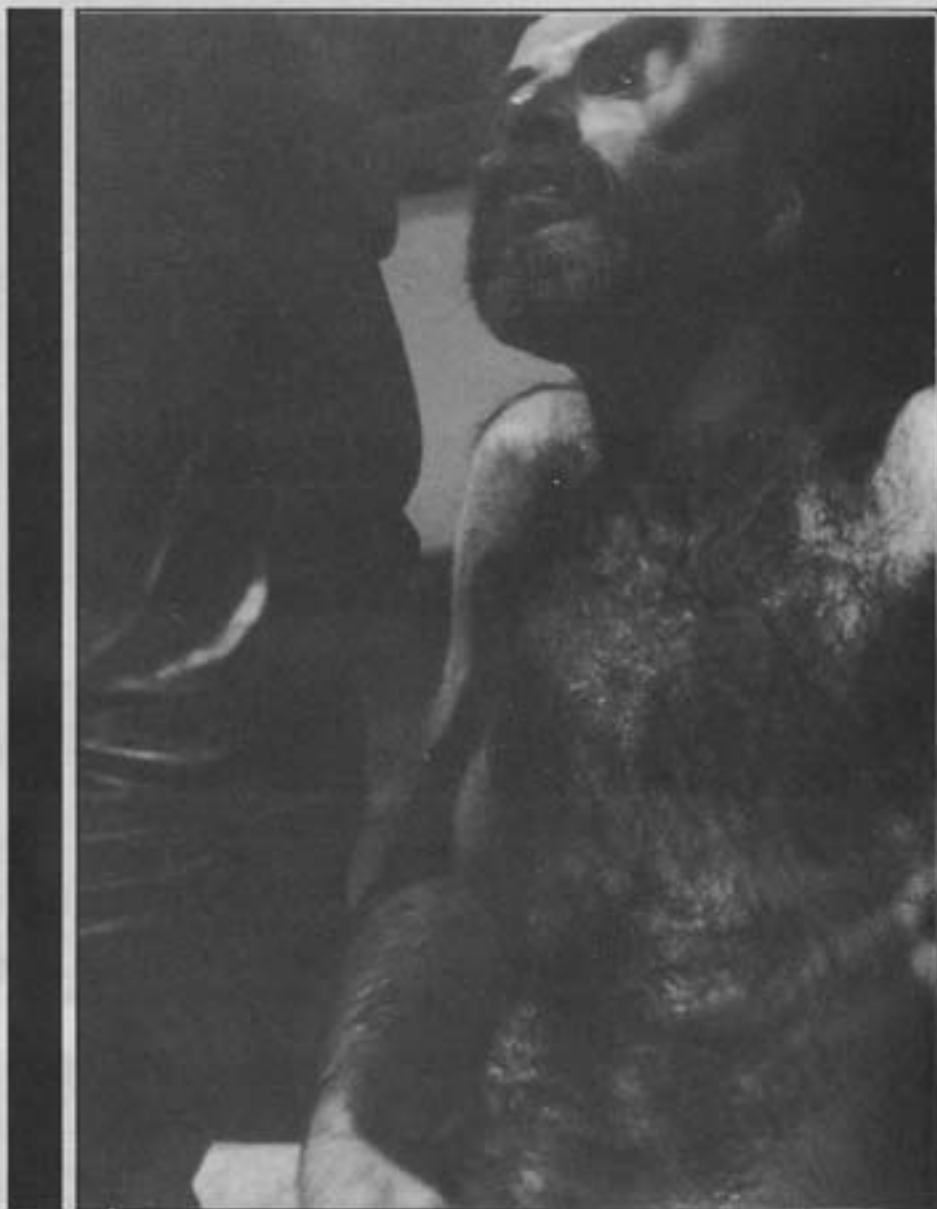

These guys are fucking beautiful. They're muscular, many are hairy and bearded, and all seem happy to exhibit their wares. There's no nudity in this film, but Jack (the cameraman) does a pretty good job at lingering in areas of interest to appreciators of the male form, and he catches angles which your standard sports videographer might think inappropriate—but which I think are just fine. Example: a big, burly, heavily mustached fella is laying down on a weight bench. He's got a pair of shorts on and the camera catches areas of his thighs and groin meant to be covered by the shorts. But he doesn't care 'cause he's focused on qualifying for this round. And spotting him, straddling his face, is his workout buddy, a Kris Kristofferson look-alike. The fella succeeds with his press, hops off the bench, and gives his buddy an intimate hug—the kind of man-to-man hug that you see either associated with orgasm...or competing sportsmen.

I like Palm Drive best when they're at public events. No other studio that I'm aware of shoots straight events from a man-lovin' perspective. Of course I'm a voyeur, and this sort of stuff is particularly suited to me and my brethren.

There are seven additional tapes in this series: day 1 of powerlifting, boxing, two volumes of wrestling, bodybuilding (this one's $69.95), and tug-of-war. PDV, hear this: I want 'em all!

Jerry & Jose

Flash & Lone Wolf

Butch B. & Ron

VT-65 WRESTLING #14

Here you get muscles against muscles, strength against strength, and skill with skill. Jerry and Jose go at a tough match with mutual respect and a good attitude, and the result is all-out action! Flash takes on Lone Wolf, who is not at his peak, but has a height advantage... but no one beats Flash! Butch B. brought his own opponent, Ron, who turns out to be better than expected, and great to look at, too. All get off afterward, except Ron.

Lee & H.D.

VT-71 WRESTLING #20

By now you know all the characters, so you can pretty well predict what'll happen with John B., H.D., and Keith. Finally you get to see John B. actually wrestle, and Keith gets to show off (as usual)... as for H.D., he's just seasoning who gets tossed around in this recipe. Likewise he continues to get tossed some more by Lee who rather enjoys staying on top of H.D., and would have liked a lot more... probably should have taken it! Last of all you get Tex and H.D., plus John Harris. Tex and John Harris have a need to prove to each other who is best, and get right at it, with H.D. providing just the right foil to each of them to keep things cool and make a point for the non-wrestler on the sidelines. This is good.

Tex & H.D.

WRESTLING #7

These three bouts are all good-spirited and exciting. The first bout is Richie and Louis. Richie plays easy, so Louis doesn't have as hard a day as usual. Now, of course, Richie realizes that he doesn't show "what he could do" and wants another chance. The second bout is very colorful, as Mexican Jose takes on Morrell. This is all new to Morrell, as Jose bounces him all over the place; but, although one-sided, it is sensual and hot. The final bout is the beautiful-to-look-at Sean versus tough guy Billy Dean. Billy Dean brag's he's never lost a match... you be the judge. Both are strong, physical men and the outcome is hotly contested, with neither going too far. Our new wrestling mats greatly improve the quality.

VT-39

WRESTLING #8

This tape starts with the downright silly, Iron Pats versus Louis, and goes on to one of the best matches yet seen, Brian versus Bill Smith, with an exciting turn by Tex and Gary in the middle. Honestly, when Louis called and said he had someone hot to wrestle with, I really didn't know what I was getting into. But, Iron Pats has a certain strange charm, strange being the key word. Tex and Gary are both good solid men who take the wrestling pretty seriously, with Tex determined to win! But best of all is Brian taking on Bill Smith. This is a real contest of skill, strength and determination, very serious, and just on the edge of hostility. We are releasing our wrestling collection in the order in which they were shot, so the great comos with the near-great, and not-so-great.

Sightings

ES from Albany, New York sent in a compilation of bars and other hang-outs where a bear or two can often be spotted. Send in "Sightings" from your hometown. Share with your fellow man-hunters!

Albany, New York

State Street Pub, corner of Lark. Some beards, mustaches, but not many bears in regular evidence except occasionally behind the bar.

The Water Works, Central Avenue. Albany's meat rack. Attracts a denim-leather crowd on Saturday night, but also is into drag. Can be very bearish.

Rage, Central Avenue. Disco/dance club. Younger, trimmers bears in attendance.

The Playhouse, Central Avenue. This place has been around forever and it shows. Can be a comfortable place and a good spot to hunt bear.

The Last Straw, Central Avenue. Albany's juice bar. The crowd can be a bit sparse, but a nice place to hang out. An occasional bear is spotted, plus one behind the bar.

The Gay Community Center, Hudson Street. The local information center and coffeehouse. A good place to call for information and sometimes a nice place to go.

KEITH BRYANT

Our handsome cover model for BEAR 6. This video tape is the actual footage of Chris Nelson from Brahma Studio shooting the session which put Keith on our cover. A nice JO finishes off the tape. A cock-sucking, crack eating duo between pro wrestler Chris Colt and BEAR2 model Rafael. Plus Rafael does it solo.

JUST A MAN

JAY SHAFFER

I'm too young to be your Daddy; I'm too old to be your boy playing Sons and Lovers isn't something I enjoy fantasies are hot, but I will never be your toy
I'm just a man who likes his sex with men

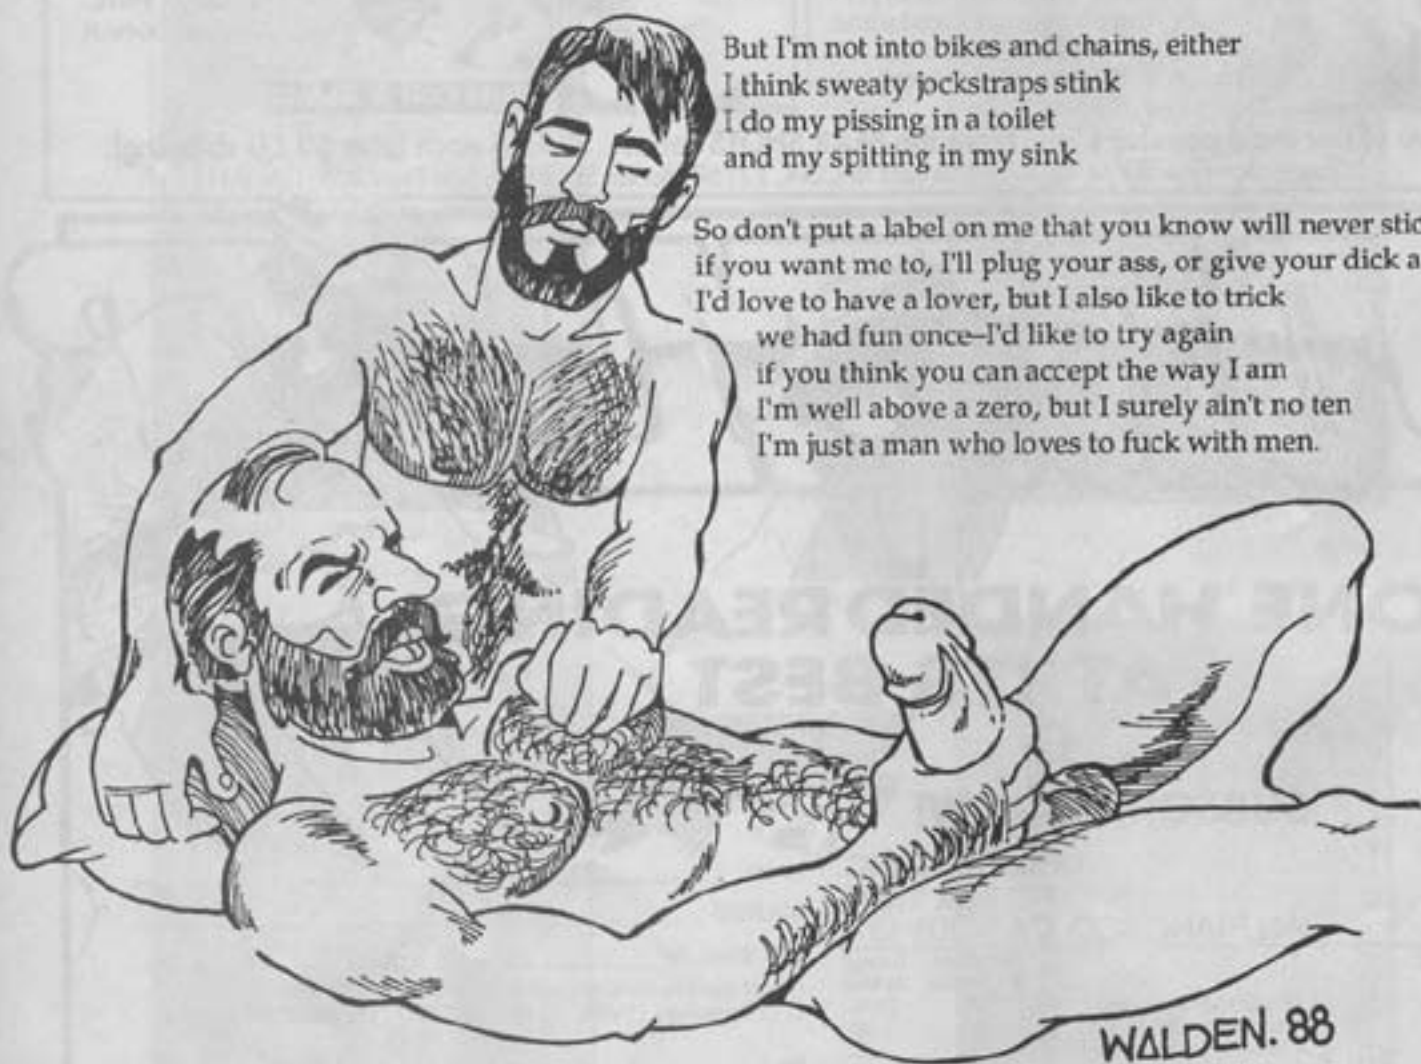

All my leather's in my wallet—it's the only hide I own
I may take a shower daily but I never wear cologne when I don't like what I see in bars I always leave alone
I'm just a man who likes my sex with men

From Thunderbird to fine champagne, I'll drink most any wine
I'll see any flick you want to show that's got a storyline
I won't take you to the opera, but I like old music fine
I'm just a man who likes good sex with men

You won't find Lacoste in my closet
I've got no fine art in my den girlish boys in pastel colors
just ain't my kind of men

But I'm not into bikes and chains, either
I think sweaty jockstraps stink
I do my pissing in a toilet and my spitting in my sink

So don't put a label on me that you know will never stick if you want me to, I'll plug your ass, or give your dick a lick
I'd love to have a lover, but I also like to trick
we had fun once—I'd like to try again if you think you can accept the way I am
I'm well above a zero, but I surely ain't no ten
I'm just a man who loves to fuck with men.
